LEGAL NOTICES

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Killingly, within and for the District of Killingly, on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1928.

Present, OSCAR F. ATWOOD, Acting Judge.

Estate of Susie E. Williams, late of Killingly, in said district, deceased. Upon the application of Sabin S. Russell, praying that an instrument, purporting to be the last will and testament of the said deceased, be admitted to probate, as appears by said application on file.

Ordered, That said application be heard and determined at the Probate Office in Killingly, in said District, on the 26th day of November A. D. 1928, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, and that said Sabin S. Russell, give notice thereof to all persons known to be interested in said estate to appear, if they see cause, at said time and place, and be heard thereon, by publication twice in some newspaper, once a week for two successive weeks, having a circulation in said District, and by posting a copy thereof on the public sign-post nearest where the deceased last dwelt, in the town of Killingly and return make of his doings to this court.

Attest, OSCAR F. ATWOOD, Judge.
Certified from record,
OSCAR F. ATWOOD, Judge

SUSAN D. WILLIAMS OF EAST Hampton, Conn., vs. Eugene R. Scranton of Colchester, Conn., the heirs, representatives and creditors of Francis W. Scranton, late of said Colchester, deceased, the heirs, representatives and creditors of Frank U. Scranton, late of said Colchester, deceased, and the heirs, representatives and creditors of Sereno A. Scranton, late of said Colchester, deceased. Order of Notice.

State of Connecticut, County of New London, November 21st, 1928.

Upon the complaint of the said Susan D. Williams claiming for the reasons therein set forth one thousand dollars damages, a foreclosure and the possession of certain mortgaged premises and other equitable relief returnable on the first Tuesday of December, 1928, before the Superior Court in and for said County.

It appearing to and being found by the subscribing authority that the plaintiff's attorney has annexed to said complaint an affidavit stating that he, said attorney, believes that said Francis W. Scranton, Frank U. Scranton and Sereno A. Scranton are now deceased, that the estates of none of them have been admitted to probate so far as he knows and that neither he nor the plaintiff knows who are the heirs, representatives or creditors of any of them or where they reside except that the defendant Eugene R. Scranton is the heir at law of each of said deceased persons.

It is therefore ordered, that notice of the pendency of said complaint be given said defendants the heirs, representatives and creditors of said Francis W. Scranton, the heirs, representatives and creditors of said Sereno A. Scranton by publishing this order in The Norwich Bulletin, a newspaper printed in Norwich, Connecticut, three days successively commencing on or before the 22nd day of November, 1928.

BRICK TRUCK STARTS IN NEW LONDON, CRASHING INTO HOUSE OVER THE WAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 23—A three and one-half ton Mack truck, owned by Michael Robilla, Waterford contractor, ran wild on Federal street this forenoon and before brought to a stop had crashed through the front of a private residence and the entire truck was in the house instead of in the highway. That occupants of the residence did not sustain injury was due to their good fortune for where the truck entered the house was a sleeping room, but no one occupied it at the time of the crash. A section of the house for about 30 feet was ripped away, furnishings including electric fixtures were demolished and a bed was crumped where the truck hit it, while folding doors at the extreme end of the room were demolished. The truck was driven to a building where repairs are in progress, with brick which it was intended to unload. The driver alighted and either was negligent in the application of the brakes or else the brakes were defective for while the bricks were being unloaded and with no one on the seat the truck started before the driver was aware of the fact. The truck with its heavy load, being on a grade, moved rapidly across the highway and climbing over the curb crashed against the two-family house owned by Nicholas Kinasz, No. 60, but the blow came at the residence No. 68, occupied by Nelson Keith and family. The truck in its great weight plowed through the clapboards, ripping away the wall plaster and continued through the furniture and against the bed, an iron one and to the folding doors. The bed after the crash resembled a horse shoe.

REV. FATHER BODENWEIN TO BE TENDERED DINNER

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 23—Rev. Gordon Bodenwein of this city who, in orders issued from diocesan headquarters in Hartford, is transferred from Niantic, where he served during the summer months as assistant pastor of St. Agnes' Catholic church, to Bethel, Conn., will be given a testimonial dinner at the Mohican hotel next Monday night. To date more than 100 have made reservations for the dinner, which is to be wholly a non-sectarian affair and open to the friends and acquaintances of the popular young priest, regardless of their religious beliefs. Arrangements for the affair are in the hands of a committee composed of David A. Connors, chairman; City Clerk Julian D. Moran, treasurer; Edward T. Corcoran, William T. May, Deputy Judge John J. McGarry, Harry M. May, Peter J. Eshenfelder and Judge C. C. Costello. The committee met tonight to outline the features that will mark the testimonial. Father Bodenwein is a graduate of Bulkeley school and of Yale university and studied for the priesthood abroad, being ordained in Rome. He returned to this country last spring and was given an appointment to St. Agnes' church by Rt. Rev. Bishop Nilan.

PETTIGREW-HIGHMORE ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 23—The engagement of Miss Gladys V. Pettigrew, daughter of Capt. Charles C. Pettigrew of Quaker Hill, to Wilson Highmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Highmore of Blackhall street, was announced last night at an informal party at Miss Pettigrew's home. Supper was served at a table decorated in yellow, chrysanthemums and lighted candles. The guests were Helen Fraser, Margaret Reagan, Katherine Salter, Mabel Fowler and Maud Pettigrew.

The date of the wedding has not been decided upon. Miss Pettigrew, who is a graduate of Williams Memorial Institute, has been for several years service director at the Mariners Savings bank. Mr. Highmore studied at Chapman Technical high school. He is salesmanager for the Connecticut Power Co.

R. B. Palmer, a commercial man from Hartford, reported to the New London police last night that while his automobile was parked on State street, near Huntington street, that a spare tire was stolen from the rear of the car.

OLD WHALING TOWN BOOZE GETS TUG MASTER IN BAD

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 23—Capt. Robert Collins, master of a tugboat, was arrested last night by Patrolman Dennis Murphy charged with breach of the peace and intoxication. He failed to present himself in the police court today and his bond of $25 was declared forfeited. Collins went to a Bank street restaurant and threatened to clean out the place. He had his coat and hat off and was in the act of carrying out his threat when Officer Murphy arrived and ended the disturbance by taking Collins to police headquarters.

The only other cases presented before the court were for intoxication and trespassing upon railroad property. One drunk was given suspension of judgment, having been arrested at the Union station last night by Special Agent Jorderson. Joseph Flynn, charged with trespassing upon railroad property and who, also, was arrested by Officer Jorderson was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

STOLEN NEPTUNE PARK CAR RECOVERED AT STAMFORD

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 23—A Ford automobile, owned by Miss Marjorie Garde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Garde, of Mott avenue, Neptune park, was recovered in Stamford this morning when Stamford police seized the automobile and arrested the occupants of the machine, two young men, one named Ryan and the other named Kearns. Ryan's home is in New Haven and Kearns, who is a product of the United States Coast Guard, was formerly stationed at the state pier. The automobile was held up by the Stamford police, who questioned Ryan and Kearns with the result that it was disclosed that the car had been stolen here. The engine and serial numbers had been obliterated, but because of all cars of recent make having a secret place for numbers, the identity of the car was quickly established. The police of Stamford and New Haven are making a check-up of the movements of Ryan and Kearns for several weeks for it is believed that they are members of a gang of auto thieves who have operated in Connecticut with success of late. The Garde automoblie was driven to Meridian street on the night of October 10 by Mr. Garde and while he was absent but about five minutes the thieves entered the car and drove away.

HOLIDAY DECORATIONS AND LIGHTS DECEMBER 8

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 23—December 8 the Christmas lights and decorations on State and Bank streets will go into commission in accordance with the five year contract the city has with the Connecticut Power company.

Pioneer Hose company of Groton was called out at 11 o'clock this morning by an alarm turned in on account of the explosion of a boiler in the home of John Conroy of Latham street. The explosion was nothing more than an excessive amount of steam escaping from a valve in the boiler and no damage resulted.

Orders received today from headquarters of the local coast guard bring about five changes in the personnel of officers. Several ensigns and lieutenants have been transferred and new officers have been ordered to fill the vacancies.

The annual military ball, sponsored by the local chamber of commerce will be held in the Hotel Mohican in December. Elaborate arrangements have been made for the affair.

SPANISH PRISONER LEFT NEGLECTED IN HIS CELL

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 23—Jose Batista, the Spanish stowaway, arrested last night at the Thames shipyard on a charge of smuggling himself into this country, taken to police headquarters and locked up by Immigration Officer Laureat Martinez, is still a prisoner there. The Spanish subject has been confined behind the bars ever since, for Martinez had not visited the prisoner nor police headquarters today. It even remained for the local authorities to see to it that the prisoner was supplied with food. Probably tomorrow or Monday Batista will be given a hearing before United States Commissioner Russell H. Corcoran when the charge against him will be disposed of one way or another.

Wild geese flew over this city today on their way south, an indication of colder weather.

Complaints are made by many householders and occupants of buildings that school children are disfiguring the walls by marking them with crayon.

The Mohawk restaurant, established on Lower Bank street a month ago, has been closed several days and it is understood that lack of business led to this action. Even at that, there are about 70 restaurants and lunch rooms in New London.

The C. E. society of the First Congregational church is to launch a membership drive Sunday with two teams competing. The contest will last until February 1st.

Pupils of Miss Agnes Wright gave a piano recital yesterday afternoon in the studio on Franklin street. The program consisted entirely of Shubert compositions and was a great success.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Keach, Lake George, N. Y., formerly of this city, have spent the last few days with friends here during a motor trip through New England. Mr. Keach was formerly a member of the firm of Clark and Keach, printers.

A cake and fancy work sale is planned by the Children of Mary society of St. Joseph's church.

OVER 80 SPECIAL TRAINS FOR FOOTBALL CROWDS TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 23—An idea of the great crowd that will witness the annual gridiron classic tomorrow at the Yale Bowl between the Bulldog and Harvard can be imagined from the fact that 88 special trains will be operated over the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad. Many of these trains will pass through New London in the forenoon, coming from Boston and Providence. Railroad officials here have perfected every possible arrangement for the quick handling of the trains. The specials will begin arriving at the union station shortly after 10 o'clock and will follow each other at intervals of five or seven minutes, so that as fast as one train departs from the union station another will be due to arrive.

OBITUARY

Mrs. George Taylor

Esther Sheridan, 43, wife of George Taylor, formerly of New London, died yesterday at her residence in New York. She is survived besides her husband, by two brothers, John Sheridan, 65 Morgan street, this city and William Sheridan, New York and by a sister, Mrs. Edward Leneruett of New Haven. The body will be brought to New London for funeral and burial.

The funeral of Donald Joseph Baine, aged four days, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baine, 113 Shaw street, was held from the residence of the child's parents yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Gilbert Stebbins, 83, died this morning at his residence, 129 Broad street, Groton. He is survived by his widow and one son, William G. Stebbins, also of Groton. Mr. Stebbins had been in failing health about two years, but not until last Friday did he take to his bed. He was a charter member of Fairview lodge of Odd Fellows, also held membership in Groton Heights Baptist church. Mr. Stebbins was born in East Lyme Jan. 14, 1846, the son of Samuel and Elisabeth Tillotson Stebbins. He was the youngest of seven.

Almost every member of the Catholic Women's club attended the supper held last night in the Harris building. The affair proved one of the most delightful social gatherings of the season. During the banquet Fred C. Wright rendered fine piano selections, after which cards were played.

Members of circle No. 6 of the First Baptist church gave a linen shower yesterday afternoon to Mrs. Chester H. Howe at her home in West street. After a brief business session a social hour was enjoyed following which refreshments were served.

Miss Ellen Parker, who soon will become the bride of Frederick R. Tillotson of Montclair, N. J., was tendered a miscellaneous shower last night by Miss Lois Horton of Perry street. She received many beautiful gifts. At the conclusion of an evening of cards refreshments were served.

Mrs. Joseph Sandora of Poquonoc road entertained at a shower party last night in honor of her niece, Lillian DeLaura who shortly will become the bride of Edward Sousa of Lowell, Mass. Dinner was served to 18 guests and the home was attractively decorated.

Members of the Ladies' Aid society of Huntington street Baptist church had a radio party last night in the vestry. About 60 were present.

Members of Circle No. 8 of the First Baptist church were entertained last night by Mrs. Alfred F. Cole of 219 Connecticut avenue. At a short business meeting plans were discussed for holding a Christmas sale.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Marion Silva, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Silva of 145 Green street, George Strickland of Deep River. The ceremony was performed in Chestertown, Md., October 8.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre

"Show People," which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will present at the Palace theatre, was filmed by King Vidor from an original story of motion picture life by Laurence Stallings and Christine Johnston, and has, as co-stars, Marion Davies and William Haines.

The same author and director of "The Big Parade." Another man, concerned in the making of "The Big Parade," helped to make "Show People." That was John Arnold, the cameraman.

The presence of William Haines assures its being extra long on comedy, an assurance further borne out by the fact that Polly Moran, Tenen Holtz, Harry Gribbon and Dell Henderson are also in the cast, not to mention the old Keystone comedy policemen and the flying custard pies.

While the picture was being made normal activities at the studio were included for atmosphere.

But a good deal more than the personnel of any one studio was gotten into this trip behind the scenes in cinemaland. In one scene along was gathered, at a luncheon party, the following players: Douglas Fairbanks, William S. Hart, Norma Talmadge, Beatrice Joy, Mae Murray, John Gilbert, Rod La Rocque, Renee Adoree, Aileen Pringle, Karl Dane, George K. Arthur, Claire Windsor, Estelle Taylor, Dorothy Sebastian and Polly Moran. This scene was merely to furnish atmosphere.

In another sequence Charlie Chaplin, as himself, flatters Miss Davies in her role as a motion picture actress who has achieved sudden success. Elinor Glyn and Lew Cody also are in the film.

Miss Davies was photographed walking past five studio sets on which five different real photoplays were being made.

While Miss Davies and Haines were in a love scene, Tim McCoy was in a western stage set behind them. Haines was even shown working with Anita Page in another picture. Miss Davies was shown, both as herself and as the heroine of "Show People," in the same scene. This was done by double exposure.

Scenes weren't confined to the sets but were made in the commissary, in the casting office and everywhere in the studio.

Broadway Theatre

Manager Levinson of the Broadway theatre is pleased to announce tomorrow (Sunday) evening as the opening date for "The Terror," Warner Bros.' latest and greatest mystery film, and second 100 per cent. all-talking picture, which is claimed to be the creepiest and at the same time the most absorbingly amusing picture of its kind ever filmed.

"The Terror" is based on Edgar Wallace's celebrated stage thriller which has held London spellbound for more than three years. It is the composite of all spook plays rolled into one. With the uncanniness of Poe it has the sardonic humor of Swift. Harvey Gates in his screen adaptation has not only kept all the original eeriness but has added to it immeasureably.

Roy Del Ruth wins new laurels, too, for his masterly direction. He has left no dramatic opportunity unexplored. The ancient and dilapidated English manor house built under his direction and possessing the atmosphere of centuries of use and disuse furnishes the locale. Here is the ghostly and fiendish torture den of "The Terror" itself, the cobwebbed organ that weird fingers touch, the wind-swept galleries, blown funereal curtains, and rain-beaten roofs, the swelling wall-eyed toad, the ouijaboard, the vast firelit room where the panic-stricken "guests" of Dr. Redmayne hold spiritualistic seances, the sliding panels, the secret passages—in short, everything that can augment the melodrama and enhance the acting of the stars.

The cast is headed by May McAvoy, Louise Fazenda and Edward Everett Horton, with Alec B. Francis, Holmes Herbert, Matthew Betz, John Miljan, Otto Homan, Joseph W. Girard and Frank Austin. Alec B. Francis, remembered for his marvelous performances in "The Return of Peter Grimm," "The Music Master" and "The Lion and the Mouse," plays the part of Dr. Redmayne, who with his daughter Olga, May McAvoy, occupies the old mansion. Mr. Francis plays the part of a miserly and furtive octogenarian.

Sorrell and Son at Y. M. C. A. Sunday at 3.30

At 3.30 o'clock on the coming Sunday afternoon, in the large gymnasium of the local Y. M. C. A., the second part of the unusual moving picture "Sorrell and Son," will be shown. The picture story is acknowledged to be one of the greatest high grade pictures on the screen. The large audience last Sunday to see the first part of the story were deeply impressed. It is the story of a father who under very adverse circumstances, having been left to care for his young son, suffers in many ways in order to care for the boy and bring him up in a respectable way, and the son in turn demonstrates in real fashion his deep appreciation of what his father has done for him. It is a most touching illustration of loving affection on the part of the father and a response of love on the part of the son, who finally achieves unusual success, but never forgets the cost on the father's part in his behalf. Parents and sons especially should see this impressive and uplifting picture. The public 14 and over is invited. A brief talk will be given by Rev. George Potter, and Hugh Kinder will furnish music for the service.

An offering will be taken at the service.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

All Star Minstrel Co.

On Friday evening, November 30, 1928, the Nightingale All Star Minstrel company, under the direction of the old time favorite Al. C. Perrin, will give a performance for the benefit of the Robert O. Fletcher post, No. 4, American Legion in the auditorium of the Elizabeth street school. This will be the first all colored minstrel show to be given in Norwich for a long time. Such well known players as Charles Lewis, Fred Randall, Joe Lewis and Vernon Randall will be the principal comedians while the old timer, Charles Hall will be back of the footlights that night for the first time in years. The minstrel show will consist of three parts, including many popular old southern songs which the public always like to hear, while a plantation scene of old Kentucky life entitled, "A Holiday in Dixie," will end the performance. During the intermissions it is expected that interesting remarks will be given by one or two members of the Robert O. Fletcher post No. 4, of the American Legion, who will be dressed in uniforms which they wore "Over There." During one of the intermissions between the acts of the minstrel show it is expected that an old time stage favorite who played in Broadway shows more than 20 years ago will attempt to stage a comeback. Members of the American Legion will act as ushers. The curtain will rise at 8.15 p. m.

At Trinity Methodist Church

Meetings next week at Trinity Methodist Episcopal church are the following:

Monday, 6.30 Sunday school board supper and meeting.

Wednesday, 4.00, class in religious education.

Thursday 7.30, Thanksgiving union service in United Congregational church, Rev. Joseph Cooper, preacher.

GREENEVILLE

At the Pulaski hall, Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, the Polish Citizens club have planned a program to commemorate the tenth anniversary of Poland's regained independence. The program will be presented by a committee from the local organization in charge of Stanley Zawislinski as chairman.

The Greeneville N. M. Sewing circle meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Harrington on Central avenue Friday evening with a 100 per cent membership attending. The first period of the evening was devoted to sewing of fancy articles, followed by a social hour with piano and vocal solos being rendered. Refreshments of assorted sandwiches, fancy cakes, assorted cookies, fruit, candies and hot chocolate were served by Mrs. Harrington, assisted by Mrs. Harry Richmond and Mrs. Helga Ericsson. The dining room was very prettily decorated for the occasion. The circle will hold its next weekly meeting Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Harold Wickham of North Main street.

Street Commissioner Herbert Wightman has a number of men at work on Smith avenue and Roosevelt avenue, repairing these streets. The streets are plowed up and then they are leveled off by the steam roller. Many nice words have been heard for the work of the commissioner in Greeneville.

The members of the Happy Sunshine club met at the home of Mrs. John Dunion of 12 Twelfth street, Friday evening. Refreshments were served with Miss Dunion acting as hostess. Those present at the meeting were Misses Rita Daley, Edna Wallace, Susan Linis, Dorothy Daley and Miss Margaret Dunion. Games were played and enjoyed. The meeting next Friday evening will be held at the home of Miss Linis.

On Thursday evening, the K. S. Sewing circle of Auxiliary No. 19, A. O. H., met at the home of Mrs. Joseph Burke of Roath street for its weekly meeting. A number worked on lamp shades and others worked at fancy work and paper flowers. The last period of the evening was spent in a social manner. Mrs. Burke served delicious refreshments of chicken sandwiches, ham sandwiches, cup cakes, fruit cake and coffee. She was assisted in serving by Mrs. Margaret Boyens. The meeting proved very pleasant. Owing to next Thursday being Thanksgiving, it was voted to omit its class meeting until the following week.

TAFTVILLE

A subscription card party was held Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schmidt of Blissville, for the benefit of Loyal Victory Lodge, No. 4, I. O. O. L. M. U. The prizes were awarded to Mrs. William Patridge, Mrs. William Cocker, Mrs. Murray, Mrs. George W. Weller, Jr., Robert B. Schmidt and John Wood. After cards the evening was spent in singing popular songs, with Miss Edna Krodel and Miss Dorothy Hunt at the piano. A piano selection was played by Miss Myrtle Schmidt. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. John Wood, Mrs. Robert Mayer and Miss Myrtle Schmidt.

The regular meeting of the Basketry club was held Thursday evening in the Red Cross rooms in the Ponemah building.

John Lavender has resigned his position with the No. 4 weaving department of the Ponemah company.

Mrs. Elsie K. Pingree and her daughter, Miss Betty E. Pingree of North C street are in Saylesville, R. I., where they are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Pingree and family.

Edwin Hill, secretary of the Norwich Y. M. C. A. is to occupy the pulpit at the Taftville Congregational church next Sunday morning.

Mrs. Thomas Connell who has been spending several weeks in Boston, Mass., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Kupky of the Jewett City road. Mrs. Connell has been traveling with Mr. Connell who is connected with Coquette, one of the leading theatrical productions of the season.

$1,600 IS TOP FIGURE PLACED IN LAND UNIT PRICES IN NORWICH

Unit land values that range from a high of $1,600 per front foot in the business center of Norwich to $2 or $3 per foot in the outlying sections of the mapped area of the town are shown to be the high and low points made in the revaluation by the Manufacturers' Appraisal company. As has already been explained, these valuations are set for the front foot of a lot 100 feet deep which has no irregularities of surface or other conditions to detract from it.

The high point valuation is placed on land on the southerly side of Main street from Shannon corner to Ferry street. This is the only section which comes to this valuation. Across Main street from the Shannon building side, the valuation is set at $1,440 from the Wauregan corner to where Franklin street begins, and the same value is continued for the first part of Franklin street, until the Bath street corner is reached where the unit value of $1,280. Across the street, on Franklin square, the valuation on the easterly side of Franklin street is $900. Bath street values, on both sides, range from $500 at the Franklin street end to $400 at the Chestnut street end. North of Bath street the valuation on the westerly side of Franklin street begins at $900 and decreases to $150 at the Willow street end of this block.

On Main street from Ferry street to the railroad plaza entrance the valuation starts at $1,440 and runs down to $1,200. Land on the south side of Main street, between Shetucket and Market is considered of the same value as the block previously mentioned east of Ferry street. The Main street front at the Norwich Savings society is put in the $1,280 classification and the same figure of value is attached to Main street land from the Young block corner easterly to past Myers alley.

Land values in the Broadway block from Main street to Union square range from $900 to $620 and going west on Main street from Market street the values run from $700 to $200 on the south side and from $600 to $300 on the north side till Washington square is reached.

Some opportunity for comparison on land unit values in residence sections can be gained from the following figures taken from streets in different parts of the city and town:

PERMISSION TO SELL SHORE LINE RY. LAND

At the short calendar session of the superior court here Friday morning, Judge John Richards Booth granted permission to Robert W. Perkins, receiver of the Shore Line Electric railway company, to sell land in the towns of Chester, Essex, Saybrook, East Lyme, Preston and Norwich for a total of $215.

Foreclosure in the sum of $2,575.69 in favor of the Jewett City savings bank was granted against Alexander and Rose Behnke of Pachaug on farm property, known as the Bitgood property on the road between Jewett City and Voluntown, Dec. 17 was set as the limit of redemption. William McNicol, a real estate agent, placed a valuation of $4,000 on the property. William F. Bitgood, who formerly owned the farm, has a mortgage of $2,000 on it and is to take the property and pay the bank if the Behnke people do not pay, it was stated in court. Stella Rushawowska of New York has a third mortgage for $2,500.

Judge Booth ordered that Andrew J. Maynard of New London, administrator of the estate of Lucy Maynard of New London, be cited in as co-defendant in the case of Yodice against Pelton and others. He was ordered cited into court Nov. 27.

Three months continuance was granted in the case of the Mariners Savings bank against Westgate and others.

Allowance to defend in the sum of $50 was granted in the divorce case of Alonzo S. Wilkinson of North Stonington against Mary Wilkinson of Millers Falls, Mass., but a motion of the defendant for custody of a three-years-old child pending court's final decree was denied on the grounds that the mother lived without the jurisdiction of the court and the child must remain within the county for the present. Alimony pendente lite for support of wife and child was granted in the amount of $5 a week.

WE MODERNS IN PLAY IN PINOCHLE SERIES

The We Moderns pinochle club met with Mrs. Prodell of Fourth street Thursday afternoon. The prizes were taken by Mrs. Moran and Mrs. Hastedt. The scores for the afternoon were as follows: Mrs. Moran 7840, Mrs. Hastedt 7480, Mrs. Manchester 6830, Mrs. Prodell 6830, Mrs. Busch 6760, Mrs. Jensen 6500, Mrs. Hallisey 6260, Mrs. Mullens 6161. The scores for the series now stand as follows: Mrs. Hastedt 23,710, Mrs. Moran 21,180, Mrs. Busch 20,910, Mrs. Hallisey 20,780, Mrs. Prodell 19,690, Mrs. Jensen 19,409, Mrs. Mullens 18,420, Mrs. Manchester 16,650. After cards the hostess served a lunch of cold meats and salad with cake and coffee. Next week the club will meet with Mrs. Mullens of Spring street.

NEW YORK PASTOR TO ADDRESS MINISTERS HERE

The Norwich Ministers' association will meet at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Universalist, No. 143 Broadway, next Monday at noon.

The address will be given by Rev. John M. Moore, D. D., of New York, member of the Council of the Federated Churches of Christ in North America. In addition to the minister, every church is asked to send two laymen delegates to the meeting. Lunch will be served at noon by the women of the church.

Navigation To Close.

The last trip to be made this season between New London and Greenport, L. I., by the steamer Catskill of the Montauk and New London Steamboat company is to be on Nov. 30. Navigation by this line between these points will not be resumed until April 1, 1929.

Parked Truck Was Damaged.

While the motor truck of L. H. Mandell was standing in front of his shop at 40 Thames street it was struck by another truck belonging to a man named Smotrich. The operator of the latter truck was backing the machine when it hit the forward part of the Mandel truck.

BOOKLET GIVES DETAILS OF NORWICH INN PROJECT

"The Norwich Inn, a civic enterprise," is the title of an attractive sixteen page booklet just issued by the committee in charge of the campaign for funds for the Norwich inn which has just come off the press and is being sent to several thousands of Norwich people who are awaiting just such definite information to aid them in what promises to be one of the most important enterprises that has been presented for their consideration and investment.

An expression of confidence in the worth of the project is a notable feature of the pamphlet. This unqualified statement of support indicates the attitude of leaders in Norwich affairs which augers well for success. The statement is issued by the committee on special subscriptions over their collective signatures and sets forth that "We the undersigned committee of special subscriptions, have subscribed to the capital stock of the Norwich Inn company. We did this after study and analysis of the situation and our decision was based upon the worthiness of the project and the reasonable expectancy of profit.

"We believe that such an establishment will be an asset to Eastern Connecticut and will be a place to which people residing in that community will resort for social and recreative purposes and that for transient and casual guests will prove likewise attractive.

"We believe that this idea will be profitable with proper management and guidance and we further believe that by the Treadway organization and its affiliated enterprises the business will be well managed.

"We therefore suggest that an investment in the capital stock of the Norwich Inn company should be advantageous from a financial standpoint as well as from our desire movement as a civic enterprise, justipoint, and we have been actuated in making our subscription from that to see a modern inn located in our community.

"Robert W. Perkins, Chairman Nelson J. Avlinz, C. Ross Bovce, Allyn L. Brown, Arthur M. Brown, Charles R. Butts, Nathan A. Gibbs, Walter F. Lester, Shepard B. Palmer, Aurin E. Payson, Charles D. White."

The campaign committee is announced as William G. Park, general chairman; Arthur M. Brown, campaign chairman, Joseph C. Worth, assistant campaign chairman, Robert W. Perkins, chairman of the finance committee, and Charles W. Taggart, chairman building committee.

Topics discussed in the prospectus, presenting facts and analysis of the whole enterprise include Norwich and the future, the development of the inn movement as a civic enterprise, justification for asking Norwich people and those in the surrounding territory to invest, examples of successful management of other Treadway inns, the comfort and hospitality that characterizes them and which may naturally be expected to be incorporated in the Norwich inn. Space is devoted to setting forth the personnel of the Consolidated Hotel Service, who administer the management of other Treadway inns. The values of the Norwich inn as a social center, receives attention as well as a brief description of the scenic beauties the site selected will command. Golf and its fascinations are emphasized as one of the features made possible by the proximity of the Norwich Golf club to the inn. The accessibility of the inn site from all points of approach is shown and the hint of winter sports as one of the attractions is presented.

Golf club improvements are explained, architectural beauties contemplated are described together with the suggested arrangement of the interior and the accommodations for guests. It is announced that "the inn exterior will probably be of brick, with colonial style shutters and slate roof. Flagged walks and terraces with old fashioned flower beds and spacious lawns are calculated to furnish a charming setting for the quaint rambling structure.

Prospective investors are told of the opportunity this project presents. Of its sponsorship by the chamber of commerce, the value of the option to secure a controlling interest in the Golf Land company, the relation of the golf club and its status as an independent organization and particular emphasis is laid on the statement that the Norwich inn will be the property of the stockholders of the Norwich inn company who will control its policies and reap the financial benefit which may result from its operation by the Treadway organization who are expected to operate the inn under the direction and control of the stockholders.

The financial plan is set forth in detail and in the simplest language possible so that anyone may comprehend all the financial steps of stock purchase and payment. This section of the prospectus points out that preferred stock holders are the first participants of earnings, their dividends to be paid before any dividends are declared or paid on the common stock. The whole enterprise is to be one of popular ownership. "Everybody who believes in Norwich should be a shareholder in the Norwich inn. This enterprise promises to be the most popular investment movement since the days of Liberty bonds. Shares can be brought on equally easy terms and with Norwich investors and Norwich interest fathering the enterprise the investment promises to be just as safe and much more profitable."

SPECIAL NEWS SHEET FOR INN BUILDERS' BENEFIT

The Norwich Inn Builders are kept constantly informed as to the progress of the campaign preparations through the medium of Walter H. Pilcher's Construction News Sheet, issued daily and sent to all members of the organization, with the last word in the happenings within the organization. Mr. Pilcher has assumed the title of auditor, whatever that may mean and his audit sheet is filled with witty sayings as he traces the trials, tribulations and successes of the construction gang who will finally put the campaign over.

In his current issue he announces the date for the opening of the campaign as Friday, November 30, when the "builders" will assemble for dinner at the Wauregan hotel at 6.15 to receive their assignments and make ready to approach their prospects on Saturday morning. Meanwhile instruction meetings of the various divisions will be called for the purpose of preparing the workers for the active work of soliciting. The sheet announces that "detailed explanation of the campaign system method of reporting, the sales approach, questions and answers, pledge cards, etc., will be thoroughly discussed."

"The following schedule of divisional meetings has been arranged: Monday, Nov. 19, at the Wauregan hotel at 12.15, Union No. 13, A. F. of L. All workers in General Foreman Rodier's division, including masons, carpenters and steel workers. Monday, 6.15, Wauregan hotel, Union No. 23, I. U. W. All workers in General Foreman Case's division including plumbers, painters and bricklayers. Tuesday, 12.15 noon, Wauregan hotel, Union No. 99, T. N. T. All workers in General Foreman Smith's division including plasterers, electricians and excavators.

The engineering corps, under Chief Engineer Perkins, is busily at work laying pipes and stringing wires to carry the heavy load assigned to this committee. The Cafeteria section in charge of Miss Lucy B. Abbott, will assemble for their instructions meeting at a date some time during the early part of the week. The whole working organization is complete and in readiness to tackle the job before them.

POLES TO CELEBRATE INDEPENDENCE ANNIVERSARY

The Polish Citizens committee of Norwich, has made elaborate plans and preparations to celebrate on Sunday evening the tenth anniversary of Poland's regained independence. The program consisting of musical and vocal selections will be rendered by the Polish orchestra in conjunction with St. Joseph's church choir. Dr. Kovol Warhbel, editor of the Polish Daily Kurier of New York city, will deliver the principal speech in Polish. Rev. S. A. Icick, who was perhaps the first American citizen to go to a free Poland, ten years ago, will speak in English, telling of Poland's difficulties and the progress it has made in the last decade.

The exercises will be held at 7.30 in the evening at Pulaski hall on North Main street. Many of the prominent citizens of Norwich have received personal invitations and a very large attendance is expected. Similar celebrations are held not only in Poland but throughout the world where Poles are settled in large numbers.

Stanley Zawislinski is chairman of the committee in charge of the program.

Bootleg Insurance In Connecticut

As a means of counteracting bootleg insurance in Connecticut the Connecticut insurance department has prepared and printed a pamphlet listing the companies authorized to do business in this state. There are 462 companies of all kinds licensed to write the different forms of insurance. Since the first of the year Commissioner Howard P. Dunham has issued licenses to 26 companies. The Connecticut chamber of commerce and the Connecticut Manufacturers' association will be given a large quantity of the pamphlets for distribution among their members for ready reference as to the status of insurance companies. The pamphlet gives the full corporate names of the companies which can lawfully write insurance in Connecticut, and sets forth the kind of insurance they are authorized to write.

Common Pleas Jury Docket

Common Pleas Court Clerk J. Frank Corey has issued notice that next Monday at New London, at 10 a. m., the list of cases on the jury docket will be called and assignments made for trials at Norwich, to follow the criminal business.

Practically 50 per cent of the total number of voters in the United States are women.

Don't Suffer the Tortures of Rheumatism

Just because you have tried a lot of so-called rheumatic remedies without getting any lasting results that is no reason why you should say, "Nothing can help me," because there is something that will give you quick results and that is RHEUMA.

Rheuma will absolutely end all your rheumatic misery or it will cost you nothing. So if you really want to get quick relief from those awful stabbing knife-like pains—if you want to drive those dull, grinding numbing aches completely out of your system, just step into Lee & Osgood Co. or any druggist's and ask for a bottle of Rheuma.

It matters not whether you are tortured with pain, suffering with swollen, inflamed joints or distressed with occasional twinges, Rheuma is guaranteed to end all rheumatic misery or money back.

THREE PROVIDENCE MEN KILLED IN AIRPLANE CRASH

The Plane Fell to the Ground From an Altitude of 800 Feet at Seekonk, Mass.—William Lang, 24, Bought the Plane Two Weeks Ago and Was Taking Two Friends on a Pleasure Flight—The Plane Was Demolished and the Motor Was Embedded in the Earth.

SEEKONK, Mass., Nov. 25—(AP)—Three young men were killed today when their airplane plunged to the ground from an altitude of 800 feet. The victims were William Lang, 24, Stanley D'Ambra, 20, and Francis Clancy, 18, all of Providence, R. I.

The plane was owned and piloted by Lang. He bought it two weeks ago and was taking two of his friends on a pleasure flight when the crash occurred.

They took off from a flying field at Pawtucket, R. I., early this afternoon. Fifteen minutes later the plane was flying over this town when the motor apparently failed and the craft went into a nose dive, plunging to the ground before the pilot could regain control.

Edward L. Cole, 17, of Pawtucket, was the only known witness of the crash. He was at the farm of his parents here when the plane fell nearby. Cole said he heard the motor stop suddenly before the plane plunged to the ground at terrific speed. He estimated that the plane was at an altitude of 800 feet when it began the dive.

Lang and D'Ambra were dead when Cole ran to the wreck. Clancy died as he was being taken to a hospital.

The plane was demolished and the motor was embedded in the earth by the force of the crash.

PILOT OF DEATH HAD NOT QUALIFIED FOR LICENSE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 25—(AP)—William Lang, pilot of the plane which crashed at Seekonk, Mass., today killing Lang and two passengers, enrolled in a 50 hour flying course at Curtis Field, L. I., on August 6. By this course he hoped to get a limited pilot's license, but though he had about 55 hours in the course, he had not as yet qualified for the license. Lang told attaches at What Cheer airport, Pawtucket, yesterday when he arrived from Connecticut in the plane, that his motor had stopped just before he reached the Pawtucket field.

Young Lang had taken his father up and his father had returned home to get the youth's mother so that she could go for a ride. "Tell her to bring my lunch along," the youth said, and the father promised.

While the parents waited for the return of their son to the field to take them aloft, word came of the fatal crash.

THREE FATALLY INJURED IN LANDING OF PLANE

EDGERTON, Ohio, Nov. 25.—(AP)—A blinding snowstorm that settled over Ohio claimed the lives of three occupants of an eight passenger Hamilton monoplane, owned by the Universal Air lines of Chicago which crashed into two trees in attempting to make a landing near here last night.

The victims were Edwin H. Basset, 55, the pilot; his young wife who had insisted upon accompanying him so they would not have to be separated on their eighth wedding anniversary and Glen R. Butt publisher of a weekly newspaper in Cleveland.

The Bassets had planned to spent a quiet evening in their home at Rocky River, a suburb of Cleveland last night, but the pilot was summoned to the Cleveland airport when Butt booked a late passage on the Universal plane for Cambridge City, Ind., where it was said, he planned to join his wife and child.

Mrs. Basset would not permit her husband to make the trip without her. They planned to go to Chicago together. The big ship made the Toledo airport without incident and resumed the journey after refueling. As it neared this village it ran into the heavy snowstorm.

Basset either encountered engine trouble or found that he could not keep the plane aloft in the storm. Farmers in the vicinity reported that he circled back toward the east and then the ship began to fall.

A short distance from the ground the motor died. Basset apparently had cut off the ignition to prevent an explosion when the crash came. The ship was headed for a clearing but it dipped into the trees that stood in its path.

Basset and his wife were dead when found and Butt died a few minutes after he was taken from the wreckage. The Bassets were married at Indianapolis eight years ago. They had been sweethearts since their high school days.

AIR MAIL PILOT FOUND DEAD IN WRECKED PLANE

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Tilden (Pete) Johnson, 21, mail pilot on the Continental Air lines, who left here at 2:55 a. m. today with a cargo of mail for Louisville, Ky., was found dead in his wrecked plane near Massillon late this afternoon. Planes from the Cleveland airport had been searching for him after he failed to report at Columbus.

Johnson's ship crashed in a field about five miles from Massillon. The wreckage was found by three boys.

The cause of the accident had not been determined, but it was believed Johnson had run into a snow storm.

When he left here, flying a Travelair cabin plane with 100 pounds of mail the weather was clear but conditions down state were reported not so favorable.

Johnson was one of the youngest pilots in the mail service. He had about two years of flying to his credit. His mother, Mrs. Ellen Johnson, county clerk at Guymond, Ind., had been visiting him.

PLANE DAMAGED MAKING A FORCED LANDING

PROVIDENCE, R. I. Nov. 25.—(AP)—An army biplane from Boston airport, and piloted by Lieut. Robert L. O'Brien of that field, was damaged in making a forced landing on a farm in North Smithfield, near here, this afternoon. Lieut. O'Brien said failure of his fuel reserve forced him to land. A high wind carried the plane into a fence breaking the propellor, landing gear, and lower wing. Neither Lieut. O'Brien or his passenger in the flight, Robert Wise, of Boston, were injured. The plane was one of a flight of six returning to East Boston from the Yale-Harvard game at New Haven.

DEMONSTRATION MADE IN CATHOLIC CHURCH

CENTRAL FALLS, R. I., Nov. 25—(AP)—A demonstration by more than 500 parishioners of Notre Dame parish against the reading of a pastoral letter of Rt. Rev. William A. Hickey, bishop of Providence diocese, resulted in police reserves being called to guard entrances to the church during services this morning. The communication of the bishop set forth conditions under which the excommunicated followers of Elphage J. Daignault, anti-diocesan agitato, may gain reinstatement in the Roman Catholic church.

The crowd, which began collecting in front of the church as early as the six o'clock mass, grew in numbers until more than 500 had collected for the last mass at 10:30 o'clock. A visiting clergyman and his escort were jeered by the gathering as they left the edifice accompanied by Chief of Police James McCarthy, after celebrating mass. No violence, however, was reported at any of the masses. A detail of 12 patrolmen were on duty at the church from six a. m., until noon.

A spokesman for the dissenters stated that the protest against the reading of the letter was staged because there were no excommunicates in Notre Dame parish and the publishing of the bishop's letter in that church was considered unnecessary. The pastoral was ordered read at all the masses in every church of the diocese by Bishop Hickey.

STUDYING FINGER PRINTS OF A NEGRO SUSPECT

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 25—(AP)—Police of three cities today concentrated their efforts on a comparison of the finger prints of a Negro suspect with those found in the homes of victims last week in an attempt to solve the mystery of Omaha's hatchet slayer.

Three persons slain in their beds, a fourth critically wounded and a woman, also seriously injured, were believed by police to have been victims of the same man. They described the attacker, who in each instance used a small handaxe as an "apparent manlac."

Jake Bird, Negro suspect, was arrested recently from a description furnished by Mrs. Harold Stribling, Omaha, who was seriously wounded. Her husband, although still alive, has been unconscious and unable to aid the authorities in the apprehension of the slayer.

Finger prints of the suspect, who is held in the state penitentiary at Lincoln, were compared with those found in the Stribling home but police tonight declined to say whether a similarity had been found.

More complete hand and finger prints of Bird were taken today.

Bird's assertion that he was innocent remained unshaken.

FIRE DESTROYED $100,0000 THEATRE IN HAVERHILL

HAVERHILL, Mass., Nov. 25—(AP)—Fire which was discovered in the Academy of Music theatre early this morning, destroyed the theatre at a loss estimated at $100,000, threatened the retail business section of the city and drove 24 families from their beds and into the streets.

The fire was confined to the theatre. The families who were routed out of their homes by the police were residents of the Academy apartments in the same block, facing on Howe and Pecker streets, and which were separated from the theatre by a two-foot brick fire wall.

They were allowed to return to their homes after the fire was under control.

Today's fire was the fourth to have occurred in the theatre since it was built in 1884. On two of the previous occasions, the structure was entirely rebuilt. The property is owned by Jacob and Morris Bloomfield.

DIED WITH ROSARY IN HIS HANDS AT MASS

BRIDGEPORT, Nov. 25—(AP)—While knelt in prayer, with a rosary in his hands at mass in St. Charles' church today, death came to Lieut. Daniel F. Poland, who served this city as a policeman for 27 years, with an unblemished record.

He had gone to the second police precinct, where he has been stationed for several years, at 7 o'clock, to begin his duties. He left the station shortly before 9 o'clock to attend mass, being relieved of his duties, long enough to attend his church. He had been in the church but a few minutes when he was stricken, and died almost immediately.

LATEST GIFT BY HERSHEY, CHOCOLATE MANUFACTURER

HERSHEY, Pa., Nov. 25—(AP)—A large building in the heart of this village, housing a hospital, several auditoriums, a theatre and libraries is to be the latest gift of Milton S. Hershey, chocolate manufacturer, to the community which he founded and which bears his name.

Mr. Hershey is said to plan to spend approximately $2,000,000 on this civic improvement. This is the second $2,000,000 gift to the community by Mr. Hershey this year.

ACTOR JOHN BARRYMORE AND DOLORES COSTELLO MARRIED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25—(AP)—The storm of questioning which all but dashed the ship of matrimony on the rocks as it was about to embark, had completely died down today after the quiet wedding late yesterday of John Blythe-Barrymore and Dolores Costello.

King George Had A Disturbed Day

Physician Says It Was Due to an Increase in Fever—His Strength is Maintained.

LONDON, Nov. 25 (AP)—King George had a restless day today because of fever although the lung congestion and pleurisy seemed somewhat improved after a fair night. Two nurses were assigned to remain with his majesty throughout the night. Previously he had had only one night nurse.

The terse evening bulletin of his physicians said "the king has had a disturbed day due to an increase in fever. His strength is maintained."

This report of Sir Stanley Hewett and Lord Dawson of Penn may indicate one of the inevitable fluctuations in an illness such as that from which his majesty is suffering.

The report might have created a renewal of anxiety in the minds of the public but for the fact that Queen Mary and other members of the royal family went about their visits in their customary manner and that unofficial assurances came from the palace that there had been a slight improvement in the lung condition.

London was visited today by a howling wind and rain storm with very changeable temperatures, conditions which were unfavorable to the royal patient.

His physicians arrived at Buckingham palace this morning and remained with the monarch for about an hour. They issued no bulletin at the time but it was learned that his majesty had passed a fair night and it was considered that the king was maintaining the progress he had made in the past two days.

It was unofficially reported from the palace tonight that the physicians do not regard the increase in fever as a bad sign in view of the lessening of the pleurisy and congestion. With his temperature running above 100, his majesty was less comfortable than he had been on Saturday. Sir Stanley and Lord Dawson left the palace at 8 p. m. after another visit of about one hour.

Early today a message was sent to the prince of Wales, now hunting in South Africa, telling him that it was needless to make any change in his plans.

Among the touching tributes of sympathy received today at Buckingham palace was a simple bunch of flowers brought by a pale youth, George Goodlew, representing the organization of Sea Wolves or Scouts of the Isle of Man. He had travelled all night through the wild storm to bring them in behalf of his comrades of the island. He was graciously welcomed and assured that the flowers would be placed in the room of King George.

Fervent prayers were offered in the churches throughout the kingdom today for the recovery of his majesty.

The duke and duchess of York called at the palace this morning and with Queen and Princess Mary attended divine services in the palace chapel. The duke and duchess left shortly after the services and this afternoon Queen Mary and her daughter took a motor ride.

Among the visitors at the palace during the morning was American Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton remained a half hour. Premier Stanley Baldwin also called before leaving the city for his country residence. He will be kept in close touch with the monarch's condition by telephone while at Chequers court.

Vast crowds assembled outside the palace gates early in the morning and eagerly sought information concerning the condition of their ruler.

TOTAL ECLIPSE OF THE MOON AT 2:24 A. M. TUESDAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—(AP)—Those who get up early enough Tuesday will view the first total eclipse of the moon since June of last year. It will be visible generally throughout the United States and will last almost an hour.

It will be the second such phenomenon of this year, but the first, which occurred last June, was visible only in the western part of this country. On Tuesday at 2:24 a. m. (eastern standard time) the earth will begin its movement directly between the sun and moon. At 3:33 its shadow will cover the moon completely.

The total eclipse will be over at 4:29 a. m.

GOEBEL HAS TESTED H's TRAVELAIR MONOPLANE

WICHITA, Kansas, Nov. 25—(AP)—After testing his Travelair monoplane, Woolaroc, in its first flight since it was rebuilt, Col. Arthur C. Goebel today said his flight to New York from where he will attempt to set a new record for trans-continental flight probably would be postponed several days. A few minor adjustments remain to be made on the plane.

The Woolaroc is the monoplane in which Goebel won the Dole flight from Oakland, Calif., to Honolulu.

65-YEAR-OLD MAN SHOT AND KILLED HIS SON

TOLEDO, Ohio, Nov. 25—(AP)—Will P. Litteral, 65, shot and killed his son, Turner F. Litteral, 39, here today after the son had threatened him with a pistol. Coroner Frank G. Kreft exonerated the father when he returned a verdict of self-defense. Three of the younger man's children witnessed the shooting.

THIRD ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE SUCCESSFUL

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 25—(AP)—Mrs. Celia Goffin, 33, made her third attempt at suicide a success today. Her body was found in a gas-filled room. It was the second time she had resorted to gas as a means of ending her life and on another occasion she had attempted drowning.

Domestic trouble is given as the cause of her act.

Typhoon Struck Philippine Islands

Thousands of Persons Made Homeless — Two Ships Were Swept on the Rocks.

MANILA, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Leaving thousands of homeless in its wake, a typoon which struck the central and southern parts of the Philippine archipelago, has passed into the China sea, after piling two ships on the rocks and wrecking hundreds of buildings.

An unnamed two masted inter-island schooner, was added to the list of the typhoon's victims today, when the British freighter Medon reported that she had picked up a crew of six Filipinos in Manila bay yesterday. The schooner foundered inside the bay.

The Japanese steamer Saka Pari was driven ashore on the island of Masbate, southeast of here, on November 23, and was still aground today.

Relief measures for the benefit of sufferers in the central and southern parts of the Philippine archipelago, believed directly in the storm's path, got underway when the United States cruiser Milwaukee left for the stricken districts. The warship carried Red Cross doctors and nurses and a staff representative from the office of Governor General Henry L. Stimson. The party was ordered to make a survey of the storm damage, and recommend such relief measures as they deemed necessary for the central government to undertake.

Meanwhile the typhoon had passed into the China sea, leaving thousands homeless in its wake, although reports received here said all victims located had escaped with their lives.

Wires were still down, and aside from the dispatch received yesterday saying 400 houses and seven wharves had been destroyed by a 100 mile an hour wind at Legaspi, only one message was received here from the typhoon area. That was from Naga, in the south of the province of Ambos Camarines. The message said many houses of light materials had been destroyed while many others, more strongly built, had been unroofed. No fatalities were reported.

The Milwaukee carried three doctors and seven nurses, besides four relief directors. In the cargo were 200 sacks of rice and 50 cases of sardines. Officials realized that personnel and the supplies taken were sufficient for only small scale relief, but said extensive relief measures would be undertaken if necessary.

The Milwaukee was ordered to visit southern Luzon, northern Samar, and the islands of Masbate and Leyte. Plans to send a United States destroyer to the Culion leper colony were abandoned when officials learned the storm had missed the settlement. Nothing had been heard from the colonists since the typhoon began and since it was apparently in the path of the storm, Dr. H. Windsor Ward, chief pathologist for the medical staff, determined to investigate. His departure aboard a warship, was halted by receipt of good news.

The U. S. Memphis reported that she was standing by the Saka Maru. The Memphis tucked the storm on the rescue voyage, and was delayed somewhat, but reported that she never was in real difficulty.

Three Filipino fishermen were picked up in Manila bay by the steamer Golden Peak, about the time the Medon was saving the crew of the inter-island freighter.

THREE MEN UNDER ARREST FOR ROBBERY IN TORRINGTON

TORRINGTON, Nov. 25—(AP)—Three men are under arrest here tonight, charged with forcing an entrance into the Warrenton Woolen Co., assaulting and overpowering a watchman, and robbing a safe of $161.

The men are Walter Jobtanski and Stephen and John Kucineski. Jobtanski and John Kucineski are former employes of the woolen company.

John Matusz, the watchman, was found bound and gagged in the factory building early today by a workman. He had been assaulted with a blunt instrument and was semi-conscious.

LOOKING FOR TAX FROM THE RYAN $200,000,000 ESTATE

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—(AP)—A contest is in prospect among two states and the District of Columbia, in which each will seek to establish itself as the legal residence of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan and therefore entitled to the inheritance tax from his estate, estimated in excess of $200,000,000.

The states are Virginia, Mr. Ryan's birthplace where he maintained an estate, and New York, where he lived for 57 years and amassed his wealth. Two years ago he announced he would make Washington his legal residence.

NORTH ADAMS GIRL DIED IN NAPLES OF BULLET WOUND

GERMAN CADET BARQUE IS IN SINKING CONDITION

Entire Crew of 84 Was Rescued From the Schoolship—Trawler Picked Up 15 Members of an Italian Freighter, Which Sank—Crew of 12 Men of a French Coasting Ship Perished When the Vessel Foundered—The Amiral Ponty, a 6,000 Ton Freighter, is Waterlogged 30 Miles West of Ushant Light—A 72 Mile Gale is Sweeping the French Atlantic Seaboard—Damage Caused by Heavy Wind in London and Its Surroundings.

DEVONPORT, England, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Naval headquarters here received a radio message tonight saying that 40 of the crew of the German Cadet Barque Pommern had been rescued by another German ship. Forty more were still on board the schoolship which was said to be in a sinking condition. Several vessels were standing by the ship about 23 miles west of Guernsey in the English channel. The admiralty mine layer Adventure has been sent to their assistance.

FIVE KNOWN DEAD IN STORM OFF DUTCH COAST

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 25.—(AP)—A severe storm tonight raged unchecked along the Dutch coast with five known dead, many missing and others reported in grave danger. Not a single vessel has been able to enter this port since Friday.

A small Dutch vessel foundered in the Zuyder Zee. The captain, his wife and three children were drowned. A German tugboat arrived at Helder with five members of its crew injured and the vessel itself severely battered. She had been towing a timber-laden lighter, which with eight men on board, broke adrift during the gale. After heroic efforts in which the tug was seriously damaged five men were rescued but all efforts to locate the lighter with the three others were unavailing.

The German steamer Heinrich Podeus went adrift and was stranded near Zaandvoort. A lifeboat rescued all of the crew except the captain and the chief officer who refused to desert their ship.

The Swedish steamer Garm was in a critical condition northwest of Texel. The lifeboat Dorus Rijkers of Helders put out to its aid but the captain of the Garm was reported to have refused to allow his crew to abandon ship. As the result the lifeboat brought back only one man who leaped overboard. It is feared that the other 16 members of the crew will be lost.

72 MILE GALE ALONG FRENCH ATLANTIC COAST

PARIS, Nov. 25.—(AP)—The winter gales sweeping the French Atlantic seaboard for the past 72 hours continued with renewed violence today after a temporary lull in the early hours of the morning. Two vessels had been sunk, one was known to be in serious distress with another ship standing by, numerous others had flashed distress signals and coast shipping was generally paralyzed.

The French coasting ship Cesaree foundered with all on board five miles off Algiers this morning. There were 12 men in the crew. The Italian freighter Barbara sank in the Bay of Biscay but the trawler Lacoubre saved the crew of 15.

The Admiral Ponty, a 6,000-ton freighter belonging to the Chargeurs Reunis company, radioed that it was waterlogged 30 miles west of Ushant Light with such high seas running that launching of the boats would be precarious. The steamer Macoris was standing by the distressed vessel this evening while the sea-going tug Iroise had put out from Brest to give further aid. There are 43 in the crew of the Admiral Ponty but no passengers.

The liner Aquitania left Cherbourg a little after midnight when the storm appeared to be abating. It had delayed departure for nine hours. The Aquitania responded to the S O S from the Amiral Ponty but resumed its voyage to New York when the Macoris reported it had the situation in hand.

GALE IS CREATING HAVOC ON LAND AND SEA

BREST, France, Nov. 25.—(AP)—The liner Admiral Ponty sent out distress signals at 9:30 this morning that she was in a sinking condition 20 miles west of Ushant Light. The tempest which has been ravaging the Atlantic ocean for the past few days, after abating during the night, redoubled in violence early this morning, reports from St. Nazaire indicate.

The liner Aquitania and the steamer Marcois reached the Admiral Ponty at five o'clock this afternoon. The Macoris stood by to assist the distressed ship and rescue her crew while the Aquitania continued to New York after being assured that the Marcoris was able to cope with the situation. The Marcois was formerly the Burgermeister.

The liner Amerique from Bakaar to Bordeaux also radioed that she was in distress off the mouth of the Gironde and the Italian steamer Goldani broadcast an S O S from Bay of Biscay, 50 miles off Finisterre.

The roof of the Cherbourg arsenal was blown off and carried a hundred feet distant by the terrific wind.

ENTIRE CREW WAS TAKEN OFF SINKING SCHOOL SHIP

BRIXHAM, Devonshire, England, Nov. 25—(AP)—The entire crew of 84 of the German school ship Pommern, have been rescued from their sinking ship by another German vessel. The school ship called for aid when about 25 miles west of the Isle of Guernsey in the English channel. Several ships stood by but the transfer of the crew took much time because of the high seas.

PICKED UP 15 MEMBERS OF SHIPWRECKED CREW

LA ROCHELLE France, Nov. 25.—(AP)—The trawler Lacoubre radioed that she had picked up 15 members of the crew of the Italian freighter Barbara, lost in the Bay of Biscay this morning.

MAN KILLED DURING A QUARREL IN WARWICK, R. I.

WARWICK, R. I., Nov. 25—(AP)—Francis Rondina, 29, of Warwick, was shot and killed early today during a quarrel with Joseph Reamy, 46, also of this town. Reamy, who was arrested by the Warwick police shortly after he had emptied the contents of a rifle into Rondina's abdomen, was held on a charge of murder.

According to stories told to the Warwick police, Rondina came to the home of Reamy and asked him to "put up" a drunken companion for the night. Reamy refused and some time later Rondina, the police say, returned and reiterated his request.

In the ensuing quarrel Reamy shot Rondina. Reamy told the police that he did not intend to fire the weapon, but that in the melee the trigger was accidentally pulled.

PROCLAMATION READ BY COOLIDGE OVER RADIO

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25— (AP) — A far-flung radio hookup was assembled tonight for President Coolidge to read his Thanksgiving day proclamation to the American people.

Recognizing the good things that have come to the people of the United States during the last year, the president in his proclamation, which was published last month, gave thanks "for the blessings which the giver of all good and perfect gifts has bestowed upon us."

The president had the microphone installed in his study so that it was unnecessary for him to leave the White House to participate in the Thanksgiving program which had been arranged by a network of radio stations. Mr. Coolidge had set 9 o'clock tonight as the hour at which he agreed to take part in the program by reading his proclamation.

400 AUTOS TRAPPED BY ICE ON HIGHWAY

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Nov. 25—(AP)—Sand was being rushed tonight to Lebanon mountain on the Pittsfield-Albany road, where 400 automobiles were trapped by the ice which formed on the highway after a snowstorm today. Three inches of snow fell in the Berkshires but it was the ice which paralyzed motor traffic.

COLOMBIAN AVIATOR HAS REACHED HAVANA

HAVANA, Nov. 25— (AP) —Lieut. Benjamin Mendez, Colombian army aviator en route from New York to Bogota, brought his Curtis-Falcon seaplane to rest in Havana harbor at 2:32 this afternoon, completing the trip from Jacksonville, Fla., which he began at 9:10 this morning.

HOOVER IS NEARING AMAPALA, HONDURAS

U. S. S. MARYLAND, Nov. 25—(AP)—Nearing the first of his good will visits to Latin-American republics, President-elect Herbert Hoover this morning attended divine services on the decks of this battleship. Lieut. Comdr. P. F. Huske, an Episcopal chaplain, whose home is at Fayetteville, N. C., conducted the services at 10 a. m.

He took for his text the 11th verse, tenth chapter, of the book of St. John: "I am the Good Shepherd; the Good Shepherd giveth His life for the sheep." The application which he drew was that the spirit of the Good Shepherd is needed among men everywhere in the world but more especially by men in every country who are occupying positions of public leadership.

The band of the Maryland played hymns for the services and the sailors massed on deck joined in the singing of the anthems. The chaplain invoked the blessing of God on the good will undertakings of the president-elect, dwelling upon its potentialities for establishing on firm foundations the relations between the United States and all nations of Spanish-America. He emphasized that all of these peoples, however they may vary in church denominations, fundamentally accept Christian teachings.

The dreadnough this afternoon was nearing the port of Amapala, Honduras, where the first of the Central American visits is to be made.

SITUATION IN BULGARIA BECOMING MORE CRITICAL

VIENNA, Nov. 25—(AP)—Special dispatches from Sofia tonight to the Vienna Tageblatt describe the situation in Bulgaria arising from the activities of Ivan Michailoff as more critical. An entire division of government troops was said to have been ordered to the Macedonian frontier to capture the defiant Comitadji leader.

Michailoff is said to have refused bluntly the government demand for his surrender. He has now been warned that the army will take him by force and the dispatches say that bloody encounters may be expected.

BIG FIRE RAGING IN OIL REFINING WORKS

BUCHAREST, Nov. 25—(AP)—A big fire has been raging since last night in the oil refining works at Unires Ploest. All available fire brigades responded but had been unable to extinguish the blaze. Storage tanks at the refining works contain more than 300 tons of crude oil and damages estimated at £100,000 have been caused. Several casualties were reported.

COMMITTEE NAMED FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DRIVE

WILLIMANTIC, Nov. 26—Organization has been perfected for the 1929 membership enrollment campaign of the local chamber of commerce with President Frank P. Fenton as chairman, Attorney E. Frank Bugbee is chairman of the finance committee. The executive committee includes the following: Roland B. Jordan, Patrick J. Twomey, Walter R. King, John Reilly, S. B. Potter, Charles W. Hill, John E. Brick, Andrew Roux, John C. Frazier, J. E. Smith, Robert H. Fenton, Herbert W. Huber, John F. Carr, Joseph B. Riordan, James B. Fullerton, Harry N. Bullard, Kenneth N. Hillhouse, Jeremiah E. Sullivan, Don H. Curtiss, Charles Beck, Edward G. Kenney, Attorney E. Frank Bugbee, William P. Jordan, Frank P. Fenton and Edgar E. Bass.

Copies of a four-page pamphlet are to be mailed this week to all of the members of the chamber. These contain a partial list of the activities of the organization during the past few months. On this list are sixty-eight citations of various types of work that have been handled by the local chamber of commerce since reorganization.

The decorations committee of the chamber is to proceed with the work of preparing for "dolling up" the central business section for the approaching holiday season. It is the intention of the committee, if they secure the encouragement and endorsement of the merchants, to have a more extensive decoration of the business center than last year. Additional trees and lights are to be provided, according to present plans. It is proposed to erect two community trees, one in the eastern section of the city and the other at the western entrance. The matter of co-operative advertising is to be taken up at a later date. Robert T. Newton, Jeremiah E. Sullivan and Secretary Earl J. Arnold have been appointed a finance committee to secure a group that will make possible the financial success of the proposed decorating and advertising plan.

COMMITTEE INSPECTS MERCER ESTATE BUILDINGS

WILLIMANTIC, Nov. 25—Mayor Charles A. Gates, Alderman Cyril A. Lamoureux, Fire Chief Michael J. English in his capacity as building inspector and Dr. W. F. S. Keating, city health officer, have inspected the buildings comprising the Mercer estate on the south side of Main street, opposite the town building, and in the "Stone Row," in compliance with a vote taken at the meeting of the board of aldermen on November 12th at the instigation of Alderman William E. Jackson. Six buildings on the property were visited: No. 970, a four-tenement house; No. 976, a two-tenement house; No. 980, known as the Corporation Boarding House; Nos. 986-990, a four-tenement house, all on Main street; the "Great Eastern," a stone building three stories in height, at one time enclosing fifteen tenements, but now only occupied by four tenants; and a two tenement wooden house, unoccupied, and in a very bad condition, both in the "Stone Row."

The inspectors found sanitary conditions to be very poor in all of the houses, the lavoratories poorly ventilated with little or no sunlight and space limited. The stairs in some of the tenements were found in a weakened condition and in some of the houses plastering was off the walls and ceilings, apparently having been this way for a long time. All of the wooden structures on Main street were found to be badly in need of paint, both on the exterior and interior. In the "Stone Row," the wooden building was in such a condition that it cannot be occupied and in the "Great Eastern," the empty tenements were found to be "scuttled," much of the woodwork having been chopped away and apparently carried off.

From what can be learned the rents are very low but even with this condition prevailing, some of the tenants are months in arrears. The investigators found radio sets in several of the tenements, however, while in one, seven cats were being supported. Three of the Main street tenements are unoccupied. The committee is deliberating just what they can do although the owners are to be notified as to the conditions and what they are expected to do by City Health Officer Keating and Building Inspector English. An early reply will be requested in order that a report can be made at the next meeting of the common council in December.

Charged with breaking and entering in the night season nwith intent to commit the crime of theft, George W. Lawson of Olive Hill, Ky., was presented before the local police court Saturday morning. He pleaded guilty to the complaint on two counts as presented by Prosecuting Attorney Harry S. Gaucher and was bound over to the January criminal term of the Windham county superior court. Bonds were fixed at five hundred dollars, which he was unable to furnish and was taken to the county jail in Brooklyn to await trial.

Lawson, who is classed as a deserter from the U. S. army, was arrested Friday morning by Traffic Officer Arthur Hurley following a series of breaks the night before. Following his arrest he admitted entering the filling stations on West Main street of the Quality Tire Company, Morris Sussman and Merton E. Phillips. The loot from the three stations comprised for the most part a quantity of pennies and he also took two automobile tires from the Sussman station. A clever bit of detective work on the part of the local police resulted in the arrest.

John Riley of New York city was also before the court, charged with intoxication. Judgment was suspended for twenty-four hours in his case by Judge Frank H. Foss after the accused had said that employment was awaiting him in Norwich.

Miss Eva Pageau of 149 Bridge street was tendered a miscellaneous shower Friday evening by her mother, Mrs. Henry Pageau, in honor of her approaching marriage to Donald LaCourse of Wallingford. The rooms were tastefully decorated with a color scheme of pink and white. About fifty guests were in attendance from this city and Hartford.

Miss Grace Nye, daughter of Arthur Nye of 30 Windham street, underwent an operation for acute mastoiditis Saturday morning at St. Joseph's hospital.

Information has reached the local chamber of commerce that Secretary Julian J. Hadley of the state department of public welfare has given out information that the licenses to solicit funds in this state for the following organizations have been discontinued: New England Home for Little Wanderers; Utica Normal and Industrial Institute; Livingstone College, Walters Institute, Warren, Ark.; St. Mary's Russian Orphanage; Polish American Citizens' club and the Ukrainian Orthodox St. Michael's church of Seymour. The department states that all new applications for licenses to solicit for charitable and philanthropic purposes are to be given a most rigid investigation and only those that conform to high standards of the state will receive licenses.

Secretary Earl J. Arnold of the local chamber stresses the point that any person approached by a solicitor or through the mail for contributions for the support of charitable or philanthropic organizations should first ascertain as to whether they have been able to pass the requirements of the state department of public welfare. A substantial penalty is imposed by state law for those who violate the ruling in this respect by soliciting such funds without a license.

The annual memorial day services of Willimantic lodge No. 1511, B. P. O. Elks will be held in the home on Pleasant street next Sunday afternoon, December 2nd, commencing at 2:30 o'clock. The oration will be delivered by Judge John E. Fahey of Rockville. There will be special musical numbers and selections by the B. P. O. E. band. As usual the exercises will be open to the public. The committee in charge of the affair consists of Esteemed Leading Knight Roy W. Downer, chairman; Past Exalted Ruler James F. McGlone, Ralph H. Gibson, Charles N. C. Wheeler and Roderick V. Gaudreau.

The Lyceum of the First Spiritualist church held a benefit whist Friday evening at the home of Mrs. William L. Smith, 111 Walnut street. There were four tables in play and prizes were awarded as follows: Ladies' first, Miss Adelaide Cole; second, Mrs. Minnie Johnson; consolidation, Mrs. William L. Smith; gentlemen's first, William L. Smith; second, William Mann; consolation, Harris O. Eccleston. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Smith and Miss Geer.

The cash contributions for the recent Donation day at St. Joseph's hospital amounted to $223.20, according to an announcement made Saturday. The people of the community were also very liberal with gifts of foods, medical supplies and materials. In connection with the day the Ladies' auxiliary of the hospital will be privileged to order twenty-five dollars' worth of supplies gratis for the hospital from the H. C. Murray company through the courtesy of Joseph B. Riordan, president of the firm. A cash donation of five dollars from Abraham Sussman was also announced. The annual donation of a case of oranges from Mrs. Hugh C. Murray has also been received.

Live stock cannot be shipped by parcel post other than day-old chicks, according to the rule of the post office department. Not everyone is aware of this and sometimes even postmasters are not aware of the restriction. Last Friday a farmer living at Leonard Bridge left a fourteen-pound turkey crated at the post office there for shipment to West Haven. Star Route Carrier Fred N. Nason was given the bird in his collection by Postmistress Strong and brought to the local office for transfer to West Haven. The gobbler got no further, however, when Assistant Postmaster Daniel A. Sullivan saw what the intended shipment was and it was shipped back to Leonard Bridge.

Mrs. Prudence Harvey Johnston died at the home of her son, William S. Johnston, 23 Johnston avenue, Saturday night. She was born November 9, 1838, a daughter of John and Mary (Jennings) Harvey and was the oldest member of St. Paul's Episcopal church. Besides her son, she is survived by a granddaughter, Mrs. Murrell Troop of Manchester; a great grandson, also of Manchester; one brother, St. John Harvey of Old Lyme; and a sister, Mrs. Anne J. Mathews of Norwich.

John B. Lavalle of New London was placed under arrest at 10:40 o'clock Saturday night by Officer Gilbert T. Blackburn, charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. He will be presented in the local police court this morning.

The fourth annual Policeman's dance will be staged by the local department at the Al-Pierre Tabarin on Valley street, Wednesday evening, December 12th. The Peerless orchestra will furnish music for dancing and there will probably be several entertainment features staged during the evening. The affair promises to outdo any of its predecessors. Arthur Hurley, chairman; Roderick Lariviere and P. Rudolph Laramee comprise the committee in charge of arrangements. The proceeds will be added to the police department fund.

The Thread City has at least one person on board the U. S. S. Maryland now on the Pacific good-will trip to South and Central American countries with President-elect Herbert Hoover. He is Ensign John A. Williams, son of John N. Williams of 290 Lewiston avenue. The latter has not as yet heard directly from his son since the start of the trip but expects a letter within a few days. Ensign Williams graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., on June 7th last. Shortly after he was married to Miss Vivian Williams of this city, he was transferred to the Pacific coast and on August 17th was attached to the Maryland as a commissioned officer. During the trip Mrs. Williams will remain at their home in Long Beach, Calif.

There were three cases of scarlet fever reported from the town of Coventry to the state board of health for the week ending November 17th. A well child conference will be held at the town town in Andover Tuesday afternoon from two to four o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Mastin of Holbrook avenue had as guest last week, Mrs. P. J. Moquin of Belchertown, Mass., formerly Miss Annie Anderson of this city. Mrs. Moquin called on a number of other friends in town and will also visit relatives in Providence, R. I., and Boston, Mass.

COLLEGE YOUNG MEN ASSIST IN SERVICES

The C. E. society held a social Saturday evening in charge of two young men from Wesleyan deputation team. Sunday morning these two young men were present at church and Sunday school to assist in the services. In the evening the Tri-County union of C. E. met with the Columbia society, in charge of the eight young men composing the Wesleyan team, the other six members of which were distributed among the other societies for the morning services.

The Ladies' Aid society met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mary Ink. There were 35 adults and 5 children present, the largest attendance for some time. After a social hour, sandwiches, cake and coffee were served by the hostesses, Mrs Ink, Miss Katherine Ink and Miss Anne Dix.

At the meeting of the grange Wednesday evening the men furnished the program, readings by Raymond Clarke and Clayton Hunt, and songs by the worthy master, Raymond Lyman. It was voted to accept an invitation of East Hartford grange to meet with that grange Dec. 7th and furnish two numbers on the program.

About three inches of snow fell during Wednesday night and was greeted with joy or sorrow, according to the age of the beholder.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Porter spent last week Sunday at Pleasant View Beach.

Mrs. Albert Little of Willimantic spent a day recently with Mrs. Emily Little.

Miss Anne Dix, who has been spending several weeks in Boston, returned Wednesday to her home on the Green. Mrs. May Randall, who has been spending the summer and fall on the Green, closed her house Wednesday and went to Hartford.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Yeomans and Mrs. Isadore Yeomans of New Haven recently spent the day with Miss Harriet Fuller.

Mrs. Emily Little closed her home on the Green Friday and went to Hartford, where she will spend the winter at the White home.

Mrs. Kate Fuller returned home Wednesday after several weeks spent in a Hartford hospital following a surgical operation. Mrs. Ruth Jacobs is caring for her for the present.

VOLUNTOWN

Some time Monday night thieves entered Marion's general store and the postoffice, in the same building, taking the store cash register and some stamps and small change from the postoffice, the extent of the loot probably amounting to 10 or $12. An attempt to break open the cash register had been made, but, failing in this, the thieves carried it off; in their haste dropping several pieces of small change, presumably from the postoffice, upon the floor. State police from the Danielson barracks were soon at work on the case. The cash register was found Tuesday evening on a country road in the Wylie district in a badly damaged condition.

Wednesday afternoon at the home of George B. Sheldon, justice of the peace, Lloyd Barber, 19, and Irving Shippee, 25, both of Voluntown, were charged with violations of the motor vehicle laws, pleading guilty. Lloyd Barber was fined for driving a car not registered, $5, and for driving without having obtained a license to do so, $3, with costs of $11.62, amounting to $19.62, which he paid. Irving Shippee, for driving without having a license, second offense, $25 and costs amounting to $35.22. Having no funds, he went to jail. State Policeman Gardner of the Danielson barracks was the arresting officer. Grand Juror McDonald prosecuted the cases.

Saturday evening an entertainment in Union hall for the benefit of the Voluntown band was attended by a good sized crowd. A pleasing concert by the band under direction of Leader Elno Karfalo was well received. Several encores were demanded and freely given. This young band is giving a good account of itself at every appearance. After the concert an evening of dancing was enjoyed.

Wednesday a large gathering attended the auction in Beachdale of the farm equipment of the Briggs Mfg. Co., including horses, farm implements, about 70 cords of wood, lumber, etc. There was some spirited bidding, some articles bringing fair prices and others going at exceptional bargain figures.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Violette and family, Miss Dorilda Huston and Mr. Charles Violette were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McDonald the past week.

NOANK

EELING ON THE FLATS IS THE POPULAR SPORT

Eeling seems to be the sport in the fishing village out on the flats across from the town dock. Friday there were ten row boats with two eelers in each boat pulling away, and they are singing ceiling to the right of us and to the left of us. Rollin Rathbun was high hook with 50 eels in his fishing basket, and one weighed four and a half pounds, that put up a fishing basket, and one weighed four pun in the salt water, but he got his prize after 40 minutes of work and it was big enough for a family of four. The eels were shipped to New York where the prices are high. Orlando Clark was a close second with 47 eels and over 250 eels was taken from the mud in a day by the eelers. Never saw so many eels in a single day and the young sports are having more fun than a one-armed paper hanger with the measles.

O. Jensen of Fishers Island is spending a few days at his home in the village.

Arthur Boucard was a caller in Taftville on Friday.

Mrs. D. Wells has returned to Jamesport, L. I., after a short visit in Noank.

Around 20 Legionnaires of Harrison Morton Ward post, No. 115, left the fishing village by autos on Friday evening to attend the fifth district meeting held in Taftville arriving in the mill town at 8:30 o'clock. They found Ponemah hall packed with ladies' auxiliary and Legionnaires and over 175 were present. The new district commander, Guy Allen, of Groton, was behind the mallet, and the adjutant, Bailey, of Groton, was working the pencil when Commander Allen opening the meeting and the piano was played by Miss Julia Cross as every one sang Anferica and the new officers were given a real hand as Commander Allen said he will look for the Legionnaires and Ladies' Auxiliary to give him royal support and he will work for the good of the Legion. The next meeting will be held at Jewett City. After the meeting the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Taftville post passed around sandwiches and cake with Mill Town coffee. Dancing was next on the list and Larry Jackson's Singing orchestra played where round and square dances took place and the final dance was a Paul Jones, where the fellows could meet the ladies. Prof. Edward Tinkham of Hanover, who has been calling off the square sets since 1870, was on the job again and had the dancers catching their wind for Prof. Tinkham gave them the heavy oil as the orchestra played Turkey in the Straw. Charles Ellis, the village smalest fireman, was the guest of the Noank post and enjoyed the Legionnaires' meeting, also Stretch Morrison and Smallest Fireman Charles gave an exhibition of dancing and did the Charlston dance in the new way as the orchestra stepped on the gas, getting a real ovation from the crowd and were called back twice. The village Legionnaires returned home at an early hour Saturday morning.

Miss Louise Crandell, who came from England is visiting her cousin, Tedlard MacGrath, for a few weeks and it is the first time they have seen each other in 16 years, and it was like brother and sister meeting. Young MacGrath has an automoblie and wanted to show Cousin Louise the town and was telling how good his auto was, traveling 1,000 miles and never had a blow out or flat tire. They went over to Groton Long Point to see how little Conn Island was growing; on the way back when a loud noise went off like a hunter shooting ducks, but he found out it was a blowout and his cousin gave him the England horse laugh. Getting that fixed they started for the village again, bang, went another blow out on the rear tire. Taking off his coat and getting out the tools and fixed that tire and it took them an hour and 30 minutes to come from the Point to the village and Driver MacGrath had to come on a flat tire for he got tired changing them and was mad. Now he wants to sell the auto that went 1000 miles and never had a blow out. She never saw such a large building like the Woolworth tower in New York, the tolest building in the world and she was telling the Camp Fire Girls about her trip across the ocean and was not sea sick and never hit a storm. She likes Connecticut to live in. Miss Nellie Crane presented her with the key to the village and made her a member of the Camp Fire troop.

Charles Winipfhelmer of New York has been at the plant of the American Velvet company for a few days.

Representatives of the Mixtuxet club, Stonington Fire department, High School faculty and Merchants' association have organized a volley ball league to play every Thursday night in the Community hous. William O'Brien was elected president and George Grant secretary and treasurer. The league will be composed of four teams to be selected by the officers of the league so that they may be more evenly balanced. Last year several teams far outclassed their opponents and by picking the teams it is thought there may be a better coordination and spirit aroused. Each team having three games scheduled, the best two out of three to count as one point for the winners.

Miss Alvida Lewis of Willimantic spent the week end here with her parents.

Mrs. August Tohang arrived home Saturday from a visit of two months with relatives in Germany.

Scout Week was brought to a close Sunday by the Girls' troop having their own service in the Community house at 3 p. m. The girls held a food sale on Thursday and had a hike Saturday.

COLCHESTER

Thefts of chickens are still complained about the village. Last week 34 hens were stolen from Nicholas Marchina's poultry house on upper Pleasant street. Over 150 hens have been stolen about the borough during the past few months. Charles T. Williams and the town of Colchester have offered rewards of $100 each and the state police have made investigations but are not ready to announce the identity of the thieves.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O. Kendall witnessed the Yale-Harvard football game in New Haven Saturday.

Joseph Weinstein was a Willimantic caller Friday.

Mrs. Maxfield of Winchendon, Mass., is visiting her niece, Mrs. R. O. Kendall on South Main street.

D. A. R. Food Sale.

The Daughters of the American Revolution held a food sale at the Nathaniel Foote chapter house, Saturday afternoon. Misses Florence I. Dawley and Addie M. Wickwire were the committee in charge. A large number of local and out of town people were in attendance, over $25 being cleared.

Miss Ruth H. Brown has been making several days' visit with friends in Middletown.

The laundry building being erected near the New Dam property on Norwich avenue is rapidly nearing completion. The workmen have started laying shingles on the roof.

Mis Cora E. Carrier, teacher in Hartford schools, was at her home on South Main street over Sunday.

At a recent meeting of the grange plans were made for a Christmas party. Mrs. Fred O. Brown being elected chairman of the committee.

Luncheon-Bridge.

Miss Alice B. Condren of South Main street entertained at bridge and luncheon Saturday in honor of Misses Fannie and Mary Curgeneven, of Hartford, former local residents. Miss Margaret Donovan and Miss Mary Curgenven won the prizes.

Miss Evelyn R. Strong, teacher in Newington schools, was at her home on South Main street over Sunday.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL OF CHARLES H. HUMES

Taps sounded for another from the fast thinning ranks of the G. A. R. veterans when Charles H. Humes whose funeral took place Friday afternoon at the Methodist church on Centerbury Plains was laid to rest in the cemetery adjoining the church of which he had been a member for many years. The church was filled with sorrowing relatives and friends of the deceased who through his life of 83 years had been closely associated with this town. There were choice floral tributes surrounding the flag-draped casket. The service was conducted by Rev. A. F. Gallup, pastor of the Nazarene church, Danielson, assisted by Rev. Edward St. John. The hymns, Jesus doeth all things well and Jesus, Lover of My Soul, were beautifully sung by Mrs. Kent Darbie, Mrs. George Miner and George Englis; Mrs. Darbie was organist. The bearers were George Miner, Percy Hammond, George Baker, Kent Darbie, A. T. Macleod, George Inglis.

Mr. Humes was a member of the 7th Rhode Island first infantry Co. D. Fifty-five years ago he was united in marriage with Miss Sarah Green, who survives him. Seven children were born to them and five are living. Henry Humes of Taftville, Mrs. Charles Phillips and Mrs. Charles Woodmansee of Plainfield and Mrs. Lester Worthington and Mrs. Gertrude Barr of Springfield, Mass. There are several grandchildren and great grandchildren. A few years ago Mr. Humes sold the family homestead in Howard Valley and with Mrs. Humes moved to Plainfield where he resided until his death. Mr. Humes was a Christian who not only professed Christianity but practiced it. His agreeable disposition and good fellowship endeared him to many friends. He was a staunch friend, a helpful neighbor, a good husband and father.

STATE POLICE SEARCHING FOR TWO AUTO THIEVES

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Nov. 25—State officers were scouting territory for miles about today in search of two young men wanted for stealing an automobile at Auburn, Mass., yesterday afternoon. The car was at the state police barracks here today, it having been abandoned by the young men who were driving it, they taking to the woods near the Killingly town farm at Dayville about 10.15 Saturday night after an exciting chase in which they were hunted and State Officer Royal Scranton of the Danielson barracks the pursuer.

The young men who were the objects of a widespread search today first came into unusual attention Saturday evening over on the Brooklyn highway.

That program did not work out just for who was engaged for months this year in reconstruction of the Danielson-Brooklyn state highway has some heavy Mack road trucks at a construction camp near Ledge Hill. It was alleged today that the young men, identity unknown, poured kasoline over one of these trucks and set it afire Saturday evening. What their object in doing this could have been may be only conjectured.

That particular act led to prompt developments. The men had hardly headed away from the construction camp when State Officer Scranton was on their trail. The chase led eastward into and through Danielson and northward to Elmville, through Dayville Four Corners and to a point above the town farm before the going got too hot for the hunted men.

During the course of the chase, made at high speed, the drivers of the stolen car several times tried to force the pursuing officer off the road. Eventually, and finding no alternative for bringing the men to a halt, State Officer Scranton opened fire on them with his service revolver. The effect of the shots was to force the driver to another desperate ruse to get away. While traveling at close to a mile a minute, he suddenly jammed the brakes on his car, trusting, it may be assumed, that the pursuing officer would crash into it with his machine and be so injured, that he could be shaken off. Charles Haggerty, a Webster contractor was arranged. The officer swerved his machine and ran by the stolen car a considerable distance before he could bring it to a stop, but before he could get back to the stolen machine the occupants of it had abandoned it and taken to the woods. Other state officers were promptly summoned and the hunt for the car thieves got into full swing, covering during the night miles of territory, but without avail. The search was continued today and without any trace being found of the hunted men up to the time night was setting in.

The stolen car, a Buick sedan, is the property of H. Potter Trainer of Auburn, it has been established.

Homer Beecher Injured.

Homer Beecher, a Brooklyn resident, on the Canterbury road, was at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam today, very considerably cut and bruised as the result of an automobile accident on South Main street, near the Quinebaug river bridge, just after 9 o'clock Saturday night. Mr. Beecher was proceeding toward Brooklyn when a car shot out of Franklin street, and, it is said, forced his car off the highway. The Beecher car mounted the sidewalk, plowed through a pipe rail fence and went over the retaining wall at the approach to the bridge. Today at the hospital it was said that Mr. Beecher is painfully, but not seriously, injured, and that unless no untoward developments occur, he will recover promptly. He has numerous cuts on the face, scalp, hands and body in addition to various bruises and abrasions.

Mail Early for Christmas

Though these are pre-Thanksgiving days Postmaster E. H. Keech is calling attention to the fact that it is time for some people at least to give thought to their Christmas mailing. Postmaster Keech calls attention to the fact that Christmas gifts destined for recipients in England and France must be received at the Danielson postoffice before December 14, to insure delivery at their destinations in time for the holiday.

Parcels addressed to Italy should be in the mails here not later than December 11. Postmaster Keach says that it will be an evidence of foresight if mail addressed to western cities and Canada is given into the postoffice here two weeks before Christmas. The prospect is that the mountains of mail matter the coming Christmas season will be much greater than ever before, and those who delay sending packages to distant points until two or three days before the holiday will have to take the risk that they will not be delivered until after Christmas.

Though the postoffice department for years has urged early mailing of Christmas parcels, there is no evidence at the Danielson office as yet that this advice is being heeded. It is for this reason that attention is called to the matter of early mailing at this time.

Donations for Christmas Dinners.

As for years past, residents of Danielson will be given an opportunity, beginning immediately after Thanksgiving, to make contributions to a fund to be used to purchase Christmas cheer for needy residents of Danielson. Even in a community where the average person has peace and plenty, at least of the essential comforts of life, there are cases that require and deserve aid, and the period of the great Yuletide festival is selected each year as the time for this benefaction. Receptacles for receiving whatever anyone cares to give will be placed in various business places in the borough. An efficient organization will list the needy cases and see that Christmas dinners and other remembrances are delivered.

Progress on State Highway

Everything posible is being done by the state over on the Brooklyn highway to get construction work sufficiently advanced before real winter sets in as to make travel over this important trunk line safe and comfortable. A great deal of progress has been made by the state since the work was taken over from the contractor that started it, so much, in fact, as to practically insure that the state's object will be attained. Completion of the work will be undertaken next spring, presumably, it is said, by some contractor. The work that started last January and cannot be completed this year involves the reconstruction of about four miles of highway, extending from the Brooklyn side of the Quinebaug bridge in Danielson to a point just west of the county jail in Brooklyn.

Tuesday afternoon members of the Fortnightly club are to meet with the Misses Perkins of Maple street.

Mrs. Ashley P. Mills of the West Side is in Southbridge to spend the holiday period with Mr. and Mrs. George Foote.

The annual Thanksgiving offering was made at the service at the Westfield Congregational church at this morning's service.

Saturday evening there was an unusually large attendance at the dances given here, and some of those who attended were fortunate enough to receive chickens as awards in advance of the holiday.

At this time there is little promise that the traditional first skating of the season will be possible Thanksgiving day, though small ponds had a half-inch covering of ice at the week end.

Questionnaires sent out to members of the Westfield Congregational church sometime since for the purpose of obtaining information for the permanent records of the church have been returned in numbers.

As the holiday approaches growers of native turkeys within a few miles of Danielson are easily disposing of their birds at 75 cents per pound.

Jubilant Harvard supporters, still enthusiastic over the team's victory over Yale at New Haven yesterday, lent color to the heavy motor traffic through here today, as their cars rolled toward Boston.

Auditors who are going over the accounts of the town have made considerable progress with the work, which, it is anticipated, will be completed some time in December.

Borough police today reported an exceptionally quiet week end, no arrests, no disturbances or anything untoward.

James A. Merry of Central Falls was a visitor with friends in Danielson today.

Judge W. Fenner Woodward, who has been ill at his home on Broad street the past week, was considerably improved today.

Help wanted for our curtain department; experience unnecessary. Apply at office, Powdrell & Alexander, Danielson.—Adv.

In various communities hereabouts gasoline prices at retail have been reduced within the past few days, the averaging prevailing price where reductions have taken place being 20 cents per gallon.

For Monday evening the Tatapochon Camp Fire girls have a meeting scheduled to be held at the Westfield Congregational church.

It was said today that everything appears favorable for the consummation of the deal involving the sale of the Attawaugan hotel to Boston parties, who plan to replace it with a modern business block.

WHEN GEESE GOT FROZEN IN AT TADPOLE POND YEARS AGO

Reference in The Bulletin to wild geese moving south recalls the fact that a flock of geese once became frozen in, on the east feeding ground of Tadpole pond.

It was along toward the end of November, 40 years ago, when John Sharkey was boss of the local railroad section. The day was of the perfect Indian summer sort, warm and still. The flock of about forty geese came out of the north a little before dusk, and dropped into the east Tadpole pond, to rest and refresh themselves. That night the Indian summer closed out in a hurry and in less than an hour, just before dawn, the mercury dropped from 40 to 20.

John Sharkey and his men, on the old wheel gear hand car, were bound up the line to start the daily track inspection at the north end of the section, near Joe Roode's plain. Reaching the long stretch of track that passes through the upper pond, the attention of the men was called to the fact that the pond had "skimmed" during the night. Across the east pond, just at the entrance to the cedar swamp, a great thrashing and beating of wings was to be made out, accompanied by loud honkings and shrill cries. Mr. Sharkey took in the situation at a glance, and stopping the car sent Jim Hopkins back to town, to report that a flock of geese was frozen in at Tadpole. The town's two old hunters, "Hi" Miner and "Bill" Bliven went up at once, accompanied by a half dozen boys and young men. A boat was secured at the Deacon Johnson farm, and with bean poles hastily appropriated from the deacon's garden, the two men broke their way across the upper arm of the pond. Many of the geese had struggled free, but eight were killed with the poles, and brought to Jewett City. Roast goose was plenty for a day or two in the village. One big gray gander weighed 22 pounds in Finn Bros. store, then, where Dennis Barnett lives now.

RED CROSS DRIVE ENTERS FINAL WEEK

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Nov. 25—The final week of the annual roll call of the American Red Cross is nearing, with the local chapter of the organization gradually drawing nearer to its goal of 1,000 membership for the ensuing year. During the past week the various teams working for the high score of 1,000 members have made every effort to induce every person to enter into the membership of the American Red Cross and assist the Putnam chapter in attaining their goal.

During the week the allotment was over the half way mark and the team workers were still pursuing the trail set by the national organization. On Saturday a team of women workers had established enrollment headquarters in the lobby of the post office. Attired in the garbs of the Red Cross nurses of war time fame, the girls drew in a number of subscriptions that otherwise would have been lost had they not resorted to this method.

Joseph Belmare of Providence street, was in city court Saturday morning charged with operating a horse drawn vehicle, after dark, which was not properly lighted. Belmare's team figured in an accident last Saturday evening and his arrest was brought about after an investigation of the affair by Officer Alpherie Sponcey of the local police. He entered a plea of nolo contendre, through his attorney I. H. Miron. He was found guilty and a fine of $10, nine of which was remitted, was imposed in addition to costs of court.

The trolley car has long since disappeared from the streets of Putnam, but a motor coach similar to the old electric street railway vehicles has now been introduced by the Acme Bus lines of Webster, operating a line through this city. The new coaches have front and rear exits, as well as operating devices. Their appearance here over the week end attracted much attention as they passed through the business section.

A fleet of six airplanes passed over the city shortly before noon Saturday flying in echelon. The air squadron when over Putnam was at a low altitude and the U. S Army insignia on the wings of the planes were easily visible. The planes were from East Boston airport it was later learned and had as their destination the Yale-Harvard football classic in New Haven. They made a return trip Sunday.

FUNERAL
David Bousquet

Funeral services were held Sunday morning at St. Mary's church at 8.30 o'clock, for David Bousquet of Mill street, who died Thursday evening. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. U. O. Bellerose, with Rev. J. D Casey, deacon and Rev. Ernest Boileau sub deacon. The funeral mass was largely attended by friends and relatives of Mr. Bousquet, who was widely known in the north end of the city, where he had lived the greater part of his life. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Reconstruction work on the Providence street bridge, spanning the Quinnebaug river at this point is rapidly advancing with indications that the bridge will be fully completed and ready for its reopening within the passing of another month. Steel girders are now being set into the concrete bases at either side of the structure, replacing the present rusted beams, which rest on stone supports, laid when the bridge was constructed several years ago. A coat of anti-rust paint will be applied as soon as the major task of installing the new girders is comp[illegible].

Tellers at the Putnam Savings bank were engaged in making re-entries on the deposit books of the institution on Saturday for the great number who had participated in the "run" on the bank last week. Since the "run" subsided late Tuesday afternoon the bank employes were busy accepting the withdrawals for deposits and Saturday's business consisted mostly of the farmers in the rural districts who appeared at the bank to re-open their accounts. Other banks in Putnam and Danielson, who had accepted the book, to the original owners at face value paid, so the money could be returned to the bank Financial statements outlining the conditions of the bank as of October 1, have been issued by an order of Bank Commissioner Lester G. Shippee These pamphlets now in circulation throughout the city have been instrumental in inducing the depositors of the bank who withdrew their accounts, to return them to the bank.

News items appearing in editions of local papers during the past week growing out of a meeting of the chamber of commerce, to the effect that possibilities exist whereby two textile concerns may locate in Putnam, have started stories that have spread throughout the city relating to the sale of the manufacturing plant in Putnam known as the Manhassett plant in the southwestern section of the city. A checkup of these rumors has been made and no negotiations for the sale of the mill have been made although represented of two industries have visited Putnam and inspected the buildings mentioned: The old yarn that a well known tire manufacturing company had or is about to purchase the Manhassett mills is the text of the tales of which all are unfounded.

Homer Beecher of Brooklyn was the only week end patient and victim of an automobile mishap, contained on the list of the Day Kimball hospital, until late today. Beecher, according to hospital officials is suffering from severe lacerations of the face and scalp. He was reported late today as being in a satisfactory condition. A detailed statement of his experience will be found in the Danielson column.

William and Cyril Remillard, Jr., and Philip Bibeault of this city were in New York city over the week end, having made the trip by auto.

The Women's Catholic council minstrels of St. Mary's church, presented their rollicking laugh riot for a third time Saturday evening, in St. Joseph's church hall in North Grosvenordale to a capacity audience. The cast was the same as when first presented in Putnam on Nov. 11. The entertainers have been highly received at each presentation. Benefits derived from the North Grosvenordale performance will be devoted to church interests.

Arrangements are now being completed by the committee in charge for the annual Memorial Sunday exercises the Putnam lodge of Elks, which will be held in the Elks hall on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. William R. Barry of Ware, Mass., will deliver the eulogy. Mr. Barry is widely known throughout New England as a public speaker and has appeared on many debating teams. A solemn programme of vocal and instrumental music will also accompany the programme.

About $50,000 the result of a year's accumulation of funds by thrifty Putnam people, will be released within the next two weeks to depositors by Putnam banks. This sum will be devoted to the meeting of the Christmas accounts. The money will be mailed in check form to the patrons of the various banks on or about the first of December.

Friday evening marked the close of the 1928 hunting season, and the fall of the curtain found many of the local huntsmen without prizes, to show for their efforts exerted during the season closed. On the other hand many of the hunters of this vicinity are daily bringing in their birds to taxidermists to be made into perpetual exhibits. Some fox have been bagged, as have rabbits and other small game, but not to any great extent, reports indicate. Pheasant have been fairly plentiful and many of the male breed have been shot since the season opened. The shortage of partridge was felt by the hunters and requests of the state game commission asking the hunters to refrain from shooting birds of this species have been complied with. A ban on the shooting of deer, exists in this state and only where damage is being done by them have they been shot. The woodsmen, report that scores of deer are present in the vicinity of Putnam and herds are expected to flock to Connecticut protection as soon as the neighboring state of Massachusetts lifts the law for 72 hours, which will be within a few weeks.

Automobiles adorned in the crimson banners bearing the word "Harvard" were seen passing through the city today enroute to Cambridge. Apparently the cars contained Harvard students who had been at New Haven Saturday attending the Yale-Harvard gridiron encounter in which the Harvard team triumphed over their traditional rivals. Expressions on the faces of many of the college boys of Cambridge denoted their victory.

At Grange hall in South Woodstock Friday evening enthusiastic group of agriculturists gathered to attend a farm management meeting sponsored by the Windham County Farmers association. Many subjects of farm conditions were discussed by the farm leaders present. The feature of the evening was the plan introduced for the formation of a Young Farmer club. Such clubs as these are now being organized throughout the state. A series of these meetings will be held during the winter months for the advancement of scientific farm methods

INTERSTATE RALLY HELD BY WORLD WIDE GUILD

An interstate rally of the World Wide Guild was held in the Union Baptist church, Friday evening. At 6:30 a supper of meat loaf, escalloped potato, baked beans, cabbage salad, rolls, cake and cocoa was served. Miss Louise Coy, of Westerly, was toastmistress. The toasts were in the form of rainbows, girls answering to the colors, Mrs. L. J. Shepler, wife of the pastor, concluding it with the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. The different guilds gave them songs and cheers at intervals during the supper. At the conclusion of this period, bouquets of white roses, the Guild flower symbolizing purity, were presented Miss Edith Wing, Connecticut state secretary, Miss Sally Coy, Rhode Island state secretary and to the visiting missionary, Mrs. Wood, from China. This was followed by a meeting in the church auditorium. Following the opening exercises, there was a brief address by Miss Wing of New Haven. Mrs. Wood spoke on her work in China. This was most impressive. The meeting was concluded with a devotional service. An invitation was extended by the girls of the Huntington Street Baptist church, New London, to hold the spring rally with them. This was accepted. There were about 150 present, guests attending from Westerly, New London, Waterford, Noank and Stonington. Mrs. Eleanor Lucy is head of the senior guild, Miss Jessie Fish of the junior guild and Miss Doris Bindloss of the Crusaders.

A boy in the village has but one trap left out of a dozen, which he set less than two weeks ago. He, with a number of other boys, earns spending money by trapping muskrats and skunks. So there is evidently some "man" who is appropriating the traps for himself.

Mrs. Paul Lamphere, Mrs. Horace Williams and Mrs. James Stanton spent a day in Providence the past week.

Addressed Sportsmen

Members of Mystic Rod and Gun club listened to an interesting talk Friday evening in Grand Army hall, by Dr. Charles K. Stillman, who has made a study of fresh water fishing. His talk on trout feeding was of great interest to sport lovers. Several matters of business were disposed of before the address.

At Stonington high school, Miss Esther Caswell, a junior, has been awarded a silver medal for proficiency in typewriting.

Cornelius Miner, of Quiambaug, was surprised by a visit from about 20 of the members of Everyman's Bible class, at his home, Thursday evening. His favorite hymns were sung with piano, clarinet and cornet accompaniment. Ice cream and cake were served. Mr. Miner who has been ill for the past sixteen months, joined the local Baptist church in his youth and was a regular attendant and active member until ill health prevented.

Rev. George P. Jones preached morning and evening Sunday at the First Baptist church in Stonington.

The Monday club is to hold its meeting with Mrs. Walter Fish today, the 26th, at her home on Reynolds Hill. The program will be Vesuvius and the City of Pompeii, a word picture by Mrs. Esther Copp Smith.

Mrs. William L. Main and daughter Hazel were in Providence Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Springs of New London and Mr. and Mrs. William Bradshaw of Groton called on relatives here Friday evening.

George Borden, Jr., is confined to his home by illness.

Emil Wydler and family, of New Haven, spent the week end with relatives in the village.

Helen Starkey chapter of St. Mark's Episcopal church, held a cake sale in the store of the Mystic Power company at the week end.

Won at Cards

The Parent-Teacher association of the Mystic academy held a bridge and whist, Friday evening. Eight tables were in play. Prizes at whist were won by Mrs. Otto Grossman and John Panciero; at bridge by Miss Louise Noyes and Mrs. Louis Bendett. Mrs. Paul Conant was chairman for the evening, assisted by Mrs. George Deneke, Mrs. Frank Barlow, Mrs. John McGregor and Mrs. Harold Main. Doughnuts, cheese and coffee were served.

Mrs. John Finnegan of Gallup Hill district has been dismissed from Lawrence Memorial hospital, New London, where she was operated on for appendicitis.

At the meeting of the Eastern district of Woman's Council of Connecticut, held at New London Second Congregational church, those attending from Mystic were Mrs. Charles E. Wheeler, Miss Edna Wheeler, Mrs. Frederick G. Chutter, Miss Annie Rathbun, Miss Julia Foote, Mrs. Edward A. Smith, Mrs. Eunice Fish and Miss Eliza Denison.

Mr. and Mrs. Odell D. Tompkins of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., arrived Sunday to spend a week at their summer home on Pequot avenue.

To Confer Degrees

For the second time in less than a week the Mystic Woman's degree and drill teams, with tableaux, are to confer degrees on a class at Ashaway Grange tonight (Monday). These teams are considered the best in the state. A short time ago they, with the men's drill team were photographed. This picture was in the issue of the last Grange monthly, also a very good writeup concerning the work of the team.

Roger Lewis, second trumpet, Joseph Krynitsky, second clarinet and Edward Marsden, snare drum are the three Mystic boys who are members of the New Berkeley school brass band, New London.

Among pupils elected on the Brown and White staff at Stonington high school, are one Mystic and two Old Mystic girls, Dolores Brown, art editor; Gwendolyn Morgan, assistant and Ramona Hanks, assistant alumni editor.

Harold Smith and classmate Robert Wilkinson of Harvard spent the week end with the former's mother, Mrs. Gertrude Smith. Saturday afternoon the two young men attended the Yale-Harvard football game at New Haven.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps Her So Much

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"I was just completely run-down. I had tired, heavy, sluggish feelings and I could not eat. I was losing in weight. I read so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what a good medicine it is, that I started taking it. I have taken eight bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and about the same in tablet form. This is one medicine a woman should have in the house all the time. I am improving every day and I sure am able to eat. I am willing to answer any letters asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Ella Richards, 21 Chautauqua St., N. S. Pittsburgh, Pa.

THE PRICE OF LAXITY

Aside from the delay in getting the passengers off the ill-fated Vestris, there has been criticism of the condition of the lifeboats and the difficulty that was experienced in trying to get them into the water.

Testimony before the investigators has been to the effect that many of the lives were lost by the upsetting of the boats while being launched, the necessity of getting out of one after it was partly overboard was reported and efforts to stop a leak in another showed the additional peril that was faced by those abandoning the ship.

The former captain of the Vestris has testified that it would have been an additional safeguard if the lifeboats had been put in the water at the time the vessel was being inspected. Regulations may differ in regard to such thoroughness but it can be appreciated that if there had been such a course followed by the inspectors when the Vestris was undergoing inspection before its departure there might have been disclosed the defect in the leaky boat, the difficulty experienced in getting some of the boats overboard and the none too great familiarity of the crew with such work.

What ought to have been done in regard to the Vestris will not restore those who lost their lives when it sank or bring back the ship. It can nevertheless be employed for the benefit of others. Through the inquiries now underway it should be possible to determine whether the requirements which are supposed to give an increased degree of safety to passengers really amount to something or whether they are enforced with a laxity that is really dangerous.

It has been repeatedly shown that marine tragedies invariably teach most valuable lessons. They demonstrate the wisdom of many provisions, which may frequently seem unnecessary, and they likewise show what half-hearted inspections or the winking at regulations may result in. If the loss of the Vestris was due to human failure there should be, as the natural reaction, greater safety for the people who go to sea through better inspection and better respect for regulations.

GREATER FLYING SAFETY

While efforts are constantly being made for increased safety on land and sea it is only what should be expected when the competition for greater safety in the air is announced by the Daniel Guggenheim fund.

This fund has been employed extensively in the interest of aviation. It has done much to stimulate public confidence in flying and without a doubt it will be influential in at least making progress toward the goal of greater safety. It has been successfully demonstrated that machines can be built that will fly, that engines can be produced that will develop speed and run for longer periods than it is possible to carry a sufficient supply of fuel, but there has not been eliminated that element of danger which is disclosed in the many crashes.

That there is excellent reason for devoting more thought to that problem can be appreciated. The danger that is involved in flying is one of its greatest holdbacks today. It is no different than has been the case with all forms of transportation, but with greater attention being devoted to that particular feature of aviation the more popular is flying going to become.

In this connection President Guggenheim of the fund has called attention to the effect which the slotted wing has had in virtually eliminating the stalling of planes with the prevention of the accidents which have so often followed such a situation. If such inventions can be continued aviation will be greatly helped. Better control of airplanes while in flight is desirable. It will come in time but if competition will help it along and speed up results let it be given every possible encouragement.

Fog is one of the problems for the aviator as well as the navigator of the deep. The Guggenheim fund is developing a laboratory for the purpose of studying all the ideas advanced for increasing the safety of fog flying. It is work that is needed and should be of invaluable service to those who fly.

WAR DEPARTMENT NEEDS

It will be only a few days before congress assembles and gets busy with appropriation measures and other legislation. It will be a short session but that should mean a busy one. It is not a time for balking, insisting upon matters which are known will only serve to flog affairs, but to legislate in the light of the recent election and dispose of those matters which can be dealt with at the present time.

Secretary Davis of the war department urges the adoption of their provisions for construction which were previously advocated and which received the favorable action of the house. This means that the quarters for the soldiers at the military posts will be improved. This is something which has been needed for a considerable time and the coming session should take action that will get it under way. The military posts both in this country and elsewhere have been carefully inspected with the result that the recommendations cover the requirements.

The secretary of war would have appropriations made for construction work at West Point, for the establishment of a radio and communication center at Bolling field, Washington, and provision made for the retirement of Philippine scouts after service of 30 years. He also favors the establishment of an army medical center in the District of Columbia, an international aircraft procurement board and urges the sale of unserviceable ammunition and the use of the funds thus obtained to purchase new. Furthermore he recommends that the rank of lieutenant general be conferred upon Major Generals Liggett and Bullard and he would have the rank of major general conferred upon all future chiefs in the bureau of insular affairs.

These are advocated in addition to the regular appropriations for the department. For the most part they are not new but they are sought in the belief that they are greatly needed or deserved. They represent the sentiment of those who are striving to make the department as efficient as it should be and believe that there has been delay enough in meeting these requirements.

WHERE PREVENTION WON

By the acceptance of the recommendations of the fact finding commission named by the president the threatened railroad strike in the west has been prevented. It was a test of the federal law which was adopted with that object in view, and the success of it must be pleasing to all concerned.

When the efforts to settle the differences between the demands of the men and the roads failed there was a resort to the provision whereby the president named a commission to determine what ought to be done under the circumstances as they existed. The board recommended an increase of 6 1-2 per cent. in the wages and that recommendation has not been approved by both parties with the result that it will be retroactive to last May and continue for a year from that date.

While this means a gain for the employes it also means the prevention of what would probably have been a substantial loss for the men, the railroads and the public had there actually been a strike.

Strike prevention has thus been shown to be successful. The existing law has been tried and found to accomplish what was aimed at. It doesn't hold that because this dispute terminated in this manner that all others will, but it is certainly a good start and the benefits of such a method cannot fail to be recognized.

Frequently it has been urged that threatened strikes be handled in such a manner without result, but had it been done those involved would have been far better off than the actual results showed them to have been. To be guided by the facts rather than depending upon force and hardship inflicted upon others has much to commend it.

THE CUMBERLAND PLAN

When the Nicaraguan government sought the services of W. W. Cumberland, a former foreign trade adviser of the department of state, to make an examination of affairs of that republic, it unquestionably sought a good man. He has made a careful study of the situation in that country and his report has been submitted to our department of state, which has made it public at the request of the Nicaraguan government.

According to Dr. Cumberland coffee is unduly predominating the economic life of that republic, the lack of communicating facilities is hindering production and lack of initiative and capital prevents the development of natural resources.

The need of the country is capital and this he would secure through a form of American financial control which would take care of the collection of revenues, auditing of expenditures and preparation of the national budget. He would also have Americans acquire control of the national bank as an aid to the situation.

This is in keeping with the action which has been taken concerning certain island republics. It has worked out to their advantage and it would undoubtedly be a good thing for Nicaragua. It would stimulate confidence and make it easier to interest capital.

But it is not surprising that the administration does not look with favor upon such a move. It would welcome the chance to aid Nicaragua further but it recognizes how easily it could be misinterpreted. There will be no objection to Nicaragua putting such a plan into operation and seeking Americans to do the work, but it is not willing to assume that responsibility. This is in accord with the attitude frequently taken before.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Are you aware of the fact that Christmas is less than five weeks away?

When every individual gets to the point where he appreciates safety there will be fewer accidents.

The man on the corner says: New additions to the list of dieters include those who have the Thanksgiving dinner in mind.

Some idea of how the Walker administration is regarded in New York city is given by the talk of running ex-Mayor Hylan for mayor again.

It is claimed an autogyroscopic airplane has hung stationary over Paris for 20 minutes. From tales told of Paris we are surprised that it recovered so soon.

The old catch about the president not having been elected yet is going around again. Of course the answer is that that function is performed by the members of the electoral college.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Bread a day old makes better toast than fresh bread.

Finely chopped parsley adds considerably to the flavor and appearance of bouillon or cream soup.

A few breadcrumbs or a beaten egg will take away that too-solid taste from hamburg steak.

A little vanilla is always well added to recipes featuring chocolate.

A dab of vanilla ice cream is certainly good atop the slice of fruit pie.

Silver will not tarnish readily if a small piece of camphor gum is placed with it when stored away.

Wooden spoons should be used in pickling.

Scald milk before using it for bread making.

Egg whites should not be beaten until just before they are to be used.

To get good results, biscuit dough should be handled as little as possible.

Melt chocolate to be used for icing in a saucer over a tea kettle of boiling water.

When heavy streaks appear in a cake it shows the butter and sugar have not been thoroughly mixed.

Those hooks on the discarded hose supporters will make good hangers for the shoe bag and other articles.

No scum will form on the cocoa if you beat the beverage with the egg-beater until there is a foam on the top.

Beat a pinch of powered sugar and a pinch of cornstarch with the egg yolk and the omelet will not fall.

Sliced potatoes, beets, carrots and peas make a good vegetable salad.

Put a little sugar in the salted water used for basting roast beef to give it a rich brown color and improve the flavor.

"Cool, clean and covered" is a good slogan for the keeping of foodstuffs.

Make smaller and more biscuits rather than fewer and larger ones. They are more appetizing.

THE DAY BEFORE

Frequently a great deal of Sunday's dinner can be prepared on Saturday, to take away some of the stress of going to church and having a nice Sunday dinner at the same time. Many people have their big roast dinner on Saturday night and have warmed-over or picnic meals Sunday and thus solve this problem.

MODERNISTIC CURTAINS

The modernistic movement has contributed much to arts and decorations, especially in curtains and draperies. Some of the most unusual and delightful materials, which would do much toward bringing the home up to date, are now on sale. Sheer ecru and cream materials have opague patterns through them, while others show the popularity of the triangle in design.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Include one vegetable besides potato in the young child's largest meal.

Ventilate the rooms in which you sleep and work and you will lose that tired feeling.

When fruit juices are ordered by the physician, don't think the only fruit juice is orange juice. Try grape pineapple, grapefruit and berry juices. They all supply the acid necessary to tone up the system and all are healthful.

When you buy iodine request the druggist to add a little chloroform, in this form the iodine will penetrate the skin and act more quickly and effectually.

The prolonged use of iodine will cause an annoying irritation of the skin. This can be avoided if you apply the iodine about three days then let one day intervene before making the next application. When irritation exists apply ne a paste of thin-cooked starch will give relief.

MAPLE FLOORS HARDER TO KEEP IN SHAPE THAN OAK

Maple floors are somewhat harder to keep in good shape than oak, probably because maple is such a hard and close grained wood. On maple the first coat of varnish should be thinned with a liberal quantity of turpentine to assist penetration. This will make a better foundation to hold subsequent coats of heavy bodied floor varnish.

Not less than three coats should be applied to these floors to secure the best results. Refinishing maple floors which are in bad shape is best done by scraping and sandpapering after removing the old varnish.

Many painters prefer to use oil instead of varnish on maple, and if a slight darkening of the wood is not objectionable it is probably the best way to treat these floors. Oiling should be done frequently, as it soon wears away.

Wax is also an excellent finish for maple and may be applied directly to the wood without the previous coat of varnish recommended for oak floors.

FOR RAINY DAY

Go over all magazines and tack away or give away the old ones. If there are little children in the home, select the magazines with brightly-colored pictures and store for rainy-day cutting and painting.

MARSHMALLOWS

Dice marshmallows with scissors which have been dipped in warm water. This will prevent them from sticking together and will produce even edges. Use scissors for cutting the pineapple.

EMBROIDERED SCREEN

A stunning screen for library or living room is covered with string colored material resembling theatrical gauze and embroidered in a needle-point design in many soft colors.

EASILY REMEDIED

If you find the bottom of the metal vase of lamp is scratching the table on which it stands, paste blotting paper or felt on the bottom.

DICTATES OF FASHION.

Metal brocade, as fine as spun gold is an important fabric for evening.

Satin achieves chic by the combining of its dull and lustrous sides in a garment.

New wool georgettes in plain effects are sheer and soft and drape beautifully.

Sheer velvets, both figured and plain, will be the first choice for afternoon wear.

Suitable for baby or boudoir pillows are little covers of linen, which have a border of color woven into the material.

A new coat emphasizes three important style features. It is of broadcloth; it is of the new brownish red tone, and it is trimmed with beaver.

A charming trosseau gift consists of a pair of delicate pink satin mules trimmed with straps of silver, with a leather rose of silver on the side.

A bottle green transparent velvet has an Alencon lace collar that is more than reminiscent of old-fashioned fichus in the way it capes the shoulders and ties in a charming knot in front.

The Patou blue crepe blouse over a circular skirt in a two-piece frock has a frilled hem that forms a cute peplum below the hipline, when the belt is fastened.

The back of the skirt of a wine red tweed suit has two four-inch wide panels that hang below the skirt's hem, to carry out the effect of two box pleats above the belt of the coat.

The black crepe de chine skirt, of an ensemble with a scarlet overblouse, is made of innumerable little gores that give the impression of a circular skirt that is pleated. It is extremely graceful.

PRINTED SILK FOR WINTER.

The popularity of the printed silk dress did not stop with the advent of winter, and so the manufacturers are placing upon the market new and attractive patterns especially designed to wear with winter coats. One charming design, suggested by a charcoal drawing, comes in three colors, black, blue and brown.

FROCK OF STIFF VELVET.

Stiff velvet is used by some of the best designers to produce lovely evening gowns. One delightful model is of very stiff velvet with skirt that is flat, front and back, and very circular on the sides. The sleeveless round-necked waist is finished at the shoulders with two bows.

BRIMS POPULAR.

Turbans with cuffs or brims of some original cut are outselling the brimless skull cap now. The long sides, or some tricky manipulation of one or both sides, with the front brim short or turned up, are the favorites.

NOVELTY GAUNTLETS.

An English gauntlet in cape kid has its cuff open on the inside and stitched all around in thongs. The outside edge curves sharply and one's last initial appears at the outside corner of the cuff.

NEW PURSES.

New purses grow as elegant as gowns. A gray kidskin has a floral motif worked out in modernistic manner in ten shades of pastel colored kid. The lining of one inside pocket is silver, the other gold.

LAUNDRY HINTS.

To iron pongee well, roll it in a towel while wet and do not press until it is most dry.

Add a few drops of ammonia to the water in which the tea towels are rinsed out. It will help take out the dirt and give them a sweeter smell.

Several short applications of a chemical will remove a stain more effectively than will a continuous application.

Flannels that have been poorly washed and are hard and shrunken can be restored to their former softness by soaking them in gasoline for a few hours. Then wash in soft soapsuds as usual. Rinse in the same temperature clear water.

DRYING LINGERIE.

When you want to dry lingerie or stockings or a dress—or anything else, for that matter—rapidly, hang the garments up and turn the electric fan on them. And on those dreadful days known as "rainy washdays," when the whole laundry must be dried indoors, you will find that an electric fan, working diligently in the same room with the wet clothes, will materially speed up the drying process.

CLEANING INTRICATE CARVING.

It is often a difficult matter to get the dust out from deeply curved furniture. A bicycle pump may be used very often with good effect, but if that fails to extract all the dirt, use balls of damp bread. Take some new bread and slightly dampen with water so that it may be pressed into a dough with the hands. Work this into the crevices of the pattern, and on removal it will be found that most of the dirt has adhered to the bread. Ordinary polishing with furniture cream will then complete the good work.

WASH ELECTRIC BULBS.

Electric light bulbs should be dusted frequently and washed every five or six weeks. Wash with lukewarm water and a few drops of household ammonia. Do not use soap and do not let water come up above the glass of the globe. The volume of light will be increased if the bulbs are kept clean.

CURLED EDGES.

If your rugs curl at the edges or if they have become ruffled by cleaning, you can resize them easily. Prepare a solution of one pound of glue and one gallon of water. Dissolve over hot water and paint the back of the rug with it, using a large brush. Leave the rug on its face until thoroughly dry.

HARD ON HEELS.

If you wear your silk hosiery out in the heels and toes first, try rubbing the feet of new hosiery with paraffin. The paraffin should be rubbed in until a white appearance is seen.

TEA TOWEL CURTAINS.

Red and white or yellow or white checked tea-toweling makes very attractive and economical curtains for a kitchen. When they fade they can be used for towels and replaced with new ones.

CONCERNING WOMEN.

The average farm woman works eleven and one-half hours a day in winter and thirteen and one-half hours in summer.

Queen Souriya of Afghanistan believes in modern dress for women and now goes about without the customary veil.

The Kansas Women's Christian Temperance Union is sponsoring a bill to ban public trial of divorce in that state.

Now past 84 years of age, Mrs. Thomas Whiffien has spent more than three score of these years on the stage here and abroad.

Mrs. J. P. Jensen, wife of a Nebraska banker, has worked ten years without pay in helping adjust claims for World War veterans.

Lady Heath, England's most notable flying woman has an A license for ordinary flying and a B license for acting as a pilot on passenger liners.

RAW CARROTS.

Raw carrots will clear the complexion and are very good in salads.

PLANTS.

Housecleaning the broad-leaved plants with soapy water and rinse with clear

RECIPES.

Popcorn Wafers: These are a decided improvement on the old-time popcorn ball. A quart of popped corn from which every hard kernel has been removed, is required for the wafers. This is rolled very fine or put through a meat chopper. Then a sirup of one and one-half cups of sugar and half a cupful of water is prepared and cooked until it becomes very brittle when tested in cold water, at which time a tablespoon of butter, and if the flavor is liked a quarter cup of molasses is added, and the cooking continued until the sirup becomes quite hard when dropped into cold water. Then the corn is stirred into it and the mass is turned out in a thin sheet on the reversed greased side of a tray or large pan and rolled as thin as possible. Before it becomes quite cool cut the sheet of candied popcorn into rounds with a small biscuit cutter.

Angelfood-Sponge Cake: Cream together the yolks of four eggs, one and one-half cups granulated sugar, two tablespoons cold water and one teaspoon vanilla, or other flavoring. Add to this mixture one-half cup boiling water, one and one-half cups flour, well sifted, one level teaspoon baking powder and the whites of four eggs beaten stiff. Pour into ungreased sponge cake tin and bake 50 minutes in a slow oven.

This cake is very good served with whipped cream in place of icing.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Prodigal Son and a Misconception

Mr. Editor: When the Master was on earth he urged his hearers to "search the Scriptures • • • for they testify of me". It is singular that we, after 2,000 years, know so little more about their real meaning than did the scribes and Pharisees whom he addressed. A recent writer upon one of Christ's parables says: "it had no foundation in fact."

Now, nothing could be farther from the fact than that statement. Jesus is reckoned to be the greatest parabolic teacher yet known.

A parable is an apt resemblance, not necessarily a faction but greatly stronger by being an actual occurrence.

To say that the parables of Jesus were not actual facts and real incidents, reduces them to the level of fabrications and ruins their force as arguments. "Little novels," we might call them, whereas in the gospels every evidence is given that Jesus related his parables as matters of fact. He always began by saying: "A certain man did so and so" and had certain results. He never began by saying: "We will suppose a case."

He never illustrated his point by setting up a man of straw. Herein lay the force of his story. His opposers never could bolster their opposition by saying: "your parable does not apply, because it presents an impossible combination of circumstances." They could never flinch in this way from the conclusions to which his parables led.

Take this parable for example which we call "The Prodigal Son". Jesus didn't call it "the prodigal son". It is really the "parable of the two sons."

The young son and the old son and has its meaning deeper than just the story of a wayward boy and a gracious father. It depicted the Jewish economy and its attitude toward the Gentile world, one being the elder, possessing the oracles and moral laws of the Father and the younger having departed from these, yet by the economy of redemption through repentance could be restored to the divine favor and blessing equally with the former. This was the lesson slowly learned by the Jewish people, and no Gentile should surely not miss of the divine interpretation of the story.

HOW FAST DO YOU BURN YOUR FOOD?

By C. F. Davidson, M. D., Seattle.

Growth and nutrition have until recent years been considered as natural processes, with an emphasis on natural, entirely dependent upon time and sufficient food. For the child that was slow in cutting teeth or in walking or in talking; for the child that did not seem to grow properly; for the child that did not show evidence of maturing at the age at which such changes normally occur or showed such evidence too early; for the child slow in school; for the child that was underweight, as well as for the child that was overweight; for the adult showing abnormal variations in growth and weight—the tendency has been to practice watchful waiting. The advice has commonly been and is too frequently still given to wait and allow time to work its natural changes.

These natural processes, the orderly progress in changes due to growth and nutrition, are no longer ascribed to a fortuitous nature in which things just happen, as Topsy grew. These natural changes are known today, thanks to progress in medical science, to be due to factors that are just as definite, just as precise and some of them just as demonstrable as the mechanical factors that control any of our automatic machines. The so-called ductless glands are the structures on which the body depends for this automatic control.

Space will permit me to outline briefly the function of but one of these ductless glands. Let us take the thyroid gland. People outside of the medical profession are interested in the thyroid chiefly because in overgrowth it presents a disfiguring deformity known as goiter and because in excessive function it is at times associated with nervousness and weakness. But the physiologist and the physician are interested in it because its function is to regulate the rate at which we burn up the food we take in.

You may not have thought of it so but the body is in one way not so different from the stove you use for heating your house or cooking your food. Into the stove you put fuel. Into the body you put food. The stove is designed to transform the energy represented by the fuel into heat. The body is designed to transform the energy in the food into heat or motion or into other tissues, as evidenced by increase in size or weight of the body.

Failure of the thyroid to function sufficiently may affect one or all of these processes. Absence of thyroid so interferes with these natural processes that the result is an idiotic dwarf; excess results in a highly nervous state. The thyroid may then be compared to the damper in the stove. If the damper is insufficiently open, the stove is too cold to serve its purpose; if too wide open, the stove is too hot.

All phases in growth and nutrition, such as age at which maturing appears, size of the body attained in growth, the amount of blood sugar in the blood stream, etc., are regulated by activities of a marvelously interesting system of control of which the btyroid gland mentwioned above is but a small part. Deviation from normal activity in any part of the system is commonly associated with definite disturbance in growth or nutrition, or in both.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—Who in the seventy-first congress will wear the mantle in the house laid aside by Tom Blanton of Texas?

For years Blanton has exercised with an energy under which many of his colleagues writhed at times self-imposed functions as minority watch-dog of the unanimous consent calendar. The Bystander from personal observation would say that Blanton's "I object" has doomed more private bills to additional delay, at least, than any other single circumstance of house procedure.

And Tom, by virtue of the failure of his ambition to translate his sphere of activity to the senate, will not be present after March 4 next to vie with his democratic colleague of the senate, King, of Utah, for honors as foremost "I object-er" of the new congress.

Objector's Power

No doubt it is a useful function, this business of keeping an eagle eye on the flow of small bills. They are of a vastly variable nature covering every subject under federal jurisdiction. They are left to committee consideration, but as a safeguard an objection without stated reason by a single member of either senate or house closes the door against them on the floor.

The rules provide for this conservation of the time of the two houses and of the thousands of legislative enactments completed at any session of congress the great majority are of this type, put through without debate, rollcall or a showing of hands of any sort, via the unanimous consent route.

Prevents Publicity

Sponsors of the so-called private bills frequently find themselves in a trying position. To each individual sponsor a particular bill may be of great importance back home. It wou'd be very fine if he could arise on the floor and state his case glowingly so that the home papers could picture him as battling bravely and successfully to get through a measure of great interest only to the state. Yet he also knows that the best way to get it through is to keep absolutely still and let nature and the unobjected-to calendar take its course. Mere resentment over unnecessary speechmaking may prompt any member to shoot in an objection.

To assume the role of calendar watch dog doesn't tend to make a senator or representative popular with his colleagues. Also, it makes it very difficult for the man wielding the fact or the threat of "I object" to get through small bills of his own. But the role does have its advantages. It insures the objector a degree of publicity he might not otherwise enjoy. Men have never been lacking to hold the fort in either house for this or some other good political reason.

Provision for retirement of more than $8,000,000 of the $20,000,000 securities of the Hugo Stinnes organization sold in this country is disclosed in the annual report of the Hugo Stinnes corporation and its principal subsidiary, Hugo Stinnes Industries, Inc.

IN DAY'S NEWS

Liechtenstein Ruler Took Office Before Lincoln.

Little Liechtenstein hails Good Prince Johann II as he attains the 70th year of his reign. If he lives two years more he will equal the phenomenal record of Louis XIV of France.

Johann was crowned Prince of Liechtenstein the year Queen Victoria was proclaimed Empress of India and Minnesota was admitted to the Union. The Dred Scott decision was a fresh political issue. Abraham Lincoln was still a lawyer in Springfield, Ill.

"Seventy years that have seen the transformation of the world have witnessed relatively little change in the principality of Liechtenstein tucked away between Switzerland and Austria in a mountain valley near the source of the Rhine," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"The standing army of 80 men hurried off in 1866 to the Austro-Prussian war but got to the front too late to fight. An army that can't find a battle ought to hunt other work, Prince Johann decided. He ordered his infantry to turn in their equipment. The muskets and leather helmets of the late Liechtenstein army can be seen today in the royal chateau museum. Demobilization was probably the prince's first important reform.

"Of course electricity has come to Liechtenstein. The Rhine rushing along the national border gives up its energy to light the towns, operate telephones and run the elevator which has been built into the massive walls of the ancient Burg Vaduz fortress-palace. Prince Johann at 88 finds an elevator useful.

"When weekly movies first flickered at Vaduz, all Liechtenstein rocked with the news. The coming of a spinning mill to the capital and of a cotton weaving factory to Triesen could be considered equivalent to the rise of steel at Pittsburgh and of automobiles at Detroit. Yet dairying with mild-eyed Swiss cattle remains the basic industry. Liechtensteiners are farmers even unto many generations.

"Prince Johann crossing from one side of his tower room to the other can look upon most of his Graustarkian domain. Sixty-two square miles is Liechtenstein; eight square miles less than the District of Columbia. The comparison does not complete the picture. Washington's miles are reasonably square; Liechtenstein's tend toward cubes. A dozen peaks in this miniature kingdom tower more than a mile in the sky. Liechtenstein is five miles wide, 20 miles long and one mile high.

"The royal chateau caps a crag above Vaduz, the capital, much like Monticello commands a hill above Charlottesville, Virginia. A single misstep and Prince Johann would tumble in upon his government! The Regierung, or capitol building, stands directly under the precipice which the chateau surmounts.

"It is truly said that no visitor can remain a stranger within the gates of neighborly Liechtenstein. 'Sgott' is the password of greeting offered without introduction. The village baker knows the nationality, business and marital state of everyone who stays overnight. An American who visited the principality tells that while watching the weekly movie at the inn he distinctly heard a voice in the dark say, 'He has had a hot bath at the hotel every night since he came.'

"Absentee monarchy best describes Liechtenstein's government. Prince Johann rules his 11,000 subjects from Vienna most of the year. The system works well. Trust of his people has been repayed with affection and obedience. By wiping out the public debt and keeping the Liechtenstein budget down to $7 per person, the merits the generous honor of the title Johann the Good.

"Liechtenstein is today the only German state which is still a monarchy."

A visit to Georgia this winter was urged upon President Coolidge by Senator Harris of Georgia, who suggested it in the event the president takes a proposed trip to Florida in February.

WEDDINGS
Fenton-Doolittle

At the rectory of St. Patrick's church, Saturday afternoon, Charles E. Fenton of No. 31 Pine street and Miss Dorothy C. Doolittle of No. 324 Laurel Hill avenue, were united in marriage by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael H. May. The attendants were Miss Emily Gallup and Frank Kelley of New London. The bride was charming in a gown of blue transparent velvet and her bridesmaid was gowned in brown satin. A wedding dinner followed the ceremony and later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Fenton left for a wedding trip to New York, Washington, D. C., and other cities. They will reside on Pine street on their return in about ten days.

The bride received many beautiful wedding gifts from her admiring friends. She has been employed as a school nurse. Mr. Fenton is a mechanic in the employ of the Standard Oil Co.

Austin-Christman

Miss Adelaide Christman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle H. Christman of 209 Maple street and Herman W. Austin, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Austin of 40 Hamilton avenue, were married in Porchester, N. Y., Saturday, Nov. 24, by Rev. Charles Schweikert, pastor of the Baptist church in Porchester. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Carpenter of 302 Washington street, this city.

Krupinski-Samul

Walter Krupinski, of 176 Cliff street son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Krupinski, and Miss Helen C. Samul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Samul of 147 Winthrop street, New London, were married last Monday morning at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church in New London by Rev. T. M. Crowley.

The bride was gowned in white satin trimmed with lace with veil caught with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Frances Samul, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and wore an orchid colored dress and carried pink roses. Stephen Wierzbinski was best man. The bridesmaids were Jennie Krupinski, Edith Hubbert and Agnes Samul. The ushers were Anthony Samul, Edward Sienko and Charles Przygoda.

The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a white gold watch and that of the bride to the bridegroom was a pair of gold cuff links.

A reception was held in Pulaski hall in this city at which about 300 guests were present.

FUNERALS
Miss Sarah Pierce

At 10 o'clock Saturday morning the funeral of Miss Sarah Pierce was held at the parlors of Undertakers Shea and Burke and the service was conducted by Rev. E. C. Spicer, of Jewett City. The burial was in the family plot in the Voluntown cemetery and Rev. Mr. Spicer conducted the committal service. Relatives and friends were present at the funeral and there were a number of beautiful floral tributes.

Two Chimney Fires

The fire department had a call just after noon Sunday for a chimney fire at 23 Garfield avenue. The firemen used 2½ gallons of chemical to extinguish the blaze. The house is owned by Mrs. Mary McKelvey and occupied by Francis Keeley and others.

At 5.30 in the afternoon they were called to 12 Williams street, the home of Alfred G. Bliven. Judge Allyn L. Brown noticed the fire as he was passing the house and notified the Bliven family, who were unaware of the blaze in the chimney, but promptly sent in a telephone call to the department. As the roof had fire-resisting shingles, there was no danger of the sparks from the chimney setting fire to the roof.

Funeral services for Luther Fuller, who died in Washington, D. C., were held at the Scotland church Saturday afternoon at one o'clock, Rev. Arthur Plumb conducting the services. Burial was in Scotland cemetery. Mr. Fuller who was an examiner of patents employed by the U. S. government at Washington, D. C., is survived by two nephews, Hubert B. of Cleveland, O., and Dr. Homer B. Fuller of Washington.

Presented Thanksgiving Music

The augmented choir of the Central Baptist church presented J. H. Maunder's Song of Thanksgiving before a large and appreciative congregation at the Sunday evening service at the church.

The ensemble numbers were given with excellent phrasing and fine balance while the solo numbers were especially enjoyable. With Miss Louise Fuller as organist the augmented choir included the following:

Catholic University Collection

A circular letter from Rt. Rev. Bishop Nilan, read in all the Catholic churches of this diocese Sunday, was a reminder that the coming Sunday—first Sunday in advent—the annual collection for the Catholic University in Washington will be taken up. The new president of the university, Monsignor Ryan is now in charge, but the rector emeritus, Bishop Thomas J. Shahan, formerly of the Hartford diocese continues his interest in the university and for that reason the priests expressed the hope that the offering for the university will continue as generous as it has been in previous years. The university is the center of Catholic education in America and its expansion has been most remarkable in the years since its founding.

In Westerly Hospital

Herbert N. Clark of 218 West Main street, is a patient in the Westerly hospital with a broken hip through an automobile accident outside of Westerly last Thursday.

AUTO ACCIDENT TAKES ONE LIFE AT UNCASVILLE, THREE ARE INJURED

Aubrey Goodpasteure, 26, of Uncasville, formerly of Kansas City, Mo., and an ex-naval man, was instantly killed shortly after midnight Sunday night when the Ford roadster, in which he was riding crashed into a telephone pole in Montville, almost opposite the residence of Robert L. French. The driver of the car, Joseph Lukegord of Uncasville, escaped with a shaking up. Two girls riding in the machine, Miss Catherine Hill, residing at the Y. W. C. A., New London, and Miss Beatrice Periatti of No. 138 Cedar street, this city, at present residing at the Y. W. C. A., New London, escaped with bruises and lacerations.

Mr. Lukegord was driving the two girls to New London and was evidently forced off the highway by a large car approaching from the opposite direction. The dead man was sitting on the right hand side of the seat and one of the girls was sitting in his lap.

The driver of the approaching machine, it is said, took up more than half of the highway, forcing Mr. Lukegord to the extreme right. The radiator on Mr. Lukegord's car was steaming, evidently being frozen, making it difficult for him to see the highway and the pole into which his machine crashed.

Robert L. French, near whose home the fatal accident occurred, witnessed the crash from his porch. Just prior to the accident he heard a peculiar noise at the front of the house, he said, and went to the front door to investigate. He thought the noise was made by a man employed on the place, arriving home. Opening the front door, he happened to see Mr. Lukegord's car approaching from the direction of Norwich. He saw the other machine headed towards Norwich taking up considerable of the highway. The radiator of Mr. Lukegord's car was steaming. The next instant the car crashed into the pole.

An emergency call was sent by telephone to Dr. John J. Donohue, and the state police barracks at Groton was notified. Dr Donohue hurried to Mr. French's residence where he attended the two girls. Goodpasteure was dead, having without doubt been instantly killed. It is thought his skull was fractured. Dr. Donohue, who is acting medical examiner for the town of Montville, and the state police conducted an investigation. The body was given in charge of Undertaker C. A. Gager.

Little could be learned of Goodpasteure's family. He served in the United States navy and sometime ago was honorably discharged. Lately he had made his home in Uncasville, and it is understood that he was planning to re-

FOUR GENERATIONS PRESENT AT GOLDEN WEDDING DAY

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fensley celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary Friday at their home 122 Fourth street with twenty of their relatives and family friends attending. Mr. and Mrs. Fensley were united in marriage at the Greeneville Congregational rectory, Nov. 24, 1878 by the pastor, Rev. Robert Stanton. They have lived in the Greeneville section ever since they were married.

All during the day neighbors and friends called to extend congratulations and wish them happiness and health in their years to come. At 5 o'clock a delicious turkey dinner was served to the invited guests. The dining room was very prettily decorated in the color scheme of yellow and white. In the center of the table a beautiful wedding cake with a gold bell attached to it. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burnap, Mrs. Carleton Cripps, Mrs. Carl Caswell, Miss Mary G. Henderson, Mrs. John Cochran, Earl Whitehead, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Zahn, Mrs. Milo R. Waters.

The following are the grandchildren Howard and Russell Fensley, Winifred Whitehead, Lois Zahn and two great grandchildren, Paul W. Whitehead and Beryl M. Whitehead.

Of the four children of the couple, the only one now living is Mrs. Agnes Zahn. At the celebration four generations were present, Mr. and Mrs. Fensley being one, Mrs. Zahn, their daughter, Mrs. Earle Whitehead, who is the daughter of Mrs. Zahn and Mrs. Whitehead's children, making the four generations. Mr. and Mrs. Fensley are apparently enjoying good health. Mr. Fensley who has been in the employ of the United States Finishing company for the past thirty five years also previous to this worked at the Chelsea Paper company.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED AT SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Friese, long residents of this city, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Saturday evening at their home, No. 61 Bentley avenue. Out-of-town guests were present from East Windsor Hills, Hartford, Danielson and Portchester, N. Y. In all about 50 guests assembled for the anniversary celebration, which proved a very delightful event. A supper was served and during the evening instrumental music, singing and dancing were enjoyed. Music was furnished by an orchestra comprising Misses Ruth Gore, Henrietta Friese and Bruno Weinert. Miss Dorothy Sneider entertained with specialty dancing.

Mr. Friese, during the evening, announced the engagement of his daughter, Miss B. Henrietta Friese, and Edward Hildebrand of No. 41 West Thames street. The house was prettily decorated with cut flowers and colored streamers.

Mrs. Emil Bausch, who was bridesmaid at Mr. and Mrs. Friese's wedding 25 years ago, and the best man, August Friese, were among those present.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Friese were born in Germany. Mrs. Friese is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hein and Mr. Friese is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Friese. Both came to this country in early life and on Nov. 24, 1903, were united in marriage at the German Lutheran church on Franklin street. Since their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Friese have made their home in this city. Mr. Friese has for years been employed at the Glen Woolen Mills, Norwich Town. They have two daughters, Miss B. Henrietta Friese and Mrs. John Shea, Jr., of Norwich, and one grandson.

UNIFORM SIGNS FOR NORWICH CITY STREETS

The committee on street signs and house numbers has adopted a uniform street sign for the city's streets. The sign agreed upon by the committee was one submitted by the New London-Norwich Sign Co., at a contract price of 75 cents each and 25 cents each for erection. A number of samples of street signs were submitted, one costing as high as $15 each. The new signs will have a white on aluminum background with black letters. As many of the new signs will be erected as the present fund allows. It is expected that an additional appropriation will be asked.

The committee has also decided to use Boy Scouts in an effort to have all houses properly numbered. The scouts will be provided with numbers which they will sell and tack up at a nominal price.

Suit for Building House

Judge C. B. Waller heard trial in the common pleas court here Saturday and reserved decision in the suit of Anex Shnip of Mohegan hill, a contractor, against Frank Hnatiuk of Preston, for $1,200 damages. Shnip claims $865 due on a contract and $279.87 for extras for building a house on the Norwich-Westerly road in the town of Preston. Hnatiuk claims $340 as a set-off, alleging failure to do painting and grading according to the contract.

Wedding Report Was Hoax

The report which arose in Westerly of the marriage of Meredith Lee and Winifred Prime of New London turns out to have been a hoax on a Westerly newspaper. A denial of the wedding has been received from both the principals and from the minister who was reported to have performed the ceremony.

BALTIC YOUNG PEOPLE GAVE CLEVER MINSTRELS

The Collegiate minstrel given by members of the Standard Bearer society of the Baltic Methodist Episcopal church, Friday evening in Sprague hall, was enthusiastically received by a large audience. The platform was attractively decorated in blue and white, the society colors.

Every member of the company efficiently filled his place, and each number was greeted with great applause. The endmen and endwomen, who were in black-face, kept the entertainment alive with their jokes and presentations.

Credit is due Joshua Heap for his untiring and efficient leadership as director of the minstrel.

The program was as follows:

BROTHERS WERE CAUGHT ATTEMPTING TIRE THEFT

Caught in the act of removing tires from a machine in the yard at Aime's garage, near the corner of North Main and Boswell avenue, Saturday night, two brothers, Michael Lagoda, 18 and John Lagoda, 16, of Versailles, were arrested by Officer Howard Coburn. Both were booked at police headquarters on charges of theft and later released on bonds.

Officer Coburn saw the youths drive by the garage in a machine. They walked back to the garage and the officer, being suspicious of them, investigated. When he appeared on the scene the youths had one tire off the machine and were removing a second one.

TWICE ARRESTED FOR FAULTY AUTO BRAKES

Boris Resinkoff of R. F. D. 2 was arrested twice in this city Saturday afternoon for having faulty brakes on his automobile which caused it to have two collisions.

In Water street the machine ran into another car and Resinkoff was arrested by Officer John O'Neil. After he had been presented at police headquarters and had obtained his release, he was again arrested, this time by Officer Kimball, after the machine had collided with a trolley car at the corner of Broad street and McKinley avenue.

GIRL'S LEG BROKEN IN ACCIDENT IN GREENEVILLE

Alice, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Savich of 170 Otrobando road, suffered a broken right leg Saturday night when she was struck on North Main street by a machine driven by its owner, Adam Gavionski of 53 Second street.

The accident happened not far from the police station to which the little girl was brought and was attended by Dr. Clarence G. Thompson, who took her to the Backus hospital.

It was reported that the child ran out into the street in front of the automobile, which the driver stopped so suddenly that he stalled the engine and the wheel had to be pushed off the child's leg before she could be lifted up.

Brought from New Britain

Joseph Jackson, colored, was brought to Norwich Sunday morning by Officer Patrick Murphy, who went to New Britain for him. Jackson is charged with non-support and was arrested in New Britain by the police of that city, for the local police.

Motion To Set Aside.

A motion to set aside the verdict and for a new trial has been filed with the clerk of the superior court in the suit of Frank H. Bradford, adm., against Maurice J. Drucker of New London in which a jury returned a verdict on Thursday for $1,500 for the death of Benjamin Bradford through being hit by an automobile on Dec. 31, 1926.

Henry Crawford, a Negro at Kinston, N. C., is exhibiting four baby alligators which he said were hatched by a hen on a farm near there. The 'gators are about five inches long. Crawford said he found an alligator's nest in Pamlico county several weeks ago. He brought a number of the eggs home with him and placed them, together with chicken eggs, under the hen. The chicken eggs failed to hatch, but the little 'gators seemed to appease the hen.

CAPT. CLIFT'S LOGBOOKS IN PEABODY MUSEUM

Reminiscent of the days when sailing vessels, plying their way through the waters of Long Island sound, brought cargoes of tea, cotton, coffee and spices to the wharves of Mystic, New Haven and other Connecticut seacoast towns, are the log books and paintings of the ships of Capt. William Clift of Mystic, which have been presented to Peabody museum at Yale by his grandson, William Clift Foote, of New Haven.

The six log books and three paintings in this collection are in good condition and are interesting as representative of the times when Mystic was a flourishing seaport. Captain Clift, who died in 1862, was one of the most honored men of that community where he lived his entire life and in whose activities he played so prominent a part.

The history of the Clift family is closely identified with the development of Connecticut. William Clift, the first of the family to come to America, was put ashore at Scituate, Mass., when he was only seven years old. According to information given by Pero, an old Negro servant who knew the first generation, William was sent from England by interested parties because he was heir to a large estate which they would inherit in case of his death. He survived, however, and married Lydia Wills, but nothing further is known of him other than that he was a resident of Marshfield, and had several children.

Capt. William Clift, whose logs and paintings are now in Peabody Museum, is the descendant of William Clift in the fifth generation and is the son of Nathaniel Clift and Eunice Denison, who were married Aug. 5, 1801. His father spent the early part of his life in trading voyages along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts and rose to the rank of commander. He finally settled in Mystic Bridge, now known as Stonington, and engaged in trade. He later became the proprietor of a public house situated near the present "Hoxie House."

Capt. William Clift was born in Mystic Bridge, April 20, 1805. He was educated in the common schools there and attended the private school of Sheffield and Kerby at Stonington Burough for two years. He commenced active life by teaching school in his native town and then for three years was a clerk in the store of Gilbert Denison, at the head of Mystic river.

Captain Clift never sailed for wages, but always for "a share." His business capacity, shrewdness and ability were rewarded by highly satisfactory financial results and when he retired from the sea he owned a part of a number of vessels and became their New York agent. In this capacity he took care of the vessels and managed their business.

At the same time he was extensively engaged with Nathan G. Fish and others in the ship building business at Mystic and himself purchased all the materials in New York. In 1865 he retired from active business with a brilliant record of success in every undertaking. Every vessel with which he had to do was successful and never failed to declare a dividend.

Captain Clift's rules on shipboard were very strict. He never permitted anyone, sailor, officer or passenger, to swear, play cards or drink. A stern master who exacted absolute obedience from his crew, he never allowed his men to kill the baby seals.

In August, 1854, he was chosen director of the Mystic River bank and served on the board until his death. He was elected its president in 1870 and held this office until 1881 when he resigned because of failing health. When the Groton Savings bank was organized, July 8, 1854, he was elected vice-president and then president in 1870. He held this position until July 27, 1875, when he declined a re-election, but accepted the vice-presidency of the Elm Grove Cemetery association from April 16, 1866, to April 12, 1881.

Two Ways to Avoid Sour Stomach

PAMPERING the stomach as you grow older is one way to keep out of trouble! But it's far more pleasant to eat what you choose, and let Pape's Diapepsin keep the stomach free from excess acids. Plenty of people past "three-score-and-ten" keep stomachs young because they know this one secret.

Because it is so quick, so safe and so sure in ending digestive troubles, millions rely on "Pape's Diapepsin." "Pape's Diapepsin" is unequalled as an indigestion remedy and dietary corrective, yet it costs only 60 cents a package at all druggists.

If your stomach ever torments you get "Pape's Diapepsin" at once and recapture the pleasure of care-free, painless digestion. You may have felt that nothing can help your particular difficulty, but so have others to whom this remedy proved a pleasant surprise. This experiment with diapepsin may do as much for you.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF POLAND'S REGAINED INDEPENDENCE CELEBRATED

An address in English by Rev. S. A. Iciek, pastor of St. Joseph's church, and one in the Polish language by Dr. K. Wachtel, editor of the Polish Daily Kurier of New York city, were features of the interesting and varied programme given at 7.30 o'clock Sunday evening at Pulaski hall under the auspices of the Polish citizens committee in commemoration of the tenth anniversary of Poland's regained independence. Close to 1,000 persons including special guests were in attendance, the hall being taxed to capacity. Among the guests present were Mayor Lee Roy Robbins, ex-Mayor Milo R. Waters, First Selectman William S. Murray, Robert McNeeley, member of the school board, Town Clerk Harold S. Burt, A. Morin, Charles D. Foster and Rev. John J. McCabe of Jewett City.

In his address of welcome Joseph B. Pysyk said: "On behalf of the Polish citizens committee I bid you welcome to this joyous occasion commemorating the 10th anniversary of Poland's regained independence. Ten years ago on Armistice day when the World war ended, Poland was reborn to again take up her place among the great nations of the world. She was beset with almost insurmountable difficulties, but thanks to the efficient help of France and America, Poland was able to overcome her troubles and is on her way to a great national success. The past ten years have been a sufficient proof that a free Poland was what was needed for the safety of its people."

In part Rev. Fr. Iciek spoke as follows: When the sun of liberty was rising for America, it was setting for Poland. Some of Poland's ablest and bravest soldiers headed by Kosciuszko and Pulaski came to America's aid in her hour of need. A century and a half passed and the thirteen struggling colonies became the greatest republic in the world.

When the World war ended in the downfall of the central powers followed by the collapse of Russia, like the Phoenix of old, a new Poland rose from the ruins and ashes of the World war. But her land was so devastated, her factories so mutilated, her population so demoralized with war, pestilence and famine, besieged on all sides by enemies, without government, army, money and food that had it not been for France and especially the United States, Poland could not have survived the ordeal.

For Kosciuszko, Pulaski and the 200 engineers and soldiers that came with them, American sent Poland the Kosciuszko escadrille, the food, clothing, equipment for army, machinery, raw materials, money and large credits. For a long time America's generosity and magnanimity not only healed the wounds, clothed the naked, but for a long time fed hundreds of thousands of women, children and students. The work that was done in Poland by the Y. M. C. A. the Salvation Army and above all by European relief organization in charge of our next and I believe one of our greatest presidents, Mr. Herbert Hoover, will never be forgotten.

I happened to be one of the first Americans of Polish descent to go into a Free Poland and I knew the problems that were facing the new republic.

We in America are used to great things, in fact great projects, buildings, financial corporations with millions and billions of dollars, are commonplace to us and yet, the ten years of Poland's history, its reconstruction, its struggle with famine, pestilence, its heroic defense against the onslaught of Russian hordes, held at the very gates of Warsaw by troops poorly equipped, compare favorably, not only with some of the greatest achievements of American ingenuity, but compare favorably with anything in the world's history. No nation had greater difficulties and problems facing her and no nation has overcome them better than Poland.

Just to briefly quote a few of them. The railroads were rebuilt—cars and locomotives are built in the country and trains report and arrive on the dot. The finances were regulated, currency established, loans made and international credits maintained. An army of 500,000 men was trained and fully equipped. The frontiers of the country are definitely established. Law and order prevails. Industry and commerce are growing. The great national resources, coal, oil, salt, lumber, agriculture, are being developed.

Great attention was given to education. There are nearly 30,000 public schools with nearly 70,000 teachers and 3,000,000 children attending these schools. There are 4,000 national schools, German, Ukrainian and Jewish. There are 600 high schools and colleges with 15,000 professors and 225,000 students. There are 25 colleges for teachers attended by 25,000 students. There are six universities, three since the war, attended by 37,000 students. Every seventh person in Poland is going to school. No other can show such progress with perhaps one exception and that is St. Joseph's parish in Norwich.

I want to say that Poland is immensely grateful to America for all that America has done for Poland. I hope that they mutually support each other. As American citizens of Polish descent I want to say then that we have made our decision. I for one was born and raised here. Most of us who came here to the hospitable shores were welcomed and I hope that we will stay here and cast our lot in America. What I am doing and will try to do all my life is to prepare the next generation born here to be worthy of the ideals and traditions of not only Poland, but of America.

Dr. K. Wachtel, who spoke in Polish to the audience, centered his remarks upon Polish history in the past ten years, touching upon their freedom and accomplishments. Both speakers received well merited applause for their addresses.

The entertainment part of the programme was delightfully presented and included musical selections by Kapp's Ramblers of Norwich and vocal selections by the choir of St. Joseph's church, under the leadership of N. Hancin, organist of the church. The orchestra's numbers were Polish Pearls, Mazur, Wreath of Polish Melodies, Star Spangled Banner and the Polish National anthem. The choir rendered three selections, To Homey, Polish Honor Song, and Unfold Your Wings.

A feature of the entertainment programme was a dance and two songs given by little Adeline Glowacki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Glowacki, who was accompanied at the piano by her sister. There were also two declamations, Flanders Field, by Jadwiga Warakowski and Death of a Spy by P. Zofia Grzymkowska.

The stage was attractively decorated with Polish and American flags, floor lamps and two large palms.

Stanley Zawislinski was chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements.

WEDDINGS

Fenton-Doolittle

At the rectory of St. Patrick's church, Saturday afternoon, Charles E. Fenton of No. 21 Pine street and Miss Dorothy C. Doolittle of No. 324 Laurel Hill avenue, were united in marriage by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael H. May. The attendants were Miss Emily Gallup and Frank Kelley of New London. The bride was charming in a gown of blue transparent velvet and her bridesmaid was gowned in brown satin. A wedding dinner followed the ceremony and later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Fenton left for a wedding trip to New York, Washington, D. C., and other cities. They will reside on Pine street on their return in about ten days.

The bride received many beautiful wedding gifts from her admiring friends. She has been employed as a school nurse. Mr. Fenton is a mechanic in the employ of the Standard Oil Co.

Austin-Christman

Miss Adelaide Christman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle H. Christman of 209 Maple street and Herman W. Austin, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Austin of 40 Hamilton avenue, were married in Porchester, N. Y., Saturday, Nov. 24, by Rev. Charles Schweikert, pastor of the Baptist church in Porchester. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Carpenter of 302 Washington street, this city.

Krupinski-Samul

Walter Krupinski, of 176 Cliff street son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Krupinski, and Miss Helen C. Samul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Samul of 147 Winthrop street, New London, were married last Monday morning at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church in New London by Rev. T. M. Crowley.

The bride was gowned in white satin trimmed with lace with veil caught with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Frances Samul, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and wore an orchid colored dress and carried pink roses. Stephen Wierzbinski was best man. The bridesmaids were Jennie Krupinski, Edith Hubbert and Agnes Samul. The ushers were Anthony Samul, Edward Sienko and Charles Przygoda.

The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a white gold watch and that of the bride to the bridegroom was a pair of gold cuff links.

A reception was held in Pulaski hall in this city at which about 300 guests were present.

FUNERALS

Miss Sarah Pierce

At 10 o'clock Saturday morning the funeral of Miss Sarah Pierce was held at the parlors of Undertakers Shea and Burke and the service was conducted by Rev. E. C. Spicer, of Jewett City. The burial was in the family plot in the Voluntown cemetery and Rev. Mr. Spicer conducted the committal service. Relatives and friends were present at the funeral and there were a number of beautiful floral tributes.

Two Chimney Fires

The fire department had a call just after noon Sunday for a chimney fire at 23 Garfield avenue. The firemen used 31 gallons of chemical to extinguish the blaze. The house is owned by Mrs. Mary McKelvey and occupied by Francis Keeley and others.

At 5.30 in the afternoon they were called to 12 Williams street, the home of Alfred G. Bliven. Judge Allyn L. Brown noticed the fire as he was passing the house and notified the Bliven family, who were unaware of the blaze in the chimney, but promptly sent in a telephone call to the department. As the roof had fire-resisting shingles, there was no danger of the sparks from the chimney setting fire to the roof.

Funeral services for Luther Fuller, who died in Washington, D. C., were held at the Scotland church Saturday afternoon at one o'clock. Rev. Arthur Plumb conducting the services. Burial was in Scotland cemetery. Mr. Fuller who was an examiner of patents employed by the U. S. government at Washington, D. C., is survived by two nephews, Hubert B. of Cleveland, O., and Dr. Homer B. Fuller of Washington.

Presented Thanksgiving Music

The augmented choir of the Central Baptist church presented J. H. Maunder's Song of Thanksgiving before a large and appreciative congregation at the Sunday evening service at the church.

The ensemble numbers were iven with excellent phrasing and fine balance while the solo numbers were especially enjoyable. With Miss Louise Fuller as organist the augmented choir included the following:

Catholic University Collection

A circular letter from Rt. Rev. Bishop Nilan, read in all the Catholic churches of this diocese Sunday, was a reminder that the coming Sunday—first Sunday in advent—the annual collection for the Catholic University in Washington will be taken up. The new president of the university, Monsignor Ryan is now in charge, but the rector emeritus, Bishop Thomas J. Shahan, formerly of the Hartford diocese continues his interest in the university and for that reason the priests expressed the hope that the offering for the university will continue as generous as it has been in previous years. The university is the center of Catholic education in America and its expansion has been most remarkable in the years since its founding.

In Westerly Hospital

Herbert N. Clark of 215 West Main street, is a patient in the Westerly hospital with a broken hip through an automobile accident outside of Westerly last Thursday.

AUTO ACCIDENT TAKES ONE LIFE AT UNCASVILLE, THREE ARE INJURED

Aubrey Goodpasteure, 26, of Uncasville, formerly of Kansas City, Mo., and an ex-naval man, was instantly killed shortly after midnight Sunday night when the Ford roadster, in which he was riding crashed into a telephone pole in Montville, almost opposite the residence of Robert L. French. The driver of the car, Joseph Lukegord of Uncasville, escaped with a shaking up. Two girls riding in the machine, Miss Catherine Hill, residing at the Y. W. C. A., New London, and Miss Beatrice Periatti of No. 133 Cedar street, this city, at present residing at the Y. W. C. A., New London, escaped with bruises and lacerations.

Mr. Lukegord was driving the two girls to New London and was evidently forced off the highway by a large car approaching from the opposite direction. The dead man was sitting on the right hand side of the seat and one of the girls was sitting in his lap.

The driver of the approaching machine, it is said, took up more than half of the highway, forcing Mr. Lukegord to the extreme right. The radiator on Mr. Lukegord's car was steaming, evidently being frozen, making it difficult for him to see the highway and the pole into which his machine crashed.

Robert L. French, near whose home the fatal accident occurred, witnessed the crash from his porch. Just prior to the accident he heard a peculiar noise at the front of the house, he said, and went to the front door to investigate. He thought the noise was made by a man employed on the place, arriving home. Opening the front door, he happened to see Mr. Lukegord's car approaching from the direction of Norwich. He saw the other machine headed towards Norwich taking up considerable of the highway. The radiator of Mr. Lukegord's car was steaming. The next instant the car crashed into the pole.

An emergency call was sent by telephone to Dr. John J. Donohue, and the state police barracks at Groton was notified. Dr Donohue hurried to Mr. French's residence where he attended the two girls. Goodpasteure was dead, having without doubt been instantly killed. It is thought his skull was fractured. Dr. Donohue, who is acting medical examiner for the town of Montville, and the state police conducted an investigation. The body was given in charge of Undertaker C. A. Gager.

Little could be learned of Goodpasteure's family. He served in the United States navy and sometime ago was honorably discharged. Lately he had made his home in Uncasville, and it is understood that he was planning to re-

FOUR GENERATIONS PRESENT AT GOLDEN WEDDING DAY

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fensley celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary Friday at their home 122 Fourth street with twenty of their relatives and family friends attending. Mr. and Mrs. Fensley were united in marriage at the Greeneville Congregational rectory, Nov. 24, 1878 by the pastor, Rev. Robert Stanton. They have lived in the Greeneville section ever since they were married.

All during the day neighbors and friends called to extend congratulations and wish them happiness and health in their years to come. At 5 o'clock a delicious turkey dinner was served to the invited guests. The dining room was very prettily decorated in the color scheme of yellow and white. In the center of the table a beautiful wedding cake with a gold bell attached to it. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burnap, Mrs. Carleton Cripps, Mrs. Carl Caswell, Miss Mary G. Henderson, Mrs. John Cochran, Earl Whitehead, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Zahn, Mrs. Milo R. Waters.

The following are the grandchildren Howard and Russell Fensley, Winifred Whitehead, Lois Zahn and two great grandchildren, Paul W. Whitehead and Beryl M. Whitehead.

Of the four children of the couple, the only one now living is Mrs. Agnes Zahn. At the celebration four generations were present, Mr. and Mrs. Fensley being one, Mrs. Zahn, their daughter, Mrs. Earle Whitehead, who is the daughter of Mrs. Zahn and Mrs. Whitehead's children, making the four generations. Mr. and Mrs. Fensley are apparently enjoying good health. Mr. Fensley who has been in the employ of the United States Finishing company for the past thirty five years also previous to this worked at the Chelsea Paper company.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED AT SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Friese, long residents of this city, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Saturday evening at their home, No. 61 Bentley avenue. Out-of-town guests were present from East Windsor Hills, Hartford, Danielson and Portchester, N. Y. In all about 50 guests assembled for the anniversary celebration, which proved a very delightful event. A supper was served and during the evening instrumental music, singing and dancing were enjoyed. Music was furnished by an orchestra comprising Misses Ruth Gore, Henrietta Friese and Bruno Weinert. Miss Dorothy Snelder entertained with specialty dancing.

Mr. Friese, during the evening, announced the engagement of his daughter, Miss B. Henrietta Friese, and Edward Hildebrand of No. 44 West Thames street. The house was prettily decorated with cut flowers and colored streamers.

Mrs. Emil Bausch, who was bridesmaid at Mr. and Mrs. Friese's wedding 25 years ago, and the best man, August Friese, were among those present.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Friese were born in Germany. Mrs. Friese is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hein and Mr. Friese is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Friese. Both came to this country in early life and on Nov. 24, 1903, were united in marriage at the German Lutheran church on Franklin street. Since their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Friese have made their home in this city. Mr. Friese has for years been employed at the Glen Woolen Mills, Norwich Town. They have two daughters, Miss B. Henrietta Friese and Mrs. John Shea, Jr., of Norwich, and one grandson.

UNIFORM SIGNS FOR NORWICH CITY STREETS

The committee on street signs and house numbers has adopted a uniform street sign for the city's streets. The sign agreed upon by the committee was one submitted by the New London-Norwich Sign Co., at a contract price of 75 cents each and 25 cents each for erection. A number of samples of street signs were submitted, one costing as high as $15 each. The new signs will have a white or aluminum background with black letters. As many of the new signs will be erected as the present fund allows. It is expected that an additional appropriation will be asked.

The committee has also decided to use Boy Scouts in an effort to have all houses properly numbered. The scouts will be provided with numbers which they will sell and tack up at a nominal price.

Suit for Building House

Judge C. B. Waller heard trial in the common pleas court here Saturday and reserved decision in the suit of Anex Shnip of Mohegan hill, a contractor, against Frank Hnatiuk of Preston for $1,200 damages. Shnip claims $865 due on a contract and $279.87 for extras for building a house on the Norwich-Westerly road in the town of Preston. Hnatiuk claims $340 as a set-off, alleging failure to do painting and grading according to the contract.

Wedding Report Was Hoax

The report which arose in Westerly of the marriage of Meredith Lee and Winifred Prime of New London turns out to have been a hoax on a Westerly newspaper. A denial of the wedding has been received from both the principals and from the minister who was reported to have performed the ceremony.

BALTIC YOUNG PEOPLE GAVE CLEVER MINSTRELS

The Collegiate minstrel given by members of the Standard Bearer society of the Baltic Methodist Episcopal church, Friday evening in Sprague hall, was enthusiastically received by a large audience. The platform was attractively decorated in blue and white, the society colors.

Every member of the company efficiently filled his place, and each number was greeted with great applause. The endmen and endwomen, who were in black-face, kept the entertainment alive with their jokes and presentations.

Credit is due Joshua Heap for his untiring and efficient leadership as director of the minstrel.

The program was as follows:

Opening chorus, entire company; Old Man Sunshine, Marie Hiebel; Raquel, Nellie Wilcock and Florence Firth; Ready for the River, Esther Erickson; Angela Mia, Harold Sargent; Solomon Levi, George Bell; Old Pals Are the Best Pals, Marion Chase and Edith Hinchliffe; violin solo, Harold Sargent; Get Out and Get Under the Moon, Henry Froemel; Constantinople, Frieda Froemel and Ends; Chloe, Florence Firth; Once in a Lifetime, Emma Froemel; There's a Rainbow 'Round My Shoulder, Esther Firth; Jeannine I Dream of Lilac Time, Bertha Froemel; Bridget O'Flynn, Arthur Heap; characteristic dance, George Bell and Wilfred Houghton; Last Night I Dreamed You Kissed Me, George Orme; Soldier's Farewell, Nellie Wilcock and Edith Hinchliffe; It Goes Like This, entire company; finale, entire company. Joshua Heap, director; Florence Barnes, pianist; interlocuter, Frieda Froemel.

Endmen: George Bell, Henry Froemel.

Endwomen: Esther Firth, Florence Firth.

Chorus: Misses Marion Chase, Esther Erickson, Bertha Froemel, Emma Froemel, Marie Hiebel, Edith Hinchliffe, Dora Sargent, Annie Wilcock, Nellie Wilcock, Mrs. Lillian Swanson, Elwyn Chase, Harvey Conklin, Arthur Heap, Wilfred Houghton, George Orme, Harold Sargent.

Caught in the act of removing tires from a machine in the yard at Aime's garage, near the corner of North Main street and Boswell avenue, Saturday night, two brothers, Michael Lagoda, 18 and John Lagoda, 16, of Versailles, were arrested by Officer Howard Coburn. Both were booked at police headquarters on charges of theft and later released on bonds.

Officer Coburn saw the youths drive by the garage in a machine. They walked back to the garage and the officer, being suspicious of them, investigated. When he appeared on the scene the youths had one tire off the machine and were removing a second one.

TWICE ARRESTED FOR FAULTY AUTO BRAKES

Boris Resinkoff of R. F. D. 2 was arrested twice in this city Saturday afternoon for having faulty brakes on his automobile which caused it to have two collisions.

In Water street the machine ran into another car and Resinkoff was arrested by Officer John O'Neil. After he had been presented at police headquarters and had obtained his release, he was again arrested, this time by Officer Kimball, after the machine had collided with a trolley car at the corner of Broad street and McKinley avenue.

GIRL'S LEG BROKEN IN ACCIDENT IN GREENEVILLE

Alice, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Savich of 170 Otrobando road, suffered a broken right leg Saturday night when she was struck on North Main street by a machine driven by its owner, Adam Gavtonski of 52 Second street.

The accident happened not far from the police station to which the little girl was brought and was attended by Dr. Clarence G. Thompson, who took her to the Backus hospital.

It was reported that the child ran out into the street in front of the automobile, which the driver stopped so suddenly that he stalled the engine and the wheel had to be pushed off the child's leg before she could be lifted up.

Brought from New Britain

Joseph Jackson, colored, was brought to Norwich Sunday morning by Officer Patrick Murphy, who went to New Britain for him. Jackson is charged with non-support and was arrested in New Britain by the police of that city, for the local police.

Motion To Set Aside.

A motion to set aside the verdict and for a new trial has been filed with the clerk of the superior court in the suit of Frank H. Bradford, adm., against Maurice J. Drucker of New London in which a jury returned a verdict on Thursday for $1,500 for the death of Benjamin Bradford through being hit by an automobile on Dec. 31, 1926.

Henry Crawford, a Negro of Kinston, N. C., is exhibiting four baby alligators which he said were hatched by a hen on a farm near there. The 'gators are about five inches long. Crawford said he found an alligator's nest in Pamlico county several weeks ago. He brought a number of the eggs home with him and placed them together with chicken eggs, under the hen. The chicken eggs failed to hatch, but the little 'gators seemed to appease the hen.

CAPT. CLIFT'S LOGBOOKS IN PEABODY MUSEUM

Reminiscent of the days when sailing vessels, plying their way through the waters of Long Island sound, brought cargoes of tea, cotton, coffee and spices to the wharves of Mystic, New Haven and other Connecticut seacoast towns, is the log books and paintings of the ships of Capt. William Clift of Mystic, which have been presented to Peabody museum at Yale by his grandson, William Clift Foote, of New Haven.

The six log books and three paintings in this collection are in good condition and are interesting as representative of the times when Mystic was a flourishing seaport. Captain Clift, who died in 1862, was one of the most honored men of that community where he lived his entire life and in whose activities he played so prominent a part.

The history of the Clift family is closely identified with the development of Connecticut. William Clift, the first of the family to come to America, was put ashore at Scituate, Mass., when he was only seven years old. According to information given by Perce, an old Negro servant who knew the first generation, William was sent from England by interested parties because he was heir to a large estate which they would inherit in case of his death. He survived, however, and married Lydia Wills, but nothing further is known of him other than that he was a resident of Marshfield, and had several children.

Capt. William Clift, whose logs and paintings are now in Peabody Museum, is the descendant of William Clift in the fifth generation and is the son of Nathaniel Clift and Eunice Denison, who were married Aug. 5, 1801. His father spent the early part of his life in trading voyages along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts and rose to the rank of commander. He finally settled in Mystic Bridge, now known as Stonington, and engaged in trade. He later became the proprietor of a public house situated near the present "Hoxie House."

Capt. William Clift was born in Mystic Bridge, April 20, 1805. He was educated in the common schools there and attended the private school of Sheffield and Kerby at Stonington Burough for two years. He commenced active life by teaching school in his native town and then for three years was a clerk in the store of Gilbert Denison, at the head of Mystic river.

Captain Clift never sailed for wages, but always for "a share." His business capacity, shrewdness and ability were rewarded by highly satisfactory financial results and when he retired from the sea he owned a part of a number of vessels and became their New York agent. In this capacity he took care of the vessels and managed their business.

At the same time he was extensively engaged with Nathan G. Fish and others in the ship building business at Mystic and himself purchased all the materials in New York. In 1865 he retired from active business with a brilliant record of success in every undertaking. Every vessel with which he had to do was successful and never failed to declare a dividend.

Captain Clift's rules on shipboard were very strict. He never permitted anyone, sailor, officer or passenger, to swear, play cards or drink. A stern master who exacted absolute obedience from his crew, he never allowed his men to kill the baby seals.

In August, 1854, he was chosen director of the Mystic River bank and served on the board until his death. He was elected its president in 1870 and held this office until 1881 when he resigned because of failing health. When the Groton Savings bank was organized, July 8, 1854, he was elected vice-president and then president in 1870. He held this position until July 27, 1875, when he declined a re-election, but accepted the vice-presidency of the Elm Grove Cemetery association from April 16, 1866, to April 17, 1881.

Two Ways to Avoid Sour Stomach

PREVENTING the stomach as you grow older is one way to keep out of trouble! But it's far more pleasant to eat what you choose, and let Pape's Diapepsin keep the stomach free from excess acid. Plenty of people past "three-score-and-ten" keep stomachs young because they know this one secret.
Because it is so quick, so safe and so sure in ending digestive troubles, millions rely on "Pape's Diapepsin." "Pape's Diapepsin" is unequalled as an indigestion remedy and dietary corrective, yet it costs only 60 cents a package at all druggists.
If your stomach ever torments you get "Pape's Diapepsin" at once and recapture the pleasure of care-free, painless digestion. You may have felt that nothing can help your particular difficulty, but so have others to whom this remedy proved a pleasant surprise. This experiment with diapepsin may do as much for you.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF POLAND'S REGAINED INDEPENDENCE CELEBRATED

An address in English by Rev. S. A. Ickek, pastor of St. Joseph's church, and one in the Polish language by Dr. K. Wachtel, editor of the Polish Daily Kurier of New York city, were features of the interesting and varied programme given at 7.30 o'clock Sunday evening at Pulaski hall under the auspices of the Polish citizens committee in commemoration of the tenth anniversary of Poland's regained independence. Close to 1,000 persons including special guests were in attendance, the hall being taxed to capacity. Among the guests present were Mayor Lee Roy Robbins, ex-Mayor Milo R. Waters, First Selectman William S. Murray, Robert McNeeley, member of the school board, Town Clerk Harold S. Burt, A. Morin, Charles D. Foster and Rev. John J. McCabe of Jewett City.

In his address of welcome Joseph B. Tysyk said: "On behalf of the Polish citizens committee I bid you welcome to this joyous occasion commemorating the 10th anniversary of Poland's regained independence. Ten years ago on Armistice day when the World war ended, Poland was reborn to again take up her place among the great nations of the world. She was beset with almost insurmountable difficulties, but thanks to the efficient help of France and America, Poland was able to overcome her troubles and is on her way to a great national success. The past ten years have been a sufficient proof that a free Poland was what was needed for the safety of its people."

In part Rev. Fr. Ickek spoke as follows: When the sun of liberty was rising for America, it was setting for Poland. Some of Poland's ablest and bravest soldiers headed by Kosciuszko and Pulaski came to America's aid in her hour of need. A century and a half passed and the thirteen struggling colonies became the greatest republic in the world.

When the World war ended in the downfall of the central powers followed by the collapse of Russia, like the Phoenix of old, a new Poland rose from the ruins and ashes of the World war. But her land was so devastated, her factories so mutilated, her population so demoralized with war, pestilence and famine, besieged on all sides by enemies, without government, army, money and food that had it not been for France and especially the United States, Poland could not have survived the ordeal.

For Kosciuszko, Pulaski and the 200 engineers and soldiers that came with them, American sent Poland the Kosciuszko escadrille, the food, clothing, equipment for army, machinery, raw materials, money and large credits. For a long time America's generosity and magnaminity not only healed the wounds, clothed the naked, but for a long time fed hundreds of thousands of women, children and students. The work that was done in Poland by the Y. M. C. A., the Salvation Army and above all by European relief organization in charge of our next and I believe one of our greatest presidents, Mr. Herbert Hoover, will never be forgotten.

I happened to be one of the first Americans of Polish descent to go into a Free Poland and I know the problems that were facing the new republic.

We in America are used to great things, in fact great projects, buildings, financial corporations with millions and billions of dollars, are commonplace to us and yet, the ten years of Poland's history, its reconstruction, its struggle with famine, pestilence, its heroic defense against the onslaught of Russian hordes, held at the very gates of Warsaw by troops poorly equipped, compare favorably, not only with some of the greatest achievements of American ingenuity, but compare favorably with anything in the world's history. No nation had greater difficulties and problems facing her and no nation has overcome them better than Poland.

Just to briefly quote a few of them. The railroads were rebuilt—cars and locomotives are built in the country and trains report and arrive on the dot. The finances were regulated, currency established, loans made and international credits maintained. An army of 500,000 men was trained and fully equipped. The frontiers of the country are definitely established. Law and order prevails. Industry and commerce are growing. The great national resources, coal, oil, salt, lumber, agriculture, are being developed.

Great attention was given to education. There are nearly 30,000 public schools with nearly 70,000 teachers and 3,000,000 children attending these schools. There are 4,000 national schools, German, Ukrainian and Jewish. There are 500 high schools and colleges with 15,000 professors and 225,000 students. There are 26 colleges for teachers attended by 25,000 students. There are six universities, three since the war, attended by 37,000 students. Every seventh person in Poland is going to school. No other can show such progress with perhaps one exception and that is St. Joseph's parish in Norwich.

I want to say that Poland is immensely grateful to America for all that America has done for Poland. I hope that they mutually support each other. As American citizens of Polish descent I want to say then that we have made our decision. For one was born and raised here. Most of us who came here to the hospitable shores were welcomed and I hope that we will stay here and cast our lot in America. What I am doing and will try to do all my life is to prepare the next generation born here to be worthy of the ideals and traditions of not only Poland, but of America.

Dr. K. Wachtel, who spoke in Polish to the audience, centered his remarks upon Polish history in the past ten years, touching upon their freedom and accomplishments. Both speakers received well merited applause for their addresses.

The entertainment part of the programme was delightfully presented and included musical selections by Kapp's Ramblers of Norwich and vocal selections by the choir of St. Joseph's church, under the leadership of N. Hancin, organist of the church. The orchestra's numbers were Polish Pearls, Mazur, Wreath of Polish Melodies, Star Spangled Banner and the Polish National anthem. The choir rendered three selections, To Homes, Polish Honor Song, and Unfold Your Wings.

A feature of the entertainment programme was a dance and two songs given by little Adeline Glowacki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Glowacki, who was accompanied at the piano by her sister. There were also two declamations, Flanders Field, by Jadwiga Warakowski and Death of a Spy by P. Zofia Grzymkowska.

The stage was attractively decorated with Polish and American flags, floor lamps and two large palms.

Stanley Zawislinski was chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements.

INTENTIONAL SECOND EXPOSURE

ACADEMY AERIAL ATTACK PROVES BAFFLING TO WEAK BULKELEY TEAM

Decisively outplayed for the last three periods, Bulkeley went down before the Academy Saturday afternoon at the campus, 18 to 0, in its most disastrous defeat in 18 years. Before a capacity crowd, the Wildcats clawed their rivals at will after an uncertain start.

Using the forward pass with rare skill, together with the fierce line-smashing of Jackie Marks, the Academy scored touchdowns in the second, third and fourth quarters. All extra points were missed.

Bulkeley, with its fine 30-piece band, showed plenty of enthusiasm before the contest and through the first quarter when their eleven slightly outplayed the Red and White but once the Wildcats got mad things all came their way and Bulkeley fans had to sit by and see their team tossed hither and yon in the tidal wave that was the Academy.

Berghinzo Stars

The play of Chet Berghinzo stood out in the Academy clean-cut victory. Chet, only playing his first full season of varsity football, was a bad man to Bulkeley all afternoon ,his work on the receiving end of forward passes being little short of brilliant, while his hard tackling spelt doom for Bulkeley runners, attempting to circle his wing. Not far behind Berghinzo, however, came Capt. Buck LaCroix and Jack Marks, each of whom played smart heads-up football. It was LaCroix that advanced the ball within scoring distance on all three occasions, either by his accurate passing or spectacular broken-field dashes. LaCroix reeled off several sprints of from 15 to 30 yards. Marks was closely watched by Bulkeley but still managed to do plenty toward the great Academy victory. Jack's defensive work was again of high grade. Another boy who played very good football for the Red and White was Anso Tombari, who scored one of the touchdowns on a catch as he was sliding across the line, said catch being about the most spectacular work of the day. Tombari also played a great defensive game, along with Mish at guard.

For Bulkeley, Capt. Jim Watterson at tackle and Aguilar at halfback were about the only bright lights in an otherwise dull afternoon. Both boys, especially Watterson, put up a great fight and looked good, even in defeat.

The game itself was not overly brilliant. The steady plugging of the Academy and their almost impregnable defense when any danger loomed kept the spotlight on them through the majority of the fray. The Academy, probably thinking of that 6-6 tie of last year at Mercer field, started the game seemingly off-stride but got into line right at the whistle in the second quarter and stayed there for the rest of the time.

First Quarter Close

The first period promised a stiff battle with what very slight edge there was probably going to Bulkeley. A fumbled punt by Brock about midway in the session gave the Whalers the ball on the Academy 30-yard line after play previous to that ha' been confined to mid-field. Bulkeley could not gain with this break and after two plays Chet Berghinzo recovered a fumble on the 25-yard stripe.

Starting the second period the Academy let loose their forward passing and soon were in Bulkeley territory, Berghinzo nabbing a pass off a Bulkeley chest for 40 yards that brought the ball to the 16-yard stripe. Marks dashed off 13 to the three-yard line and then went over. LaCroix attempted to pass for the extra point but was unsuccessful.

Bulkeley received but on two plays fumbled and Berghinzo recovered on the Bulkeley 40-yard line. A 30-yard pass to Tombari brought the oval to the ten-yard line but the Academy lost the ball on downs on the four-yard line, a short pass being grounded. Bulkeley punted but the Academy came back, only to have Marks fumble just as he was going over the line and after the ball had been brought out to the 20-yard line and given to Bulkeley the half ended.

Bulkeley received in the second half and staged a bit of a spurt, getting three first downs before losing 20 yards on a bad pass from center and then punting. The Academy came right back and ended their drive with a toss to Tombari for the touchdown. Again the extra point was missed, this time, a kick being blocked. The rest of the period was uneventful.

Straight March

Academy substitutes were rushed in as the last period wore on, but still Bulkeley, making only substitutions where necessary until the final few minutes, could not gain. The Academy received the kick-off and marched straight down the field for the score on runs by Lacroix and Marks and passes to Berghinzo. They were delayed momentarily when on the two-yard line by a penalty for offside, but Marks finally crashed through. LaCroix had previously run 20 yards prettily to bring the ball inside the five-yard line.

Bulkeley got no nearer than the Academy 20-yard line for the remainder of the way, while the Academy second-and third teams were battling.

This game finished the season for both teams, leaving the Academy with a record of six won and three lost, and Bulkeley with two won, seven lost and one tied.

WILDCAT SCRATCHES

Bulkeley's band made a fine appearance as it paraded in entering the field through the south goalposts and marching to the Bulkeley stands, where it serenaded the Orange and Black fans. During the halves the band marched across to the Academy stands.

The day was just right for football, the air having the right twinge.

The crowd included fans from all over Eastern Connecticut.

The officiating was of high order, in keeping with the custom the past two years.

There was no celebration Saturday night by the Academy aside from a dance at the school gym. No parades or bonfires. The nearest to a bonfire was the burning by someone of the two piles of straw set out at the two benches.

That the Academy was in good condition is shown by the way they went through the game, with few times-out. This speaks well for Coach Whitney.

It was Whitney's first victory over Bulkeley as a coach in three attempts and a real decisive one, at that.

STRONG AND GULICK HIGH EASTERN SCORERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—(AP)—With Ken Strong assured of the season's leadership among eastern football scorers, Gulick, of Hobart, clinched the runner-up position when he scored three touchdowns against Rochester yesterday. Strong, in the meantime was tallying two touchdowns and kicking two extra points after touchdown as New York university crushed Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh.

BOSTON COLLEGE STANDS ALONE AS UNBEATEN AND UNTIED IN THE EAST

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—(AP)—The wreckage along the football coast today, mates, tells the sad story of blasted and ruined college title hopes.

On the rocks may be clearly discerned what remains of the good ships Carnegie, Wisconsin and Nebraska, all three of which had sailed forth and so gally and so far. Piled up beside them are the battered arks of Ohio State, Iowa, Princeton and Ohio Wesleyan, with California aground, even if not quite so storm-tossed as the others.

Carnegie's hitherto unchecked Tartans may testify they were not only ship-wrecked but hit by a typhoon, draped in the violet colors of New York university. Tech's victorious voyage was turned into disaster by Ken Strong and his mates with an exhibition that stamps N. Y. U., despite its single defeat by Georgetown, as one of the country's outstanding elevens.

Nebraska and Wisconsin, with only ties to mar their sailing records up to Saturday, hit the shoals with an echoing roar. The Corn-Huskers went aground at West Point, where Red Cagle ran wild again to put the Army back in the top flight. Wisconsin had its Big Ten championship hopes shattered in the final game by Minnesota and "Bronko" Nagurski, alternating at tackle and fullback.

The close of the hottest Big Ten scramble in years, finds Illinois with the best claim of all to the crown for the second straight year by scoring over Ohio State while Michigan upset Iowa. Every team in the conference was beaten at least once, but Illinois has a slightly better claim than Wisconsin, which has a tie with Purdue to account for as well as a single setback. The Illini lost their only game to Michigan and captured one more than Wisconsin.

Out on the Pacific coast, California's great bid to regain the conference heights was upset by a tie with Stanford. This keeps the Bears from having a clear share in the leadership with Southern California, victor over Idaho yesterday, although they are only a shade or two apart.

The net result of Saturday's uproar saves a slim but gallant vanguard of only five major teams neither beaten nor tied. It is still headed by the "Big Three" of the south, Florida, Tennessee and Georgia Tech, looming all the more conspicuous even though they did not get into action yesterday. The east's lone survivor is Boston college, which still has Holy Cross to account for, while the middle west's last remaining entry is Detroit, with only Georgetown in its path.

It is an odd situation that finds no major team west of the Mississippi river with a spotless record after this season's stormy cruise. University of Utah and Southern California, still among the foremost in their respective sectors, have not yet tasted defeat but each has been tied, Utah twice in a row and U. S. C., once, by California.

Outside of Detroit, there isn't a major array in the whole flourishing middle west with a clean record. No member of the Big Ten or Big Six escaped defeat. Nebraska and Wisconsin held out longer than the rest but that was all. Little Ohio Wesleyan, after capturing eight in a row and sharing the spotlight, was toppled in its last game by Wittenberg.

Intersectional warfare with the east proved the undoing of the giant, scarlet-clad Nebraskans. They managed to get by Syracuse with only a point to spare, but were held to a scoreless tie and outplayed by Pittsburgh before being finally brought down by the Army and its red-headed ace, Cagle. This was another personal triumph for Cagle but only after he had quite an aerial combat with Clair Sloan, fast and shifty Nebraska star.

No log of yesterday's battle is complete without a few bouquets for Harvard. Navy and Michigan, all three of which brought the ships triumphantly into port after being almost shot to pieces earlier in the battle.

Princeton, even though tied twice was unbeaten and a big favorite before being roughly handled by the Midshipmen in one of the day's biggest upsets. Michigan's closing salute at the expense of Iowa likewise was a big surprise, atoning for past reverses. Harvard's decisive margin over the groggy Yale eleven was noteworthy, with the Crimson afforded a chance to snake-dance in the bowl at New Haven for the first time in six years.

BELDING BLUES BEAT THE WEBSTER STEAMROLERS

PUTNAM, Nov. 25—The Belding Blues triumphed over the Steamrollers of Webster Saturday afternoon by a score of 12-0, in a tilt staged on the Putnam high school field. The game was arranged for the benefit of the Putnam high school athletic field improvement fund.

Members of both teams have clashed in previous encounters when fighting under the colors of Putnam high school and Bartlett high school but a few years ago and the event of Saturday was a revival of the hostilities that existed a few seasons past between the rival players. The kickoff and the first quarter contained many hair raising incidents for both teams, which were quite evenly matched. The ball was taken by both teams in off tackle, end runs and through guard plays; was intercepted by both sides in many forward passes, but failed to cross the goals of either team during that stage of the game, though it came close to the scoring point on several occasions.

In the second quarter and the remaining half, the Blues opened with an aerial attack which brought the ball to Webster's five yard line and allowed dashing Tom Cody, ex-Putnam high grider of '25 to chalk up the first six points. The second touchdown came in the third quarter when Rip Nelson, who proved to be a ghost to the Webster players, crushed the line and in a beautiful swan dive landed on the scoring side of the goal line. Irish Mike Hanulfan and "Dutch" Donovan, Putnam mhigh school stars of other season's comprised the remainder of the backfield quartet, and both were responsible for many of the long gains by the local team. Much glory for the success of the Putnam eleven goes to "Sandy" Farquhar, "Tex" Jarvis, "Fat" Murphy, "Tim" Slye, Bill Simonzi, Terry McGarry and John Daigle, whose gridiron accomplishments during their high school days now rest in the "hall of athletic achievements" at Putnam high school. Donovan gave the fans a thrill when in the last few minutes of the game, he broke loose on an off-tackle play and was headed for the scoring stripe, when Love, Webster quarterback brought him down on the five yard line, with serious injury being inflicted upon Donovan's back. Donovan, displayed his courage of 1927, when he tried to remain in the backfield but was unable. He was supplanted by "Flash" Winslow, captain and star of the 1926 P. H. S., eleven, which went through the season undefeated. Winslow played but three minutes and attempted an end run, but was down. One feature of the game was a 30 yard run on the part of Hannifan, which should have been a pass. "Mike" received the ball on the 70 yard line, was unable to find a player to toss to, and decided to break through the Webster interference ready to roll him down. He started in his usual flying manner and reached the 95 yard line when the whistle denoting the close of the encountered stopped him.

The Blues are about at the end of their season. Arrangements are now being made for a Thanksgiving tilt which will be the sunset of the semi-pro team in Putnam.

PUTNAM HIGH CLOSES SEASON AGAINST KILLINGLY

PUTNAM, Nov. 25—Hostilities will be renewed on Thanksgiving morning at Danielson when Coach Noyes' undefeated Putnam high school eleven clashes with their ancient rivals of Killingly high school. The Putnam gridders are in first class condition for their annual encounter with the Danielson boys and feel confident they will emerge victorious, to close their tightening grip upon Eastern Connecticut high school championship honors, with possibilities of clinching the state honors by reason of a challenge to teams now making their claims to the title.

Capt. Bill Shann, who during the season scored many points for his team has recovered from an old back injury sustained in the first Webster encounter and is ready for the expected triumph at Killingly on Thursday. Walt Cody, who has been ill and confined to light work in the backfield because of ankle trouble has benefitted by the long rest of a week and a half and is ready for anything that might happen. Reynolds, flashing Putnam quarterback is in perfect condition and believes his team will win. Tubby Sherman, Putnam punter proclaims a victory and state honors, while the invincible linesmen, Cally Tourtellottee, his kinsman Jerome Tourtellotte, Mascot, Sabin, Weiss, the Anderson brothers and Jack Elliott all feel confident of a victory at Danielson. Charley Bove, who has displayed remarkable work as associate halfback during the season is ready to account for a part of the expected Killingly defeat. Coach Noyes smiled when asked for his version of the outcome of the game and only told of the perfect condition of his team.

The Killingly camp is alert and anxiously awaiting the hour of the kickoff. Daily practice is being undertaken in preparation for the traditional game with Putnam. Killingly has had a fair season this year, but is mindful of the record established by the Coach Noyes' eleven and holds every hope of inflicting a closing season defeat upon them.

VILLANOVA CHALLENGES FOR POST-SEASON CONFLICT

VILLANOVA, Pa., Nov. 25—(AP)—Little Villanova college, finishing its first undefeated season with a record marked only by a scoreless tie with Temple, has a challenge for any rival, south, east or west, for post-season gridiron conflict, according to Head Coach Harry Stuhldreher, formerly one of Notre Dame's famous "Four Horsemen."

Boston college, the only eastern team now neither beaten nor tied, has been challenged for a game in Boston Dec. 8, Stuhldreher, announced, in addition to which Florida has been asked for a game in Jacksonville, either Dec. 15 or on Christmas day. Villanova also is receptive to arranging a game on the Pacific coast around New Years.

Stuhldreher's eleven finished its scheduled season Saturday by defeating Davis & Elkins, conqueror of the Navy and West Virginia.

ILLINOIS CLAIMS BIG TEN FOOTBALL TITLE

CHICAGO, Nov. 25—(AP)—Freddy Hovde, Minnesota's flashy field general, is the scoring ace of the Big Ten's 1928 football season, while for the second consecutive year Illinois had the best claim for the championship of the conference.

Hovde, a senior, failed to score a point against Wisconsin in yesterday's finale, but as most of the touchdowns were made by those far down the list, he held his lead with a total of nine touchdowns or 54 points.

Oran Pape, Iowa sophomore halfback, finished second with 48 points, while Win Brockmeyer, Minnesota sophomore, was third with 43. Fritz Humbert of Illinois and Byron Eby of Ohio State tied for fourth and fifth with 42 points each.

OVER 30 BOXERS FROM THREE STATES FOR DUWELL AMATEURS

A check-up of the entry list for the Duwell amateur bouts to be staged at the state armory Tuesday night, showed the names of 30-odd boxers from three states, Rhode Island, Connecticut and Massachusetts, last night after the last of the registrations had been recorded. While the list is not as large in number as it has been on one or two previous occasions, it shows a variety of talent such as has never been gathered here before. Most prominent of the out-of-state boxers registered, are boys from Worcester, Mass., and Westerly, R. I., while Connecticut is represented by simon pures from New Britain, Stafford, Danielson, Jewett City, Moosup and Norwich. Practically every man that is registered has had considerable experience, some in Norwich, while others have starred at tournaments in the large cities.

As has been previously mentioned, the team from Worcester is the same one that showed here twice during the past outdoor season while those from Stafford and New Britain are newcomers here. Included in the Worcester delegation of six men are Preston, Savegeau, Mike Troy and Gauthier, each an old favorite, and two others who have never shown here. Westerly is represented by Gengerelli, Wosick, Brown and others, Danielson is sending down Ben Herr, Bishop, Gauthier and two others in its five-man representation, while the standards of Jewett City will be in the hands of the same boys as performed with credit here during the past summer season.

Norwich will provide a good-sized delegation, seven of its native sons being listed at the present time. Most prominent of the local boxers registered are Johnny Kop, Patsy Ferra, Ralph Bargnesi and Johnny Meadows. These stars will be supported by Stanley Kanacki, Phil Plante and Tommy Leone. Kop and Ferra performed regularly at the summer shows, while the hard-hitting Bargnesi will be making his first appearance since the indoor shows a year ago. Those that saw the Smoke Shop favorite in action at the armory last winter will remember him as one of the hardest hitters that has ever performed in a local ring. Ralph, like many others before him, could not resist the lure of the ring and as a result will swap blows once again with any man that might be selected to oppose him.

Meadows, another of Barney Keenan's proteges, will make his debut in a Norwich ring after having created a sensation at Providence. This boy is the same one who in his initial appearance at the Rhode Island capital some six weeks ago, kayoed three opponents in one night. Meadows, a welterweight, is a hard and accurate puncher, his bouts seldom having to go the limit.

The work of erecting the arena at the armory will be started tonight after Battery B has completed its regular weekly drill session. It is expected that the arena will seat 1,800, three hundred reserve seats and 1,000 general admission. Reserved seats are on sale at the present time at Jack's Sport Shop, Our Smoke Shop and at the Duwell club.

POLICE CALLED IN TO QUELL FIGHT AFTER GAME

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 25—(AP)—Akin to a fourth of July celebration, with all its fireworks, is the traditional uprooting of goal posts by the followers of a victorious football team.

Police furnished the fireworks, in large portion, at least, here Saturday when New York university adherents, including many students, stormed the Forbes field gridiron, immediately after the university's 27-13 victory over Carnegie Tech, with the intention of re-enacting the historic grid scene.

A few policemen had been stationed at each goal post in anticipation of such a rush, but they were greatly outnumbered and at the outset repulsed by the force of the violent Violet onslaught. Then Carnegie partisans swooped to the defense and the disorder was intensified. The spectacle was one of scrimmage by two football teams with hundreds on a side, and all the while numberless fists were flying and throats were emitting lusty yells.

BOSTON COLLEGE ONLY UNDEFEATED TEAM IN EAST

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—(AP)—The Eagles of Boston college stand alone today as the only unbeaten and untied team in the east. Tuning up for the Holy Cross game next Saturday, the Eagles crushed the previous unbeaten and unscored on Connecticut Aggies yesterday, 51 to 13, while Carnegie Tech, hitherto undefeated and untied, was losing to New York university, Villanova and Lowell Textile, both of whom have closed their regular seasons, went through the season without defeat but were tied once.

Scoring honors remain with New York university 303. Georgetown holds second place with 286 trailed in order by Boston College 244, Lafayette 237, Pennsylvania 222, Carnegie 220, Temple 217 and Army 215.

Reserves were hurried from nearby police stations and the celebration by the bluecoats belittled the collegiate attempt. Sikening thuds as of a club on a skull were not the exception and many combatants were seen to hold bruised heads as they were escorted through the gates by the law to a chorus of "boos" from the stands where thousands had remained to see the demonstration.

First the New Yorkers attacked the eastern goal, then the western goal and the flag pole. The disturbance finally was quelled and a police order was given to clear the field.

Foreign Tennis

BERLIN, Nov. 25—(AP)—The second day of play in the lawn tennis tournament between the Red White club of Berlin and the Racing Club de France today left the score tied at three victories apiece.

Jean Borotra of France defeated Preen of Germany, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2, and Jacques Brugnon of France defeated Moldenhauer of Germany, 3-6, 2-6 7-5, 6-0, 6-4, in the singles. In the doubles, Von Kehrling and Kleinschruth of Germany defeated George and Danet of France, 6-2, 6-2.

Nine Swimming Dates for Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 25—(AP)—Springfield college will have nine swimming meets this season, the largest number ever tackled in some time. The schedule:

Jan. 11, Boston university; 19, Wesleyan.

Feb. 2, Amherst at Amherst; 7, Williams at Williams; 13, Worcester Tech; 16, Dartmouth at Hanover; 22, Brown.

March 1, R. P. I.; 9, New England intercollegiates, away.

LASSMAN'S CONDITION IS IMPROVED BUT CRITICAL

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 25—(AP)—Captain Al Lassman, giant New York university tackle from Cambridge, Mass., who suffered a head injury in the Carnegie Tech game yesterday, was reported at a hospital here today as in a semi-conscious state but responding to treatment. Physicians said, they were encouraged by improvement in the player's condition and added he would likely recover.

Lassman rallied at mid-day today after hours of unconsciousness, a hospital report said, and was able to understand the words of those about him and to speak briefly.

Williams Basketball Slate

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Nov. 25—(AP)—Yale will play basketball at Williamstown on Feb. 9, according to the Williams college hoop schedule announced today. The schedule:

Dec. 8, Clark; 15, Rensselaer Polytech; 19, Brown; 22, Columbia at New York.

Jan. 11, St. Stephens; 19, Lafayette; 22, Massachusetts Aggies at Amherst; 26, Wesleyan.

Feb. 7, New Hampshire; 9, Yale; 13, Trinity; 16, Amherst at Amherst; 22, Wesleyan at Middletown; 23, Colgate; March 2, Amherst.

ENTIRE YALE BACKFIELD LOST BY GRADUATION

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 25—(AP)—For the first time in many years, the Yale football team loses its complete regular backfield and best substitutes by graduation next June. Coach Mal Stevens will have to find men to step into the shoes of Johnny Hoben, quarterback, Butch Loud and Johnny Garvey, left halfbacks, Chauncey Hubbard, right halfback, and Eddie Decker, fullback, all ranked as regulars, and Paul Switz, Jake Lampe, and Earl Bullaro, who, although not regulars are all letter men and have given a good account of themselves when sent into the game.

Pro Football

NEW YORK UNIV. IS CONCEDED THE BEST ELEVEN IN EAST

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—(AP)—There is not a great deal of dissent today among the experts to ranking New York university's Violent Violets in the vanguard of the eastern football parade as probably the smoothest working, and hardest-hitting eleven developed along the Atlantic seaboard this season.

There's Boston college with a better record, on paper at least, as the only eastern team neither beaten nor tied so far. There's Army, undefeated by any eastern foe and a loser only to Notre Dame. There's Georgetown, the only conqueror of New York university but also a victim of Carnegie. There's Pennsylvania, beaten only once, and little Villanova, tied only once.

But, in spite of its single heart-breaking setback that even Georgetown's coach considers should be tossed out of the final reckoning, New York university is in position to debate the championship issue of the east, west or anybody. The Violets rose to their greatest and most astonishing heights Saturday when, with Ken Strong rampant, they smothered the great Carnegie team that was previously unchecked as it swept over Washington and Jefferson, Pittsburgh, Georgetown and Notre Dame.

While the battle of the Tartan Titans and the vehement Violets furnished the outstanding drama of thrills and suspense, the crash of upsets, the thrilling roar of the downtrodden rising in wrath, and the final intersectional strife before ancient rivals settled down to the climaxing battles of Thanksgiving day echoed through the land as on previous Saturdays.

Boston college kept its slate clear with an overwhelming conquest of the Connecticut Aggies, but into the wreckage of this final Saturday went the hopes of Princeton, tied twice but hitherto undefeated, as the might of a luckless Navy team asserted itself in a fine 9-0 victory. And the hero of a closing day for both elevens was "Whitey" Lloyd, harassed all season by failure to realize his full potentialities, who scored the lone touchdown on a 77-yard run and kicked a field goal.

Rising again to double time after defeat by Notre Dame, the Army battered down Nebraska, 13 to 3, in the chief intersectional struggle of the day as Chris Cagle, red-headed son of Louisiana, ran wild again to add scads of power and brilliance to his all-American bid. Harvard rose to new heights in trouncing Yale 17 to 0 in the one game of the season that matters up Cambridge way while Georgetown, beaten only by Carnegie Tech, walloped Fordham 27 to 7 and Lafayette, for the tenth straight time, swamped Lehigh in their 62nd meeting, 38 to 14.

The battle of Pittsburgh, witnessed by a scant 40,000, has been forecast as one of the greatest clashes of the season. It proved all of that and in addition to contributing one of the major upsets of the day, stamped "Chick" Meehan's New Yorkers as one of the finest elevens in the country, put the final definite all-American brand on Kenneth "Mike" Strong, and probably knocked Carnegie Tech out of an invitation to represent the east New Year's day against the pick of the west in the annual Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena, Cal.

Rising like a violet tidal wave of irresistable force after Howard Harpster, Carnegie's great quarterback, put the Skibos ahead with a brilliant scoring pass from midfield, Strong, "Cowboy" Hill, and "Mike" Riordan ripped Tech to pieces. Only Harpster's marvelous passing and defense play kept N. Y. U.'s margin down to 27-13. Strong, scoring two touchdowns himself and passing to Barrabee for the other two, averaged 3 one-half yards gain on each of the 26 times he handled the ball.

The victory was tinged with sadness, however, for the Violets left in a Pittsburgh hospital their giant tackle and captain, Al Lassman, who was seriously injured by a blow on the head in the last quarter. Lassman, still unconscious, has yet to learn of the victory after playing the greatest game of his career. The Cambridge, Mass., giant is believed to have suffered a fracture of the skull, although reassuring hospital reports state his injury as a "probable concussion" of the brain.

While many of the major elevens rested Saturday for the final games Thanksgiving day, several ended their seasons with victory. Rutgers closed with a 13-2 victory over Swarthmore and Villanova downed Davis Elkins 20 to 13. Brown smothered Rhode Island 32 to 7 and Holy Cross, which provides the final competition for unbeaten Boston college, beat Providence college 44 to 0. Other outstanding victories were Bucknell's 33 to 0 defeat of Dickinson, Allegheny's shutout of Alfred, 27 to 0, and Temple's conquest of Washington, 73 to 7.

Dartmouth venturing into the intersectional field for battle with Northwestern in the season's nightcap, ran afoul of too much power and versatility, losing 27 to 6, despite the presence of the brilliant Al Marsters.

Three Glories

There is one glory of the sun and another glory of the moon and another glory of the stars.—I Corinthians xv:41.

After a rosy dawn, light from its birth
In golden radiance floods the waiting earth.
High noon casts shimmering heat o'er vale and hill
'Till lengthening shadows add more beauty still.
Unearthly splendor fills the lambent West,
The setting sun is hastening to rest.
Purple and red and gold—the day is done,
And night has quenched the glory of the sun.

A summer night within a garden fair,
Languorous scent of roses in the air—
Low in the east a radiant light shows soon
The pathway of a slowly rising moon.
Her rosy light grows pale and mounting high
She casts her molten silver from the sky.
Marvelous night and passing all too soon,
Showing to Earth the glory of the Moon

A wintry night where snow peaks rising high,
Stand sentinel against a blue-black sky.
A chilling crispness in the midnight air,
And shining stars are twinkling everywhere.
Each rising planet casts a silver ray
Like a swift arrow winging on its way.
And all is silence, not a sound that mars
The cold compelling glory of the stars.

The Last Message

I sat one night at the radio,
Idly twiddling away,
While the strains of music came and went
In intermittent array.
Here was an orchestra gay with jazz,
An organ heard afar,
Anon there came the saxophone's wail
Or the plunk of the light guitar.

But sudden my hand on the dial stopped
At syllables strange and new,
And rapt I listened to make them out,
As they came chattering through.
Then all was silent as before,
Save for the static's crack
And try as I would at the radio
I could not bring them back.

Just then I looked at the sky without.
'Twas clear as clear could be.
And my eye came fixed on a planet red
And I thought that it winked at me.
Then I stared again at this planet red,
Set 'midst a million stars,
And I thrilled at the thought that came to me—
"By gosh, I had picked up Mars."

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Many a husband, in a family fight has been saved by the bell.—Judge.

"Did you persuade your husband to buy that new house?"

"Oh, yes, without half crying!"—Town Topics.

Young Wife—Oh, politics! politics! I'm fed up on the subject.

Hubby—Well, my love, that's one thing you can be fed upon without taking on weight.—Exchange.

"Smith was certainly unlucky in his divorce suit."

"Unlucky! How?"

"Well, he got the custody of the mother-in-law."—St. John Telegraph.

"You know that kiss you gave me last night?" said the fair girl.

"Yeh," he answered.

"Well, mother didn't like it."

"Huh! Mother didn't get it."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Ethyl—What a lovely fur coat you have on. Your husband must have a better job now.

Methyl—No, I have a better husband now.—Pathfinder.

Bingo—Rawkuss is a splendid talker, isn't he?

Stingo—One of the finest I ever escaped from.—The Pathfinder.

"Now, Johnny," said the Sunday school teacher after the lesson had been read, "which would you rather be, the wheat or the tares?"

"The tares," answered Johnny promptly.

"Why," said the teacher in surprise, "how canyo u say that, when you know the wheat represents the good and the tares the bad?"

"Oh, that's all right," replied the precocious youngster, "but the wheat gets thrashed and the tares don't."—Los Angeles Times.

KALEIDOSCOPE

Japan's land area is about that of the state of Montana.

Chimborazo, a volcanic peak in Ecuador, rises almost 21,000 feet above sea level.

None of the many schemes to dispel fog artificially has proved commercially practical.

The Maya race of old Mexico knew how to use gold and bronze, but reserved them chiefly for ornaments and used stone tools.

Minnesota has nearly 250,000 acres of public land still unappropriated, chiefly because the land is in lake regions and is low and swampy or subject to overflow.

In the 15 years between 1851 and 1866, the floods which altered the course of the Yellow river of China took the lives of more than 30,000,000 people through drowning or malnutrition.

Convict road camp workers on the Feather river highway struck gold near Oroville, Cal., recently. More than 160 convicts are spending their off hours and Sundays panning for the glittering metal, and some of the prisoners have been able to pan out as much as $1.75 an hour in their spare time.

Some football players keep in condition by chopping trees during the summer, but Jack Harper, Wesleyan star, kept fit chasing rare birds in Labrador. Harper was delayed in reporting when the party of scientists with which he was traveling became marooned in the ice floes. Although a fullback last year, Harper is being tried at guard this season.

An unusual burglar, Auguste Moesner, age 29, the man of 125 suits, was sentenced to prison in Paris. When police arrested him they found he had a wardrobe of 125 serviceable suits of clothes. Most of his income from robberies was spent to satisfy his passion for good clothes. He possessed 17 evening or full dress suits also and 11 opera cloaks, five opera hats and 114 silk shirts.

Few literary stocks have jumped in value as have the "Pickwick Papers," according to John Eckel, an American authority on Dickens. Eckel estimates that the value on the original copies of the "Posthumous Papers of the Pickwick Club" has increased $500 a year for the last 32 years. The last copy of the original was disposed of for $16,300 in New York. Richard Gimbel, Philadelphia, owns Parts II and III, regarded the most valuable of the set. He paid $2,300 for a corrected Part II and $1,000 for a Part III, reasonably priced in comparison to later sales.

ATTEMPTING WORLD RECORD FOR SUSTAINED FLIGHT

FRESNO, Cal., Nov. 25—(AP)—An Albatross monoplane, with Lee Schoenhair and John Guglielmetti taking turns at the controls, went aloft at 6:43 o'clock this morning in an attempt to make a new world record for sustained flight. Despite a total load weight of 7,650 pounds, the plane made an easy take-off.

REPORT OF MARRIAGE WITHOUT FOUNDATION

WESTERLY, R. I., Nov. 26.—The brief notice in Saturday morning's Bulletin announcing the marriage of Miss Winifred Prime and Meredith Lee of New London there appears to be no foundation. No one could be found in Bradford, R. I., where the wedding was reported to have taken place on November 13th, who knew the parties, or of their presence there.

WAGON OWNER PAID $25 BY UNIDENTIFIED DRIVER

WESTERLY, R. I., Nov. 26.—But one automobile accident was reported in the heavy volume of motor traffic over the week end of drivers attending the Yale-Harvard football game. Saturday morning at 9.35 a wagon of George James of Hopkinton was struck by a passing motorist near The Pines on the Nooseneck hill state highway. The operator paid Mr. James $25 for damages done and proceed on his way before the number of his machine or name was ascertained. Westerly Motorcycle Traffic Officer George L. Madison had the case reported to him.

JOLLIED STATE TROOPER CLAIMING HIS AGE 87

WESTERLY, R. I., Nov. 26.—Nearer Providence on the Nooseneck road Friday night an auto occupied by two men cut-in in front of a truck, was struck and driven down an embankment. The running gear and top of the auto were demolished, and the driver received a cut over the eye. To a state trooper who investigated the driver reported that he was responsible and covered by insurance and wished to proceed. The state trooper said that he would have to take a few measurements and incidentally stated that he had neglected to get his age. The driver replied that he had an engagement in New Haven that night, wanted to see the football game and was 87 years old. After his departure a bystander remarked that a jail could not hold such a man who wanted to see the football game as there would be danger of his breaking out.

The annual New England supper served in the vestry of the First Baptist church by the Women's Aid society Saturday was liberally patronized and by many from surrounding towns. The dozen or more tables were set and reset until more than 200 turkey dinners had been served between 5 and 7. The aid society members were assisted by members of the World Wide guild and Friendly league.

The South County Poultry and Pet Stock association brought its 17th annual exhibition in the state armory to a close Saturday night at 10 o'clock. While not the largest in the annals of the association the many specimens graded to a high average in respect to standard requirements for the various strains.

Fire alarms for Pawcatuck Fire district have been in process of transformation from an old to new system, in that the whistle on the printing press plant of the C. E. Cottrell & Sons company have been disconnected from the box telegraph system. By special arrangements, should a fire occur, the alarm can be sounded from telephone central. The new arrangement provides for a siren on the recently constructed fire station adjoining the Liberty street court house.

The following transfers have been recorded in the office of Westerly town clerk:

Nov. 23. Werrills Land co, Inc., to John Wucik, lot No. 179 Fairview park.

Nov. 23. Werrills Land co, Inc., to Katie Wucik, lot No. 170, Fairview park.

Nov. 23. Westerly Realty Co., to Domenico Albermonti, lot No. 45, plat of property of Charles Fontona, et al.

Nov. 23. Emma Croci and Joseuhine M. Monti, of Bradford, to Alexander Fasetti, the undivided one-half interest of the first named grantor and the undivided one-quarter interest of the second, in tract of land with building and improvements on the southeasterly side of Ledward avenue, bounded by lands of the town of Westerly.

No. 23. Adelaide V. Croci, by Emma Croci, guardian, one-fourth interest in above described tract of land and improvements.

George Elmer Leonard and Richard Mitchell have returned from a week's visit at their camp on Charlestown Pond with large amount of game. They report an excellent outing with game plentiful, although they would have been aided in their pursuit of rabbits by a heavier fall of snow than the several flurries while they were in camp.

Automobile and railroad traffic, both going and returning from the Yale-Harcard football game in New Haven Saturday exceeded all previous records. Ten special trains passed Westerly station from Boston and return, many being held for a few minutes by block signals. A special locomotive to be used in case of emergency was held at the Westerly freight yard.

The Westerly adjournment of the November term of Washington county superior court will come in at the superior court rooms here this (Monday) morning with the attendance of petit jurors. Associate Justice Arthur P. Sumner of Providence will be on the bench.

The attorney general's docket with two criminal cases for trial and one for sentence, with Third Assistant Attorney-General Louis V Jackvony representing the state, will be taken up before the Westerly calendar is called. The first case scheduled is that of Fred W. Bull, sheriff, against Herbert Waite and Clifford on two charges of breaking and entering. The second case listed for trial is State Police against William McTuck and Howard Milton on charges of breaking and entering a house on the Tower Hill road. Sentencing of Edward Liotta of Westerly for an assault committed last summer is also scheduled for this trial of superior court. Liotta shot and seriously wounded another man on Canal street during an argument over a dog.

WEDDING
Ostley-Hartridge

Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock Miss Doris Hartridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hartridge of Clark street, became the bride of Henry Clay Ostley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ostley of Carolina. They were married at Christ Episcopal church. Rev. G. Edgar Tobin performed the ceremony using the double ring service. The bride was given in marriage by her father. The bride was gowned in white satin with silk net veil caught with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Janice Hartt of Hartford, Conn., cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. Miss Aurelia McColl of Bradford was maid of honor. Both wore rose colored taffeta and carried roses. Wallace Beresford of Bradford was best man and the ushers were Roger Hartt of Hartford and Walter Krebs of Westerly. Mrs. Charles Larkin played Mendelssohn's Wedding March on the organ as the party entered. Miss Marion Schwenk, soprano, sang two solos during the ceremony. A reception was held at Peckham's Inn, after the ceremony. Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Oatley left on a wedding trip. They will be at home in Brooklyn, N. Y., after Dec. 1. The bride is a graduate of Westerly high school. Mr. Oatley is a graduate of Kingston college and is an electrical engineer in New York.

Charles E. Redford of New London was in Westerly Sunday to visit relatives and friends.

Miss Georgia True and Miss Mabel Cook of Providence were week end guests of Misses Elizabeth M. and Sarah J. Grant.

Judge William A. Wilcox was in Mystic Sunday.

President Frederick A. Whitford of Milton, Wis., college, and Mrs. Whitford were speakers on College Activities Saturday at the Seventh-day Baptist church.

Dr. Michael H. Scanlon and son John were in New Haven Saturday, attending the football game.

Oliver W. Stoddard drove a Westerly party to attend the Yale-Harvard football game.

John G. Hunter of Norwich and Miss Ruth Wilcox of Pawcatuck were motor visitors at the game in New Haven Saturday.

The condition of Arthur M. Mills, a patient with brian lesion at the Westerly hospital, remains unchanged.

Mrs. Albert H. Spicer left Saturday morning for a visit in Boston.

Burgess Bedtime Story

Buster Bear is Tempted

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

That mpted, you will always find,
Are lacking some in strength of mind.
—Old Mother Nature.

Buster Bear over in the Green Forest had become very uneasy. Here it was getting along toward winter and he was very far from having a satisfactory layer of fat under his black coat. He had counted on beechnuts to help make that layer of fat, and there had been no beechnuts, or almost none. He had counted on acorns to help make that layer of fat and acorns had been very scarce. So Buster Bear was uneasy and he muttered to himself in his deep, rumbly-grumbly voice:

"I don't know what I'm going to do. I walk around so much looking for beechnuts and acorns that I walk off the fat as fast as I put it on, and I shall have to look around for something else to eat."

So Buster began wandering far and wide. He went up on the big mountain and around it to the other side, far away from the Green Forest near Farmer Brown's. He is a good traveler, is Buster Bear, and he can go a long way in a comparatively short time. Buster was looking for some place where there were beechnuts or acorns, or both. He had no success. He would find a few here and a few there, but never enough in one place to fill him and so he kept looking. And all the while he was hungry.

It happened one night that he came to the edge of a small farm. Buster as a rule sticks to the woods. He comes out in the open fields after berries sometimes, but as a rule Buster wants to be where he is out of sight. So it isn't often that he leaves the shelter of the trees. This time when he came to the edge of the open fields of the little farm he started to go around, keeping just in the edge of the woods. At one point it was only a short distance from the edge of the woods to a pen made of logs. It was a pigpen. Buster stood on the edge of the woods and looked over toward that pigpen. He could smell those pigs. As a matter of fact, it didn't take a nose as good as Buster's to smell those pigs. Now Buster had never tasted pig. In fact, he had never been tempted to taste pig, for over in the Green Forest there were no pigs, and over in the Green Forest he had had always plenty to eat without venturing out into farmyards. But Buster knew, without ever having tasted, that pig made very good eating. So now he was tempted. He heard a little grunt and a faint SQUEEREE at squeal over there in the pigpen. It was very early in the morning and the pigs were just beginning to stir.

Buster listened. And the more he listened, and the more he smelled, the more he was tempted to steal one of those pigs. "I've got to have something filling before long," said Buster to himself. "The first thing I know Jack Frost will be bringing ice and snow and I'll have to go to sleep for the winter. I can't sleep in anything like comfort unless I get some fat on me. I wonder how many pigs there are over in that pen. I wonder if it would be safe for me to go and take a peep at them."

Buster stood up and looked long and hard over toward the little farmhouse. There was no one stirring there. There was no smoke coming from the chimney yet. Then Buster looked long and hard at the pigpen. He approached that pen from a certain point the bars would be between the pen and the house. Buster went around to that certain point. Then he stood up and looked again. He couldn't see the house, so of course no one at the house could see him. Slowly he dropped down to all four feet. Then he began to walk straight toward that pigpen.

"I'll just have a look at those pigs, that's all," grumbled Buster.

POETRY FOR THE WIDE AWAKES
Pittypat and Tippytoe

All day long they come and go—
Pittypat and Tippytoe:
Footprints up and down the hall,
Playthings scattered on the floor,
Finger marks along the wall,
Telltale smudges on the door—
By these presents you shall know
Pittypat and Tippytoe.

How they plot at their play!
And a dozen times a day
In they troop, demanding bread—
Only buttered bread will do.
And that butter must be spread
Inches thick with sugar, too!
And I never can say: "No,
Pittypat and Tippytoe."

Sometimes there are griefs to soothe,
Sometimes ruffled brows to smooth;
For (I much regret to say)
Tippytoe and Pittypat
Sometimes interrupt their play
With an internecine spat.
Fie, for shame! to quarrel so—
Pittypat and Tippytoe!

Oh, the thousand worrying things,
Every day recurrent brings!
Hands to scrub and hair to brush,
Search for playthings gone amiss,
Many a wee complaint to hush,
Many a little bump to kiss
Life seems one vain, fleeting show
To Pittypat and Tippytoe!

And when day is at an end
There are little duds to mend;
Little frocks are strangely worn,
Little shoes great holes reveal;
Little hose, but one day worn,
Rudely yawn at toe and heel!
Who but you could work such woe
Pittypat and Tippytoe?

But when comes this thought to me:
"Some there are that childless be."
Stealing to their little beds,
With a love I cannot speak,
Tenderly I stroke their heads—
Fondly kiss each velvet cheek,
God help those who do not know
A Pittypat or Tippytoe!

On the floor and down the hall,
Rudely smutched upon the wall,
"There are proofs in every kind
Of the havoc they have wrought,
And upon my heart you'd find
Just such trademarks, if you sought
Oh, how glad I am 'tis so,
Pittypat and Tippytoe!

—Eugene Field, in "Poems."

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE AWAKES

Raising ponies for the market is one of the industries of North Carolina. This industry is largely confined to what are called the North Carolina Banks. When young colts, the "banks" ponies are branded by their owners, freed on the desolate wide lands of the banks, and left to wring from the country such subsistence as they can. In summer, they live mainly on the tough, wiry grasses that grow on the level spaces between the great, sprawling sand dunes; and in winter they dig up and eat such roots as are to be had. Life during the cold weather months is much of an ordeal for the ponies.

Stern necessity long ago taught the little animals to dig holes in the sand to obtain fresh water, when the usual supply failed; and they have learned in many other ways to meet the peculiar difficulties of their environment. For instance, when a howling nor'easter descends furiously upon the banks, driving sleet or biting cold rain before it, the banks ponies huddle together in a close circle, their heads all pointing toward the center of the group. Then, one by one, they change places in a systematic way, so that no individual pony will be exposed to the full force of the storm for more than a few minutes at a time.

In meeting the exigencies of their struggle for survival the small animals go about in herds, maintaining a semblance of community life and meeting perils and hardships with a skill that is almost uncanny. At various times in the year, governed largely by the demand for them, the fully grown ponies are rounded up by their owners, and the difficult task of breaking them to harness and the saddle is begun. The ponies are immensely intelligent, but most of them have a streak of devilry that complicates the process of teaching them to work for man. It is even necessary to teach them to eat corn, ordinarily a staple article of equine diet. This is usually accomplished by stabling them with horses already accustomed to it, and letting them learn by the example thus set.

Many of the banks ponies are owned on Roanoke Island, a scant three or four miles from the coastal island chain, and when they are taken to the island, according to the folk there, they must be kept penned up for weeks, else they will go unerringly to the east shore and swim across Roanoke Sound to their former homeland. Inured to hardships beyond those which an ordinary horse could stand the banks ponies are noted far and wide for their strength and endurance, and are in constant demand for that reason.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE AWAKES.

Herbert Hoover.

Dear Uncle Jed and the Wide Awakes: I am writing a story about Herbert Hoover. Before Iowa had become a rich home of the homes and schoolhouses, a little boy lived happily with his parents, a brother, and a sister in a house of two rooms in West Branch. Barefooted, the boys played around their father's blacksmith shop. Today Mr. Hoover laughs about the "Iowa scar" he still carries, made by stepping on a hot iron chip from the anvil. They fished and swam in Wapsinonon creek, played Indian in the woods with real bows and arrows which some Indians had made for them.

On Sunday they all went to the Quaker meeting house and sat quietly through the long hours. Mr. Hoover loved to hear his mother tell of God's goodness and care for all His children.

When Mr. Hoover was six years old his father died. His mother sewed for the neighbors and preached nearly every Sunday. The minister did not receive a salary but sometimes there were gifts of food. Bert wore patched clothes and did all he could to help his mother who was not strong. But after a time she was too ill to go on. When she was dying, she prayed for a blessing on the town of West Branch and upon the children she must leave.

So Bert, nine years old, with no father, no mother, no home, went to live with his Uncle Allen and Aunt Minnie on an Iowa farm. He was always making things. Once he made a mowing machine out of two buggy wheels, some boards and a cross-cut saw. He hitched a calf to it and call his uncle and aunt to see it work. The calf went off and the machine crashed into an old apple tree. But the boy was trying to construct something and he knew that some day he would succeed if he kept trying.

His teacher said he wasn't the smartest boy in school, but his lessons were well prepared. Whether he played, studied or worked, he always did his best.

After a while he was sent to Oregon to live with another uncle on a farm. When he was thirteen he began to make his own living and work his own way through school. He studied geology, mining, and engineering at Leland Stanford university. After college he worked as a miner for a time, but this boy who was never satisfied till he had learned all he could about any subject, he was such a good engineer that he was soon called to many places in the world to direct great construction works.

Herbert Hoover was in London when the world war began. He began at once making plans. He aided one hundred-sixty thousand Americans who were in England at that time to return to their homes in America. Then our government asked him to take charge of the food supplies for our soldiers and the allies. During all those dreadful years Mr. Hoover served the world without salary, paid his own expenses and made large gifts beside.

Mr. Hoover will be our next president. He is a man who can teach us how to make and save money because he has done so himself. He is a man who loves our constitution and says he will keep it safe. He is a man who does not drink intoxicants and promises to enforce this law.

Armistice Day.

Dear Uncle Jed: As we observe Armistice day, for the first time as a legal holiday, our thoughts turn to the eleventh day of November, 1918. The morning was clear and cold. The Argonne offensive had been in progress. There was the most intense anxiety in millions of homes. And then came the glad news! The guns had boomed for the last time. Our lads were coming home! Many went to France who will sleep there until the resurrection morn.

More came back ill or crippled. Some have spent all these years in veterans' hospitals. But a great majority of America's soldiers of the World war returned safe.

Touched with sadness at the hour of 11, as we recall those who died and those who mourn, Armistice day nevertheless is a day of thanksgiving. It is not a day of merry-making but a time for reconsecration.

It is a long time since I have written to you, and my little friends, the Wide Awake children. I hope that you will all take pleasure in reading my story.

My Terrible Fright.

Dear Uncle Jed: I haven't written to you for a long time and hope that you and the Wide Awakes circle will enjoy my story.

One evening as the sun was setting I was sent to the neighbors to get two ducks. On my way back something which looked like a figure of a man was standing in my path. I turned and ran the opposite direction, reaching home on a roundabout way.

The next morning on my way to school the terrible figure which I had seen the night before proved to be a tree stump that I had seen dozens of times before.

Autumn.

Dear Uncle: Autumn is here. How cold the days are getting! The days are becoming shorter, too, because the sun is setting earlier each day. September, October and November are the autumn months.

Autumn is the harvest season. Now the farmers gather into the barns the grain and fruit and vegetables. The birds are leaving for the warm south. They will come back to the parks in the spring.

The leaves of the trees have taken on many beautiful colors. The leaves will soon fall and all the flowers go to sleep. The plants and the flowers do not die. They got to rest. The earth has done her work and is glad now to rest until spring.

A Good Time.

Dear Uncle Jed: Last year in November a friend of mine came to our house on Friday night. He asked my mother if he could take me to my sister's house. My mother did not want to let him take me at first. After she had thought it over she said I might go. It did not take me long to dress because I wanted to go very much. When we got to my sister's house we had our supper and then played a game of checkers.

The next day all the coast guards were going to drill with the boat and beach cart. The week passed quickly. Thursday was Thanksgiving and we were going to have a Thanksgiving dinner. I watched my sister set the table. She did not see me and thought nobody was around. I saw her take from the bureau drawer a thirteen inch canoe with three Indians on four paddles. The canoe was painted red, black and orange. The paddles were painted orange and the Indians had bir feathers in their heads, hair and fur around their stomachs. My sister put them at my place. Then she took out a box of dominoes and set them near the canoe. When we sat down I said "Who are those things for?" S told me that they were for me. After dinner I played with the boat. I have ad a lot of good times with my boat since.

Our Fright

Uncle Jed: While walking home from Grandma's, Gladys and I were urged by Mary, our school chum, to stop at her house.

We began to tell ghost stories. Not one of us noticed how dark it was getting, or what time it was, until Gladys said, "Helen, it is half past seven and look how dark it is growing." Mary offered to walk a little way, but we said it was of no need.

When we were at last outside, Gladys whispered, "Helen, let's take the short cut over the hill." I had no suggestion to give, so we started to walk very fast. Not one of us talked because we were both thinking about the ghost stories. Then I said, "Gladys, let's sing," but before I could say anything else we heard a noise which sounded like, O-O-O-O. We all stood still for a moment not knowing what to do. Then I screamed, "Run, Gladys, run!" So we started to run very fast.

Barely had we stopped when we heard a flapping of wings overheard. We looked and to our surprise it was only an owl.

My Trip on the Mohawk

Dear Uncle Jed: This story is about the Mohawk Trail which I saw on Sunday.

One Sunday morning about six o'clock my mother, brother, grandmother, Kenneth Thompson and I started out for the Mohawk Trail in our car. The Mohawk Trail started at Greenfield. There you could look away and see the Berkshires. When we reached the top of the foothills we came to an observation tower.

I climbed it with my brother and Kenneth. At the top were spy glasses to look off with. We had a view of four states, they were Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Hampshire and Vermont.

We saw many other things, some of which were Cold River bridge, Catamount, Mt. Deerfield river, Deerfield valley and Deerfield bridge.

At one place we stopped and bought some souvenir folders and then we drove on.

The next place we stopped at was Whitcomb Summit. There was an observation tower over 172 feet high. My grandmother, brother, Kenneth and I climbed this tower.

From there we went to Hair Pin curve, a place on our return trip. We climbed an observation tower there but it was not very high. We went feet high. I ate some lunch and I wrote some post cards to my friends up Jacobs Ladder which was 250. We passed many other beautiful landscapes before reaching home at 7:15 p. m.

The Fox That Lost His Tail.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you. Once upon a time a fox lost his tail in a trap. Seeing that the people laughed at him he thought that if he could persuade the other foxes to cut off their tails he would not be laughed at. So one day he called a meeting and said, "Friends, I have felt much better since I lost my tail. I do not have to drag it all day."

But one sly old fox said "Why do you wish us to cut off our tails my friend?" Then he said to the other members, "Friends he has lost his tail and wants us to cut off ours foolishly."

A Surprise

Uncle Jed: A surprise for my mother.

One day in summer my sister and I went in the woods for flowers. While we were picking, suddenly we heard a noise in the leaves.

We were walking quietly, that we could see what it was. It was a rabbit. My brother had his gun and shot the rabbit. My mother was very glad to see us bring flowers and also a rabbit.

My Kitten

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my second letter to the Wide Awake circle, telling about my kitten. Last summer I had a sweet little kitten. It was as white as snow. It had blue eyes and a pretty pink mouth. I called him Snowball.

One day while I was crocheting he came and began to pull my yarn. Before I found out he had it, it was all tangled up. When I wanted to scold him he looked at me as though he wanted to play.

Bad Luck

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about a terrible disaster that happened to a girl in our school. She was jumping over a barbed wire fence and her foot caught in the barbs. She tore her flesh very badly. She got up and limped to school. The teacher sent for the doctor by telephone.

The doctor came and took the girl home. She had three stitches taken in her leg.

The boys and girls sent letters to her, telling her that we were sorry that she had been hurt.

She is back now and well, of which you may be sure that we are very glad of.

I will close, hoping that you and the Wide Awakes will enjoy my story.

MERCHANTS ARE EXPECTING RECORD VOLUME OF TRADE FOR THE HOLIDAYS

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Industry and trade have approached the holiday season in highly satisfactory fashion this fall, with the seasonal decline in most major industries surprisingly slight, and the few laggards showing further improvement. Reports for the past week indicate that holiday trade is starting up earlier than usual, and merchants look for a record volume.

The credit situation, which was regarded as rather alarming a few months ago, has had but a negligible effect upon business despite the higher rates. The threatened building decline has failed to materialize, and the industry seems assured of a record year. Credit has been more abundant with the passing of the peak of the autumn requirements despite the frenzied stock speculation of recent weeks. Federal reserve banks in the past week were able to reduce their indebtedness at the reserve institutions, and new financing during the week increased sharply.

Some further stringency is looked for next week, however, as the holiday requirements begin to be felt. The gold movement has again turned away from the United States, with a premium of the Canadian dollar and a rise in sterling exchange, but the outgoing movement is expected to be small.

Textiles continued to improve. Cotton mill activity in October was reported as almost up to the same month of last year. Holiday requirements have in some cases exceeded expectations. Rayon production was increased to a new high level last week. The coal industry gave further indications of emerging from its protracted slump.

Steel mills last week continued to maintain operations above 80 per cent. of capacity, which is unusually high for this time of year. Although having fell off a little in the previous week. I picked up again last week. The "Iron Age" composite price for pig iron was advanced for the 10th time in three months. The automotive industry lagged a little pending the switching to new lines for next year, but still promised the highest production for the year on record.

The oil and copper industries gave tangible evidence of their marked improvement through declaration of a number of extra dividends. Hardwood lumber was more active, but softwood felt a seasonal lag. The lumber industry on the Pacific coast agreed to a curtailment program to avoid overproduction next year. The shoe industry also reported a seasonal slump but the hide market made further improvement.

Crops rather generally felt the effects of unfavorable weather. Rain and cold interfered with cotton picking and rain and snow hindered corn husking in the west central areas. Winter wheat was damaged in some areas by floods. Cotton prices improved, however, and there was better demand for corn. Cattle and hog prices were depressed at Chicago by large supplies, hogs bringing the lowest prices since February.

Freight car loadings were maintained well above the like period of last year, indicating a good distribution of merchandise. Failures during the week increased somewhat over the previous week, and over the like week of last year, allowing for the Thanksgiving holiday. Bank clearings approached the record figures of last April.

WALL STREET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Officials of the Consolidated Instrument company of America announced today negotiations were nearing completion for acquisition of one of the oldest meteorological and airport instrument manufacturing concerns in this country. Consolidated Instrument company recently opened a large laboratory here.

Proceeds from an issue of $10,000,000 Public Service company of Northern Illinois first lien and refunding mortgage 4 1-2 per cent bonds, Series D, will be used to enlarge the company's steam generating plant, refund more than $2,000,000 in underlying onds and build additions to gas and electric facilities. The steam plant is located at Waukegan, Ill.

Acceleration in sales of electrical equipment is noticeable in most sections of the country, with the demand somewhat more active in the west than in the eastern districts, Electrical World reports. Industrial and construction activity is reflected in orders placed in the middle west and on the Pacific coast. Demand for marine equipment has been a feature in the east. Indications favor a satisfactory volume business in the south for the remainder of the year.

Bond financing this week is expected to include $6,000,000 Keystone Water Works and Electric corporation first lien 5 1-2 per cent. gold bonds, Series B, due Nov. 1, 1948. The company serves 94 cities and towns in Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Arkansas with electric power and light or water and 27 cities and towns in Georgia, North Carolina and Kentucky with ice.

PUTNAM & CO.

We offer:

CONNECTICUT RAILWAY & LIGHTING

First and Refunding Mortgage Gold 4½s, January, 1951

REPORT OF MARRIAGE WITHOUT FOUNDATION

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., Nov. 26.—The brief notice in Saturday morning's Bulletin announcing the marriage of Miss Winifred Prime and Meredith Lee of New London there appears to be no foundation. No one could be found in Bradford, R. I., where the wedding was reported to have taken place on November 13th, who knew the parties, or of their presence there.

WAGON OWNER PAID $25 BY UNIDENTIFIED DRIVER

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., Nov. 26.—But one automobile accident was reported in the heavy volume of motor traffic over the week end of drivers attending the Yale-Harvard football game, Saturday morning at 9.35 a wagon of George James of Hopkinton was struck by a passing motorist near The Pines on the Nooseneck hill state highway. The operator paid Mr. James $25 for damages done and proceeded on his way before the number of his machine or name was ascertained. Westerly Motorcycle Traffic Officer George L. Madison had the case reported to him.

JOLLIED STATE TROOPER CLAIMING HIS AGE 87

WESTERLY, R. I., Nov. 25.—Nearer Providence on the Nooseneck road Friday night an auto occupied by two men cut-in in front of a truck, was struck and driven down an embankment. The running gear and top of the auto were demolished, and the driver received a cut over the eye. To a state trooper who investigated the driver reported that he was responsible and covered by insurance and wished to proceed. The state trooper said that he would have to take a few measurements and incidentally stated that he had neglected to get his age. The driver replied that he had an engagement in New Haven that night, wanted to see the football game and was 87 years old. After his departure a bystander remarked that a jail could not hold such a man who wanted to see the football game as there would be danger of his breaking out.

The annual New England supper served in the vestry of the First Baptist church by the Women's Aid society Saturday was liberally patronized and by many from surrounding towns. The dozen or more tables were set and reset until more than 200 turkey dinners had been served between 5 and 7. The aid society members were assisted by members of the World Wide guild and Friendly league.

The South County Poultry and Pet Stock association brought its 17th annual exhibition in the state armory to a close Saturday night at 10 o'clock. While not the largest in the annals of the association the many specimens graded to a high average in respect to standard requirements for the various strains.

Fire alarms for Pawcatuck Fire district have been in process of transformation from an old to new system, in that the whistle on the printing press plant of the C. B. Cottrell & Sons company have been disconnected from the box telegraph system. By special arrangements, should a fire occur, the alarm can be sounded from telephone central. The new arrangement provides for a siren on the recently constructed fire station adjoining the Liberty street court house.

The following transfers have been recorded in the office of Westerly town clerk:

Nov. 23. Werrills Land co, Inc., to John Wucik, lot No. 179 Fairview park.

Nov. 23. Werrills Land co, Inc., to Katie Wucik, lot No. 170, Fairview park.

Nov. 23. Westerly Realty Co., to Domenico Albermonti, lot No. 45, plat of property of Charles Fontona, et al.

Nov. 23. Emma Croci and Joseuhine M. Monti, of Bradford, to Alexander Pasetti, the undivided one-half interest of the first named grantor and the undivided one-quarter interest of the second, in tract of land with building and improvements on the southeasterly side of Ledward avenue, bounded by lands of the town of Westerly.

No. 23. Adelaide V. Croci, by Emma Croci, guardian, one-fourth interest in above described tract of land and improvements.

George Elmer Leonard and Richard Mitchell have returned from a week's visit at their camp on Charlestown Pond with large amount of game. They report an excellent outing with game plentiful, although they would have been aided in their pursuit of rabbits by a heavier fall of snow than the several flurries while they were in camp.

Automobile and railroad traffic, both going and returning from the Yale-Harvard football game in New Haven Saturday exceeded all previous records. Ten special trains passed Westerly station from Boston and returning being held for a few minutes by block signals. A special locomotive to be used in case of emergency was held at the Westerly freight yard.

The Westerly adjournment of the November term of Washington county superior court will come in at the superior court rooms here this (Monday) morning with the attendance of petit jurors. Associate Justice Arthur P. Sumner of Providence will be on the bench.

The attorney general's docket with two criminal cases for trial and one for sentence, with Third Assistant Attorney-General Louis V Jackvony representing the state, will be taken up before the Westerly calendar is called. The first case scheduled is that of Fred W. Bird, sheriff, against Herbert Waite and Clifford on two charges of breaking and entering. The second case listed for trial is State Police against William McFuck and Howard Million on charges of breaking and entering a house on the Tower Hill road. Sentencing of Edward Liotta of Westerly for an assault committed last summer is also scheduled for this trial of superior court. Liotta shot and seriously wounded another man on Canal street during an argument over a dog.

WEDDING

Oatley-Hartridge

Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock Miss Doris Hartridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hartridge of Clark street, became the bride of Henry Clay Oatley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Oatley of Carolina. They were married at Christ Episcopal church. Rev. G. Edgar Tobin performed the ceremony using the double ring service. The bride was given in marriage by her father. The bride was gowned in white satin with silk net veil caught with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Janice Hartt of Hartford, Conn., cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. Miss Aurelia McColl of Bradford was maid of honor. Both wore rose colored taffeta and carried roses. Wallace Beresford of Bradford was best man and the ushers were Roger Hartt of Hartford, and Walter Krebs of Westerly. Mrs. Charles Larkin played Mendelssohn's Wedding March on the organ as the party entered. Miss Marion Schwenk, soprano, sang two solos during the ceremony. A reception was held at Peckham's Inn, after the ceremony. Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Oatley left on a wedding trip. They will be at home in Brooklyn, N. Y., after Dec. 1. The bride is a graduate of Westerly high school. Mr. Oatley is a graduate of Kingston college and is an electrical engineer in New York.

Charles E. Redford of New London was in Westerly Sunday to visit relatives and friends.

Miss Georgia True and Miss Mabel Cook of Providence were week end guests of Misses Elizabeth M. and Sarah J. Grant.

Judge William A. Wilcox was in Matunuck Sunday.

President Frederick A. Whitford of Milton, Wis., college, and Mrs. Whitford were speakers on College Activities Saturday at the Seventh-day Baptist church.

Dr. Michael H. Scanlon and son John, were in New Haven Saturday, attending the football game.

Oliver W. Stoddard drove a Westerly party to attend the Yale-Harvard football game.

John G. Hunter of Norwich and Miss Ruth Wilcox of Pawcatuck were motor visitors at the game in New Haven Saturday.

The condition of Arthur M. Mills, a patient with brian lesion at the Westerly hospital, remains unchanged.

Mrs. Albert H. Spicer left Saturday morning for a visit in Boston.

Burgess Bedtime Story

Buster Bear is Tempted

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Thet mpted, you will always find,
Are lacking some in strength of mind.
—Old Mother Nature.

Buster Bear over in the Green Forest had become very uneasy. Here it was getting along toward winter and he was very far from having a satisfactory layer of fat under his black coat. He had counted on beechnuts to help make that layer of fat and there had been no beechnuts, or almost none. He had counted on acorns to help make that layer of fat and acorns had been very scarce. So Buster Bear was uneasy and he muttered to himself in his deep, rumbly-grumbly voice:

"I don't know what I'm going to do. I walk around so much looking for beechnuts and acorns that I walk off the fat as fast as I put it on. I shall have to look around for something else to eat."

So Buster began wandering far and wide. He went up on the big mountain and across it to the other side, far away from the Green Forest near Farmer Brown's. He is a good traveler, is Buster Bear, and he can go a long way in a comparatively short time. Buster was looking for some place where there were beechnuts or acorns, or both. He had no luck or success. He would find a few here and a few there, but never enough in any place to fill him. So he kept looking. And all the while he was hungry.

It happened one night that he came to the edge of a small farm. Buster as a rule sticks to the woods. He comes out in the open fields after berries sometimes, but as a rule Buster wants to be where he is out of sight. So it isn't often that he leaves the shelter of the trees. This time when he came to the edge of the open fields of this little farm he started to go around, keeping just in the edge of the woods. At one point it was only a short distance from the edge of the woods to a pen made of logs. It was a pigpen. Buster stood on the edge of the woods and looked over toward that pigpen. He could smell those pigs. As a matter of fact, it didn't take a nose as good as Buster's to smell those pigs. Now Buster had never tasted pig. In fact, he had never been tempted to taste pig, for over in the Green Forest there were no pigs, and over in the Green Forest he had had always plenty to eat without venturing out into farmyards. But Buster knew, without ever having tasted, that pig made very good eating. So now he was tempted. He heard a little grunt and a faint squeal over there in the pigpen. It was very early in the morning and the pigs were just beginning to stir.

Buster listened. And the more he listened, and them ore he smelled, the more he was tempted to steal one of those pigs. "I've got to have something filling before long," said Buster to himself. "The first thing I know Jack Frost will be bringing ice and snow and I'll have to go to sleep for the winter. I can't sleep in anything like comfort unless I get some fat on me. I wonder how many pigs there are over in that pen. I wonder if it would be safe for me to go and take a peep at them."

Buster stood up and looked long and hard over toward the little farmhouse. There was no one stirring there. There was no smoke coming from the chimney yet. Then Buster looked long and hard at the pigpen. It he approached that pen from a certain point the bars would be between the pen and the house. Buster went around to that certain point. Then he stood up and looked again. He couldn't see the house, so of course no one at the house could see him. Slowly he dropped down to all four feet. Then he began to walk straight toward that pigpen. "I'll just have a look at those pigs, that's all," grumbled Buster.

POETRY FOR THE WIDE AWAKES

Pittypat and Tippytoe

All day long they come and go—
Pittypat and Tippytoe!
Footprints up and down the hall,
Playthings scattered on the floor,
Finger marks along the wall,
Telltale smudges on the door—
By these presents you shall know
Pittypat and Tippytoe.

How they riot at their play!
And a dozen times a day
In they troop, demanding bread—
Only buttered bread will do.
And that butter must be spread
Inches thick with sugar, too!
And I never can say: "No,
Pittypat and Tippytoe."

Sometimes there are griefs to soothe,
Sometimes ruffled brows to smooth;
For (I much regret to say)
Tippytoe and Pittypat
Sometimes interrupt their play
With an internecine spat.
Fie, for shame! to quarrel so—
Pittypat and Tippytoe!

Oh, the thousand worrying things,
Every day recurrent brings!
Hands to scrub and hair to brush,
Search for playthings gone amiss,
Many a wee complaint to hush,
Many a little bump to kiss
Life seems one vain, fleeting show
To Pittypat and Tippytoe!

And when day is at an end
There are little duds to mend;
Little frocks are strangely worn,
Little shoes great holes reveal;
Little hose but one day worn,
Rudely yawn at toe and heel!
Who but you could work such woe
Pittypat and Tippytoe?

But when comes this thought to me:
"Some there are that childless be,"
Stealing to their little beds,
With a love I cannot speak,
Tenderly I stroke their heads—
Fondly kiss each velvet cheek.
God help those who do not know
A Pittypat or Tippytoe!

On the floor and down the hall,
Rudely snatched upon the wall,
There are proofs in every kind
Of the havoc they have wrought,
And upon my heart you'd find
Just such trademarks, if you sought
Oh, how glad I am 'tis so,
Pittypat and Tippytoe!
—Eugene Field, in "Poems."

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE AWAKES

Raising ponies for the market is one of the industries of North Carolina. This industry is largely confined to what are called the North Carolina Banks. When young colts, the "banks" ponies are branded by their owners, freed on the desolate waste lands of the banks, and left to wring from the country such subsistence as they can. In summer, they live mainly on the tough, wiry grasses that grow on the level spaces between the great, sprawling sand dunes; and in winter they dig up and eat such roots as are to be had. Life during the cold weather months is much of an ordeal for the ponies.

Stern necessity long ago taught the little animals to dig holes in the sand to obtain fresh water, when the usual supply failed; and they have learned in many other ways to meet the peculiar difficulties of their environment. For instance, when a howling nor'easter descends furiously upon the banks, driving sleet or biting cold rain before it, the banks ponies huddle together in a close circle, their heads all pointing toward the center of the group. Then, one by one, they change places in a systematic way, so that no individual pony will be exposed to the full force of the storm for more than a few minutes at a time.

In meeting the exigencies of their struggle for survival the small animals go about in herds, maintaining a semblance of community life and meeting perils and hardships with a skill that is almost uncanny. At various times in the year, governed largely by the demand for them, the fully grown ponies are rounded up by their owners, and the difficult task of breaking them to harness and the saddle is begun. The ponies are immensely intelligent, but most of them have a streak of deviltry that complicates the process of teaching them to work for man. It is even necessary to teach them to eat corn ordinarily a staple article of equine diet. This is usually accomplished by stabling them with horses already accustomed to it, and letting them learn by the example thus set.

Many of the banks ponies are owned on Roanoke Island, a scant three or four miles from the coastal island chain, and when they are taken to the island, according to the folk there, they must be kept penned up for weeks, else they will go unerringly to the east shore and swim across Roanoke Sound to their former homeland. Inured to hardships beyond those which an ordinary horse could stand, the banks ponies are noted far and wide for their strength and endurance, and are in constant demand for that reason.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE AWAKES.

Herbert Hoover.

Dear Uncle Jed and the Wide Awakes: I am writing a story about Herbert Hoover. Before Iowa had become a rich state of fine homes and schoolhouses, a little boy lived happily with his parents, a brother, and a sister in a house of two rooms in West Branch. Barefooted, the boys played around their father's blacksmith shop. Today Mr. Hoover laughs about the "Iowa scar" he still carries, made by stepping on a hot iron chip from the anvil. They fished and swam in Wapsinonon creek, played Indian in the woods with real bows and arrows which some Indians had made for them.

On Sunday they all went to the Quaker meeting house and sat quietly through the long hours. Mr. Hoover loved to hear his mother tell of God's goodness and care for all His children.

When Mr. Hoover was six years old his father died. His mother sewed for the neighbors and preached nearly every Sunday. The minister did not receive a salary but sometimes there were gifts of food. Bert wore patched clothes and did all he could to help his mother who was not strong. But after a time she was too ill to go on. When she was dying, she prayed for a blessing on the town of West Branch and upon the children she must leave.

So Bert, nine years old, with no father, no mother, no home, went to live with his Uncle Allen and Aunt Minnie on an Iowa farm. He was always making things. Once he made a mowing machine out of two buggy wheels, some boards and a cross-cut saw. He hitched a calf to it and call his uncle and aunt to see it work. The calf went off and the machine crashed into an old apple tree. But the boy was trying to construct something and he knew that some day he would succeed if he kept trying.

His teacher said he wasn't the smartest boy in school, but his lessons were well prepared. Whether he played, studied or worked, he always did his best.

After a while he was sent to Oregon to live with another uncle on a farm. When he was thirteen he began to make his own living and work his own way through school. He studied geology, mining, and engineering at Leland Stanford university. After college he worked as a miner for a time, but this boy who was never satisfied till he had learned all he could about any subject, he was such a good engineer that he was soon called to many places in the world to direct great construction works.

Herbert Hoover was in London when the world war began. He began at once making plans. He aided one hundred-sixty thousand Americans who were in England at that time to return to their homes in America. Then our government asked him to take charge of the food supplies for our soldiers and the allies. During all those dreadful years Mr. Hoover served the world without salary, paid his own expenses and made large gifts beside.

Mr. Hoover will be our next president. He is a man who can teach us how to make and save money because he has done so himself. He is a man who loves our constitution and says he will keep it safe. He is a man who does not drink intoxicants and promises to enforce this law.

MARTHA BABCOCK. Age 15.

Armistice Day.

Dear Uncle Jed: As we observe Armistice day, for the first time as a legal holiday, our thoughts turn to the eleventh day of November, 1918. The morning was clear and cold. The Argonne offensive had been in progress. There was the most intense anxiety in millions of homes. And then came the glad news! The guns had boomed for the last time. Our lads were coming home! Many went to France who will sleep there until the resurrection morn.

More came back ill or crippled. Some have spent all these years in veterans' hospitals. But a great majority of America's soldiers of the World war returned safe.

Touched with sadness at the hour of 11, as we recall those who died and those who mourn, Armistice day nevertheless is a day of thanksgiving. It is not a day of merry-making but a time for reconsecration.

It is a long time since I have written to you, and my little friends, the Wide Awake children. I hope that you will all take pleasure in reading my story.

HELEN B. RIOUX,

My Terrible Fright.

Dear Uncle Jed: I haven't written to you for a long time and hope that you and the Wide Awakes circle will enjoy my story.

One evening as the sun was setting I was sent to the neighbors to get two ducks. On my way back something which looked like a figure of a man was standing in my path. I turned and ran the opposite direction, reaching home on a round-about way.

The next morning on my way to school the terrible figure which I had seen the night before proved to be a tree stump that I had seen dozens of times before.

FANNIE WEBER. Age 11.

Autumn.

Dear Uncle: Autumn is here. How cold the days are getting! The days are becoming shorter, too, because the sun is setting earlier each day. September, October and November are the autumn months.

Autumn is the harvest season. Now the farmers gather into the barns the grain and fruit and vegetables. The birds are leaving for the warm south. They will come back to the parks in the spring.

The leaves of the trees have taken on many beautiful colors. The leaves will soon fall and all the flowers go to sleep. The plants and the flowers do not die. They got to rest. The earth has done her work and is glad now to rest until spring.

A Good Time.

Dear Uncle Jed: Last year in November a friend of mine came to our house on Friday night. He asked my mother if he could take me to my sister's house. My mother did not want to let him take me at first. After she had thought it over she said I might go. It did not take me long to dress because I wanted to go very much. When we got to my sister's house we had our supper and then played a game of checkers.

The next day all the coast guards were going to drill with the boat and beach carts. The week passed quickly. Thursday was Thanksgiving and we were going to have a Thanksgiving dinner. I watched my sister set the table. She did not see me and thought nobody was around. I saw her take from the bureau drawer a thirteen inch canoe with three Indians an dfour paddles. The canoe was painted red, black and orange. The paddles were painted orange and the Indians had big feathers in their heads, hair and fur around their stomachs. My sister put them at my place. Then she took out a box of dominoes and set them near the canoe. When we sat down I said "Who are those things for?" S. told me that they were for me. After dinner I played with the boat. I have ad a lot of good times with my boat since.

Our Fright

Uncle Jed: While walking home from Grandma's, Gladys and I were urged by Mary, our school chum, to stop at her house.

We began to tell ghost stories. Not one of us noticed how dark it was getting, or what time it was, until Gladys said, "Helen, it is half past seven and look how dark it is growing." Mary offered to walk a little way, but we said it was of no need.

When we were at last outside, Gladys whispered, "Helen, let's take the short cut over the hill." I had no suggestion to give, so we started to walk very fast. Not one of us talked because we were both thinking about the ghost stories. Then I said, "Gladys, let's sing," but before I could say anything else we heard a noise which sounded like. O-O-O-O. We all stood still for a moment not knowing what to do. Then I screamed, "Run, Gladys, run!" So we started to run very fast.

Barely had we stopped when we heard a flapping of wings overheard. We looked and to our surprise it was only an owl.

My Trip on the Mohawk

Dear Uncle Jed: This story is about the Mohawk Trail which I saw on Sunday.

One Sunday morning about six o'clock my mother, brother, grandmother, Kenneth Thompson and I started out for the Mohawk Trail in our car. The Mohawk Trail started at Greenfield. There you could look away and see the Berkshires. When we reached the top of the foothills we came to an observation tower.

I climbed it with my brother and Kenneth. At the top were spy glasses to look off with. We had a view of four states, they were Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Hampshire and Vermont.

We saw many other things, some of which were Cold River bridge, Catamount, Mt. Deerfield river, Deerfield valley and Deerfield bridge.

At one place we stopped and bought some souvenir folders and then we drove on.

The next place we stopped at was Whitcomb Summit. There was an observation tower over 172 feet high. My grandmother, brother, Kenneth and I climbed this tower.

From there we went to Hair Pin curve, a place on our return trip. We climbed an observation tower there but it was not very high. We went feet high. I ate some lunch and I wrote some post cards to my friends up Jacobs Ladder which was 250 We passed many other beautiful landscapes before reaching home at 7:15 p. m.

The Fox That Lost His Tail.

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you. Once upon a time a fox lost his tail in a trap. Seeing that the people laughed at him he thought that if he could persuade the other foxes to cut off their tails he would not be laughed at. So one day he called a meeting and said, "Friends, I have felt much better since I lost my tail. I do not have to drag it all day."

But one sly old fox said "Why do you wish us to cut off our tails my friend?" Then he said to the other members "Friends he has lost his tail and wants us to cut off ours foolishly."

A Surprise

Uncle Jed: A surprise for my mother.

One day in summer my sister and I went in the woods for flowers. While we were picking, suddenly we heard a noise in the leaves.

We were walking quietly, that we could see what it was. It was a rabbit. My brother had his gun and shot the rabbit. My mother was very glad to see us bring flowers and also a rabbit.

My Kitten

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my second letter to the Wide Awake circle, telling about my kitten. Last summer I had a sweet little kitten. It was as white as snow. It had blue eyes and a pretty pink mouth. I called him Snowball.

One day while I was crocheting he came and began to pull my yarn. Before I found out he had it, it was all tangled up. When I wanted to scold him he looked at me as though he wanted to play.

Bad Luck

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about a terrible disaster that happened to a girl in our school. She was jumping over a barbed wire fence and her foot caught in the barbs. She tore her flesh very badly. She got up and limped to school. The teacher sent for the doctor by telephone.

The doctor came and took the girl home. She had three stitches taken in her leg.

The boys and girls sent letters to her, telling her that we were sorry that she had been hurt.

She is back now and well, of which you may be sure that we are very glad of.

I will close, hoping that you and the Wide Awakes will enjoy my story.

MERCHANTS ARE EXPECTING RECORD VOLUME OF TRADE FOR THE HOLIDAYS

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—(AP)—Industry and trade have approached the holiday season in highly satisfactory fashion this fall, with the seasonal decline in most major industries surprisingly slight, and the few laggards showing further improvement. Reports for the past week indicate that holiday trade is starting up earlier than usual, and merchants look for a record volume.

The credit situation, which was regarded as rather alarming a few months ago, has had but a negligible effect upon business despite the higher rates. The threatened building decline has failed to materialize, and the industry seems assured of a record year. Credit has been more abundant with the passing of the peak of the autumn requirements despite the frenzied stock speculation of recent weeks. Federal reserve banks in the past week were able to reduce their indebtedness at the reserve institutions, and new financing during the week increased sharply.

Some further stringency is looked for next week, however, as the holiday requirements begin to be felt. The gold movement has again turned away from the United States, with a premium of the Canadian dollar and a rise in sterling exchange, but the outgoing movement is expected to be small.

Textiles continued to improve. Cotton mill activity in October was reported as almost up to the same month of last year. Holiday requirements have in some cases exceeded expectations. Rayon production was increased to a new high level last week. The coal industry gave further indications of emerging from its protracted slump.

Steel mills last week continued to maintain operations above 89 per cent. of capacity, which is unusually high for this time of year. Although buying fell off a little in the previous week, it picked up again last week. The "Iron Age" composite price for pig iron was advanced for the 10th time in three months. The automotive industry lagged a little pending the switching to new lines for next year, but still promised the highest production for the year on record.

The oil and copper industries gave tangible evidence of their marked improvement through declaration of a number of extra dividends. Hardwood lumber was more active, but softwood felt a seasonal lag. The lumber industry on the Pacific coast agreed to a curtailment program to avoid overproduction next year. The shoe industry also reported a seasonal slump but the hide market made further improvement.

Crops rather generally felt the effects of unfavorable weather. Rain and cold interfered with cotton picking and rain and snow hindered corn husking in the west central areas. Winter wheat was damaged in some areas by floods. Cotton prices improved, however, and there was better demand for corn. Cattle and hog prices were depressed at Chicago by large supplies, hogs bringing the lowest prices since February.

Freight car loadings were maintained well above the like period of last year, indicating a good distribution of merchandise. Failures during the week increased somewhat over the previous week, and over the like week of last year, allowing for the Thanksgiving holiday. Bank clearings approached the record figures of last April.

WALL STREET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—(AP)—Officials of the Consolidated Instrument company of America announced today negotiations were nearing completion for acquisition of one of the oldest meterological and airport instrument manufacturing concerns in this country. Consolidated Instrument company recently opened a large laboratory here.

Proceeds from an issue of $10,000,000 Public Service company of Northern Illinois first lien and refunding mortgage 4 1-2 per cent bonds, Series D, will be used to enlarge the company's steam generating plant, refund more than $2,000,000 in underlying onds and build additions to gas and electric facilities. The steam plant is located at Waukegan, Ill.

Acceleration in sales of electrical equipment is noticeable in most sections of the country, with the demand somewhat more active in the west than in the eastern districts, Electrical World reports. Industrial and construction activity is reflected in orders placed in the middle west and on the Pacific coast. Demand for marine equipment has been a feature in the east. Indications favor a satisfactory volume business in the south for the remainder of the year.

Bond financing this week is expected to include $6,000,000 Keystone Water Works and Electric corporation first lien 5 1-2 per cent. gold bonds, Series B, due Nov. 1, 1948. The company serves 94 cities and towns in Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Arkansas with electric power and light or water and 27 cities and towns in Georgia, North Carolina and Kentucky with ice.

METALLURGIST PREDICTS USE OF ALUMINUM GARB

BERLIN—(AP)—The day is not far distant when people will wear clothing made of aluminum, says Dr. James Rubinfeld, metallurgist expert.

He points out that thin aluminum already is used sucessfully for the interior decoration of airplanes, for the outside covering of shoes and on fancy pocketbooks and ladies' vanity bags.

From this, Dr. Rubinfeld argues, it is but a step toward the use of aluminum as a substitute for cloth.

"Already," he says, "Germany exports to Italy aluminum brocades—that is, brocades for ladies' garments woven of fine aluminum threads. 'There is little danger that these materials will wear or crumple," he says, "because the sensitive metal has been neutralized and been made capable of stretching through layers of cellulose superimpressed upon it."

Sell Surplus Poultry.

AMES, Ia.—(AP)—Extension specialists of Iowa State college suggest that surplus poultry be sold now rather than be crowded into pens to await the usual "first snowfall." Overcrowding they say, results in heavy loss from disease and from such injuries as broken wings, broken legs, and bruised bodies.

MALTA FEVER WARNING BY NOBEL PRIZE WINNER

TUNIS, Algeria—(AP)—Malta fever is the disease of the future on which scientists must concentrate, warns Prof. Charles Nicolle, recipient of the 1928 Nobel prize for medicine and director of the Pasteur institute here.

His research and work in prevention of Malta fever and typhus earned the Nobel award. He discovered a vaccine treatment of Malta fever.

Professor Nicolle is convinced, he says, that the germs of the fever, called also Mediterranean fever, come from goat's milk and its products. The fever is spreading southward throughout African colonies and has also appeared in Denmark, following in the path of the suspected goat's milk cheeses. The disease is one of long duration, taking the form of recurrent waves of fever which sap the strength of the victims.

Due in part to activities of Professor Nicolle, Tunis is today considered one of the healthy cities of northern Africa.

SMALL FACTORY CALLED BEST AS MASS PRODUCER

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (AP) Dicovery that American mass production methods make much more in small plants than in big factories was announced at the annual meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers here today.

So "surprising" to engineers was the news that the society broke a precedent against expressions of opinion on the value of its technical papers and devoted a session to this one, which was presented by L. P. Alford and J. E. Hannum, engineers. Their paper disclosed the values of factory products made in 1,000 hours of the time of each workman.

"Contrary to popular impression," said Charles P. Tolman consulting engineer of New York, "small concerns are shown to be managed better than large ones. The smaller concerns on the whole produce more in quantity and in dollar value per man-hour of labor."

INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTE ADDS AMERICAN TO FACULTY

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Dr. Ernest Minor Patterson, professor of economics at the University of Pennsylvania, is to be one of the first Americans to serve on the faculty of the Postgraduate Institute of International Studies at Geneva, Switzerland.

This became known when Provost Josiah H. Penniman of the university announced that Dr. Patterson had been granted leave of absence for the second term of this academic year to enable him to serve as visiting professor at the institute. The American educator will conduct courses in the field of international economics. Dr. Patterson is a member of the faculty of the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce of the University of Pennsylvania.

The institute at Geneva was established in 1927 largely through the generosity of the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Foundation in the belief that the seat of the League of Nations was the most advantageous place at which to carry on studies of political, legal, economic and social subjects of international character.

Dr. Patterson has carried on extensive investigations in the field of international economics.

ESTABLISH SOUTHERN BASE FOR BABY BLIMP

ST. PETERSBURGH, Fla.—(AP)—Establishment here of a southern base of operations for craft of the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation has been authorized by the city commission.

Bids have been invited for the construction of a steel hangar for dirigibles at the St. Petersburg municipal airport as the first unit of the proposed base. Provision is made that it must be completed by January 15, when the Puritan, a "baby blimp," will fly here from Akron, O., to make its headquarters.

ANCIENT MEDE INVASION OF MOROCCO INDICATED

FEZ, Morocco—(AP)—Archeological discoveries said to indicate an ancient invasion of north Africa by the Medes have been made by Captain Odipot of the French army intelligence service.

They were made near a road 25 miles from Fez, in several caverns, each about 300 feet long. The finds included examples of cuneiform writing, two stone hatchets and what appeared to be vestiges of tombs.

Queer Industry.

In Japan a company is engaged in exploiting the use of volcanic ash in combination with Portland cement mortar. This combination is said to be particularly valuable in the construction of works submerged in salt water. It is claimed that the cement thus formed possesses great tensile strength and is denser than ordinary Portland cement. It is also more resistant to the percolation of water. Attention is called to the fact that, if this industry expands, the Philippines contain a great deal of volcanic ash which might be available.

ONLY KNIVES AND SAWS STOLEN FROM FREEDMAN MARKET, NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 25.—Thieves entered the market of Meyer Freeman, Douglass street, Saturday night. When Freeman went to the market this morning at 7.30 he discovered the burglary. The only plunder obtained by the thieves were eight knives and several saws. Entrance was gained by smashing a rear window. Freeman reported the burglary to the police.

The Norwich police early today requested the New London police to be on the lookout for an automobile stolen in the former city. The car is a Chevrolet and carries Connecticut registration, N-741.

BAY STATE MAN IGNORED AUTOMOBILE ORDERS

Stacey K. Beebe, 58 West 55th street, New York, was arrested Saturday night by Patrolman Edward Riordan charged with refusing to obey an order of a traffic officer. Both gave bonds for their appearance in the police court Monday.

DRANK DYNAMITE AT PARTY, THEN WOMEN STARTED SCRAP

NEW LONDON, Nov. 25—The police broke up a female Negro fight Saturday afternoon when Marian Lewis, 33, colored and proprietress of a resort, 110 Potter street, and Fannie Burris, 26, also of 110 Poter street, with Ernest Johnson, 30, of 36 Orchard street, Springfield, Mass., a waiter arrested on charges of breach of the peace and carrying concealed weapons. The two women were released upon furnishing a surety on their respective bonds of $250. Johnson was not so successful and is being held a prisoner at police headquarters. All three will be in court Monday morning. The Lewis woman has a long police record. She was in the police court March 3, on a charge of conducting a house of ill fame and was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 20 days in jail. She took an appeal and when the case was disposed of the woman was given a more severe penalty and upon its termination was ordered by Judge Charles B. Waller, court of common pleas, to leave the county. Johnson has no previous police record here, but in his home town, Springfield, he has been arrested seven times on various charges. The Burris woman, who is married and originally hailed from Winston-Salem, N. C., had not been arrested in New London until Saturday. The two women and Johnson went to the home of Mrs. Julia Spafford, 115 Green street about 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon and had a drinking party, the drinks, according to the Lewis woman being of the brand that is sold at 25 cents per drink, more commonly referred to as "dynamite." The concoction the party imbibed evidently carried all the ingredients that the name implies, for about 2.30 o'clock a fight between the three started and before the wenches could be separated by Johnson, Marian was forced through a window, getting an ugly cut on the fingers of the right hand. The police were notified of the battle and Automobile Patrol Officer Augustus Ray and Patrolmen George McCaskey, Frank Linehan and Lawrence Fardy were hustled to Green street. When the officers arrived Johnson was in the act of placing the Burris woman in Marian's Nash coupe, for Fannie was in a fighting mood and was struggling to return to the house and resume the combat. Johnson dropped a .32 calibre revolver from the automobile which was recovered by Ray and which is the property of the Lewis woman. He also had a razor in his pocket. The two women had knives, ugly ones, in their possession, for the blades of the weapons were several inches in length.

At a meeting of Groton grange Friday night, Adrian Marquardt was re-elected president. Several other offices were filled at the election and each candidate will serve a term of five years. At the conclusion of the business meeting supper was served.

Four sales of property ordered by Tax Collector Hibbard N. Alexandar, have been called off owing to the fact that the different owners have paid into the department the sums due.

A building lot on Connecticut avenue belonging to Minnie Johnson has been sold to Irving B. and Ellen Green. James D. Williams has sold an undivided one-quarter interest in a house and lot, corner of Lewis and Adelaide streets, to Isabel Dodson.

PORTUGUESE BOY HELD TO GET WARMED UP IN JAIL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 25—Jose Baptisto, ten year old Portuguese, arrested on a charge of vagrancy, so appealed to the sympathy of Judge S. Victor Prince, that in his preliminary hearing he was sentenced to jail until Wednesday so that he would be assured comfortable quarters. It is claimed that Baptisto entered this country unlawfully about a year and a half ago when he jumped ship. His case in all probability will be turned over to the immigration authorities at Ellis Island.

BLUEJACKETS FINED— GIVEN UP AFTER WARNING

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 25.—Frank Sackman and L. C. Colie are United States Coast Guard sailors, stationed at the state pier, bluejackets whose delivery to the civil authorities by Commander H. H. Hemingway, of the U. S. S. Ericsson was refused last Thursday. The sailors were supposed to be prosecuted that day on a charge of breach of the peace as a result of engaging in a fight with L. F. Johnson, a chief petty officer. Prosecuting Attorney Daniel M. Cronin, Friday issued a warrant for the arrest of Sackman and Colie, with the alternative if delivery of the prisoners was not made a demand would be made upon the treasury department at Washington. This action resulted in the prisoners being given into the custody of the police Saturday. They were tried in the city court where Sackman was fined $25 and costs and Colie received a fine of $10 and costs. The charge of breach of the peace against Johnson was nolled since evidence in possession of the prosecutor revealed that he was in no way at fault for the fight. Sackman, Colie and Johnson had been drinking together and when at the bus station on State street, where Sackman and Colie insisted that Johnson procure another bottle of liquor before the return trip was made to the state pier. Johnson refused. His refusal precipitated a fight. During the battle Johnson was forced through a plate glass window of the Ailing Rubber company's building and Johnson was arrested. Sackman and Colie made their escape and when their delivery to the police was demanded Commander Hemingway refused the request.

The committee in charge was Miss Eleanor Momm, Eleanor Dray, Mrs. Helen Downing, Rose Ganey, Mrs. Charlotte Ganey Gates and Mrs. Dorothy Rudd Bliven.

THREE MACHINES STOLEN— ONE FOUND ABANDONED

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 25—Automobile thieves operated in New London Saturday night. Two cars are yet to be recovered, while a third was found abandoned today. Edith L Grant, 2 Water street, Stonington, drove to New London during the evening and parked her Chrysler coupe on Broad street. When she went to drive home Miss Grant discovered that the auto had been stolen and reported the fact to the police. The state police Groton barracks and Centerbrook barracks as well as the police of Norwich, Willimantic, New Haven, Middletown and Hartford were requested to maintain a watch for the auto.

H. Jencks, director of the United States Coast Guard band, parked his Essex coach, Saturday night in front of the state armory, Colt street. About midnight Jencks discovered that the car had been stolen. It was found this morning on Fitch street by Sergeant Samuel Hick and Automobile Patrol Officer Augustus Ray, the machine having been abandoned.

John L. Paganoni, Uncasville, spent the night in New London and when he started to return to his home about 5 o'clock, Pagaponi discovered that his Hudson sedan was missing. The car is a 1928 model and carries Connecticut registration, N-8854.

HALPERN AND LANDLORD ARE NOW UP AGAINST IT

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 25—Jack Halpern, proprietor of the club room at 42 Golden street, believes that he was born under an unlucky star. While he was arrested this afternoon not only once but twice, he realizes that he will be the provider of the bank roll that pays the bill for a double violation of the liquor law. His landlord, John Goss, Ocean avenue, may be prosecuted on a separate charge of renting a building for illegal purposes. About 3 o'clock Automobile Patrol Officer Augustus Ray was driving through Golden street when he spied Halpern's automobile, a Chrysler sedan, driven by the owner's brother-in-law, John Bauer, of Vauxhall street, enter at the rear of the club room. The officer followed and detected Bauer about to carry a carton of alcohol, in quarters and pints to the drinking place. Bauer was arrested and the alcohol was seized as evidence against Bauer. About the same time Sergeant Samuel Hick and Patrolman William Corcoran were on Golden street and as four sailors passed the officers one of the bluejackets in a distinctly audible tone remarked that they would visit a place on the street and make a purchase of liquor. Sergeant Hick is not a drinking man, but he decided to visit the place mentioned by the sailors and directed Officer Corcoran to follow him. The two officers followed the sailors, who ascended a flight of stairs leading to Halpern's place. While the bluejackets sought entrance the officers remained behind them. When the door was opened, the sailors entered and so did Sergeant Hick and Officer Corcoran. Once inside the officers found a considerable quantity of beer of the home-brew type and this was seized. Jerry Northrup, an employe of the club room was arrested, but liquor that the officers had good reason to believe was in a closet was not molested for the cops were not armed with a search warrant and the closet was locked. Northrup was taken to police headquarters where later he was liberated upon a bond of $1,000 furnished for his appearance in the police court Monday. Bauer was also released upon furnishing a surety on a bond of a like amount and will also be in court tomorrow. Halpern has been arrested several times within a year and about a month ago following the conviction of James Sexton, one of Halpern's employes, the court caused John Goss, owner of the building, that in the event of another conviction of violation of the liquor law against an occupant of the building Goss would be prosecuted also for renting the building for that purpose. It now remains to be seen whether the edict of the court will be enforced.

Mrs. Mary Profitt, colored, of 31 Hill street, went to police headquarters tonight and made complaint against her husband, Oscar Profitt, charging him with breach of the peace. Patrolmen Louis Tooker and Edward Riordan went to the Hill street house, but Profitt, anticipating his wife's action, had made his escape.

THIS HIT-AND-RUN DRIVER CLEVERLY IDENTIFIED

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 25—Mrs. Betsy Edwards, about 40, was struck by a hit-and-run driver, on the Boston Post Road, Waterford, Saturday night. She is now a patient at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, suffering from contusions and a possible fractured arm. The woman was walking beside the highway at a time when cars were returning from the Yale-Harvard football game. An automobile headed toward New London struck the woman but the driver left her lying beside the road and speeded toward this city. Dr. Langsen, of the City hospital, Boston, was a witness of the accident and when the driver who struck the woman failed to stop he caused Charles Nott, 201 Fitch avenue, Boston to notify the police and provided the markers of the car, which were N-5753. It was ascertained today that the car is registered in the name of Nicholas Palladino, 12 Home street, but neither the car, nor Palladino was found.

LOOKING FOR TWO THUGS WHO BEAT UP MOTORIST

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 25—The state police of Groton barracks, are seeking the identity of two men alleged to have held up and beaten an autoist on the Boston Post road Saturday night. According to the information the autoist was en route from New York to Massachusetts and was approached by the men, apparently foreigners, who requested a ride. The request was granted and at Madison, it is represented that the driver was attacked, beaten and robbed. After the thieves had obtained such plunder as they found upon their victim, the latter was taken from the car and was made secure under it. The assailants are described as being about 50 years of age. One is about 5 feet eight inches in height and wore a dark suit and hat. The other is about the same age, short and stout and had a dark cap.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre.

In a role that tests to the utmost her versatility as an actress Colleen Moore scored emphatically with patrons of the Breed theatre last night, when her latest starring picture, Happiness Ahead, opened at that playhouse.

It is a different Colleen Moore who appears in this production—a Colleen Moore whose humorous scenes are all the more mirth-provoking because of the contrasting flavor of pathos with which her work is also seasoned. She proves herself as adept in moments of emotional drama as in comedy, and lends such realism to her characterization that Happiness Ahead is one of the most believable screen stories to be seen in months.

Happiness Ahead is that rare picture that leaves the audience in doubt as to the finish until the actual fade-out—a quality for which the author is to be congratulated. It holds the interest from beginning to end, providing humor, satire, romance, pathos and stark drama in succession. The central character, portrayed by Miss Moore, is a small-town girl who marries a card-sharp, believing him to be an upright young man. The drama of her disillusionment, and the irony of her husband's determination to go straight only to be thwarted by his former associates, provide variety in the action and dramatic mood of the story which lifts it out of the classification of a mere movie.

Edmund Lowe plays opposite Miss Moore in Happiness Ahead, other prominent members of the supporting cast being Lilyan Tashman, Edythe Chapman, Charles Sellon, Robert Elliott and Dione Ellis. Edmund Goulding wrote the original story, which was adopted for the screen by Benjamin Glazer.

Broadway.

"The Terror" not only gets them guessing, but keeps them guessing, and yet it does not break that old axiom of playwrights, "Never fool the audience." The makers of "The Terror" do not fool the audience. The audience fools itself. Character after character seems to be the one on whom the blame for the gruesome and ludicrous deeds of the hooded terror, should fall. Not till the last fadeout, however, does anyone guess the identity of "The Terror," or the truth about the hidden loot and the looter himself.

In Dr. Redmayne's spooky mansion is supposed to be hidden vast sums of money stolen from a certain bank —there, too, the purloined is believed to lurk. This story has been spread abroad and to the spot come all sorts of people, some to get well, but more to get wealth. In and out among this hit-or-miss company — glides "The Terror"—hooded and mysterious—dealing broken heads and hearts with impartial zest.

The cast is a great one. May McAvoy as the daughter of the house is a delightful and ingratiating person; Louise Fazenda has never been quite so ludicrously frightened; Edward Everett Horton lives up to his reputation as a comedian by his half-crazy tippling impersonation of Fane, a detective; in short, everyone seems to enter with peculiar vim into the spirit of the play.

No story of "The Terror" would be complete without mention of "Squeegee," the trained toad, who is a close rival to the "trained fleas" of the dime museum. Squeegee is warted, pouty, puffy, glassy-eyed, a normal example of the bufo lentiginosis, but—the boy can act! He'll give you the jolt of your life.

"The Terror" is marked by very unusual photography, the supernatural atmosphere of the piece being augmented by all sorts of startling effects gained by deft and tricky handling of the camera.

Palace Theatre

Marion Davies arranged to have Marion Davies appear in a Marion Davies production. Strange as this may sound, it is a statement of fact rather than a mere play on words. It describes an incident which occurred during the filming of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Show People," co-starring Miss Davies and William Haines under King Vidor's direction, now showing at the Palace theatre.

To build up a true studio atmosphere for the picture and to provide a novel diversion for screen fans, many screen celebrities were induced to appear in the background of this comedy of Hollywood life. Having seen Charlie Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks, Norma Talmadge, William S. Hart, Leatrice Joy, Mae Murray, Estelle Taylor and others appear in one sequence or another of the film, Miss Davies turned to her director.

"Listen," she said, "since everybody else in pictures appears in this new film, don't you think I ought to get some sort of a break myself?"

"Why, sure," Vidor assented. "How will we do it?"

The two worked out the idea and it makes one of the oddest scenes in the photoplay.

In this sequence Miss Davies as "Peggy Pepper," a southern girl who is attempting to forge a career in the movies, is crossing the studio lot on her way to her first screen test. A car races up the driveway and a girl with a tennis racquet in her hand hops out and runs over to meet Director Robert Z. Leonard.

Little "Peggy" senses that this is a personage and asks, "Who is that?"

"Why, that's Marion Davies," Red Golden, who plays the assistant director, answers. "Didn't you recognize her?"

King Vidor, not to be outdone by Miss Davies, also plays as himself in this production.

Another On "Philly"

BOSTON—(AP)—A motorist returning from a trip along the Massachusetts North Shore reported that an officer in one town stopped him and asked where he was from. "Philadelphia," he answered. "Then why," demanded the officer, "have you got Pennsylvania number plates?"

ASPIRIN

The whole world knows Aspirin as an effective antidote for pain. But it's just as important to know that there is only one genuine Bayer Aspirin. The name Bayer is on every tablet, and on the box. If it says Bayer, it's genuine; and if it doesn't, it is not! Headaches are dispelled by Bayer Aspirin. So are colds, and the pain that goes with them; even neuralgia, neuritis, and rheumatism promptly relieved. Get Bayer—at any drugstore—with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

NAVY'S RED SEA DOG AT LAST MUSTERED OUT

NEWPORT, R. I.—(AP)—Porky, Naval Training station mascot, born into the service, has been mustered out to the grief of the apprentices and A. B.'s, who had him for a companion in recent months.

Porky began his career as a pup in 1909. The name Pork was given him because another pup had been called Beans. But Beans deserted from the navy and took up with the army at Fort Adams, seven miles away. Then the station took to the lone pup and made him Porky and initiated him into sea going habits.

Porky never had much use for civilians. He could distinguish Johnny Sea-legs every time and clung to one, recruit or regular, wherever he found him on the streets of the city. He was a sailors' dog. He traveled with the football and baseball teams. He was known to hundreds of apprentices during their training period at the station and his name was carried far and near. He was known from coast to coast and on all the foreign stations.

QUAINT BRIDAL CEREMONY SURVIVES IN FRENCH TOWN

SAINTES-MARIES-DE-LA-MER, France—(AP)—New fangled marriages are not in favor with Mlle. Maguelonne de Rares, now Madame Mongolier de Tournon.

Mlle. Maguelonne arrived at the ancient church here on the day of her marriage, riding on behind her father on a white horse. She wore the snow white dress and wedding cap of the region.

After the marriage bride and bridegroom mounted horses and rode away.

Heirloom Unexpected

BROCKTON, Mass.—(AP)—A young man entering business here bought a second hand desk. Finding some old papers in a drawer, he discovered that his father had used the desk before he, the son, was born.

Paper that will not burn is an invention of a German chemist.

MISS MAE RILEY GIVEN ENJOYABLE SURPRISE PARTY

Recently Miss Mae Riley of Twelfth street was surprised at her home, by the clerks of "Max's Ladies' Shop" where she has ben employed for the past six years. They enjoyed a social evening and presented Miss Riley a beautiful rose colored wool blanket as a token of their esteem for her. Miss Riley is to be married on Thanksgiving day to Edward Boasley, of New York. On Tuesday evening, Miss Riley entertained a number of her neighbors at a farewell party. On Thursday evening, the degree team of the Ladies of Columbus, surprised Miss Riley and gave her a number of sets of Lady Pepperell colored bed linen. They also gave her a chicken salad supper in their rooms preceding the shower.

There was a large attendance at the interpretive Indian dances, given in the chapel of the Third Baptist church, on Friday evening. They were given by Mr. Reginald Laubin, who was assisted at the piano by Mr. Ed Smith and on the tom-tom by his wife. Mr. Laubin is a personal friend of Ralph Hubbard, who is considered the best authority on Indian lore in the country. The program consisted of a talk on Indian life, their songs and dances, about eight in number, were excellently executed by Mr. and Mrs. Laubin, who wore beautiful Indian costumes. Mr. Laubin is considered one of the best interpreters of Indian dances in this part of the country and this is the first time he has given his entire program in Norwich. He has appeared before audiences of three to five thousand in Hartford, Springfield and Waterbury. Mr. Laubin is employed in the engraving department of the U. S. Finishing company.

LADIES' MISSION CIRCLE HOLDS MONTHLY MEETING

The Ladies Mission circle of the Third Baptist church, held their regular monthly meeting in the chapel on Thursday afternoon. After tying a bed quilt, the ladies held their devotional exercises, in charge of the president, Mrs. Herbert L. Peckham. Mrs. Gallup then took charge of the meeting and conducted a quiz from November Missions. This was followed by a report from the secretary and treasurer, Mrs. James Spicer. A short business session followed and the president reported a good sale of the Christmas cards and she also requested the members to bring in materials for the Christmas boxes to be sent to the Indians and other mission stations. At 5.30 supper consisting of escalloped potatoes, meat loaf, cabbage salad, pickles, nut bread, rolls, cake and coffee was served to about 50 friends and members of the circle. At 7.30 o'clock the regular prayer meeting was held with Mrs. Harry Brothwell as the leader, in the absence of the pastor who was in attendance at the Sunday school convention at the Central Baptist church.

Capt. and Mrs. James P. Clark and daughter Grace of Niantic have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Howard of Central avenue, the past three days. While in town they attended the Connecticut state convention of Sunday schools.

LEGION AUXILIARY WILL SEND THANKSGIVING BASKETS

By vote of the Woman's auxiliary of the American Legion at its meeting last week in the Thayer building, Thanksgiving remembrances in the shape of baskets of fruit are to be sent to the seven ex-service men and two women who are at Uncas-on-Thames.

The officers of the auxiliary are calling the attention of members to the change in the by-laws which was made by the state convention by which dues are payable between the first and the tenth of December. This makes a change from the former time for paying dues which was January 1.

Those who represented the Legion auxiliary in tiding names for the Red Cross roll call last week at the Uncas-Merchants' National bank were Mrs. Clarence Lucier, Mrs. Gilbert S. Rogers, Mrs. W. Leslie Fletcher, Mrs. Herbert Willey, Mrs. Frank N. Kimball, Mrs. William F. Fogue, Mrs. John B. Oat, Miss Esther Somers, Miss Irene Broadhurst.

SUNDAY NIGHT LIQUOR RAID IN CENTER OF BUSINESS SECTION

One arrest was made and 37 cases of alleged beer and two half pint bottles containing liquor were seized by the local police shortly before 6 o'clock Sunday evening in a raid on a liquor joint at the rooming house, No. 270 Main street, known as the Falcone place. The raid was made upon evidence of a sale, according to the police. The man arrested is Raoul Donais, 22, of Taftville, who was in charge of the place at the time. His bond was set at $1,000 and he was endeavoring to raise the money Sunday night.

The room where the liquor was being dispensed is at the rear of the second floor of the building, and the upper part of the building is a rooming house conducted by Domenico Falcone. In the room the police found a bar, covered with metal. It is said there were a number of men in the place during the late afternoon. In addition to the beer and liquor the police found some equipment for the making of beer, such as rubber tubing, sugar, etc., and there was also a barrel from which the mash had been dumped. The beer and liquor was transported to the police station in the patrol. The raiding squad comprised Sergt. Myron O. Morgan, and Officers Patrick Murphy, John T. Donovan Bernard Keenan and Officer Simpson.

When the patrol wagon arrived in front of the place to load up the various articles a big crowd flocked in from Franklin square and the nearby section to watch the proceedings with interest as the police brought down case after case and for transportation to police headquarters.

Up to midnight Donais had not been able to get bonds and was still in a cell at police headquarters.

THANKSGIVING SERMON BY REV. FATHER GALVIN

In these times of modernism, rationalism and the other isms, when the existence of God is doubted and denied, it is a great thing that the American nation officially sets aside a day of public thanksgiving to the giver of all gifts, through a proclamation of president and governor, declared Rev. Myles Paul Galvin, senior assistant pastor, addressing a congregation which crowded St. Patrick's church at the 9 o'clock mass Sunday. America is one of the few nations in the world which thus officially recognizes the existence of God and His claims to national gratitude, Father Galvin announced that the regular daily parish mass at 7 o'clock Thursday will be a Thanksgiving mass.

Catholics should be among the first to join in thanksgiving for the blessings bestowed upon this nation and upon themselves as individuals, he said. Although the Catholic church was small in its beginnings in this land, had to endure persecutions by organizations and enemies which sought to blot it out, yet opposition has only made it thrive, until its growth and influence are marvellous, that being a small locality indeed which is without its church or mission or chapel. While this of course is due primarily to the fact that the church is divine in its origin, yet that it flourishes is due largely to the laws of the great country, hence every Catholic should feel gratitude first to God, then to the founders of this nation in their breadth and vision. And while Catholic hearts should be filled this week with gratitude for a free nation and a flourishing church, all thought should not be expended upon purely material benefits. God should be thanked publicly for spiritual gifts, above all for the supreme gift of faith.

Faith is a pure gift from Almighty God. Perhaps we are not always appreciative of God's gifts—certainly sin implies ingratitude. Millions lack this great gift of faith—well-intentioned, loving God, yet they have never received this signal favor. And with H's gift of faith the Almighty has given Catholics the means to sustain that faith—His commandments, the commandments of the church, the great channels of grace, the sacraments, especially the stupendous gift of the altar, the body of Our Lord. This last is a foretaste of Heaven, for what is Heaven but the eternal privilege of enjoying God's presence, of seeing Him face to face? In the Holy Eucharist Catholics have their God—hidden, it is true, yet God is there, the food for their souls. Then too, they have the great sacrifice of love, the mass, Calvary renewed day after day, a sacrifice offered to the Almighty in atonement for our sins.

So, with the ecclesiastical year ending the coming Saturday, Thanksgiving day should be one in which every Catholic should offer up heartfelt thanks for the favors of Heaven to this great nation and to each individual. But above all, there should be sincerest gratitude to God for the priceless gift of faith.

The way the parish men, in particular, are keeping up their holy communions since the recent mission was noticeable in the great numbers who received the eucharist from Rev. John J. Reilly, who read the low mass and from Father Galvin who assisted him in administering communion. The junior choir, directed by Organist Henry J. LaFontaine sang the hymns with evidence of careful training.

At the 7.30 mass the rector, Rt. Rev. M. H. May gave communion to a large number including members of the Holy Name society. Patrick M. Coleman, president, requiring the aid of Rev. Father Galvin.

DISTRICT OFFICERS OF LEGION AUXILIARY INSTALLED

Officers of the fifth district, Woman's auxiliary of the American Legion, were installed as folows at the meeting held Friday night at Taftville: President, Mrs. R. Denison; first vice president, Mrs. W. Leslie Fletcher; second vice president, Mrs. Harlow L. Bogue, secretary, Mrs. John B. Oat; treasurer, Mrs. Frank N. Kimball; chaplain, Mrs. Herbert Willey; sergeant at arms, Mrs. Louise Manchester.

The installation was by Mrs. Thomas Sears of Taftville, district president.

Junior Mechanics' Ceremonial

What probably will be the largest initiation of candidates in any one night by any fraternal order in New England will take place in Infantry hall, Providence, on Saturday night, Dec. 15, when more than 500 men from Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts and Connecticut are inducted into the Junior Order United American Mechanics by the famous degree team of John R. Marlin Council of Philadelphia.

More than 2,000 members of the order from all parts of New England are expected to attend the ceremony, those in Vermont, Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Connecticut coming to Providence in caravans of private cars and buses.

Plumbing Charges Go Up

Following demands by the journeymen plumbers for an increase in wages of 10 cents an hour, the master plumbers have voted to raise the cost of labor from $1.40 to $1.50 per hour. This was decided upon at the master plumbers' association meeting last week.

Announce Daughter's Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bendett of 312 Franklin street announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Yetta Bendett, to Samuel Gordenstein, son of Mrs. Rachael Gordenstein of Springfield, Mass.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING HAD RECORD ATTENDANCE SUNDAY

By far the largest audience this year assembled at the large gymnasium of the local Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. All seats available of the "Y" and several dozen chairs loaned by Henry Allen & Son were occupied and there were several standing during the service.

The meeting opened with the reading of scripture, prayer and the singing of three verses of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Hugh Kinder furnished appropriate music for the service. Rev. H. H. Conklin offered the prayer.

The last half of the famous moving picture feature, "Sorrell and Son", was shown with marked effect on the large audience. As the picture story told of the warm affection of the father for the son, and the loyalty in turn on the part of the son it was well nigh impossible to keep back the tears. In fact many were thus affected and doubtless very deep and lasting impressions were made during the service.

A brief and telling talk was given by Rev. George Warren Potter, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church at Norwich Town, who spoke upon "Some Things to be Thankful For."

Life is a good gift from a good God, said Rev. Mr. Potter, and let us be thankful for the privilege of fellowship with the natural world. We can thank God also for the privilege of fellowship with people and thank Him for the spiritual religion that dominates the people of our land, given evidence when 40 states recently stood by the man who asks God's leadership. We should be thankful for liberty in our own country, for our status as a nation among the nations, for the prosperity of our land, for our president-elect, his clean life, his Christian character, his faith in God. We should be very grateful for our fellowship with God. We human beings want all that our fellowmen can give us, but we want more. We want God and God wants us enough to give his only son, Jesus Christ, for our ransom. Let us live in the spirit of gratitude.

MAKING TIGHT RACE IN CITY PINOCHLE LEAGUE

On account of Thanksgiving day, the city league pinochle players will meet this (Monday) evening at the Moose home, for this week's league games, in the future, commencing on Thursday, Dec. 6, the league will play on a weekly schedule.

Considerable interest will be manifested in the outcome of the games between the Foresters and Duwells for should the Duwells win both games in tonight's play they would take the top position away from the Foresters whose team has held this position since the opening of the season providing the Moose defeat the Foresters in the first half.

By winning both their games, the Grotto aggregation have a good chance of moving into a tie for first place. The schedule:

First half, J. O. A. M. vs. Duwells; K. of C. vs. American I. C. H.; Moose vs. Foresters; Grotto vs. Eagles; American Legion vs. Thermos.

Second half, Foresters vs. Duwells; Moose vs. American I. C. H.; Thermos vs. J. O. A. M.; Grotto vs. K. of C.; American Legion vs. Eagles.

An early start depends on the cooperation the team captains receive from the players, the committee being anxious to start promptly at 8 o'clock.

Visitors From East Hartford

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Oliver of East Hartford spent the week end in town with friends. Mrs. Oliver was Miss Annie Ipsar and was born and lived here in her early life. Mr. Oliver was a connection of C. B. Rogers, an old time manufacturer of this city.

What Dr. Caldwell Learned in 47 Years Practice

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently without griping and harsh to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Note special coupon offer:

HURRICANE STILL RAGING ALONG COAST OF BELGIUM

The Sea, Driven by Raging Winds, Has Inundated the Lowlands of Belgium—Breaking of Dykes Has Caused Great Distress in Thickly Populated Areas—Storm Along the West Coast of Europe Has Taken a Toll of About 100 Lives and the Loss of a Score of Vessels.

LONDON, Nov. 26—(AP)—The recurring hurricanes which have been scourging the west coast of Europe with ruthless fury for four days had heaped up tonight an appalling list of marine disasters which involved, perhaps, 100 deaths and the loss of a score of vessels of substantial tonnages.

While the furious gale had considerably moderated in the English channel and over the French and Spanish littorals, the storm still raged tonight along the coasts of Belgium and the Netherlands. The Belgian lowlands particularly suffered inundations as the sea was driven in by the raging winds, overflowing rivers and breaking down dykes to the great distress of densely populated districts.

In England the lives lost ashore were no great number but the property damage was great over wide areas. The shipping intelligence tonight was full of reports of gallant rescues of mariners from angry seas, of abandoned or sunken ships, of unidentified derelicts whose crews may or may not have perished, and of crippled crafts crawling perilously toward a safe anchorage.

The finest rescue feat, perhaps, was the saving of the entire crew of the German training ship Pommern. Seventy-nine men including 65 cadets were taken off by the German tug Heros when the schoolship became helpless near the Isle of Guernsey in the English channel. The Heros fought to reach the men for 24 hours. Three liners, also responding to the distress calls, poured oil on the seas to aid the rescue. After several attempts a rocket was fired from the Heros across the Pommern carrying a light line. One by one the members of the crew of the Pommern leaped into the sea and were hauled to safety on the tug along this life line. All were then brought to Plymouth.

British life boats between Montrose and Torray during the past ten days have been launched on 34 expeditions and have saved 60 lives from shipwrecks.

The German steamer Horn this afternoon rescued the entire crew of the German steamer Kate Grammerstoft which was in a sinking condition and now is derelict in the North sea.

Many ships arriving in port or by radio have reported officers and seamen washed overboard and lost. An Italian steamer, at first reported to be the Segunto but now believed to be the Salento, was wrecked and all aboard were believed lost. The Italian tanker Lucanta, which grounded in the Mersey river on Sunday, lost both anchors, damaged its rudder and was adrift near the bar today. Tugs were rendering the tanker assistance.

There was general and wide-spread suffering with heavy losses in Belgium along the coast between Ostend and Blankenburg, where at high tide in the afternoon the waves raced over the dykes. The augmented waters of the Scheldt broke their barriers and covered the lowlands. The Antwerp dockside warehouses were seriously damaged and the district on the left bank had been inundated. The entire city was without drinking water.

The rivers Nethe and Rutel also had overflowed in the vicinity of Brion and Terhaegen.

Holland also was ravaged by the winds and large parts of the country were flooded with the rivers still rising. Along the northwest coast, many ships, principally of Scandinavian and German registry, have been in distress. Three men were drowned while the Dutch life boat President Van Heel was rescuing the crew of the Norwegian steamer Michelsen, which had gone ashore.

The British steamer Neath Abey tonight asked immediate help and reported that it was in a dangerous position off West Kapel.

British weather experts tonight believed that the gale had nearly blown itself out and predicted better weather

21 CRAFT OF ALL SORTS WRECKED BY THE STORM

PARIS, Nov. 26—(AP)—Destructive gales raging in the north Atlantic and in the English channel for the past four days crippling and wrecking 21 crafts of all sorts from the hook of Holland to Cape Finistere and stirring the French coast with wreckage were abating tonight.

Coming on the heels of the destruction, however, were floods which developed in several parts of France threatening to bring to a hectic close one of the most turbulent weeks of stormy weather in many years.

The heaviest loss was in the foundering of the French freighter Cesaree off Algiers, 35 of the crew of 19 being drowned.

The 6,000-ton freighter Amiral Ponty, in distress off Ushant Light was slowly making her way toward Brest in tow of the seagoing tug Imise.

Although there was 15 feet of water in her hold, the captain of the Amiral Ponty refused to abandon ship inasmuch as the storm was abating.

AT LEAST 25 LIVES LOST IN PHILIPPINE TYPHOON

MANILA, Nov. 27—(AP)—(Tuesday)—Reports over partly restored communication facilities indicate that the typhoon which struck the central islands of the Philippine archipelago was the most severe in the history of the islands. At least 25 lives were lost and the property damage amounted to millions of dollars.

The typhoon was widespreead, its fury being manifested in the islands of Luzon, Samar, Rombion, Tablas, Masbate, Mindoro, Cebu and Hanay. The roar of the tempest continued from Thursday until Saturday at many places but it swept to the southward of Manila.

Governor-General Henry L. Stimson sent a telegram to the war department at Washington last night stating that the storm was equal in force to the recent hurricane in Porto Rico. He said that assistance might be needed from American relief agencies.

A. F. OF L. WOULD FURTHER RESTRICT IMMIGRATION

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Increased restriction of immigration was urged here today by the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor. This action was taken by endorsing the report of the resolution committee to which several resolutions bearing on immigration had been introduced. All were approved by the convention.

The committee, in addition to reporting favorably on the immigration resolutions calling for placing under the quota provisions Mexico, all Latin American countries and islands adjacent to the United States, declared that "restrictions of entry of aliens into the United States should be more rigid in character though tempered with humane considerations and applicable to all aliens."

$562,000 SUITS RESULT OF VESTRIS DISASTER

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—(AP)—Damage claims by relatives of passengers lost on the steamer Vestris two weeks ago increased to $562,000 today when administrators of the estate of Isaac Nahem filed suit for $510,000 against the Liverpool, Brazil and River Platte Steam Navigation Co., and Lamport and Holt, owners and operators of the Vestris.

Previously a suit for $52,000 was filed by Orrin F. Stevens, who lost his wife in the disaster.

PEARSON OUT OF N. H. ROAD; DIVIDENDS DECLARED

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—(AP)—Directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, meeting here tonight, accepted the resignation of E. J. Pearson, president of the company, who has been in ill health for some time. No action was taken on the choice of a successor. The resignation is effective December 31.

The board declared the regular dividend of $1.75 a share on preferred stock, payable January 2 to stock of record December 7, and a quarterly dividend of $1 a share on common stock, payable January 2 to stock of record December 7.

$5,000 FIRE DAMAGE IN BOX SHOP IN MIDDLETOWN

MIDDLETOWN, Nov. 26—(AP)—Fire which broke out at the W. S. Miller Box Co. plant tonight, caused $5,000 damage before it was eventually extinguished. The fire engines responded to an alarm shortly after 7 o'clock and again at 9:30.

A strong wind blowing in through the window is thought to have fanned smouldering embers to cause the second blaze, which did more damage than the first.

$100,000 THEATRE FIRE IN PITTSFIELD, MASS.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Nov. 26—(AP)—A general alarm fire destroyed the interior of the Union Square theatre here tonight, with a loss estimated at $100,000. The fire was discovered about an hour after the conclusion of a moving picture performance, and was under control shortly before midnight.

OBITUARY

William Bradford Merrill

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—(AP)—William Bradford Merrill, who retired from general editorial charge of the Hearst newspapers about a year ago on account of poor health, died at a private hospital today from pneumonia.

Bradford Merrill—his first name was seldom used—began his newspaper career in 1879 as a reporter on the Philadelphia North American. He held various positions on the Philadelphia Press and for five years was managed editor and for five years was managing editor editor of the New York Press and the New York World. He became general manager of all Hearst papers in 1917 and held that position until ill health caused him to retire.

He was born in Salisbury, N. H., on Feb. 27, 1861.

U.S. Senate Warrant Declared Invalid

Called For the Arrest of Sheriff Thomas W. Cunningham of Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26—(AP)—The United States circuit court of appeals of this district today declared invalid a warrant issued by the United States senate for the arrest of Sheriff Thomas W. Cunningham, of Philadelphia.

The warrant was served on Cunningham on March 26, last, after passage by the senate of a resolution declaring him in contempt because he refused to tell the Reed committee the source of certain money he contributed to the senatorial campaign fund of United States Senator-elect William S. Vare in the primary campaign.

Judges Joseph Buffington and J. Warren Davis joined in writing the majority opinion by which Cunningham was released under the senate warrant. Judge Victor P. Woolley presented a dissenting opinion.

The majority opinion takes the view that the warrant for Cunningham's arrest was not because of his refusal to appear but on the ground that he was in contempt for refusing to give all the details asked him by the Reed committee.

"To contend the warrant of arrest was a subpoena to appear and testify, and not an arrest for contempt after he had duly appeared is to ignore the real situation," the opinion states.

"If the warrant of arrest is not based on the witness' alleged contempt in refusing to answer the questions propounded by the committee; it has no ground.

King George Had An Uncomfortable Day

His Majesty Maintains His Strength Though His Temperature is 101.6.

LONDON, Nov. 26—(AP)—King George had an uncomfortable day. The official bulletin issued at 9 p. m., said: "The king has not had a comfortable day. His temperature was 101.6 but the pleurisy has not extended further and his strength is maintained."

The bulletin was signed Sir Stanley Hewett and Lord Dawson, of Penn, the king's physicians.

ALARM OCCASIONED BY VISIT OF PHYSICIANS

LONDON, Nov. 26—(AP)—Sir Stanley Hewett and Lord Dawson of Penn, physicians to King George, returned to Buckingham palace again shortly before 11 o'clock tonight. They had left the palace a little after 9 o'clock when they issued a regular medical bulletin.

Some alarm was occasioned outside the palace when both of the king's physicians called again shortly before eleven p. m. It was shortly learned, however, that they had arranged for this second visit before leaving the palace a little after nine. They remained in consultation for a little more than an hour before again departing, and issued no further bulletin on his majesty's condition.

ERROR OF POSITION IN SOS CALL FROM VESTRIS

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—(AP)—The commander of the battleship Wyoming, today testified that an error of 37 miles in the position of the liner Vestris as given in her SOS the day she sank delayed most of the ships that went to her aid.

The testimony was given in the government's inquiry by Captain Luther M. Overstreet, whose ship picked up six survivors. Telling of the confusion in the reports of the Vestris location, Captain Overstreet said nine ships closed in on the given position several hours after the Vestris went down with a loss of more than 100 miles on November 12.

Searchlights swept the sea, the captain said, but only the vessels approaching from the east—the Berlin, the French tanker, Myriam and the American Shipper—reached the scene of the sinking. Captain Overstreet mentioned three other vessels that were near the designated positions, but said the stricken liner actually was 37 miles east of that position.

Captain Overstreet, however, said the mistake was due to understandable causes. Because of the bad weather the skipper of the Vestris could get his position only by dead reckoning, and radio bearings which the Vestris received from land came from stations too close together, with the result that Captain William Carey of the Vestris got his latitude but not the needed longitude.

OUTLOOK FAVORABLE FOR RECORD SUSTAINED FLIGHT

FRESNO, Calif., Nov. 26—(AP)—With the outlook favorable at last report, Lee Schdenhair and John Guglielmetti were flying over central California today in an Albatross monoplane in an effort to establish a new record for sustained flight in a heavier than air machine.

Hopping off at 6:41 a. m. Sunday morning, the fliers were aiming at a mark one hour in excess of the time established in Germany by Wilhelm Zimmerman and Johann Ristics, 65 hours and 25 minutes. The old record must be exceeded one hour to constitute a new one. To beat that record the Albatross must stay up until 1:06 a. m. Wednesday.

SEVEN MONTHS OLD BABY WAS SENT BY AIR MAIL

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Nov. 26.—(AP)—An air mail trip from Colombia to Ecuador is the experience of a seven months old baby which was delivered here today from Cali, Colombia.

Outside of a little whimpering the baby arrived in excellent condition and passed the customs inspection without difficulty.

LIFE LOST IN $50,000 FIRE AT STATE PIER, NEW LONDON

Life Lost in $50,000 Fire at State Pier, New London—Two Buildings Were Destroyed—Coast Guard Boats Were Forced to Pull Out Into the Harbor—Quantities of Gasoline Stored in One of the Buildings Exploded and Added to the Intensity of the Fire—Six Patients in the Hospital Were Carried Out on Stretchers

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 26—One man was burned to death and it is believed that another man perished in the fire that destroyed the barracks, engineers department, officers quarters and part of the hospital of Coast Guard Section Base No. 4 here tonight. The charred remains of a man believed to be a first class seaman by the name of Tattleman were found just inside the hospital room when the fire was brought under control shortly after midnight. Tattleman was a basketball player with the Coast Guard team. Another seaman by the name of Wilson was reported missing and firemen and members of the Coast Guard station here were searching the ruins for his body early this morning.

As near as could be learned tonight about fifty men were quartered at the base and all but one, Wilson, could be accounted for after the fire broke out. In the sick bay at the base were seven patients all of whom were carried to safety on stretchers with the exception of Tattleman who apparently attempted to escape the flames alone.

The fire which caused damage between $50,000 and $75,000 was discovered in the engine room at the base about 9:45 o'clock and spread rapidly to other buildings. Attempt was made to halt the blaze by the fire-fighting force stationed at the base but this proved ineffectual and a general alarm was sent to the New London fire department which brought every available piece of apparatus to the scene. The recall sounded at 12:30 o'clock.

When the fire was discovered sailors commandeered the fire apparatus located at the base and fought the flames, but because of the nature of the construction of the buildings, which were of wood, the flames gained in headway and the request was made of the police department for assistance.

In the meantime and while a still alarm was being sent in an alarm was pulled in from Box. 13 on Congdon street at the approach of the base. This was responded to by Deputy Chief Calvin Edmunds and four pieces of apparatus.

By the time that the firemen arrived at the scene of the fire the engine room was a mass of flames and the fire was spreading rapidly. Chief Thomas Shipman caused a general alarm to be sent in, bringing five additional pieces of apparatus to the fire. By that time the barracks, officers quarters, office, and the hospital was being attacked.

Pumpers were stationed along the river front and their streams together with the streams of hose companies attached to hydrants caused over a dozen streams of water to be poured upon the burning buildings. It was two hours after the fire was started before the blaze was gotten under control and a half hour later only a mass of burning embers remained.

During the fiercest part of the fire quantities of gasoline stored in the storhouse exploded and added to the intensity of the fire. Because of the close proximity of shore patrol boats, moored on the west side of the pier, these boats were backed out into the stream and remained there until after the subduing of the flames.

The flames caused such an illumination of the heavens that thousands were attracted to the pier remaining there until after the fire had been put out.

FINANCIAL REPORT OF DEM. CAMPAIGN FUND

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Three persons contributed $100,000 or more each toward the total of $5,023,-106.02 which the democratic national committee received for 1928 campaign purposes, a report filed with the secretary of state today by committee officials revealed.

Of the total, $4,845,774.78 was expended. Receipts included three loans of $500,000 each from the County Trust Co. of New York, according to the report signed by Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the finance commitee, and James W. Gerard, treasurer. John J. Raskob, chairman of the national committee, contributed $110,000 and William F. Kenny, boyhood friend of Gov. Smith, and Herbert H. Lehman, $100,000 each.

Other contributors and amounts: Thomas Fortune Ryan, financier, who died last week, $80,000; P. S. DuPont, M. J. Meehan, Harry Payne Whitney and Charles W. Clark, each $50,000; William H. Todd, $35,000; Bernard M. Baruch, $32,000; Nicholas M. Schenck, B. E. Smith, Arthur Curtiss James, Oliver Cabana, Samuel Untermyer, Nicholas Brady, $25,000 each; Mrs. James C. Farrell, $20,000; Robert Sterling Clarke, Rudolph Spreckles, Edward S. Harkness, Henry Morgenthau, $15,000 each; Jesse H. Jones, $12,200; James Meehan, $12,000; James Gerard, $11,000; Nathan, Jr., and Hugh Strauss, James J. Riordan, John F. Gilchrist, John McCormac, $10,000 each.

THREE SEAMEN DIED FROM EFFECTS OF FUMIGATING GAS

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Harry Wolfberg, a seaman on the steamer F. J. Luckenbach one of whose jobs it is to awaken sleeping members of the crew each morning, went about his task today only to find but three men aboard and all were dead in their bunks. Investigation disclosed that they had died from the effects of fumigating gas which had not been entirely cleared from the ship.

The dead were: Walter S. DeMarcus, 38, an assistant engineer; Angel Bass, 34, ship's carpenter; and A. Montedlavo, 42, boatswain. All were from New York.

The ship had been in this port about two weeks undergoing repairs. It was fumigated late Saturday night and early Sunday morning. It was opened yesterday afternoon and it was believed that the three men boarded her and retired before the ship was free of gas fumes. That more members of her crew were not aboard the Luckenbach was due to the fact that most of them had been given leave of absence over the week end.

COLONIAL MANSION NOW HOME FOR CATS

CULPEPER, Va.—(AP)—"Farley," historic estate of the proud Charles Carter of colonial fame, has become the "Refuge for Friendless Cats."

Miss Emily Palmer Stearns, third owner of this property since the English crown gave it to Carter early in the 18th century, now gives hospitality to 75 cats from North Carolina, Maryland, the District of Columbia and the Old Dominion. Stray cats from "anywhere" find a home at the estate.

The refuge, Miss Stearns says, is the outgrowth of a childhood love for the feline which has so increased that she would give every homeless tabby in the country board and lodging. She plans to extend her work to all the states.

GOV. SMITH TO REMAIN LOYAL TO DEM. PARTY

ATLANTA, Nov. 26—(AP)—Governor Alfred E. Smith declared here today that although soon he must go back to work, his political knowledge and experience would "always be at the beck and call of the democratic party."

A luncheon tendered him during a one day stop over here by his host, Major John S. Cohen, editor of the Atlanta Journal and democratic national committeeman from Georgia, was the occasion for the New York executive's remarks, in which he also thanked Georgia for its support in the general election.

"It is a great satisfaction to me to know that so many millions of people had enough confidence in me to vote for my election as president," he said. "I will never forget the warm welcome I received everywhere. They call me 'Al' from Helena, Mont., to Oklahoma City, and from Kansas to the Atlantic seaboard."

STATEMENT EXPLAINS BARRYMORE DIVORCE

KINGSTON, N. Y., Nov. 26—(AP)—The secrecy which surrounded the divorce Michael Strange obtained from John Barrymore before his marriage to Dolores Costello was dissolved today, with the disclosure that the petition was filed and the decree granted in the actor's real name—John Blythe.

Attorneys for the wife quietly filed the papers here in behalf of a client identified only as Mrs. Blanche Blythe of New York. The petition was pushed forward and on August 18 last Supreme Court Justice Russel granted the decree. It became permanent three months later, just six days before Barrymore and Miss Costello were married.

It is not generally known that the actor's real name is Blythe, as is that of his noted sister, Ethel Barrymore. But Barrymore has been the stage name of the family since the days of their father, Maurice Barrymore.

BIDS OPENED FOR THE ARMORY IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 26—(AP)—Bids for the construction of a state armory to be erected opposite Beaver Ponds park in Goffe street, this city, were opened by Major General Morris B. Payne, a member of the firm of Payne and Keefe, New London architects, who drew the plans for the building, at a meeting of the armory commission today.

Of 20 firms bidding for the general construction contract, Charles E. Smith and Sons of Derby, was lowest in both the gross and net figures. The Smith firm agreed to do the work for $550,000 in its gross bid and $511,800 in its net bid.

The bids will be classified during the week and will again be taken up at a meeting of the armory commission to be held next Monday.

BOY BURNED TO DEATH IN A BOARDING HOME

DETROIT, Nov. 26—(AP)—A four year old boy was burned to death today while 64 other children, all under five years old, were carried to safety when fire destroyed the Villa Marillac, a boarding home near Farmington, a Detroit suburb.

A body found in the ruins of the two-story frame structure several hours after the fire was identified as that of Ferris Farhart, son of David Farhart of Lansing, Mich.

The blaze was said to have been caused by an overheated furnace pipe and was discovered by a janitor who notified nuns of the St. Vincent de Paul sisters of charity who operated the home.

TILSON FAVORS SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Holding the belief that farm relief legislation can be enacted at the coming short session, Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the republican leader of the house, today came out for a special session of congress to be called soon after the regular adjournment on May 4 to consider revision of the tariff.

In a prepared statement expressing his personal opinion, Mr. Tilson said this seemed to be the wise thing to do, for if tariff revision must be done the sooner the better. He added, however, that he spoke for himself alone and that his mind was open to conviction if there was a better plan.

As for farm relief, the republican leader declared that, while this was a matter of very great importance, it embraced several phases which might better be handled in separate bills and he saw no reason why they should not be enacted into law at the coming short session.

In his views on farm relief, Representative Tilson joined Speaker Longworth who several days ago also advocated the enactment of farm relief at the concluding session of the seventieth congress.

Declaring that tariff is a nation-wide policy applicable to one section as well as another, Mr. Tilson said the next session "should not be so difficult as it has been in the past."

IS LINDBERGH ENGAGED TO MISS MORROW?

MEMPHIS, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh passed tonight in Memphis, getting what he called "a good rest" at a hotel before resuming his flight east tomorrow. He landed at 3:45 p. m., after a non-stop flight of six hours and 50 minutes from San Antonio, Texas.

Officials of the airport where he berthed his plane said he planned to take off at 8 a. m., tomorrow. He did not announce his destination. It was understood, however, that he was flying to New York.

As to concern which had been felt over the country for his safety Saturday night and Sunday, Col. Lindbergh explained he only had followed his custom in not reporting his landing at a ranch near Tampico, Mexico, late Saturday. Fear of a forced landing in Mexico had been current.

A smile, a shruz and "you've heard the rumors; I've nothing to add" were his only responses to questions concerning reports of a possible engagement to Miss Elizabeth Morrow, daughter of Dwight W. Morrow, ambassador to Mexico.

WRECKED HIS AIRPLANE TAKING OFF FROM TRAIN

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Eddie Ballough, Chicago commercial pilot, wrecked his airplane but escaped uninjured today in an attempt to take off from the roof of a speeding railroad train.

The feat was attempted from the top of an Illinois Central passenger train speeding at 60 miles an hour, between here and Mattoon. Ballough and his plane were hurled from the top of the train when a cross air current lifted one wing and caused the plane to topple over and crash onto the north bound tracks of the right of way.

Ballough had planned to take off as an experiment in testing the possibilities of transferring mail to a plane from a train while in motion.

FIVE MEN HELP IN ROTHSTEIN MURDER CASE

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—(AP)—Two men who knew Arnold Rothstein, gambler king of Broadway, and a man and a woman who didn't testified today before the grand jury that is investigating his death and when they were done the arm of the law swung out and closed its hands on five shoulders in rapid succession.

Two of the men who have been heard by the grand jury, the two who knew Rothstein, were among the five held. None of the five was "arrested", in the technical meaning of the word, but were only "held" as material witnesses. But whatever their official status they were in the house of detention tonight and their fingerprints were in the police headquarters library.

The five are "Nigger Nate" Raymond, Martin (Red) Bowe, "Titanic" Tommy Thompson, or Thomas, Jimmy Meehan, and Sidney Stafer. Stafer and Bowe were questioned by the grand jury, the other witnesses of the day being Mrs. Ruth Keyes, a Chicago cloak model, and Andrew J. Sheridan, one of the administrators of the Rothstein estate.

NAT'L BANK OF MACON, GA., HAS CLOSED ITS DOORS

MACON, Ga., Nov. 26.—(AP)—The Fourth National bank of Macon, one of the largest financial institutions in central Georgia, closed its doors today after a two hour run on withdrawals, Leon S. Dure, president, said the bank's board of directors at a special meeting had decided to close the doors and take steps toward reorganization of the institution.

The bank, organized more than 20 years ago, had a capital of $500,000, deposits of approximately $2,000,000 and resources listed at more than $11,000,000. Its building stands at one of the busiest corners in Macon, which is one of the largest cities in Georgia.

President Dure said it was shown to be the "sense and determination" of the bank's directors to organize a new bank "capable and willing to take care of the depositors fully and promptly, if such a payment is desired, and continue to serve the people of Macon and the people of this territory."

WOMAN DIED ON THE KNICKERBOCKER LIMITED

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 26.—(AP)—A woman aged about 60 years who died on the Knickerbocker Limited just before the train reached Providence this afternoon, was identified by New Haven railroad authorities tonight as Mrs. Lillian Kogan, of Paterson, N. J. The railroad authorities located the woman's son at 1275 President street, Brooklyn, N. Y. A New York undertaker was sent to Providence to take charge of the body. The woman was seized with illness in a chair car while on her way to New York. The clue to her identity was a bank book.

GOV. OF ARIZONA IN FIST FIGHT WITH STATE SENATOR

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Police were called to the Arizona state capitol late today when Governor G. W. P. Hunt was engaged in a brief fist fight with State Senator Fred Colter. The governor was struck one or two blows by Colter as the climax of an argument in the capitol lobby. Interference by J. S. Strode, secretary to the governor, ended the affair.

BOYS STAGE WILD WEST ACT AND LAND IN COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Nov. 26—The peaceful refinement of the "hill section" of the city was sadly interrupted Sunday when two youths, residents of the section assumes the roles of wild west heroes and opened up a fusillade that considerably endangered the safety of the neighborhood. One of the shots went through the sun parlor at the home of Stanley J. Sumner and lodged in a window sill. When Mr. Sumner's father, Superintendent of Streets Edwin Sumner came there to investigate another shot plowed into the garage door. The police were then notified and Officer Arthur Hurley invaded the stronghold of the "desperadoes." He found the place well barricaded with cord wood and the interior carpeted and otherwise equipped as a shack. At least two of about half a dozen youths who made the place their headquarters were notified to appear in juvenile court Tuesday morning to answer to charges of discharging firearms within the city limits, wilful destruction of private property and starting a bon-fire without permission of the marshal. The boys were using 22 calibre rifles.

FIRST ANTARCTIC FLIGHT IN HISTORY"

—radios CAPT. WILKINS

THIS message was radioed and cabled to the Vacuum Oil Company on Thursday, November 22nd, by Captain Sir Hubert Wilkins and Lieut. Ben Eielson who are now in the Antarctic.

As further evidence of Mobiloil's successful lubrication, they radioed the Wright Aeronautical Corporation: "Whirlwinds (engines) perform perfectly on first Antarctic flight ever made."

Perhaps in no flight in history has perfect lubrication been so important as in this Wilkins flight—the First in the Antarctic. These two fliers with only one spare plane and three assistants have gone to the Antarctic on a scientific expedition to study weather conditions which influence the whole world.

With such restricted equipment only the best would do — in men, in engines and in lubrication. Obviously they chose Mobiloil.

Other Mobiloil "FIRSTS" include:

First from New York to Paris—with Col. Lindbergh
First to the North Pole—with Commander Byrd
First around the World—with the U. S. Army Fliers
First to Hawaii—with the U. S. Army Fliers

These are only a few of the many spectacular flights where Mobiloil has been used. In all these flights only regular stock Mobiloil was used — exactly the same Mobiloil as that offered you by any Mobiloil dealer. You, too, can always be sure with

"OVER THE COUNTER"

DEAR DOT:

Can you think of anything that gives the average home-maker a bigger thrill than a well stocked linen closet? I can't. The most appetizing menu combined with one's most exquisite silver and china are entirely lost if they lack the most important touch of all—immaculately clean table linen. It seems that at this season of the year all our thoughts turn to this household essential, for of course we have to consider the Thanksgiving and Christmas feasting, not to mention the place that linens hold on every complete and well arranged CHRISTMAS GIFT LIST.

THE RHODE ISLAND TEXTILE has a wonderful assortment of these fine linens. I know this will be good news for you, 'cause I remember that you always do your Christmas shopping early while the supply is new and fresh looking. Well, I found there some beautiful Irish Linen Damask Sets, consistnig of a cloth, 66x66 inches, and a half dozen 20-inch napkins hemstitched. These sets sell for $4.98 and are quite a "buy." Then, too, they had sets that would be more fitting for the large family gathering with a 66x84-inch cloth and a half dozen 20-inch napkins which sell for just a dollar more—$5.98. The imported crash sets which they are showing there are also very pretty and useful. They come in various color combinations and are very reasonably priced. For your kitchen needs they have some dandy glass towels in linen which come in different colors and sell for only 35c apiece. They have, too, the linen crash towels with colored borders at 29c and 39c a yard.

I think linen is an ideal gift for almost anyone. It is always a joy to the young girl who is filling up her hope chest and it is certainly at all times welcomed by folks like you and me who have long since worn out those precious linens collected during the engagement days.

When you come over next week-end stop at the house for a few minutes and I will shew you what I bought in the RHODE ISLAND TEXTILE STORE and I am sure you will follow in my footsteps in doing your Christmas shoppipng. If you'd like I will go with you on your next shopping trip, for I still have a few names on my list to select for.

Sincerely,
Devotedly, JANE.

EARLY CHRISTMAS MAILING

It is not a new plea which the postal authorities make when they urge the early mailing of Christmas presents. It has been repeatedly urged upon the public because it gives the best assurance of getting the mail matter to its proper destination and distributed on time.

Everyone knows what happens when there is congestion. When there are so many cars that they cannot get through the streets it is a case of getting them through as quickly as possible but some of them have to wait. That is the situation with the postal service. When the big bulk of the packages is delayed until the last few days it means taxing the facilities of the service, in spite of the augmented forces during the holiday season, to the point where it becomes clogged. That congested condition may not last long but it may be long enough to miss mails and prevent presents from getting to their destinations on time.

All that can be avoided by getting them early. If Christmas packages are forwarded early, several days earlier than would ordinarily be required to get to the point of delivery, it gives the department a chance to cope with the heavy demands made upon it. If such packages are properly marked as to when they should be opened, the early mailing does not in any way interfere with the Christmas plans.

The idea of early Christmas shopping is for the purpose of overcoming that hard last minute rush on the part of the buyers and the equally hard nerve racking tussle on the part of the clerks in trying to serve the fretful and overwrought persons who are endeavoring to buy under the last minute strain and rush.

What holds good in regard to early shopping is equally pertinent in the case of mailing those purchases. The Christmas mail can be much better and more easily handled over a long period than by having it all dumped into the office in the last few days. It is necessary for the public to give a bit of thought to the situation in which the postal employes are placed at Christmas time and make the slight effort that is necessary to relieve the situation as much as possible. While it is a help to the postal workers it is also the best way of insuring timely delivery.

A QUIET INAUGURAL

Following a presidential election there is always a demand for inauguration arrangements that will call for a big demonstration, plenty of display and pomp, a great parade and a monster inaugural ball.

There was a time when it was the custom. Conditions have changed however, and it is by no means surprising that Mr. Hoover has declared his opposition to anything of the kind. It is in fact in keeping with the man who has been elected as the next president that there should be a simple inauguration. Upon that point he has spoken and it can be expected that the arrangements will be in accord therewith.

Mr. Hoover's inauguration views in this respect are not different from those of recent presidents. President Wilson indicated his opposition to any elaborate demonstration. The same view was taken when President Harding had a chance to express himself. It was the sentiment of President Coolidge that there be no resort to the extravagance and display of other days and in his decision Mr. Hoover shows an unwillingness to upset recent practices.

The demand for imposing spectacles comes from those who see in them commercial advantages. Washington is certain to be crowded by those who are desirous of getting a personal view of the ceremony but the hotels restaurants, storekeepers and a flock of itinerant merchants would like to see more brought into Washington through the advertising of an elaborate demonstration, gorgeous decorations and elaborate social functions.

Mr. Hoover is desirous of eliminating the show. He knows that the money that could be put into an elaborate inauguration can be better employed in other ways. He is the kind of a man who will be anxious to go through with the requirements but in a businesslike manner and then settle down to the serious task of directing the affairs of the responsible office of president of the United States.

MINING FATALITIES

In the use of coal in the homes and factories of this country little thought is probably given to the fact that in the mining of this fuel there goes with it a certain number of human lives. We have been mining coal for a good many years, with many of them surface mines, and we have been making a hard fight against the accidents which are so costly, but in spite of all that has been done it can be figured with considerable accuracy at the opening of every year about how many lives will be sacrificed before the 12 months are concluded.

According to the report of the bureau of mines of the department of commerce there were 161 lives lost in coal mining during the month of October. In the same month last year the loss was 192. This is a pleasing improvement in view of the fact that nearly eight million more tons of coal were mined in October this year than in the same month a year ago.

For the ten months of this year there have been 1771 lives lost in the production of 465,000,000 tons of coal, while for ten months last year there were 1961 deaths while 503,000,000 tons of coal were being mined. Thus the year, thus far, as well as October, shows that safety conditions in the mining industry have been better.

Such improvement is cause for satisfaction. It is unquestionably a response to the efforts that have been put forth by the various agencies to create better conditions, but when we stop to realize that the monthly or the yearly death record depends upon the fall of roofs and coal, upon explosives and their use, upon electricity, upon gas and dust explosions and upon carelessness on the part of the human agent in connection with the various operations connected with mining we can perhaps wonder that there are not more lives lost than there are.

The efforts that have been made to safeguard mining have accomplished wonders. The losses still show, however, that there is still plenty of opportunity for continued endeavors and in that the need for heartiest cooperation on the part of miners, operators and government agencies is fully apparent. Through that steadier progress toward the desired goal will be made.

JEREMIAH J. DESMOND

With sincere regret the citizens of Norwich and surrounding towns will learn of the passing of Jeremiah J. Desmond, for one term mayor of the city, for years coroner for New London county and for a lifetime a lawyer of such outstanding qualifications as to make him one of the leaders of the county bar.

Mr. Desmond was long identified with the public life of Norwich and many of the towns of the county. He was a man of sound judgment, whose opinion was sought and valued. He was an indefatigable worker in whatever cause he labored and his practice was only limited by the restrictions placed upon human endurance. He was an able and fluent speaker and always seemed the happiest when working the hardest.

Politically he was a democrat and when put forward by his party for the mayoralty he was promptly elected and escaped a second term only by one vote. Following the death of Coroner Brown he was chosen to that office and served faithfully in that capacity until poor health made it necessary for him to resign.

By his death there is removed one of the older members of the legal fraternity, a man of strong convictions, a companionable and loyal friend. He was a citizen of the highest type, a lawyer of the old school but thoroughly grounded in his profession and his removal means a distinct loss to the community. He will be greatly missed in legal and other circles where so much of his life was spent.

BOULDER DAM

Opinions vary as to the difficulties that will be encountered in connection with action on the Boulder dam bill. This legislation is by no means new. It has been advocated and discussed for a long time. It has encountered some of its worst opposition from the states which are directly concerned.

Perhaps the attitude of the opponents is voiced by Senator King of Utah who is inclined to think the bill will be approved, but who says that inasmuch as it involves the expenditure of a half billion for the benefit of California it is time that some consideration was given to his state, Utah. He proposes to offer certain amendments to the bill with that object in view. If they are accepted he may vote for the bill. If they are not approved he may vote against it. It isn't a situation where the success or the failure of the bill depends upon his vote but his statement represents the feeling that prevails in certain of the western states because they have been unable to come to an agreement among themselves as to what should be done at Boulder dam.

Demands for the enactment of this bill have developed filibuster talk, but in view of the developments and the expressions concerning it in the recent campaign it is not probable that congress will do other than point to the verdict of the country in that respect and act accordingly. Could the states which have an interest in the waterway that is to be dammed have come to an understanding as to their respective interests much of the opposition raised in the last session of congress would have been eliminated and a better understanding of the proposition would have been possible. It is still a project that can still cause a lot of backing and filling if there is a desire in the coming session for such tactics.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, November 26—Floor Leader John Q. Tilson believes there should be an extra session, before the regular session next December, to revise the tariff. Whether that session shall be called at once, after March 4th, or not be called until fall, after a tariff revision has taken form and substance and is ready to be brought before congress, is one of the most discussed questions hereabout today. Not until the leaders get together and congress is really under full swing, can the matter be even "guessed at" by the outsider.

The Connecticut delegation will all be on hand when the gavel falls at noon next Monday. Their positions on committees; their recognized leadership, and their long congressional experience makes it unnecessary they form a part of the advance guard, which comes from back home to the capital early, in order to "better" their personal interests, and gain higher committee position, more desirable office quarters and other matters of personal interest. The Connecticut delegation is splendidly placed already, and all it needs to do is to be on the spot when congress convenes. Of course Col. Tilson, as floor leader, has been here attending to preliminary matters concerning the house program.

Except that Washington is spick—span and the great capitol building in readiness, there are few indications that the last session of the 70th congress will convene on Monday. All talk in on what sort of an inauguration ceremony will mark the incoming of the Hoover administration; what chance there is of an extra session of congress, and what the Coolidges will do after March 4th. Hardly a word of the immediate future.

That the session will see many a hard fought battle goes without the saying. There is one group of men urging an extra session to immediately follow adjournment on March 4th, to consider the proposed farm measures, in case they do not pass this winter; another set of men are clamoring for immediate revision of the tariff; still another led by Speaker Longworth urges that no extra session be called before fall. These men believe the things asked for should be accomplished, but that no revision of the tariff should be attempted until after the ways and means committee have held hearings, and framed a measure likely to meet the approval of congress, and so become a law. They argue that anything that could result before fall would be merely half-baked legislation and no good come out of it.

Another matter absorbing the attention of Washington, to a degree incredible to people of other sections is the celebration that shall take place March 4th. They want a ball, a parade and all the old time fixin's; but Mr. Hoover decrees otherwise and insists on extreme simplicity. Of course his word is law. So far as the government is concerned, but it is quite possible the merchants and hotel men and other residents will take a hand in the matter and arrange for a splendid celebration along civic lines, and so give the thousands upon thousands of visitors a great entertainment, and at the same time fill the coffers of the merchants and the hotels. The inauguration is so closely followed by the school spring vacations, the spring tourist season and the annual convention of the D. A. R.'s, that even now hotel reservations are at a premium in many sections of the city.

Apparently President Coolidge has no sensational surprise up his sleeve, nor is there any great mystery regarding his future plans. He let it be known to correspondents at his last press interview, that in his silence he is simply following the custom of other outgoing presidents by making no announcement, while president, of his plans as a private citizen. When asked as to the correctness of various rumors as to his intentions, he let it be understood that they could all be put down as rumors only. Many of the personal effects of the president and Mrs. Coolidge have already been shipped from the white house to their former home in Northampton, but they have given no inkling as to their personal plans. It is evident the president is glad to be released from the presidency, with its heavy responsibilities, its restraints and its irksome daily grind. He seems to be in splendid health and Mrs. Coolidge has apparently recovered her health.

Thanksgiving at the capital bids fair to be a quiet one. Many of the congressmen with families where the children are of a school age, do not bring them to Washington for the short winter session that ends a congress. In that case the congressmen plan to eat Thanksgiving turkey at home, also to share the Christmas tree and holiday fun with the children, then come back and settle down to six weeks of hard work. And it is astonishing to see how much important legislation can be put through congress under stress in that short time. Only a filibuster will prevent cleaning up the slate before March 4th, and a filibuster is something no one can forecast. It all depends how the two major parties get together and whether or not the western men join with the democrats in coalition.

No one knows yet whether or not any attempt will be made to disturb the four insurgents in the senate, who bolted their ticket, and turned turtle when they voted. Norris and Blaine, so-called republicans, voted for Smith; Heflin and Simmons, democrats, voted for Hoover. Whether or not it will be considered worth while, to bring punishment on the obstreperous four, is not yet made public, in fact it is doubtful if the leaders of either party have decided on what is best to be done.

Stories That Recall Others

High Priced Turkey

A certain family was gathered about the table one night when father announced that one of the stores he had passed that day was offering a Thanksgiving turkey with each $5 purchase.

"Isn't that an awful price to pay for one turkey?" questioned Johnny, age ten.

Pattern for a Dress

Little Ethel is a youngster of delicate sensibilities when it comes to matters artistic.

After an exquisite symphony at the theater she breathed a sigh of joy and murmured:

"Mamma, I wish I had a dress just like that music."

Silent Railway.

The problem of engine vibration, it is reported, has been met and conquered by a Swedish railroad engineer, Magnus Tacklind of Stockholm. He has designed a railway motor car said to attain a speed of 50 miles an hour with no more noise than the clicking of the rails.

The silent car has an underslung motor, entirely separate from the frame of the car. Power is supplied to the drive wheels from the motor by five distinct sets of gears, all in simultaneous use.

BIG TURKEY FARM IN HILLS OF SOMERS, CONNECTICUT.

A few years ago the name of Vose was prominently identified with the turkey industry in eastern Connecticut and western Rhode Island. With the passing of Horace Vose, who for years supplied the president's table with big birds, that family's connection with turkey raising practically ceased.

Others who have gone into the business have done so on a small scale. Turkey raising has always been a gamble but there are nevertheless those who understand it better than others. Through study and a liking for the game they make a success of it but today the turkey center appears to have shifted from Westerly, R. I., to Somers, Conn.

That Tolland county town has an interesting turkey farm conducted on a large scale and described in the following manner by a representative of the Springfield Union as the result of a recent visit:

"With the approach of the Thanksgiving season, market windows in cities and towns throughout the Connecticut valley will soon be displaying the familiar signs announcing that orders are being taken for fresh-killed Vermont and Rhode Island turkeys. Just as hotel menus throughout the year list 'roast Vermont turkey' as one of the favorite dishes. But ask the average marketman for a strictly native-grown turkey, and with a shrug of the shoulders he will likely convey the information that unfavorable climatic conditions, susceptibility to disease, or some other equally plausible reason make turkeys so difficult to raise in this section that they are not readily available.

"General as this opinion was in past years, and well-founded also as it may have been, it nevertheless is equally true that more and more home-grown turkeys are gracing the festive board on Thanksgiving day in homes of this section. It has, of course, always been a more or less common sight in driving through the rural districts to see an occasional pair of turkeys, or perhaps even a flock of eight or ten birds that the farmer had succeeded in raising to maturity, but only within the past few years has the raising of turkeys on a commercial basis been undertaken to any extent hereabouts.

Started Six Years Ago.

"A place where one of these small flocks of turkeys could almost invariably be found was the old Elmer J. Worthington farm, fully three miles from the center of this village (Somers), in a somewhat excluded section of the Somers mountains. Born and reared on the farm where the turkey flock was always a source of wonder and admiration to the children, as well as of pride and satisfaction to their elders, it is only natural that when a son, Charles O. Worthington, took possession of the old homestead six years ago, he had in mind the raising of turkeys on an extensive scale, the more so as his father's flock was usually an exception for size about here, sometimes numbering as high as 25 or 30 birds.

"That Mr. Worthington is realizing his ambition to refute effectually the long-standing impression that turkeys cannot be successfully and profitably grown in this locality is at once apparent to a visitor at Mt. Notch Farm, where his advance into the dooryard will probably be impeded by an impressive procession of strutting tom turkeys, while from a nearby hillside will come a chorus of "gobbles" from pens alive with 400 of this season's birds, to the majority of which the next few weeks will prove anything but a season of Thanksgiving.

"While it is probable that this turkey farm is one of the largest in Connecticut or Western Massachusetts, Mr. Worthington reports a widespread interest in turkey growing among farmers in recent years. It would appear that in this movement the enthusiasm of the Worthington family is playing a conspicuous part, for not only is the next largest flock in this section owned by Mr. Worthington's sister, Mrs. Bert Stebbins of Somers, who has close to 150 birds, but a brother, H. H. Worthington, has a flock of nearly 200 in New Milford, while another sister in Rhode Island is growing a sizable flock.

"Mt. Notch farm is so called from its picturesque setting in a notch in the mountains above which on three sides rise the wooded hillsides of the Somers range, with Bald mountain in the foreground as the highest peak. The homestead has been in the Worthington family for nearly 70 years, and for a long period before that was owned by Mr. Worthington's grandparents on his mother's side. The farm lies partly in Somers and partly in Stafford township, and in the days before the present auto route over the mountains was directly on the main traveled thoroughfare between Stafford and Springfield.

Three Breeds

"The majority of the turkeys there are of the familiar bronze breed, but Mr. Worthington is also introducing some of the bourbon red and Holland white birds. When The Union representative called there there was every outward evidence that the turkeys realized they were the topic of discussion and it would be difficult to imagine a flock performing in better shape. Responding almost instantly to a pleasant but coaxing whistle from Mrs. Worthington, who shares with her husband his interest and enthusiasm for the flock, the massive toms spread their beautiful tail feathers into perfect fans and strutted majestically about, followed by the admiring hens. "The peacock perhaps justly deserves its reputation as the proudest of birds, but surely it has little advantage either in beauty of proudness over these "kings of the barnyard," for the bronze toms displayed their fans of rich bronze and purple, the bourbons their blendings of mahogany and brown and the hollands their feathers of pure white.'

"Mr. Worthington derives perhaps his greatest satisfaction in raising birds for exhibition and breeding purposes. Heading his flock is a yearling tom, Gold Nugget II, born and raised at Mt. Notch, which carried off the grand championship for best all-round turkey at the Eastern States exposition in a class of 100 entries. Gold Nugget II tips the scales at 38 pounds and although he would make a feast fit for a king, he nevertheless is in no danger as Thanksgiving day approaches, for $250 would not tempt the owner to part with this single specimen. Turkeys for breeding purposes have been shipped by Mr. Worthington to all but a few states in the union and twice within the last three years he has shipped breeders on government orders to the British West Indies. Last summer a shipment was sent to an inaccessible section of South America, to reach which the turkeys had to be taken over the last few miles of the journey by mule train.

Chance Plays Part

"To the casual observer it appears that the game of chance has a peculiar but unmistakable fascination for the farmers hereabouts. A tobacco crop with a potential value of thousands of dollars on which the grower stakes his hopes for the season may be reduced in a few minutes by a hailstorm to absolute ruin. The inexperienced turkey raiser likewise, according to the general tradition, may shut his flock of apparently healthy, promising turkeys up at night and find virtually the entire number dead in the morning from a dread malady known as blackhead. Scientific methods have, according to Mr. Worthington, greatly reduced this hazard in recent years, however, and he raises his flock of youngsters with little more fear than he would have for an ordinary flock of barnyard chickens.

"The first two months of the turkey's life constitute the critical period and once they have passed this age they thrive with comparatively little danger. Their greatest menace in the early age is feeding on ground where poultry has previously ranged, and accordingly as soon as the baby turkeys are taken from the incubators, Mr. Worthington places them in heated brooder houses with wire running pens attached, the floors of which are of heavy wire screen, raised about six inches above the ground, so that the birds are in no danger of contact with the ground. Here they are confined until about eight weeks old, when they can safely be placed in the regular running pens to remain during the summer.

"At this season of the year, the turkeys have virtually free range of the 330 acres comprising the Worthington farm, but the owner reports that apparently with due regard for feed time they confine their ramblings to a comparatively close area to the homestead. Few are out of range of the voice of the feeder when he calls the flock together. They consume each day about seven bushels of corn and 100 pounds of mash. The turkeys have no fear of a stranger, some actually satisfying their curiosity about the camera in the hands of The Union man at such close range that they were driven back with difficulty, while Harvey, the two year old son of the proprietor and several thoroughbred collies raised on the farm, play about with the flock without causing the slightest concern.

"The laying season for such of this year's pullets as survive the Thanksgiving inroads will begin in late March or early April and continues until about July 1, each laying an average of about 18 eggs. Eggs not used for hatching are boiled and used as food for the baby turkeys. Most of the 400 birds soon to fall victims of the holiday trade were hatched last spring and the flock is evenly divided as to toms and pullets, the former averaging 12 to 24 pounds and the latter eight to 15 pounds each.

"Only a few minutes conversation with Mr. Worthington is necessary to convince one that he is indeed a turkey enthusiast, and so convinced is he of the possibilities of success in turkey growing in the Connecticut valley on an extensive scale that he is anticipating with pleasure the not distant year when he can devote his time exclusively to this work."

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 — (AP) — Young gentlemen with Harvard accent, who feel at home in a tail coat, spats and stovepipe hats, and who rushed hastily into the revamped career foreign service of the government, are awaking to the sad fact that diplomatic life is not all pink tea and cocktails, to say nothing of beef and skittles.

They are actually being required to learn something about the manners, customs, politics and other things of the foreign lands to which they are assigned. Also, which is quite a change in policy, they are being required to stick at each post until they do so learn instead of skipping about from capital to capital.

Diplomats Settle Down

Inquiry at the state department develops that diplomatic secretaries are now expected to remain at a post abroad for periods up to four years at a stretch. Examination of the records of many of the present day seniors in the service shows that they were shifted about four or five countries on opposite sides of the world in a similar period in the past.

Even more drastic, however, is the study being made of reports from all foreign service personnel in the field, consular or diplomatic. Where there is evidence that the official correspondence is based merely on reading newspapers casually at the post involved and then sending in lengthy clippings and a few general remarks on the political, economic or commercial matters involved, the reporter is promptly shown the error of his ways. The next mail will bring him a departmental injunction to do a little real research on his own hook if he expects to get a high efficiency rating at home.

Best Men Win

By way of illustration of this change, the executive decree setting aside the near east as a zone of foreign service specialization is worthy of note. It means that an incoming group of foreign service candidates is surveyed and hand picked for men of promise.

These selected youngsters are told that if they elect near eastern specialization, they will be sent as vice consuls to such a post for an 18 month probationary period. During that time, in addition to doing their routine work up to the handle, they must disclose the initiative and brains to do something in original research in their territory. No suggestions as to the subject are made. They must pick out the job themselves.

Having accomplished that, the youngster is given three years' intensive study in near eastern languages, being required to learn Turkish, Arabic and Persian, one of them very thoroughly and the other two well. Having proved by this time his serious purpose of having actual knowledge and understanding of the near east, he will be kept on duty there at various posts thereafter as a key man in the foreign service system and a mark in efficiency at which others may shoot.

YOUR HEALTH

A Winning Personality from Walking "Cleans House" of Body Poisons

(By W. V. Gage, M. D., Denver)

The cheapest and probably the most efficient form of exercise for body building is walking in the open air, with chest out, chin and abdomen in (no joke intended).

It is a good idea, if daily walking is a new thing, not to be too ambitious as to distance, on the start. Go far enough so that you feel better, and not worse, on your return, adding distance each day. In the fresh air and sunshine, there is a tonic far superior to anything you can buy in a bottle.

After a few blocks, your heart will begin to pump more blood into your lungs. This blood will pick up extra quantities of body-cleaning oxygen from the air and transport it to your hungry tissues.

You will be "cleaning house," in the best possible way, as the expired air will carry out of your body the poisons that your tissues have held and that you must get rid of to be fit.

Walk far enough to produce a perspiration, and take a warm shower of sponge followed by a brisk toweling on your return.

Perspiration followed by bathing gives the skin a chance to "breathe," and aids the lungs in poison elimination.

Let walking be a big item in making you more valuable to both yourself and others. Let it aid in giving you the "whining personality," you may have been trying to study out of a book.

Walk somewhere, every day. Walk straight, and practice looking all men in the eye. Let your chest, and not your abdomen, precede you across every threshold.

Although in every other line of endeavor we as a nation have been making almost unbelievable progress, we are allowing our bodies to degenerate. Ten years ago, when we called to the colors, nearly 40 per cent of what should have been the flower of our young manhood could not pass muster, physically. This spells a criminal national unfitness in time of stress and emergency.

If the progenitors of these rejected young men had led the physical lives they should have, and been born of ancestors who likewise had acquiesced to nature's laws in the matter of building perfect and dependable bodies much nearer 100 per cent the country's potential defenders would have been, barring accidents, in an acceptable physical condition.

Here is an indictment we cannot get away from. Nor can we shift responsibility for it. We are all equally guilty, for the reason that we never have, as a nation, given diet and exercise the attention they deserve in the perfecting of the bodies of our offspring. Students of animal husbandry in their hope to turn their charges into "blue ribbon winners" often lavish upon the bodies of dumb animals greater care than many of us give our children. Economically short sighted, to say the least.

When You Catch Cold Rub On Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and works right away. It may prevent a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster.

Musterole is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Children's MUSTEROLE

Better than a mustard plaster

To break a cold harmlessly and in a hurry try a Bayer Aspirin tablet. And for headache. The action of Aspirin is very efficient, too, in cases of neuralgia, neuritis, even rheumatism and lumbago! And there's no after effect; doctors give Aspirin to children—often infants. Whenever there's pain, think of Aspirin. The genuine Bayer Aspirin has Bayer on the box and on every tablet. All druggists, with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

Makes Life Sweeter

Children's stomachs sour, and need an anti-acid. Keep their systems sweet with Phillips Milk of Magnesia! When tongue or breath tells of acid condition—correct it with a spoonful of Phillips. Most men and women have been comforted by this universal sweetener—more mothers should invoke its aid for their children. It is a pleasant thing to take, yet neutralizes more acid than the harsher things too often employed for the purpose. No household should be without it.

Phillips is the genuine, prescriptional product physicians endorse for general use; the name is important. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. registered trade mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

At Old Lyme, Commodore N. M. Terry of Sill Lane invited a large party to a coon hunt the other evening. Four coon dogs and hunters led the procession but could not track out a coon. About 10:30 all returned to Commodore Terry's home and had a lunch.

Treat's special ice cream for Thanksgiving will be a brick of French vanilla and chocolate with a center of Neaselrode pudding. Price $1 per qt. Please order early. Phone 1619-2.—adv.

In New York the coming Friday evening there is to be an auction of paintings from the collections of the late Chas. Donnelly, of Pittsburgh and the late Wm. A. Slater, of Washington and New York, formerly of Norwich. There are 98 paintings in the lot.

Canaries in Criminology.

Canaries in cages appear to have become a recognized power in modern criminology. This apparently absurd irrelevancy is reached on considering the fact that three big penitentiaries (those at Sing Sing, N. Y., Fort Madison, Iowa, and Marquette, Mich.) have large numbers of canaries, whose song is believed to have a wholesome effect upon the prisoners.

Fort Madison has 500 of the little singers in cages about the ceiling of the new cell home. When a few of the birds start singing, the whole number soon breaks into song, filling the huge building with music. At Sing Sing a life prisoner was permitted a year or so ago to have a few pet birds, and now he has a large number of canaries, thrushes and cardinals. In Marquette, too, the cheery song of the little yellow birds makes prison life more endurable and more smooth for both inmates and wardens.

Color of Cities.

Officials of the weather bureau have asserted that the heat radiated constantly in the atmosphere by the combustion of carbon modifies little by little the climate of cities and surrounding districts. It is calculated that 19,000,000 tons of carbon, most of it in the form of coal, is the average yearly amount burned in large cities. Confirmation of these facts is offered in historical descriptions of cities, Paris being referred to as a "city of red," while certain Italian cities are described as "violet."

One rain that wets the litter in a poultry house on a cold, wet night may do more damage to the flock than the cost of a new roof. The roof of a poultry house should be made watertight.

TRYING TO LOCATE RELATIVES OF MAN KILLED IN MONTVILLE CRASH

Examination of the personal effects of Aubrey Goodpasteure, 27, killed early Monday morning when the machine he was riding in crashed into a telephone pole at Montville, have revealed the fact that he has a sister, Miss Mattie Goodpasteure, at Hyrdo, Okla. Letters among the victim's effects also show that his father is also living but the letters fail to show the address of the young man's father. Undertaker C. A. Gager, who was given charge of the body, sent a telegram Monday afternoon to Miss Goodpasteure at the Oklahoma address, notifying her of her brother's sudden death, and is awaiting a reply before the funeral arrangements are completed.

Joseph Lukegord of Uncasville, driver of the Ford roadster in which Goodpasteure and two girls, Misses Catherine Hill and Beatrice Peratti, residing at the New London Y. W. C. A., were riding, is held on a technical charge of manslaughter, pending the outcome of the coroner's finding. He was presented Monday before Justice of the Peace J. Y. Miller at Montville and the case continued for one week under bonds. State Police Officer Smith of the Groton barracks, who conducted the investigation, held Lukegord on the technical charge of manslaughter.

It is said that Pasteure was planning to return to his former home in Kansas City within the near future. He was a former naval man, having received some time ago an honorable discharge from the navy.

SUES HIS SISTER FOR COMPENSATION ACCOUNTING

Decision was reserved by Judge C. B. Waller in the common pleas court at New London Monday in trial of the suit of Robert Doherty of Clark lane, Waterford, against his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Heffernan of New London, for an accounting of workmen's compensation money which was paid to him in checks which he turned over to his sister.

Doherty who was brought into the court room on a wheel chair, and who has spent many months in the Lawrence and Memorial Associated hospital and a New York post graduate hospital, was injured in 1923. He alleges that he was awarded compensation for 80 weeks at the rate of $18.84 a week, and that he endorsed every check he received over to his sister, Mrs. Heffernan, whom he instructed to place them in the Mariners Saving bank to his credit.

He claims that his sister, who was employed in a mill, left work, when he came out of the hospital and made a home for him for which the insurance company paid her $45 a week. He testified that a night nurse was also needed. He said that the insurance company at first refused to pay the night nurse and so she was paid $540 for her entire services out of the compensation money but later the compensation commissioner ordered that he be reimbursed and he received a check for the amount. He said, however, that the board for the nurse was not included and so he paid $175 for that.

Doherty testified that for the entire 80 weeks, he received a total of $1,507.20 and that with the exception of the $540, there should be in the bank to his credit $867.20, but that when he was about to leave the Heffernan home, his sister informed him that there was a little over a dollar left.

Attorney Morgan asked him if a sister, who lived in Taunton, Mass., and with whom he now resides, did not come to New London and make trouble but the witness replied that she did not.

Attorney Morgan then went over a bill of particulars containing things which Mrs. Heffernan had purchased with the money for the benefit of the plaintiff. Doherty, however, denied that he had authorized the purchase of any of these things.

Mrs. Heffernan claims that she was requested by her brother to use the money as it was needed for him and she submitted an accounting which she said was right to a penny, showing the disbursements, which left a balance of $1.55. Her figures showed that she had received the sum of $1,337.64 and that all but $1.55 had been expended for him.

The sister said that she could not deposit the money in his name in the bank without getting the signature and so she placed it in her own account, which contained but a dollar or two when she started.

CHRIST CHURCH SOCIETIES RECEIVE NEW MEMBERS

On Sunday morning at Christ Episcopal church at the 10:30 matins after the creed, six young women came forward to the altar rail and were taken into the Girls' Friendly society and seven young men were received into St. Vincent's Guild. The rector, Rev. C. M. Budlong, has done much in the four years he has been in Norwich to build up and establish the work among the young people.

Mrs. Chester Dimick, the diocesan president of the Girls' Friendly society, attended the service and spoke to the young women after the service on their splendid work this last year. The beautiful white flowers upon the altar were a thank offering from the society for their many blessings. The seven branch candle sticks blessed by the rector and used for the first time were a gift from Mrs. Sarah J. Fay of Meriden, Conn., in memory of her husband who attended Christ church several years ago.

Among the notices given out at the service, was that of the hour 9:30 a. m. on Thanksgiving day in worship. Both St. Andrew's church people in Greeneville and Grace church Yantic are especially invited to take part in the service at Christ church as these parishes have no rectors. There will be special music in the keeping with the spirit of the day.

AUTO COLLISION CASE GETS INTO CITY COURT

As the result of a complaint made by Boris Besinkoff of R. F. D. No. 2, Albert G. Rodgers, taxi driver, was presented in the city court Monday morning on a charge of violation of the motor vehicle laws in failing to signify his intention of stopping the motor vehicle he was driving, Saturday afternoon, on Water street. The case was nolled, absolutely.

Rodgers testified that he had to stop suddenly because he was in a line of traffic. A signal light on the rear of his machine signified his intention of stopping. Rodgers testified that defective brakes on Besinkoff's machine were really the cause of the accident.

Besinkoff himself was presented in the police court Monday morning on a charge of operating a machine with defective brakes. The case was nolled on payment of $10. Besinkoff was driving a Chevrolet truck Saturday afternoon and the truck crashed into a trolley car on McKinley avenue near Broad street, which was after the accident in Water street. The truck was badly damaged and the contents, fruit and vegetables, were scattered about the street.

Claims Wrong Defendant Named

In a recent report of a suit brought in the superior court by Herbert and Katherine Hawley, husband and wife of Naugatuck for an automobile accident May 24 on the Norwich-Colchester road, Willard Sullivan of Colchester was named as a defendant, but a relative of Mr. Sullivan makes the statement that the defendant named should be Patrick Sullivan of Bozrahville.

St. Andrew's Day Service

St. Andrew's day service will be held at 10:30 a. m. on Friday of this week in Christ Episcopal church, and the Advent Sunday night song service begins next Sunday at 7:30 p. m.

CHURCH UNITY ADDRESS TO NORWICH MINISTERS

The Norwich Ministers association held its regular meeting Monday at noon at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Universalist, with an attendance of about 30 ministers and laymen, for whom dinner was served by the women of the church.

Rev. A. N. Foster, president of the association, introduced the speaker for the meeting, who was Dr John Milton Moore of New Haven, general secretary of the Church of Christ in America, who spoke of the growing need of more cooperation and unity among the churches. He referred to the quadrennial meeting of the Federal council which is to be held next week at Rochester. This is to be the 20th anniversary of the council and because of this fact extensive studies in church unity have been conducted the past twelve months.

In part Rev. Dr. Moore spoke as follows:

The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America was organized at Philadelphia in 1908 with a five-fold objective: To express the fellowship and catholic unity of the Christian church; to bring the Christian bodies of America into united service for Christ and the world; to encourage devotional fellowship and mutual counsel concerning the spiritual life and religious activities of the churches; to secure a larger combined influence for the churches of Christ in all matters affecting the moral and social condition of the people, so as to promote the application of the law of Christ in every relation of human life; to assist in the organization of local branches of the Federal Council to promote its aims in their communities.

I this national federation, 28 church bodies are cooperating in the prosecution of a great variety of common activities, including evangelism, Christian education, social service, international justice and good will, race relations, research, extension of state and local cooperation, relations with churches in Europe and in the Near East, and mercy and relief.

The communions represented are as follows: Northern Baptist convention, National Baptist convention, Free Baptist churches, Christian church, churches of God in N. A., Congregational churches (general eldership), Disciples of Christ, Evangelical church, Evangelical Synod of N. A., Friends, Methodist Episcopal church, Methodist Episcopal church, south, African M. E. church, African M. E. Zion church, Colored M. E. church in America, Methodist Protestant church, Moravian church, Presbyterian church in the U. S. (south), Primitive Methodist church, National Council of the Protestant Episcopal church (cooperating body), Reformed Church in America; Reformed Church in the U. S., Reformed Episcopal church, Seventh Day Baptist churches, United Brethren church, United Presbyterian church, United Lutheran church (consulative body).

The main question to be considered at Rochester is whether something more fully expressive of unity ought not to be sought. A suggestive analogy is found in our political history.

The problem that the churches of America are facing does not greatly differ from our political problem of 150 years ago. The medieval church achieved unity at the cost of liberty. The reformers secured liberty at the cost of unity. We are endeavoring to find a vital unity which will be compatible with essential liberty. Our chief problems are practically those of the American colonists—denominational jealousies and the fear of a superchurch. Unless the genius of the American people should undergo a complete transformation, no formula for closer church union is likely ever to be acceptable here that does not guarantee large liberty in the realm of thought and in the method of organization. The abiding values of the reformation are too highly esteemed, and our Christian liberties were purchased by the fathers at too great a price to make it possible to barter them away for what would prove in the end a spurious unity. Where the spirit of the Lord is there is liberty. Real Christian unity is born of that spirit and can never be artificially produced. The present status of the Federal Council in relation to the denominations would seem to be like that of the central government of the colonies under the articles of confederation. It stands for cooperation in common tasks but has had transferred to it no distinct functions by the churches that constitute it.

Votes of Thanks

Votes of thanks were passed to the women for providing the excellent dinner and to Dr. Moore for his address which was discussed in a general way by the meeting.

GIVES HEARINGS TO FIVE SUSPENDED OPERATORS

Hearings on automobile cases were given here Monday morning in the common pleas court room by Inspector P. E. Devnew of the state motor vehicle department and were disposed of as follows, the operators having their licenses suspended:

Frank A. Milenowsky, Uncasville, operating under influence, reckless driving, evading responsibility, decision reserved.

Joseph C. Austin, Glasgo, fatal accident, only officer's testimony taken.

Frank H. Strickland, R. F. D. No. 7 Norwich, operating under influence, license returned.

Mike Molinski, Danielson, operating under influence, must obtain insurance to have license returned.

John Aubrey, Goodyear, operating under influence, license returned.

Stanley Chowela of Jewett City came to the hearing without any witnesses and was told to appear again with witnesses at a subsequent hearing, as he has lost his license for operating under the influence.

Two men charged with operating under the influence, Alfred J. Bousquet, Plainfield street, Plainfield and John F. Johnson, R. F. D., No. 1, Jewett City, failed to appear at the hearing.

CLARENCE BAILEY RETURNS WITH MIND CONFUSED

Clarence Bailey, 51, formerly of Plain Hill, missing since May 5 walked into police headquarters Monday shortly after noon. He was taken to the Norwich State hospital for observation and treatment.

It was early last May that he deserted his farm and left his horse and wagon on the Gardner Lake road. His whereabouts, until his voluntary appearance in this city Monday, were a mystery. State Humane Agent Frederick H. Wyatt conducted an exhaustive investigation of the man's disappearance for several weeks, but Bailey had mysteriously disappeared.

Since that time he has been to the Pacific coast and back again and lately has been in Hartford, coming here from Hartford Monday. He complains of his head bothering him, making it impossible for him to sleep.

Asked why he disappeared last spring Bailey said he was just disgusted. His farm failed to make him any financial returns and he decided to leave. Deserting the farm, his horse and wagon, he went to New York state where he worked at odd jobs for a while. Then he decided to go to California where he says he has a brother. Arriving in California he secured work on a ranch and remained there until about six weeks ago. Then he decided to return east and about three weeks ago he arrived in Hartford. It was while in Hartford that his head started to bother him and his ailment was responsible for his return to Norwich. He did not get in touch with his brother in the west and did not communicate with another brother who lives in New London. He explained this by saying that he didn't want to bother anyone with his troubles. He said he didn't have much money when he disappeared. After he so mysteriously left Norwich his farm was sold and the proceeds, about $7,000 placed in a trust fund for him.

DUWELLS HAVE BARRELS FOR THANKSGIVING FIRE

Over 200 barrels and boxes are secretly stored away awaiting Thanksgiving night for the Duwell A. A.'s community barrel burning. And there are a lot more barrels coming. Much thanks is extended by the club members for the hearty co-operation that has been given the organization to help perpetuate the time-honored barrel burning, characteristic only of this town.

The poles have been cut and are ready to be raised Thursday morning. Edwards hill overlooking the town on the east side of the river has been donated for the barrel burning occasion. This spot will give everyone a chance to see the festivities without having to leave the main street. It is the highest section of the town and has been used for the display of fireworks in years gone past.

At 7:30 p. m., the first string will be set off, and those who took the afternoon rest after the turkey dinner will miss their annual Thanksgiving night sight if they and the rest of the family do not take a walk out and witness the real old-fashioned barrel burning, which goes hand in hand with the turkey dinner.

Incidentally, it is not too late for anyone to donate any barrels or boxes that they may have. If they will call the Duwell club, a truck will come around and collect them.

NORWICH RIFLE CLUB STARTING THE SEASON

Members of the Norwich Rifle club have decided to start their season's indoor rifle practice with a turkey shoot to be held at Norwich armory Wednesday evening. Fitz-Luck targets will be used, rifles and ammunition furnished and a live turkey awarded for the highest score.

The schedule for the Mohegan rifle league, 1929 season, will be announced shortly. Any new teams wishing to enter the league for this season, may communicate with V. S. Welsh, secretary, 189 Broad street, Norwich. Any individuals or teams wishing to engage in pistol practice may notify Capt. N. C. Pierce, 303 Washington street.

During the 1928 season the Norwich Rifle club members enjoyed matches with teams in various parts of the state won the Mohegan league championship, defeated the winning team of the Nutmeg league and are planning to make the 1929 season the best yet.

CLAIMS FOR TRIAL IN COMMON PLEAS COURT

Six cases were claimed for trial before the jury in the court of common pleas, which comes in at this city Dec. 11, when the list was called by Clerk J. Frank Corey before Judge Charles B. Waller in New London on Monday.

They are as follows:

Harold H. Kramer against Louise C. Fitch.

Archa W. Colt against Albertus P Dolbeare.

William Meil against The Connecticut Co.

Lucy Pepe against Betsey Dean.

Mariano Pepe against Betsey Dean.

Etlo Bartolucci against Ferne Spatcher.

ECLIPSE ONLY PARTIALLY OBSCURED BY CLOUDS

Fourteen minutes before the eclipse of the moon was due to begin at 2.24 o'clock this (Tuesday) morning, it began to snow and the moon was out of sight behind snow clouds when the hour for the eclipse to begin arrived.

However, the snow was only a flurry and ten minutes after the beginning of the eclipse the snow had stopped, the clouds began to clear away and good views of the darkened moon were obtained as the silver orb came out into clear patches of sky.

JAIL SENTENCE WITH FINE FOR BARTENDER

Pleading guilty to a charge of violation of the liquor law, Raoul Donais, 22, Taftville, was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to ten days in jail when his case was called in the police court Monday morning. He was arrested late Sunday afternoon by the local police in a raid on a liquor joint on the second floor of the building at 270 Main street, where he was the bartender. A small quantity of liquor and 37 cases of beer were seized by the police and Donais, who was in charge of the place, was arrested. He was unable to raise a $1,000 bond and remained locked up at police headquarters overnight. The fine and costs amount to $214.50.

Continuance in Theft Charges

When the cases of Michael and John Lagoda of Lisbon, brother, aged 18 and 16 years respectively, came up in the city court Monday morning, they were put over for a day. The two are accused of theft of automobile tires which they were removing from a machine in a garage on North Main street Saturday night.

Set Asbestos Covering on Fire

An overheated steam heater at the residence No. 124 Broadway, which drove all the water out of the boiler into the radiators and set the asbestos coverings on the steam pipes in the cellar into a blaze made a call for the firemen at 8:39 Monday night, Engine No. 1 and Squad A responding. The firemen put the heater out and pulled the asbestos covering off the pipes.

The house is owned by the estate of George A. Ashbey and the tenant is Mrs. Mary Bouigier.

Fifth Ave. Sets New Hair Vogue

"On the El and in the Subway, everywhere I go nowadays, I see girls here in New York who are doing their hair the new way," says pretty Leona Newell, 6250 Anna Place, Glendale, L. I., now appearing on Broadway in the "Greenwich Village Follies." "I can tell girls who are using it, by the way their hair seems to sparkle. It looks so soft, too, and it's always neat. This way just suits me. I haven't much time to give my hair, and it takes just a second to put a few dashes of Danderine on your brush when you use it. It certainly makes your hair look grand. Mine needs shampooing only once a month, too, since I'm using Danderine."

Danderine quickly removes that oily film from your hair and restores its natural sheen and lustre. It keeps bobbed hair in place without showing. It stops dandruff. Drug stores everywhere sell millions of the 35c bottles. A fragrant toilet necessity for the well-groomed girl.

FAST ACTION EXPECTED AT DUWELL AMATEURS AT ARMORY TONIGHT

Indoor amateur boxing under A. A. U. sanction returns to Norwich tonight at the state armory with a card that on paper looks like the best thing yet. The collection of material that the Duwell A. A. has gathered together from three states, Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Connecticut, should produce ten good bouts if this number of scraps were ever produced. The lineup of talent being sent here from Worcester, New Britain, Stafford, Westerly, Jewett City and Danielson to swap leather with our own native sons, includes some of the foremost boxers in the east as well as a number of well known sluggers.

Most prominent of the entries are the Worcester men under the direction of Jimmy Villa, who, during the past summer, showed here twice and on each occasion carried off the biggest slice of the proverbial bacon. Villa's proteges, six in number, will on this trip, however, find times much harder than they used to be. A troupe of simon pures from New Britain and several of the city's own are looked to for considerable opposition this evening.

The delegation from the western part of the state although new to Norwich are well acquainted where amateur boxing is having its fling. This team, also six in number, is headed by Jackie Walsh and Joey Melino, a pair of hard-hitting welterweights. Another locality that is being heard from for the first time where simon pure boxing is concerned is Stafford, which is sending Joe Celenta, a fast flyweight, who has had to display his wares in the Cod Fish state while the ban was on the game in this state.

Westerly has Gengerelli, Brown, Wucick, Ritacco and Tuscano to do its fighting; Jewett City, Salinski and

BENNY SALINSKI

Goulas; Danielson, Ben Herr, Thieriaque, Bishop, Boulay and others, while Norwich will be represented by Patsy Ferra, Johnny Meadows, Johnny Kop, Mickey Ward, Phil Plante, Stanley Kanacki and Tommy Longo. The first three mentioned in the Rose City representation are welterweights, each carrying the well known "wallop." Ward, the most recent entry, will be remembered as the boy who carried the house at the state armory last winter during the indoor season.

The entry list by classes is as follows:

112-Pound Class

Frankie Brown of Westerly, Joe Bishop of Danielson, Tommy Leone and Phil Plante of Norwich, Joe Celenta of Stafford, Al Germaine of Worcester and Julius Bighinatti and Bernard Flood of New Britain.

126-Pound Class

N. Silverman and Sebastini of New Britain, Stanley Kanacki of Norwich, Jack Boulay and Henry Thieriaque of Danielson, Billy Bergeron of Worcester, Joe Wucick and Angelo Ritacco of Westerly, Bennie Salinski of Jewett City.

135-Pound Class

Byron Parker of Danielson, Johnny Kop of Norwich, Mike Troy and Ernie Faragus of Worcester, Joe Goulas of Jewett City, Frank Tuscano and Freddie Mullin of Westerly.

150-Pound Class

Patsy Ferra, Johnny Meadows and Mickey Ward of Norwich, Phil Gengerelli of Westerly, Ben Herr of Danielson, Bobbie Carter and Joe Preston of Worcester and Jackie Walsh and Joey Melino of New Britain.

A glance through the above list will show that one of the largest entries is in the 150 class, a fact which should mean plenty of good hard socking, the fans' favorite dish. Plenty of little boys will please those that like their boxing in preference to slugging.

With the return of indoor boxing it is expected that a new attendance mark will be set and nothing has been left undone to accommodate everyone, men, women and children. There are 1,000 general admission seats, with 300 reserved seats. The reserved seats have been on sale for the past three days at Jack's Sport Shop, Our Smoke Shop at the West Side and at the Duwell club, and have been moving very fast. It is expected that by night this block will be fairly well cleaned out.

GROGAN POUNDS OUT DECISION OVER BURNS

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—(AP)—Tommy Grogan, hard-punching Omaha lightweight, pounded out a decision over Bobby Burns of Brooklyn, in a bloody 10 round battle at the Olympia A. C. tonight. Grogan weighed 135 1-2.

Burns went to the floor twice—for a count of nine in the first round and a count of three in the third. In the latter session the bell saved him while he still was writhing on the canvas after a sharp right to the stomach. The first four rounds, despite these knockdowns, were very even. Burns several times staggering the westerner.

In the fifth, Grogan smashed one terrific right to Burns' nose and the easterner had very little fight left in him thereafter.

In the 10 round semi-final, Georgie Levine, of Brooklyn, outpointed his fellow-townsman, Andy Divodi. The weights were Levine 147 1-2, Divodi 143.

BECKMAN SETS NEW ENDURANCE RECORD

NE WYORK, Nov. 26—(AP)—Johnny Beckman, professional basketball star, believes he has set an endurance record by playing on three different teams in four games during one day, losing two, winning two and scoring 20 points.

Beckman played at 3.10 p. m. last Saturday with his Detroit team, losing to the Long Island Pros, and managed to line up with the home team at Union City, N. J., at 5 p. m. in time to defeat Trenton. In the evening he played with the losing Detroit team in New York against Renaissance at 9.15 and helped Rochester Centrals beat the Visitation club at Brooklyn in a game starting at 10.20 p. m.

Abad Too Fast For Nebo

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26—(AP)—Davey Abad, of Panama proved too much of a phantom target tonight for Pete Nebo, the flashy Seminole fighter from the Florida Everglades, and won the decision in their ten-round fight at the arena. Abad weighed 130. Nebo 129 1-2.

Yellow Jackets Lose to U. S. Marines

A real fast game of polo was played at the Olympic rink Monday evening between the Yellow Jackets and the Marines, the latter winning 7 to 4. They scored most of their goals in the first half of the game, the Yellow Jackets holding them down in the second. The playing was exceedingly rough during most of the game, one of the Marines receiving an injured hand and most all of the players on both sides succeeded in having their shins well battered and bruised.

The Marines will play Prof. Barrett's Crescents Wednesday evening.

Yellow Jackets: J. McGregor lr, Bill Pavey 2r, Harry Cooke center, Bob Huntley hb, Joe See goal tender.

Marines: Fred Gerry lr, Charles Barmast 2r, Larry Sargent center, Bill Brooks, hb W. Carbone goal tender.

Goals, Yellow Jackets: Cooke 1, McGregor 1, Pavey 2; Marines: Gerry 3, Brooks 2, Sargent 1, Barmast 1.

Stops: Lee 14, Carbone 12.

PUTNAM HAS LIGHT WORKOUT FOR KILLINGLY

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Nov. 26—A light workout was had by the first string men of the Putnam high gridiron eleven this afternoon, after a week's rest from drill. Coach Noyes devoted the greater part of the three hours of practice to punting and new line plays which are intended to baffle the Killonians of Killingly high school when the two teams clash on Thanksgiving day at Goodyear. The probable lineup of Coach Noyes' eleven will be: Franklin and Sherman as ends, Tourtellotte and Tourtellotte holding down the positions of tackles, with Masicot and Dumas as guards and "Stu" Sabin at his regular position of center. The line which so far this year has protected the honor of the school in every encounter appeared to be in the best of condition this afternoon, faring excellently in every feature of the game.

The backfield quartet will consist of Bill Shann as fullback, Walt Cody and Charley Bove, the team's fleetfoots, as halfbacks, with "Wiley" Reynolds, 110-pound quarterback, barking the signals. Cody, Bove and Shann are expected to do all the backfield performing against the traditional Killingly rivals. They exhibited to Coach Noyes this afternoon everything stored within their physical shapes, with indications that they will more than trample the Killonians on Thanksgiving day. There is a possibility that "Bud" Franklin and a number of second string men may replace the Four Horsemen in the backfield during periods of Thursday's tilt. Franklin will graduate in June and this is his first year on the gridiron eleven. He has taken part in nearly every game so far as an end and has shown up remarkably well. If Coach Noyes trusts him with a backfield berth Thursday, he will be expected to do the end skirting with the ball, as this is the feature in which he excels.

REID OF HARVARD IS NEW CROSS-COUNTRY CHAMPION

By F. G. Vosburgh

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—(AP)—Over the wind-swept hills and flats of Van Cortlandt park this afternoon a champion was dethroned.

After a two years' reign as king of the college cross-country runners of the east, long-legged Bill Cox, of Rochester, N. Y., and Penn State college, failed in his bid for a third straight victory in the twentieth annual varsity run of the intercollegiate association of amateur athletics of America. He finished third.

Jimmie Reid, gritty Harvard captain from Somerville, Mass., succeeded Cox as champion by winning out in a great stretch duel with Francis Lindsay of the University of Maine. Reid jumped Lindsay when about 220 yards from the tape and beat him by 12 yards in the final rush. Cox, weary and crest-fallen, crossed the line 12 yards behind the runner-up.

Covering the six miles in 30 minutes, 41 seconds, Cox was only 4 1-5 seconds behind his winning time of a year ago but Reid and Lindsay were considerably better.

The winner was clocked in 30 minutes, 11 seconds, which is only seven seconds slower than the all-time mark set by Cox in 1926, his greatest year. Lindsay finished two seconds behind Reid after they had run almost the entire distance side by side, chatting and grinning at the prospect of beating the champion.

"Half way around," said Reid afterwards, "we could hear him breathing hard and believed we could trim him."

Yet despite the downfall of Cox which leaves John Paul Jones, Cornell immortal of two decades ago as the only three times winner in history the Penn State team retained its group laurels won last year and the year before.

Enough Nittany men to win team honors with a total of 45 points came home not far behind their leader George Offenhauser was seventh, Arthur W. Bass and Charles O. Meisinger, tenth and eleventh and Henry J. Ratcliffe, fourteenth, giving a clean cut victory over Maine which was second with 96. Maine had three men in the first eight but there was a big gap after that.

Third place went to a well balanced if not spectacular Cornell team which scored 102 while New York university was fourth with 119; Syracuse fifth 130; Harvard sixth, 167; Dartmouth seventh, 169; Columbia eighth, 195; Yale ninth, 198; M. I. T., tenth, 227; Princeton, 11th, 255; Pennsylvania, 12th, 314 and Manhattan, 13th, 347. Michigan State, which had ben ballyhooed as the first middle-western entry in history, did not compete and Carnegie Tech, City College of New York; Williams and John Hopkins also scratched.

EASTERN LEAGUE ADOPTS SEVERAL NEW RULINGS

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 26—(AP)—The New Haven club of the Eastern baseball league was formally awarded the 1928 pennant at the fall meeting of owners held here today.

Several new rules were adopted, one of which provides that no major league baseball club shall be engaged to play against an Eastern league club on a Saturday or Sunday.

Another rule restricts the number of Class A or higher grade players on one Eastern league team to 13 and optional players to two.

It was voted to play 154 games next year, the season to open on April 24 and run through Sept. 15. A schedule committee was appointed, as follows: Hawkins, Albany; Wilkinson, Pittsfield, and Lundgras, Allentown, Pa.

REID RAN AT SPEED OF 12 MILES AN HOUR

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—(AP)—Jimmy Reid of Harvard ran six miles at an average speed of nearly 12 miles an hour in winning the intercollegiate cross-country championship today, but the day was so cold, he said afterward, he "never got warmed up."

The new champion's knees and shanks were bare but he wore gloves and a touque of crimson yarn which he cast aside as he started the stretch drive that made him champion. The day was the coldest Nov. 26 here in 11 years with the temperature around 20 degrees and a hint of snow in the air.

C. F. C. TEAM PLAYS BATTERY E SATURDAY

The C. F. C. team of the Central Baptist church will clash with the Battery E team of Westerly at Westerly on Saturday evening. The local quintet expects to return with a victory as the start of another successful season. On Wednesday evening, Dec. 5, the C. F. C. team will play the Central Baptist church five at Hartford.

Patterdon Retains Title

LONDON, Nov. 26—(AP)—Kid Patterden of Bethnal Green retained his British bantamweight championship and the Lonsdale belt when he stopped Johnny Brown in the 12th round at the National Sporting club tonight. Brown was floored in the 12th round and his seconds tossed in the towel.

Mitchell Outpoints Hoffman

AMERICAN LEAGUE CLUBS PREPARE FOR FIGHT AGAINST THE YANKEES

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—(AP)—American league baseball clubs are busy preparing an offensive against the World Champion New York Yankees in next year's campaign. As the seven other clubs go about their winter scheming, the firm of Ruppert, Barrow, Huggins & Co. is actively fortifying its own defenses against the impending attack.

The St. Louis Browns, who came from nowhere to third place last season, and the Washington Senators, with Walter Johnson presiding, have added more players than any other American league clubs since the 1928 record was compiled. Manager Daniel P. Howley has drafted two players, purchased eight, recalled three and signed a free agent who may be the best of the new crop. The Washington Senators got two additions by draft and brought or recalled 12.

The Yankees claim third place in the new talent lineup without the aid of a drafted player. The champions bought five, recalled the same number and ordered two previously purchased players to report in the spring.

The Athletics, Red Sox and Indians have been content to increase their player lists by five each. The Detroit Tigers are in the middle ground with nine additions and the White Sox have taken on seven.

St. Louis drafted Oscar Estrada, a pitcher, from Shreveport and made it a battery by claiming Catcher Harvey Johnson of Greenville in the South Atlantic association. Rights of option were exercised on three players placed at Tulsa, Outfielder Badgro, Second Baseman Dondero and Third Baseman Grimes. Among the purchased players are two former major league pitchers, "Rip" Collins from Toronto and Claude Jonnard from Milwaukee. Pitcher Herbert Cobb, First Baseman George Stanton, Outfielder Tom Jenkins, Infielder Ed. Roetz and Pitcher John Buvid have been bought from Wichita Falls. An addition from New Haven is Catcher Ike Danning. Dick Ferrell, who caught for Columbus last season, was signed as a free agent.

Washington got two players in the draft of Third Baseman Gooch of Little Rock and Pitcher Archie Campbell of St. Paul. The Southern association furnished by purchase Catcher Bool, Nashville, Outfielder Bigelow, First Baseman Shirley, Outfielder Simmons and Second Baseman Stewart, of Birmingham, and Pitcher Glazner, Mobile. Catcher Bolton was taken from High Point of the Piedmont league. Third Baseman Voter, Pitcher Liska, Pitcher Paul McCollough and Outfielder Spencer were contributions from Minneapolis. Baltimore furnished Pitcher Cantrell.

The Yankees have no drafted players but they have purchased Catcher Jorgens and Pitchers Craig and Thomas of Oklahoma City, Pitcher Ed. Wells, Birmingham and Pitcher Gordon Rhodes, Hollywood. Lary and Reese, purchased from Oakland a year ago, will report in the spring and Pitcher Sherrid, Montreal, Outfielder Byrd, Albany, Outfielder Funk, St. Paul, Outfielder Cooke and Shortstop Chapman, Asheville, have been recalled.

Detroit has bought Outfielder Roy Johnson from San Francisco, Outfielder Eckhardt of Amarillo, Pitcher Barnes and Shortstop Schulte of Houston, Outfielder Petrie, Beaumont, First Baseman Sherlock of Seattle and Catcher Hayworth, Shreveport. New players by the draft route are First Baseman Dudley Branom of Louisville and Shortstop Frank Sigafoos of Seattle.

The White Sox claimed John Kerr, a second baseman from Hollywood by draft. Purchases included Outfielders Watwood, Shreveport and Clarence Hoffman, Sacramento, Catcher Mealey, Pitcher Frazier and Infielder Jeffries of Dallas and Pitcher Robert Weiland of Moline. Jeffries spent the 1928 season with Akron. Weiland pitched the last game of the season for the Sox against the Athletics and permitted but four hits while he was forcing nine to miss third strikes.

Cleveland, failing to get a player in the draft, went out and spent large sums of money for some good minor league prospects. Outfielder Dick Porter was bought from Baltimore and Earl Averill, another outfielder, from San Francisco. Pitchers Clint Brown of Harrisburg and James Moore of Little Rock were bought as was Third Baseman Reinholz of Winston-Salem.

Hal Rhyne, former major league infielder, claimed from San Francisco is the only player snared by the Athletics in the draft, and only Pitcher Shores of Wichita Falls and Outfielder Lebourveau of Milwaukee were recalled. Two purchased players are Pitchers Bolen of Baltimore and Wingard of Milwaukee.

The Red Sox grabbed two infielders in the draft, Robert Barrett of Buffalo and Jerry Standaert of Memphis and purchased Pitcher Durham of Mobile, Pitcher Frey of Nashville, and Outfielder Dumas of Mobile. Durham did most of his pitching last season for Jackson of the Cotton States league.

DANIELSON TOWN TEAM OPENS ON THANKSGIVING

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Nov. 26—(AP)—The Danielson Town team will open its season and get into full swing on Thanksgiving night with a strong reorganized team and a team that will no doubt cause quite a sensation during the coming winter months. The Town team has been very fortunate in securing four new players for its organization, namely, Webb, formerly of Penn State; Burke, of Dean academy; Longo, of Connecticut Aggies, and Gallup, formerly with Worcester Tech. These players, along with Godreau, Keech and Armington, form as strong a team as Danielson has had in a number of years. The Town hall has been equipped with new bleachers and other equipment to make it comfortable for the fans. So with this exceptionally fast team and a fine hall to play in every fan that is interested in good clean fast basketball wants to be on hand for the opener. The South Manchester club will be the opponents on the opening night.

PLAINFIELD PROS PLAY PARKWOOD PROS WEDNESDAY

The Parkwood Pros of Springfield, furnish the opposition for the Plainfield five at the Plainfield Community house on Wednesday evening. The Springfield team is considered to be one of the fastest clubs in that section of Massachusetts and to date have beaten such clubs as the Brattleboro Athletics, Rutland American Legion, Fairbanks A. A., of St. Johnsbury. This latter team has twice defeated the Boston Whirlwinds and in 1928 claimed the New England title.

The Springfield lineup includes some names well known to basketball in the east. Harry Slate, former Penn State college guard, is listed in the lineup along with Bob Berry, former South Manchester star, Scotty Welsh, former member of the New England Y. M. C. A. champions and several others.

In the preliminary game the Biddies will play the U. S. S. Camden five in a return game. The Biddies were slated to clash with a Putnam team but the game has been set ahead.

LASSMAN CONSCIOUS AND IS STEADILY IMPROVING

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 26—(AP)—Captain Al Lassman, New York university football player, who received a head injury in Saturday's game here with Carnegie Institute of Technology, tonight was reported by his doctor as "consistently improving." The giant tackle regained full consciousness this afternoon after having been in a semi-conscious and unconscious state since the accident, which happened in the fourth quarter of the contest.

Lassman's physician said his patient probably would fully recover, but he said he did not think it would be advisable to remove the gridder to New York for at least two weeks. Lassman suffered a severe concussion.

THREE CANDIDATES FOR HARVARD GRID CAPTAINCY

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 28.—(AP)—Though the election of next year's Harvard varsity football captain was not expected to take place for several weeks, four of the seven juniors who played in Saturday's Yale game today were mentioned as outstanding candidates. They were Wally Haner, fullback; Jim Barrett, tackle; Elliot Putnam, quarterback and Jim Douglas, end.

Others eligible for the honor were Dick O'Connell, Ken Robinson and Sam Burns, all of whom saw service in the gridiron victory over the Blue.

No Captain Elected at Yale

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 26—(AP)—Due to the fact that the Yale Athletic association has not yet officially awarded letters to the members of the varsity football squad entitled to them, the election of a captain for next year did not take place at the annual football banquet tonight as it customarily does.

The banquet was attended by 115 persons including members of the varsity squad, coaches, and others connected with Yale football.

Head Coach Mal A. Stevens, Capt Maxon Eddy and John M. Cates, graduate director of athletics, were the chief speakers.

Friedman Kayoes Youkonis

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Nov. 26—(AP)—Al Friedman, Boston heavyweight, tonight knocked out Tony Youkonis, of this city, in the second round of a ten round bout. Youkonis weighed 220 Friedman 182.

A right hook to the stomach dropped Youkonis for nine shortly after the second round got under way, and when he arose another right hander to the pit of the stomach ended the bout.

O'Keefe Wins Verdict

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 26—(AP)—Johnny O'Keefe, Columbus, won a judges decision over Cuddy de Marco, Pittsburgh, in a 12 round bout here tonight. O'Keefe weighed 135 pounds and de Marco 140.

Homer Smith nKocked Out

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 26—(AP)—Angus Snyder, Dodge City, Ka., heavyweight, knocked out Homer Smith of Kalamazoo, Mich., in the sixth round of a ten round bout here tonight.

BOSTON COLLEGE STARTS PREPARATIONS FOR HOLY CROSS

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—(AP)—The undefeated Boston college football team today started its final drive for Saturday's objective game with Holy Cross, with every regular, but one, in perfect shape. The exception, "Zeke" Wilczewski, the husky lineman who received a leg injury against Fordham, was expected to be in condition to play before the end of the week.

The Boston college squad was slated to leave the city Wednesday night for a nearby country club, where the final drills for the Holy Cross game would be staged.

RAYON PLANT INSTALLED BY VIRGINIA POLYTECHNIC

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP)—Virginia Polytechnic Institute is installing a rayon manufacturing plant.

President Julian A. Burruss has authorized the chemistry department to purchase equipment for rayon production on a small scale, to be used by senior chemical engineering students.

Dr. Robert E. Hussey, a Harvard graduate and a member of the industrial committee of the Virginia section of the American Chemical society, has been given charge of the course. Students who enter the course will have completed three years of college chemistry. Dr. Hussey is well known for the published reports of his research work in chemistry.

In general the new course, which it is expected to inaugurate next term, will consist of lecture and laboratory work covering the chemistry of cellulose, the basic principles involved in the manufacture and finishing of rayon and the chemistry of these processes, and a study of the raw materials and various factory tests. The institute also is planning to conduct research work in rayon and to keep in touch with the various manufacturing plants in the state.

A Wee Electric Current

An electric current so small that at the pressure and price of the ordinary house lighting current it would cost less than a four-hundredth-billionth of a cent, can be measured with the aid of a new instrument just developed in the standardizing laboratory of the General Electric company at Lynn, Mass. It is known as a thermionic microammeter, and a current of a ten-millionth of an amphere is sufficient to carry the pointer completely across the dial, while a single division on the scale represents one-five-hundredth of this amount. The instrument will be useful in measuring the minute currents in insulators and radio tubes, but it is stated that the chief application foreseen at present will be in combination with a photo-electric cell for accurate measurements of illumination. At present the intensity of electric lights, for example, is measured by visually comparing them with another light of standard brightness. The electrical eye, the photoelectric cell, may now replace the human eye in this work, for the cell converts light energy into tiny electric currents, which may be easily measured with the new instrument.

DANIELSON

RILEY GETS SIX MONTHS FOR INTOXICATED DRIVING

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Nov. 26—Unusual circumstances appearing in the case were contributing factors leading to the imposing of a jail sentence of six months on Edward Riley by Judge W. Fenner Woodward at a session of the town court this morning. Riley was facing a charge of having operated a motor vehicle while he was under the influence of an intoxicant. The accused demurred to the complaint, but the demurrer was overruled and the heaviest sentence imposed on such a charge in a long time, or ever, if memory serves, pronounced. An appeal to the superior court was taken.

It so happens that Mr. Riley was arrested on July 16 of this year on a charge that he was operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. This case is still pending, having been continued from time to time since last summer, and at present being continued until Jan. 5, 1929 Today's charge, therefore, was presented for the consideration of the court as a second offense, and as such severely dealt with.

Another case pending for some time that was disposed of this morning was that of Salodivus Hicks, Jr., of Norwich. On each of two counts filed against him Hicks, who is about 20 years of age, was fined $100 and costs, a total of $216.37, which was paid. Hicks, who was represented by Attorney Thomas Shields of Norwich, was arrested by a state officer early one Saturday morning during the present month while he was operating a small sedan in which 20 gallons of an intoxicant described as moonshine was found. The arrest was at South Killingly.

FUNERALS

Thomas J. Caffery

This morning from the home in Attawaugan the funeral of Thomas J. Caffery was held with a high mass of requiem at St. Joseph's church in Dayville at 9 o'clock. The relatives and friends in attendance were representative of many of the communities in this section. Rev. Ignatius Kost was celebrant of the mass and also conducted the committal service at the grave in St. Joseph's cemetery. The bearers were John Welch, John Higgins, Wales Rollinson, Henry Birchard, Clarence Weeks and Peter Kerousack. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. Rosilda M. Frenette

At All Hallows church in Moosup this morning there was a solemn high mass of requiem for Mrs. Rosilda Marie Frenette, whose death occurred the past week. The officers of the mass were Rev. Harry Chagnon, Rev. John H. Quinn and Rev Philip Mascicotte. Burial was in the Sacred Heart cemetery at Wauregan. The bearers were John Tetreault, L. Couture, Joseph Conchon, Thomas Lawless, Ovila Frenette, Delor Lawless. Maxim T. Duros was the funeral director.

Highway Complete in a Month

Cavell Emerson of Webster, now directing the construction work proceeding on the Danielson-Brooklyn state highway said this afternoon that in another month, if there are no handicapping developments, the work will be complete except for the top dressing that will be put on next spring, when not more than three weeks will be required to fully complete the work. Mr. Emerson is now directing the work for the state with much the same organization and equipment as was used by Contractor Charles Haggarty of Webster, the original contractor. A great quantity of native crushed stone is ready to be put on such parts of the road as yet remain to be covered with it. On Ledge Hill where blasting has been done to remove a ledge where the grade is being lowered from the old level, it is anticipated that this section will be ready for crushed rock in about a week. A forecast also is for opening up the new stretch of road built through the fields from Ledge hill where the blasting is now underway to a point just west of the maples.

Auto Thieves Evade Police

The automobile thieves who were chased by State Officer Royal Scranton Saturday night and forced to abandon the car in which they were riding were still at liberty this afternoon and undoubtedly have succeeded in making their way out of this territory, though a widespread search for them was continued through Sunday.

A theory for which there appears to be good foundation is that the youths, for such they were, were engaged in trying to drain gasoline from a road truck of Charles Haggerty near Ledge Hill in Brooklyn Saturday night when they accidentally set it afire. It is known that they tried to steal gasoline from a pump at the filling station of Amadee Proulx of the West Side, but were frightened away, prior to the truck being afire, and that they also sought to buy such a small quantity of gasoline at a station in the western part of the town of Brooklyn that the man, aroused from his sleep, declined to bother with them. A pail found underneath the truck that was afire and in a position to receive gas that could be taken out through a drain outlet appears to give a reasonable picture of what happened to spoil that plan—probably a lighted match for investigation purposes, a flash and then the fire.

Descriptions of the young men indicate that they are of foreign birth or extraction.

WEDDING

Bruno-Mazzerelli

There were many at St. James' church at 9 o'clock this morning for the wedding of Miss Antonio Mazzerelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaetano Mazzerelli, resident east of here on the South Killingly road, and Anthony Bruno of Providence. The couple were married by Rev. Joseph A. Demers, M. S., who was also celebrant of the nuptial high mass. Following the church services there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents. The attending couple at the marriage were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bruno of Providence, the best man being a brother of the groom. After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Mazzerelli are to make their home in Cranston.

It was announced following a meeting of the board of directors of The Windham County National bank that something amounting to a Christmas gift is in store for depositors in the savings bank. This bank has been paying interest at the rate of 4 1-2 per cent. per annum on its savings accounts for a number of years past. Similarly, as for years past, it has now declared an extra dividend at the rate of 1-2 per cent. per annum. This liberal action calls for an interest payment to depositors in excess of $60,000, and will be distributed to depositors of the bank all through this section of eastern Connecticut.

CONN. COMPANY STARTS REMOVING TROLLEY RAILS

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Nov. 26—The Connecticut Co., owners of the street railway line running through this city, dispatched a section gang to Putnam this morning and commenced the task of removing the rails once used as the trolley route through the city. The men began their work on South Main street near the Arch bridge and will continue lifting the iron tracks from the ground on the principal streets, where they have become a menace to the safe movement of automobile traffic.

Since the trolley service was supplanted three years ago with the more modern busses, the Connecticut Co. has removed several thousand feet of their rails on the outskirts of the city and the state highway department has smoothed the surface over, thus widening the road about 15 or 20 feet, at each interval where the rails have been removed. Rails to be lifted in the streets of the city during the coming week will leave their marks for a few days until the trenches are filled with gravel and covered with coats of tar and oil.

Thrift Banks for Scouts

With thrift as a scout ideal, Rev. J. D. Casey, scout commissioner of St. Mary's Boy Scout troops, has supplied each member of St. Mary's Boy Scout council with a small savings bank, which are intended to aid the boys in accumulating the sums required to obtain certain scout merits. The banks were secured through a local bank. The organization is now functioning and is preparing for the winter activities. Father Casey said this morning that he has acquired additional leadership for his large number of scouts. St. Mary's Boy Scout band of 32 pieces, which is being coached under the guidance of Father Casey, is to be augmented with more musicians and by spring will be one of the greatest community assets the city has ever possessed in boys' work. During the recent political campaign both parties engaged the services of the boys to lead torch light parades and they have exhibited their skill in recent parades and other public turnouts.

The members of the D. A. R. library fund committee are soon to meet to discuss developments that have occurred in the plan of a new Putnam library since public interest was obtained in the matter several months ago. There is no definite date as yet, as to the holding of the meeting but it was thought it would be held soon. Last March a meeting of all organizations of the city was called and committees were appointed to further the work towards a new library building, started by the Elizabeth Porter chapter of D. A. R.

Announcement was made today by Massachusetts game authorities that the open season on deer will be extended another week, this year, instead of the customary one. The season will open on Dec. 3 and will continue until Dec. 15. The open season in Massachusetts means that the herds of deer that are now roaming throughout the state will flock to Connecticut borders to escape the fire of the Massachusetts huntsmen. This has been experienced for several years by hunters in the towns situated over the line. They report annually that they are bound to penetrate into the state to obtain the game as runs are made for the protection afforded deer in Connecticut. Many local hunters procure non-resident hunting licenses to enable them to partake in the sport provided in the neighboring state of Massachusetts that is restricted in this state.

John Alves of this city was married this morning in the Notre Dame church in Southbridge to Miss Odena Tessier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tessier of Southbridge. Mr Alves is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Alves of Putnam and is well known in this city. The ceremony was largely attended by friends of the groom from Putnam. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. Louis O. Triganne, pastor of the Notre Dame church.

A sudden drop was experienced in the temperature this morning, following the snow storm of Sunday. The low-mercury mark was felt by many automobile owners in the city this morning as they found their cars on the verge of freezing and many of them containing ice in the radiators. Service stations reported many frozen vehicles today, and the number of "steamers" making their way along the roads this morning were faring badly. Thermometers today were reported to be standing at 6 to 15 degrees above zero, during the morning hours. Heavy wearing apparel and cloaks were in vogue this morning, with indications they had come to stay for many weeks.

Mrs. Katherine R. Pratt of Willimantic is spending the week, the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Annie S. Rafferty, of Grove street.

Mrs. Howard Steere of School street has returned from a trip to Washington, where she has been the guest of relatives.

Mrs. Mariam Lapinos of 102 Providence street is stricken with a stroke of apoplexy, the first symptoms of the shock being felt by her Saturday, and since she has shown no signs of recovery from its spell.

Only one case was on the docket for Judge Geissler in police court this morning, it being a minor motor vehicle law case, involving George Connell of Putnam Heights, who was summoned to court by State Trooper Gordon of Danielson barracks, on a charge of operating an uninsured car, which was involved in an accident. A fine of $1 was imposed.

Treasurer Daniel J. Byrne of the Putnam Savings bank stated this morning that accounts closed on last Tuesday when the bank was subjected to a "run," have been steadily returning to the institution, since depositors are firmly convinced that the bank is sound and solvent and is ranked among the strongest financial institutions in the state. Mr. Byrne said this afternoon that all printed stories carried by Sunday newspapers, that the officials of the bank are laying cause to any class of residents in Putnam for spreading stories that caused the run, are as ungrounded as were the stories issued by gossip mongers last week. Mr. Byrne again confirmed the statement issued last Friday when he said, "We are not pinning the blame on anyone."

School health officials are now making their annual examination of all students enrolled in the schools of the city. Dr. A. E. Parent, school dentist, is still operating daily on the students of the Israel Putnam school. The officials of the school health department are overlooking no signs of contagious diseases that have been current in the schools during the past month. Miss Viola Snyder, school nurse, said this afternoon that only a few cases of measles now exist and all are of a mild nature. Dr. Parent is expected to complete his survey of the children of the Israel Putnam school before the Christmas recess and will commence his work at St. Mary's parochial school at the beginning of the new year.

VILLAGE ROOTERS ATTEND BIG GAME AT NORWICH

A while ago several members of the fire company put away their red automobile in their garage for the winter and said they would not use it again until Lefty Jarvis went to Holy Cross college and they would drive it to see him in action. But when the Bulkeley and Norwich Academy football game was to be played in the Rose of New England Saturday it was too much for Driver Stretch Moran. He wanted to see the Red and White squad again come out on top of the Orange and Black team. So getting the other four smoke eaters by telephone Saturday morning promising to make the trip, everything was all set. Getting the auto out of the garage and sweeping off the cob webs, they got started for the big game, reaching the field at an early hour they got a good seat, for a large crowd was coming in fast. The village smoke eaters were with the Norwich cheering section. The Bulkeley band was there with 30 pieces to make plenty of noise. Soon the officials came out on the field and everyone knew that the 65th game between the Tigers and the Wildcats was ready for the fire works. It was not long before the Wildcats got started to claw the Tiger. Ken Strong Marks for the Red and White team was going strong and his mate Express Lacroix was the whole works and had the Orange and Black players standing there like a stone in a brook, throwing them short forward passes. Bulkeley was looking for the ball—also looked as if they were looking at an airplane go over. It was an easy victory for Norwich to put on the score book for the season of 1928. Bulkeley had a good band and that was about all. The smoke eaters jumped in their red auto with the score 18 to 0 and started for the fishing village to celebrate the victory and with a sign on the car "Red and White team did it again." They got to the fire room late in the evening. Stretch Moran started a war dance with an Indian suit on and red fire and his fire fighters had a parade around the streets happy over the victory. It was a real day for the smoke eaters and now their auto will go back into the garage until the baseball season; and the red car will be covered with moth balls for the winter.

Surprise for Steeplejack

O. Bradshaw, a member of the Branch Paint Co., is rated the best steeplejack in the gang. His birthday fell on Saturday, so the gang had a surprise waiting for him at his house when the day was over. Getting there early, before Steeplejack Bradshaw arrived with his lunch box and speeding into the house to wash up and have his Saturday night beans, he saw a light in the parlor and walked in and his pals called out "Here we are!" M. Orcatt, in behalf of the painters said, "We present you this piano, for we all know you like music! We would like you to play a few tunes for us." Painter Bradshaw said, "Brother workmen, I am surprised to see this Baby Grand piano and thank you very much for the gift." Steeplejack Bradshaw played a few tunes and later West Mystic cream pie and coffee was passed around.

On Furlough From S. S. Florida

Chief Gunner's Mate Lloyd Fraser of U. S. Battleship Florida is spending a few days at his home in the village. This is his first visit in 18 months. He has been in Cuba and England. He was telling about seeing an old-timer from Noank, who had followed every wink on the water for 22 years, Ira Stark who is captain of steamer Dollar that belongs to the Dollar Line. He asked how was the village of Noank and all the old gang, also John Ashbey who has worn out many pairs of shoes for Uncle Sam on the mail route. He said, "How is Singing Raymond Sistare? I will pay a visit to the fishing village in 1930." Chief Gunner Frazer said he had a fine trip and expects to go to Japan for the winter. He will sail out of Boston.

Marvin Porter has returned from a short visit in Essex, Mass.

Small Change.

The 1-cent piece, made of 95 parts of copper to 5 parts of tin and zinc, costs the government about one-tenth of a cent. Uncle Sam's total profit in the 1-cent and the 5-cent pieces coined in one year was more than $1,000,000.

The treasury department causes to be coined just a sufficient number of 1-cent pieces to meet the demands of trade. These demands of late years have been extraordinary. One reason for the increased demand is the introduction of pennies into the Pacific coast cities, where for so long they were an object of contempt, and another reason is the prevalence of "penny-in-the-slot" machines. These mechanical devices keep a great many 1-cent pieces out of circulation and so increase the demand upon the treasury for new ones.

Various minor coins have from time to time been issued. The copper half-cent piece was current from 1827 to 1857, although only a small number were coined. The 2-cent pieces, authorized in 1864, were coined until 1873, and may still be seen occasionally. The coinage of the silver 3-cent piece was discontinued in 1873, and the nickel 3-cent piece in 1890. Whenever one of these stray coins finds its way into the treasury, it is not reissued. Of the minor coins, the governments now makes a policy to keep in circulation only the 1-cent and the 5-cent pieces.

Ancient Farm Rules.

A Greek inscription of the fifth century, recently discovered near the aqueduct which conveyed water into Jerusalem, contains a warning both against trespass and planting crops within 15 "cubits" (15 feet) of the conduit. To make sure the peasant should not plead ignorance of the distance, the "feet," 17 1-16 inches long, was engraved on the stone.

RISE IN CALL MONEY RATE FAILED TO HALT "BULL" CAMPAIGN IN MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—(AP)—The "bull" campaign on the stock market was pushed forward in aggressive fashion today, in the face of a rise in the call money rate to 7 1-2 per cent for the first time since Nov. 7. More than three dozen issues were driven up to new high levels, and a wide assortment made gains of around 7 to 20 points.

About the only effect of the tightening of the call money market was a slackening of the pace of trading, although total sales aggregated 5,316,200 shares, a figure which the market has only in recent sessions learned to regard as moderate. The revised ticker quotation system worked quite satisfactorily at this rate of trading, the tape running for only 23 minutes after the close.

Rather heavy selling came into the market with the higher money rates. A number of recent favorites were depressed by the selling, but the operations for the advance were then switched to the rails, with the result that the Associated Press average prices of both 20 rails and 20 industrials were raised to new highs. The rail average mounted 2.87 to 157.89, and the industrial 1.10 to 253.94.

The jump in call money was attributed to preparation by the banks for the month-end requirements and a desire to adjust their positions at the reserve bank. There was no calling of loans. Firm money is expected for the remainder of the year, because of the holiday demands, which begin to make themselves felt around Thanksgiving time.

The market opened with a bang as traders endeavored to execute the heavy accumulation of week-end orders, augmented by the closing on Saturday. International Nickel was the high flier during the forenoon, mounting about 18 points to a record price at 221 1-2, but it lost half its gain later.- Wright Aero shot up 15, then fell back 11, Reosia Insurance climbed about 21 points to a new peak at 254 3-4, and closed at 253.

Yellow Truck & Coach was the session's most spectacular strong point, climbing more than 10 points to a record price of 50, an appreciation in value of 25 per cent. The rise was based on reports that the company has made extensive "write offs" in the last year, and that it is making rapid progress under General Motors management.

In the rails, Kansas City Southern jumped about 11 points to a record price at 95, and closed at 90 3-8. Erie, Pere Marquette, Boston & Maine, New Haven, Canadian Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Chicago Great Western preferred mounted about 2 to 7 points to new peaks.

Railway equipment and rubber shares, which had been depressed for some time, reflected the improvement in both industries.

Coppers and oils were irregular.

Radio went up about 7 points, then lost all but a point. The mail order houses yielded to profit-taking, Montgomery-Ward falling back more than 3, while National Bellas Hess and Sears Roebuck fell about 5 and 4 points, respectively. General Motors surged nearly 4 points.

Loose-Wiles Biscuit encountered renewed buying based on reports of tentative merger negotiations with Postum and a Canadian biscuit company.

American & Foreign Power, American International, Auto Sales preferred, General Electric, Davidson Chemical, Ingersoll Rand, International Harvester, Stromberg Carburetor and Otis Elevator went ahead about 5 to 12 points to new high levels.

American Express, Columbia Graphophone, Eastman Kodak, International Paper, Jewel Tea, and Peoples Gas reacted about 2 to 10 points.

The commodity markets were featured by a further advance of between $1 and $2 a bale in cotton, resulting from strong buying by bullish speculators who have recently taken an interest in the market. Other commodities were firm.

In the foreign exchanges, a further hardening of sterling was regarded as definitely ending the gold movement from London for the present. European exchanges generally firmed up in response to the strength of sterling. Japanese yen, however, fell back 3 points to 46.95 cents.

CRIMINAL CASES GO OVER UNTIL MONDAY OF NEXT WEEK

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Nov. 26—The November term of Washington county superior court began session in Westerly courthouse at 10:45 Monday with Associate Justice Arthur P. Sumner on the bench. With petit jurors present, the Attorney-General Louis V. Jackvony, asked for a continuance until Monday next of all criminal cases and they were so marked for trial or sentence as the cases developed. Mr. Jackvony explained that he was engaged in Providence for Tuesday. Accordingly the cases of Sheriff Fred Bull vs. Herbert Waite and Clifford Jordan for breaking and entering and State vs. Joseph William McTurk and Howard M. Cole were carried over to Monday next.

The case of state vs. Edward Liotta, proprietor of the Black Coffee House, charged with assault with a pistol upon John DeSantis, when Liotta claimed his dog had been run over, was continued to Monday next for sentence.

Judge Sumner then called the Westerly calendar.

Actions at law—William E. Cook vs. Louis Foley. Marked ready. J. R. Champlin vs. J. G. Phelps Stokes. Set down for February term at Westerly. J. G. Phelps Stokes vs. J. R. Champlin. February term at Westerly. Wood, Hoskins Yeaple Co., vs. Edward J. Fenelon, Jr., February at Westerly. Thomas Parker, pft. and, vs. Alexander A. Kobrick. Mr. Ferguson announced the case settled. Clifton D. Hall vs. A. George Turano. Although Mr. Flynn was reported as engaged in court work in Boston, the case was set down for Tuesday trial. J. G. Worth and Co. vs. Alfred J. Richard, alias Casey. Announced as practically settled. Porter-Loveland estate, vs. Stedman Press. Ready for trial. Salvatore Paldino vs Andrew Low. Marked for February session at Westerly. Joseph Ferraro, vs. Louis Weisinger. Passed. Thomas E. Wilson vs. Paul McLean. Marked settled.

Action other than criminal—Edith M. Barber, et al vs. Thomas E. H. Barber, guardian. Ready for trial. The action at law, Laura E. Waterman vs. Sumner Mowry, administrator, was declared ready for trial, Judge Herbert W. Rathbun for plaintiff and Judge James O. Watts for respondent and trial was begun. Fred T. Baker vs. John B Armstrong was also marked ready.

Damages Though Excessive

On the motion for new trial, William E. Cook vs. Louis Foley, tried at the last Westerly court sitting with a verdict returned by the jury for $400, Attorney Ledwidge declared the verdict enormously excessive. Judge Sumner ruled that the damages seemed excessive for the dog bite received by the plaintiff and gave notice that the case was to be heard again unless the respondent should remit all in excess of $250.

Nurse Sues for $20,000

In Waterman vs. Mowry, the jury was empanelled as follows, those challenged and excused being Charles Lee Aylesworth and Charles C. Hiles, South Kingstown; William E. Babcock, North Kingstown; Stephen B. Andrew, Hopkinton, and Walter A. Gardiner, Exeter. Found in box, South Kingstown: Richard T. Allen and Daniel E. Wilcox, North Kingstown; Rice Stone, Joseph Henry Burr, Robert P. Hall, Westerly; George E. Murphy, Mark W. Nayler, Hopkinton; Clarence W. Hopkins, William A. Palmer, Richmond; John W. Donnelly, John J. Flanagan, Narragansett; William A. Palmer was elected foreman.

Judge Rathbun stated that the suit was brought by Laura E. Waterman, trained nurse of Providence and of the town of Richmond, R. I., against Sumner Mowry, administrator of the estate of Charles J. Green, town treasurer of Richmond, whose death occurred a year ago, and for services rendered as nurse and housekeeper. With Mowry the nominal defendant, the real defendants are the heirs-at-law, James and Sidney Green of Wakefield, R. I. Miss Waterman began services on the last day of February, 1918, at the time of illness with influenza and pneumonia of Mr. Green, a bachelor residing near the railroad station at Kenyon. It was claimed that irregular payments had been made at odd times to plaintiff, the total bill being $30,288.37, on which credits were given of $10,287.01, leaving a balance alleged due of $20,001.36 This claim had been filed with the probate court and disallowed by Mr. Mowry as administrator.

When it was announced the case would take all day, spare jurors were excused to report Tuesday.

Miss Waterman, the plaintiff, testified that she was a graduate of Boston City hospital in 1904 and held a Rhode Island certificate from Dec. 20, 1911. She detailed the attention given Mr. Green and the various doctors and physicians called upon to attend him from time to time.

The following transfer has been recorded in the office of Westerly town clerk: Nov. 24. John H. Austin of Pawcatuck to Adelbert Tripp tract of land, approximately one acre on the east side of the Norman farm off Noose Neck Hill road, bounded northerly, easterly and southerly by other lands of the grantor and westerly by land now or formerly of Dennis P. McCarthy.

In Westerly Thursday Miss Nellie Louise Vincent, daughter of Harry H. Vincent of Groton, became the bride of Charles Edward Bradley, son of Charles F. Bradley of New London. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Henry Charles Suter, pastor of Grace Methodist Episcopal church.

George Wanton Hexie, chief engineer of the Watch Hill Fire department, was host Saturday evening at an oyster supper served in the engine house rooms on Bay street, Watch Hill. There was an attendance of some twenty members and department heads.

The mercury in Westerly thermometers took a fall in the early hours of Monday morning there being an average record of 15 to 20 degrees. The ground was frozen and ponds and waters froze over, a process delayed by the heavy winds which prevailed Sunday night.

Andrew Quattromani of Central Park, Westerly, is owner of an Oakland coach driven Sunday by Patrick L. Quattromani, which with a Whippet coach owned and driven by Charles Brady of 27 County Road, Hampden Meadows, R. I. figured in a collision at the junction of Elm and School street at about 11:30 o'clock. The Oakland came around the corner from School to Elm street, while the Whippet was standing waiting for the signal light to change. The damage to the Whippet included a bent fender, broken bumper and smashed headlight. The Oakland escaped with a bent bumper. The accident was investigated by Officer LeRoy Norman. No arrests were made, as the drivers came to an agreement.

BOTHERED WITH ECZEMA A YEAR

Affected Limbs, Back and Arms. Healed by Cuticura.

"Eczema first broke out when I was a child two years old. It was in a rash and affected my limbs, back and arms. It itched a great deal, and bothered me about a year. My parents tried different remedies with little or no avail. My father read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment so purchased some. After using I got relief so they purchased more, which completely healed me." (Signed) Miss Mary Boyle, 66 Pomona St., Springfield, Mass.

Clear the pores of impurities by daily use of Cuticura Soap, with touches of Cuticura Ointment as needed to soothe and heal. Cuticura Talcum is fragrant and refreshing.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold throughout the world. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. B, Malden, Mass." Cuticura Shaving Stick 25c.

Are You Run Down, Weak, Nervous?

To have plenty of firm flesh and the ability to do a big day's work and feel "like a two-year old" at night, you must eat three good meals a day, relish your food and properly digest it. If your food don't suit, can't sleep, can't work, just take a teaspoonful of Tanlac before meals.

Mr. Stephen Vitale, of 127 Springdale Ave., Meriden, Conn., says: "I was a weak, thin, puny boy and grew up to manhood in that condition. But Tanlac fixed me up. It increased my appetite and made my stomach all over so I could digest everything. I gained 25 lbs."

Tanlac is wonderful for indigestion and constipation—gas, pains, nausea, dizziness and headaches. It brings back lost appetite, helps you digest your food, and gain strength and weight. It contains no mineral drugs; it is made of roots, barks and herbs, nature's own medicines for the sick. The cost is less than 2 cents a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist. Your money back if it doesn't help.

POETRY

walking in the Rain

My face is wet with the rain,
But my heart is warm to the core,
For I follow an will again
The road that I loved of yore;
And the dim trees beat the dark,
And the swelling ditches moan,
But my heart is a singing, roaring lark
For I travel the road alone.
Alone in the living night,
Away from the babble of tongues,
Alone with the old delight
Of the night wind in my lungs.
And the wet air on my cheeks
And the warm blood in my veins,
Alone with the joys he knows who seeks
The threat of the young spring rains.
With the smell of the pelted earth,
The tearful drip of the trees,
Making him dream of the sound of mirth
That comes with the clearing breeze.
'Tis a rare and wondrous night
To tramp the wet awhile
And watch the slow delight
Of the sun's first pallid smile,
And hear the meadows breathe again
And see the far woods turn green,
Drunk with the glory of wind and rain
And the sun's warm smile between!
I have made me a vagrant song,
For my heart is warm to the core,
And I'm glad, oh, glad that the night is long,
For I travel the road once more.
And the dim trees beat the dark
And the swelling ditches moan,
With the joy of the singing lark
I travel the road alone!

—By Amory Hare.

Three Seasons

"A cup for hope!" she said,
In springtime ere the bloom was old;
The crimson wine was hope and gold
By her mouth's richer red.

"A cup for love!" how low
How soft the words; and all the while
Her blush was rippling with a smile
Like the summer after snow.

"A cup for memory!"
Cold cup that one must drain alone:
While autumn winds are up and moan
Across the barren sea.

Hope, memory, love:
Hope for fair morn, and love for day.
And memory for the evening gray
And solitary dove.

—Christina Georgina Rossetti.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"Yes, the president of the United States serves a four-year term."

"Lummie! An' don't 'e get nothing off fer good be'avior?" — Smith's Weekly.

"What are you doing in my apple tree, you young rascals?"

"Please, sir, we're only picking windfalls."—Bystander.

"Is it true that Mabel has a secret sorrow?"

"Heavens, yes! Hasn't she told you about it?"—Humorist.

"Eat onions in the winter," advises a doctor. Then, if you get lost in the fog, your friends will soon find you.—London Opinion.

"My wife is an inveterate smoker. Why, three times she's set the bed on fire with her cigarettes. Would you ecommend a suit for divorce?"

"Either that or a suit of asbestos pajamas."—Boston Transcript.

"Your wife looks terribly upset. What's the matter?"

"Why, she was assisting at a Ladies' Aid rummage sale, took off her new hat and somebody sold it for 35 cents."—Epworth Herald.

Employe—I have been here ten years doing three men's work for one man's pay. Now I want a raise.

Employer (slightly Scotch)—I can't give you a raise but if you'll tell me who the other two men are I'll discharge them.—Brooklyn Eagle.

"You know Boothby—great fellow for detail."

"He is that! He's the sort of chap who would go and get married and be able afterward to tell you whether it was Mendelssohn, 'Lohengrin' or 'Tannhauser' they played during the ceremony."—Vancouver Province.

Four sets of twins have enrolled this year in the first grade of Rose Hill school at Bellaire, O. Seven of the children are girls and one is a boy.

The health department of Guadalajuato, Mexico, has ordered arrested all medical practitioners who cannot show medical degrees from reputable universities.

Three men loading a 600-pound safe on to a truck at Sudbury, Pa., fled when Wallace R. Cutler ran out in his pajamas and chased them. One of the fleeing men dropped a wallet in which was found a card with this inscription; "Honesty is the best policy."

An unusually intelligent automobile horn in Saconia, N. H., got busy in the face of impending danger and sounded its own fire alarm. It was that weird sounding at 3 o'clock in the morning that caused E. J. Brooks to get up and open his garage door, where he found his car afire, presumably from a short circuit. The car, considerably damaged, was saved.

Parrots learn the Spanish language more easily than English or German, dealers in birds and other pets in Texas assert. Species of parrots from the tropics that are brought to Dallas when young are said to acquire the habit of saying the soft words of the Spanish language more rapidly than the rather harsh words common to the Teutonic languages. In the bird house at the Dallas municipal zoo a parrot speaks Spanish words picked up from countless Mexican visitors and has never spoken a word in English. In El Paso a parrot learned words in Spanish and in Chinese, but seldom spoke English.

The "flying restaurant" has been discontinued by the company which organized the first service on the Paris-London route, and henceforth air tourists will have to be satisfied with lunch baskets obtained before leaving the airdrome or an occasional sandwich served cautiously en route. Experts studying the restaurant system discovered extreme vibration due to the movements of the passengers during their luncheon.

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause. That's why salves and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds, because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has given quick, safe and lasting relief to thousands of Pile Sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. Lee & Osgood Co. and druggists everywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee.

Burgess Bedtime Story

Buster Tries to Run Away
By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Who from temptation runs away
Should keep on running night and day
—Buster Bear.

Buster Bear, in the dusk of early morning, stole out from the woods on the back side of the Great Mountain to peep into a pigpen, a logpen behind a small barn. That barn hid the pigpen from the view of anyone in the little house. Buster was trying to make himself believe that all he wanted was to see how many pigs there were in that pen. He could hear some grunting and squealing and it gave him a funny feeling. Very watchfully he approached the back of that pen. Then he stood up and looked over the top rail. When he did that there was a scampering of hoofs and squeals of fright. What Buster saw was a pleasant surprise. He saw two big pigs and six small pigs. It was the sight of those small pigs that gave Buster such a pleasant feeling.

Without really thinking what he was doing, he started to climb over into the pen. Then he heard a door slam somewhere and at that sound Buster took to his heels, making straight for the woods. You would be surprised to see how fast Buster can run when he tries to.

"I didn't really want one of those pigs," muttered Buster to himself. "I just wanted to look at them. I guess it wouldn't be safe to take one of those pigs. But they certainly did look good to me. If one of those pigs wouldn't make good, tender eating then I don't know what good, tender eating is. Well, I must try to find something else for breakfast and forget about those pigs."

So Buster wandered on his way. He found a few acorns here and a few wild grapes still hanging to the vines there. But this eating a mouthful here and a mouthful there was very unsatisfactory. He felt as if the first mouthful was gone before he found the second one. All the time he kept thinking of those pigs.

"I must forget 'em," said Buster in his deep, rumbly-grumbly voice as he talked to himself. "I must forget those pigs. I will just get so far away from them that I won't think of them. It is easier not to think of things when you are a long way from them. I will just run away from those pigs. If I don't they may get me into trouble."

So Buster kept on moving. Now and then he stopped to dig up a root. Once or twice he tore open an old stump to get at the nest of a Wood Mouse. In fact, he stopped whenever he could find anything to eat. But this CUT HERE octakes wasn't often and so most of the time Buster was moving. And all the time he was trying to make himself believe that he was running away from those pigs, that he was running away from temptation. Once he crept under a big windfall and took a long nap. When he awoke he came out and started again.

"If I find any more pigs," he grumbled, "I'll run away without looking at them. They are too much of a temptation. Yes, sir, they are too much of a temptation. That's why I am running away from those pigs I saw early this morning. If I hadn't run away they might have made a lot of trouble for me. They squealed too loud. Yes, sir, they squealed too loud. I suppose they belong to one of those two-legged creatures that have terrible guns. That is why they are likely to make trouble for me if I won't leave them alone. I'll just stick to the woods."

Along about the time the first stars began to appear in the sky, Buster came to the edge of the woods. He stood up and looked across to a logpen behind a small barn. He sniffed and he smelled pigs. He listened and he heard grunts and little squeals. Buster was right back where he had started from early that morning. He had simply traveled in a great circle and is the very he had run away from those pigs.

Biggest Whirlpool.

Just before the junction of the Madre de Dios and the Inambari rivers in Peru the latter divides into two arms, with an island some 2 miles long between. The right arm, which is usually the safer for navigation, is at times impassable, owing to excessive drought that causes the formation of perilous rapids. Travelers must in consequence take the wide left arm, down which the main volume of the river then flows.

An enormous force of water is shot into the Madre de Dios; the Inambari at its left-arm junction is 200 yards wide, perhaps 30 feet in depth, and flows at 6 knots an hour. This great mass of water meets the Madre de Dios, itself 400 yards wide here, at a right angle. The current of the Inambari being faster than the Madre de Dios, the former river cut right across to the farther bank. There the Inambari is thrown back and surges round in a huge circle 200 yards in diameter, to join up again with the water flowing to the bank. The whirlpool thus formed is probably one of the largest in the world. The circles of seething water curl inward and downward, screw-fashion, to their center, which appears as a great hole, at least 6 feet below the level of the outer rim.

The Largest Loom.

At Rodewisch, in Saxony, the center of the German textile industry, there is in operation what is thought to be the largest weaving loom in the world. This huge crank loom is 77 feet long and 60 feet wide. It stands 10 feet high and weighs 55 tons. The shuttle is of corresponding proportions, and travels to and fro at the rate of 15 times a minute.

This machine is capable of turning out seamless disks of felt, such as are used in paper mills, up to 233 feet in circumference.

HOUSE MAN TOOK $750 FROM SAFE AT DR. SULLIVAN'S IN NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 26—Robert DeDore, a Filipino, employed as house man by Dr. Daniel Sullivan, Jerome place, was arrested this afternoon by Detective Sergeants John Cavanaugh and Nelson Smith, charged with robbery and in default of bail of $2,000, he is being held a prisoner at police headquarters pending his hearing in the police court tomorrow morning. DeDore a former United States coast guardor and submarine base sailor, had been employed by the surgeon for several months. He had complete knowledge of the movements of Dr. Sullivan and his family and in the pursuance of his duties he also had knowledge that the surgeon kept cash and jewelry in a house safe. DeDore left the Sullivan residence early last evening and attended a motion picture performance.

About nine o'clock he left the theatre and drove to the Sullivan residepce where, as he anticipated, the surgeon and Mrs. Sullivan were absent. Going to the safe he removed $725, but did not take twice that amount in checks, nor jewelry. DeDore then opened a window to make it appear when the robbery was discovered as though some one not connected with the household was the thief. DeDore drove away with his loot. About half an hour later Dr. and Mrs. Sullivan returned. Upon finding the window open it was at once suspected that a robbery ha dbeen committed and going to the safe, Dr. Sullivan discovered the cash missing, but the checks and jewelry had not been disturbed. Dr. Sullivan reported the robbery to the police and Detective Sergeants Cavanaugh and Smith were assigned to the case. The officers went to the house and in a short time became convinced that the window had been opened from the inside. DeDore was nowhere to be found, but an officer was stationed at the house and when the Filipino returned about midnight he was arrested and taken to police headquarters. Repeated grilling of DeDore did not result in his confessing the robbery, but he was locked up pending investigation. This afternoon a further quizzing of DeDore resulted in his making a complete confession. He said that after removing the money from the safe it was secreted in the upholstery of his automobile. The officers went to the garage where the auto was stored and driving it to police headquarters, DeDore went to the car and removed the cash. He said that he stole the money to pay a gambling debt. Dr. Sullivan is head surgeon at Lawrence-Memorial hospital.

BONDS FIXED AT $1,000 FOR BAUER AND NORTHRUP

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 26—Two cases of violation of the liquor law were up for trial in the police court this morning, John Bauer, Vauxhall street, being charged on two counts, transportation and possession and Jerry Northrup, employed at the club room of Jack Halpern, 42 Golden street, being charged with possession and keeping with intent to sell. Both cases were continued to Monday next. Bauer and Northrup furnished a surety on their respective bonds of $1,000 for their appearance in court next week. Bauer is a brother-in-law of Halpern and was making a delivery of "gin" to the establishment when arrested by Automobile Patrol Officer Augustus Ray. The officer observed Bauer driving Halpern's Chrysler coupe and followed the machine to the rear of the club room, where the nature of the load the car carried was revealed. The liquor was in a carton and consisted of several quarts of the concoction, together with a dozen or 15 pints of the same liquor. Northrup was arrested a few minutes prior to the raid upon Halpern's car by Sergeant Samuel Hick and Patrolman William Corcoran. The officers were on Golden street seeking an automobile that Saturday night hit a woman in Waterford, the car then speeding away. While looking over cars four sailors passed the officers and one of the blue-jackets used his loud speaker by making it known that the quartet were about to purchase liquor. The officers followed the sailors to the entrance to the club room where they were being admitted as the cops ascended the stairs. Once inside the building the officers found a quantity of home-brew beer, but did not find liquor. They were satisfied that liquor was locked in a closet, but not being in possession of a search warrant they refrained from breaking open the supposed storage place of the hard stuff. The club room has been raided several times within a few months and when last a conviction of an employe of the place was obtained in the police court, Prosecuting Attorney Daniel M. Cronin caused the owner of the building, John Goss, Ocean Avenue, to be informed that if a second conviction of a person employed in the club room was made, Goss would also be prosecuted for renting the building for illegal purposes. In the last previous raid, James Sexton was convicted.

Marian Lewis, 33, 110 Potter street; Fannie Burris, 26, of the same address and Ernest Johnson, 30, of 30 Orchard street, Springfield, Mass., all colored, were in court on charges of breach of the peace and carrying concealed weapons. They pleaded guilty and fines were imposed. The Lewis woman, who has a long police court record, was fined $50 and costs; the Burris woman was fined $15 and costs, as was Johnson, who is a former railroad dining car waiter. All paid.

Oscar Profitt, colored, of 31 Hill street, charged with breach of the peace and had his case continued a month. Profitt was arrested last night by Patrolman Louis Tooker upon complaint of his wife.

William Carnos, of Blackstone, Mass. was charged with violation of the city's traffic ordinances in passing a red light on Bank street Sunday. He was arrested by Sergeant Samuel Hick and Traffic Officer Dennis Cavanaugh, but in court today he was discharged.

Stacey K. Beebe, 58 West 55th street, New York, was charged with failing to obey a signal of a traffic officer. As he failed to present himself in court, his bond of $15 was declared forfeited. Beebe was arrested Saturday night by Traffic Officer Edward Riordan who ordered the accused to move his car which he refused to do.

David Bendett, 69 Mechanic street, Norwich, was also charged with passing an automatic traffic signal on Bank street, that was set at danger Sunday night. He was arrested by Patrolman Elwood Bailey, but the case was not presented in court today.

Several cases of intoxication came up in court. All the accused were fined $5 and costs, excepting one fellow, who was discharged.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today ordered the suspension of the drivers' licenses of Ira DeLosse Dodd, submarine base and William Frechette, Box 115, Waterford. Commissioner Stoeckel also ordered the return of the license of Abraham Lubchansky, 199 Huntington street.

BOSTON GIRL ONLY 13 MAY TRY TO MARRY SAILOR

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 26—Lieut. Nixon, Boston police, tonight communicated with the New London police, requesting that in the event of Louise Klueber, 13, of Boston, endeavoring to be married in this city, to arrest her and hold her for the Boston authorities. Lieut. Nixon stated that the girl was supposed to be in the company of Leonard Harvey, a sailor aboard U. S. S. Camden and that from information received by relatives of the girl it was her intention to wed Harvey in this city.

The management of the Beacon Oil company, Church and Huntington streets, reported to the police tonight that an attempt was made to burglarize the establishment last night by jimmying one of the doors.

W. Schnessler, Butte, Mont., today communicated with the New London police requesting assistance in locating Lorenz Haban Friedland, who, it is understood is residing in New London county. He is of Jewish extraction; no description of the man is given.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NORWICH

Despite the fast approaching cold weather the number of new building permits for the past week exceeded the normal average for the third week in November. During the past week 18 building permits were granted by Fire Marshal Howard L. Stanton bringing the total permits for the month to 25.

Among the building permits granted were four for new dwelling houses and one for a brick building for the Norwich-New London Sign Co.

Good progress has been made on the buildings now under construction. The new brick building for the Metropolitan Chain Stores, Inc., is being rushed along toward completion by Contractor P. F. Sweeney as the stores expect to be doing business during the Christmas holidays. The new Masonic temple has reached a stage where work can go on unhampered by cold weather. Contractor Spencer is now engaged on the interior work. Work on the new athletic building at the Norwich Free Academy is well along with the construction being devoted to the interior. Peck, McWilliams Co., has the contract as well as the contract for the renovating of the Uncas bank building which is also fast nearing completion.

The permits issued by Fire Marshal Stanton are as follows:

To Teofil Puza to erect a frame garage, 18x18 feet, for himself, in the rear of 50-52 Central avenue. The estimated cost is $50.

To Contractor Fred R. Tongren to build a frame garage, 14x20 feet, on Perkins avenue for Michael H. Shea. The estimated cost is $400.

To Samuel Colt to erect a frame henhouse, 20x30 feet, at 43 1-2 Spring street. The estimated cost is $100.

To Homer J. Monty to erect a framehouse on Asylum street for himself. The house will be 24x26 feet and will have five rooms and bath. The foundation will be of concrete and the superstructure will be of fir frame with the rooms finished in hard pine and hard-finish plaster. The exterior finish will be in clapboards and shingles with composition shingled roof. The estimated cost is $3,000.

To Homer Monty to erect a two-tenement frame house at the corner of Newton and Asylum streets. The house will be 28x43 feet with concrete foundation and frame superstructure. Each tenement will have six rooms and bath. The exterior finish will be in clapboards and shingles, while the interior will be finished in hard plaster and hardwood trim. The floors will be of oak. The estimated cost is $6,000.

To Mrs Annie Derosier to erect an addition, 8x10 feet, to the present frame shed on North street. The estimated cost is $25.

To John Seneski to erect a six-room frame house on Woodmansee avenue for himself. The house will be of the cottage type, 22x26 feet, and will have six rooms and bath. The foundation will be of stone and cement while the exterior will be finished in clapboards. The estimated cost is $3,000.

To Charles W. Burton to erect a two-car garage, 18x18 feet, in the rear of one of his houses on Boswell avenue. The garage will have a stone and cement foundation. The estimated cost is $300.

To Zenon Senkoner to erect a two car frame garage 20x22 feet, for Walter Sawicki at 568 North Main street. The garage will have cement foundation with an exterior finish in composition shingles. The estimated cost is $250.

To Frank Obuchoski to add a frame veranda to the present frame house at 473 North Main street owned by Mr. Obuchoski. The veranda will be 6x8 feet. The estimated cost is $25.

To Joseph Wisniewski to add a frame veranda and dormer window to the present frame house at 102 Roosevelt for himself. The estimated cost is $75.

To Antonio Roczkowski to erect a frame garage at 87 Spring Garden avenue for himself. The garage will be 12x18 feet and the estimated cost is $150.

To A. D. Gaucher, Jr., of Baltic to add a frame porch to the present house at 38 Union street for Mrs. Helena R. Chamberlain. The veranda will be 22x9 feet and two stories high. The estimated cost is $475.

To Vincent Grzymkwski to erect a frame two-car garage on Avery street for himself. The garage will be 18x20 feet and will cost about $250.

To Contractor P. F. Sweeney to erect a brick building on Franklin street for the New London, Norwich Sign Co. The garage will have a stone foundation with brick walls and asphalt built-up roof. The inside walls will be plastered. The approximate cost is $2,000.

To D. Honor of North Stonington to erect a frame five-car garage for Peter Sellas in the rear of 100 Cliff street. The garage will be 20x45 feet with concrete foundation. The estimated cost is $1,200.

To Vincenzio Fumignaro to erect a frame dwelling house, 24x26 feet, on Golden street. The house will have a concrete foundation and cellar. The superstructure will be of frame with exterior finish in clapboards and asphalt shingles. The interior will be finished in plaster and hard pine. The floors will be of hemlock. The house will have six rooms and bath. The estimated cost is $2,700.

To Andrew Morrell to erect a one-car frame garage on Mt. Pleasant street, 12x20 feet, for himself. The estimated cost is $150.

The total cost of the above construction as outlined by the applicants is estimated in the permits as $20,250.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

In Norwich during the past week there were 10 sales of real estate as compared to 15 sales for the corresponding week in 1927. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $44,400 and $78,855.

There were 11 sales of real estate in New London during the past week, an increase of five sales over the same week a year ago. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $53,920 and $48,100.

Building Construction

Building activities throughout the country in October continued to show a downward trend, according to reports made to S. W. Straus & Co. This trend, however, was not quite as pronounced as was reported between May and September. As compared with October, 1927, the totals for the past month represent a loss of 1 per cent. On the other hand, October made a gain of 8 per cent. over the building figures for September, and this would seem to indicate a checking of the building decline which set in during the past spring.

Groton

The Groton chamber of commerce has appointed a committee, of which Herman Johl of Groton is chairman, to raise funds and arrange for the erection of a home for that organization. Other members of the committee are Oscar C. Brunner, Henry J. Latham, Harry C. Brogan, Lewis D. Beitzel and Harry Elion. It is hoped ultimately to erect a building with a hall and suitable meeting quarters for the Groton commerce chamber.

New London

The H. Wales Lines Co., Mercer building, have completed the work on the nurses' dormitory at the Lawrence and Memorial hospital. The building will be opened for public inspection during the coming month. The same contractors have finished the work at the Gillette-Vibber Co. factory addition.

The general contract for the construction of an addition to the exchange building at 73 Washington street for the Southern New England Telephone Co. has been awarded to Perretti Bros. of Centerville. The addition is to be two stories high, of brick construction, and will cost about $50,000.

The permit has been issued to A. B. Neimon of the Neimon Motor Car Co., 821 Bank street, for the erection of a garage and gasoline station at 49 Jay street. The building will be of brick tile and steel construction. The estimated cost will be $15,000.

Excavation work is going on for the new one-family dwelling in Henry street of Andreana and Selvo Percy. The structure is to be 24 by 26 feet in dimensions, with a sun porch 8 1-2 by 11 1-2.

Work is proceeding on the new stone garage of Samuel H. Palmer in Ledyard street. The garage will be 20 by 40 feet in dimensions and will hold four cars.

Building Permits

Samuel Selleck, frame dwelling, 84 Williams street, $6,500.

A. B. Neimon, brick and steel gas station and garage, 49 Jay street, $15,000.

E. S. Doton, garage, 56 Pacific street, $300.

Frank Kaika, garage, 9 Cape Ann street, $300.

M. Benevenuti & Sons, construction shanties, Goshen and Chelsea streets, $150.

Mary E. Hillier, frame garage, 286 Crystal avenue, $600.

Number of permits for the week, 7; estimated cost of buildings, $22,900.

MR. AND MRS CULVER MARRIED FORTY YEARS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 26 — The fortieth wedding anniversary of Game Warden and Mrs. Christopher Culver, 36 Harris court, will be celebrated Thanksgiving day at their home. Invitations have been sent out to a group of friends for a dinner at 6 p. m.

Announcement was made yesterday of the engagement of Miss Mabel Fowler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burt O. Fowler, of Groton, to Leroy Sisk of New York, at a surprise shower held at the home of Miss Gladys Pettigrew of Waterford. The wedding will take place sometime during the coming month.

Members of the W. W. Perkins Woman's Relief corps presented shut-in comrades Thanksgiving baskets this afternoon. The committee which arranged the donation was Mrs. Charles H. Thompson, Mrs. Rose Minault, Mrs. Ada Harvey, Mrs. Saville Green and Mrs. Frank Orchid.

At the weekly meeting of the Faire Harbour club, tomorrow afternoon, plans will be made for Christmas activities. Owing to the nearness of Thanksgiving there will be no luncheon served tomorrow.

At the state armory Saturday night the annual dance of the enlisted men from the coast guard academy was held. More than 900 persons were present at the affair. Besides dancing those present enjoyed several vaudeville sketches put on by members of the organization.

Miss Vida Button, a niece of Daniel Button, Williams street, became the bride, Saturday evening, of Joseph Caccamo, New Britain. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George R. Atha of Groton. After a honeymoon trip they will reside in New Britain where the groom is employed.

When members of Martha Washington council, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, held a whist party Friday night at the home of Mrs. George Curtis of Division street, four tables were in play. Prizes went to Mrs. Ella Tew, Mrs. Charles Edgerton, and Mrs. Madeline Walsh. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Sullivan of Blackhall street celebrated the twentieth anniversary of their wedding at their home yesterday. In the evening an informal reception was held.

Great preparations are being made for the charity dance of New London lodge of Elks, to be held on the roof garden of the Hotel Mohican. Music will be furnished by an orchestra from New Haven. Judging by reservations already made the affair will be greater than any ever held by the lodge.

The 135th anniversary of Hadessah lodge, New London chapter, was celebrated in Union lodge rooms last night with about 190 members present. After a short business meeting a pgoram of entertainment was rendered which included speaking, music, dancing and games. At the close of the evening refreshments were served by the committee.

At the meeting of Star of the Star of the Sea branch, Ladies Catholic Benevolent association, plans were made for a Christmas sale. After the business session cards were played.

Exercises for the Thanksgiving season were held last night at the B. P. Learned mission under direction of Supt. Richard Mansfield. At the meeting announcement was made that the annual Thanksgiving dinner will be held Saturday next.

A certificate of incorporation has been filed at the office of the secretary of state, Hartford, of the Dollar Dyers and Cleaners. The incorporators are Arthur T. Keefe, Marion R. Davis and Leon J. Belsheirg, the last named of Waterford. The capitol stock is $50,000, divided into 500 shares of the par value of $100 per share. All stock is common. The corpoartion starts business with a capital stock of $1000. The corporation will engage in the business of cleaning, dyeing, repairing, renovating all kinds of clothing, rugs, curtains, draperies, and merchandise. It will also buy, sell, manufacture, import and export all kinds of dyes, cleaning fluids and clothing materials, etc.

John Moosbroker, of Waterford, today, had a mechanic's lien levied against Henry J. Welson, Hartford, for building materials furnished for a house in course of construction for Welson on Ocean avenue. The amount of the claim is $84.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre

Samuel Goldwyn, whose fondness for best selling novels as preferred subjects for big films dates back to his pioneer film-making days, has done it again. The maker of "Stella Dallas" now presents "The Winning of Barbara Worth," a Henry King Production based on the Harold Bell Wright best selling novel which sold into two million copies. The film comes to the Breed theatre Thursday for three days.

The producers of the film which boasts of Vilma Banky in the Barbara Worth role and Ronald Colman as the eastern engineer, Willard Holmes, estimate that ten million people have already read the novel. There were, first of all, the two million purchasers of the original Wright $2 book. Then additional millions read the serialization of that novel in more than 100 newspapers in the United States alone. And now, synchronized with release of "The Winning of Barbara Worth" by the United Artists Corp. comes the popular-priced A. L. Burt Co. photoplay edition, with more thousands reading the Wright story.

Samuel Goldwyn was so anxious to have the benefit of the ten million readers of Harold Bell Wright's tale that he paid, according to his own admission, $125,000 for the screen rights to "The Winning of Barbara Worth."

Frances Marion, famous scenarist, adapted the novel to the screen and Henry King directed the picture.

Broadway Theatre

"The Terror," all-talking picture adaptation of the great London stage hit, is proving to be a tremendous sensation at the Broadway theatre, where it is playing to record-breaking crowds. It is a composite of all gooseflesh things—It has to do with the search for the master mind in a bank robbery and for the loot which is concealed presumably in a dilapidated English manor house, now occupied by a miserly old doctor and his pretty daughter—and converted into a rest cure. Here come such a collection of odds and ends of humanity as is seldom seen outside Bedlam.

The ancient and furtive doctor is played by Alec Francis, who has no equal as the portrayer of "old men." May McAvoy is charming as his daughter, Olga, the prime victim of the Terror—a gruesome hooded creature that causes pandemonium, with ghostly organ music, subterranean fires, glittering knives, shrieks and shudders—to say nothing of the unintentional fun in the fright of crooks, cons and the rest.

Vitaphone, as always, plays lead—lashing the action to frenzy. It is used not only for interpretative symphonic accompaniment, but for voices of the players, all lines being spoken and no titles whatever used.

But "you ain't heard nothing yet," in the words of Al Jolson, till in addition to the voices and the accompaniment you have heard the hullaballoo of sounds which Vitaphone registers even to the faintest whisper—rain—storm winds—swish of skirts—clash of knives—crackle of flames—music of a hidden organ—all as vividly heard as though in your own room at home. Get on the trail of "The Terror."

Finger Printing in 400 B. C.

It has been discovered that finger printing as a system of identification was practiced in China as early as 400 B. C. On some ancient wills finger prints of the makers have been found, says the Hartford Courant. The system spread from there to India and in Japan it was soon adopted for the identification of criminals. The hiring of illiterate labor in South Africa caused it to spread to the continents.

Mrs. Burton Advises Women on Motherhood and Companionship

"For several years I was denied the blessing of motherhood," writes Mrs. Margaret Burton of Kansas City. "I was terribly nervous and subject to periods of terrible suffering and melancholia. Now I am the proud mother of a beautiful little daughter and a true companion and inspiration to my husband. I believe hundreds of other women would like to know the secret of my happiness, and I will gladly reveal it to any married women who will write me." Mrs. Burton offers her advice entirely without charge. She has nothing to sell. Letters should be addressed to Mrs. Margaret Burton, Massachusetts, Kansas City, Mo. ## GREENEVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Laubin entertained the members of the Third Baptist church Friday evening with interpretative Indian dances at the chapel. The program included the following dances, Pipe ceremony, Sioux Circle, Devil dance, Ojibway Scalp dance, Medicine Man's dance, Sun dance, War dance, Buffalo dance, Ghost dance. Before each dance, Mr. Laubin explained the reason for the dance. "The reason why we opened with a pipe ceremony, as you probably know, the pipe plays a great part in Indian life. The Sioux Circle is a social dance done similarly throughout the Plains Area by men, women and children, but the exact interpretation is not known. The Devil dance is an ungovernable young warrior who has defied the discipline of his camp. The Ojibway Scalp dance is done by victorious warriors who have just returned with an expedition against an enemy. The Medicine Man's dance is done by a medicine man from the Sioux Indians at times of great festivity and also in times of famine and distress to propitiate evil spirits and to show the medicine man's power over the elements. The Sun dance is one of the dances done before the sun pole at the time of the annual Sun dance of the Ute Indians. The Great Plains War dance is done by a large mass of warriors preparing for battle. The Buffalo dance is an Ogalalla Sioux dance and is done by a few warriors wearing horned head dresses in imitation of buffalo. The Ghost dancing was taught by a Piute prophet named Wovaka and was a wonderful, peaceable and instructive doctrine, being almost Christian in its teaching."

NOLLE IN MANSLAUGHTER CASE IN GROTON COURT

An absolute nolle was entered in Groton town court Monday morning in the case of Lawrence E Mosier of Waterford, who was technically charged with manslaughter as the result of an accident on Nov. 6, when a truck owned by the Bingham Paper Box Co., of New London, and operated by Mosier, struck and fatally injured Edwin Louis Mattison, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mattison of 76 Ledyard avenue, Groton.

Such disposition of the case was expected. The nolle was based on a finding of Coroner Edward G. McKay of Norwich, who, at a hearing Monday, absolved Mosier from any criminal negligence in the accident.

Finds Barry Was Driving Car

In a coroner's finding handed down last week it was found that Walter J. Barry of 26 Bayonet street, New London, was driving the automobile in which Barry and John F. Sullivan of 65 Hempstead street lost their lives recently when the auto left the road and turned over. Joseph Toohey of 28 South Ledyard street was injured slightly in the crash.

In previous accounts of the double fatality it was indicated that Sullivan was driving at the time of the crash.

Represented Legion Auxiliary

Mrs. Harold Bennett of East Great Plain was among the representatives of the American Legion Woman's auxiliary who served at the Uncas-Merchants National bank last week in the Red Cross roll call.

Sore Throat? Don't Gargle

Also wonderfully effective for relieving coughs. Quick relief guaranteed or your money back. 35c., 60c., and $1.20. Sold by The Lee & Osgood Drug Co., and all other good drug stores.

EX-MAYOR DESMOND PASSES AWAY; LONG PROMINENT NORWICH ATTORNEY

Following a period of failing health, which had confined him to the house for the last ten weeks, the death of Attorney Jeremiah J. Desmond, a former mayor of the city, occurred at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at the home of his sister, Mrs. Francis D. Donohue, 156 Broadway. Several months ago Mr. Desmond relinquished the post of coroner of the county, which he had held since 1921, finding its duties now too great a strain upon his failing strength, and since then he had largely withdrawn from active work in his profession, which he had practiced with honor and success in this city and county since his admission to the Connecticut bar in 1880.

JEREMIAH J. DESMOND

Jeremiah Joseph Desmond, who was born in Windham, on April 4, 1856, was next to the youngest of the fifteen children of Timothy Desmond and Julia Lynch, residents of Windham, Preston and Mansfield until their removal to Norwich in 1875. Attorney Desmond received his primary education in the district schools of Preston and later attended school in Mansfield. In preparation for college he entered Nicolet Preparatory school, at Nicolet, Quebec, in 1870 and the following year went to Montreal college. Entering Holy Cross college at Worcester in 1875, he graduated in 1878 with the degree of Bachelor of Arts and came to Norwich where he studied law for a year in the office of Waite and Green, the best known lawyers of their day, before going to Columbia University Law school in New York to complete his studies. In November, 1880, he was admitted to the bar and began the practice of the profession which has made him one of the best known and highly regarded attorneys of the county.

Always interested in civic affairs he took prominent parts at times in enterprises for the good of the community, one instance of which was his influence in bringing the J. B. Martin company to this city. He had also served the city in the political field, was corporation counsel under the democratic administration from 1888 to 1890, while S. Ashbel Crandall was mayor, and was chairman of the democratic town committee for many years. He served as secretary of the Greeneville school board for eight years and was in the school board of the Central District for several years before consolidation of the districts took place.

In 1918 Mr. Desmond was elected mayor of the city holding the office for two years, and in 1921 he was appointed county coroner. He was a member of the Catholic Benevolent Legion, of Court City of Norwich, No. 63, Foresters of America; of White Cross council, No. 13, K. of C., and of Rev. Daniel Mullen Assembly, Fourth Degree, and a devout member of St. Patrick's church.

In June 1896 he was married in this city to Margaret A. Cunningham. Two children were born to this union, Thomas Gerard Desmond and Catherine Grace Desmond. Mrs. Desmond died June 16, 1906, and five years later Mr. Desmond married Catherine C. Somers of this city.

He is survived by his second wife and two children, Thomas Gerard Desmond and Miss Catherine Grace Desmond, and by two sisters, Mrs. Francis D. Donohue of this city and Mrs. C. J. Birkery of Hartford.

In the legal profession, Mr. Desmond was esteemed as a student of the law, an able trier of cases in court, fearless but fair in the conduct of his causes, able in argument and clear analysis of facts and the application of the law. As a citizen he was earnest and active in the support of causes which drew his interest and sympathy and his death removes from the community one of a type of citizens whose lives are examples and influences for the best in civic life.

ASK COURT ACTION ON MONTVILLE FARM TITLE

Mike and Mary Guley of Montville have brought a petition in the superior court in which Nikoly Ritchanik is named as defendant and the purpose of the suit is to have the court settle adverse claims as to the title of a $250 farm in Montville, of which the plaintiffs claim ownership in fee simple and are in possession of the property. The defendant formerly lived in Montville, but is now of parts unknown.

On May 21, 1920, Abe Merski and Abraham Rothkavitch deeded a one-third interest in the farm to Nikoly Ritchanick.

Rothkavitch brought an action against Merski some time ago askinx for a receiver and other equitable relief and on Feb. 18, 1921, the superior court passed an order directing a committee to sell the interest of Merski and Nikoly Ritchanick and the committee sold the property to Fanny Merski.

At that time, the defendant, Ritchanick had no interest in the real estate but appears of record as being a one-third owner in the farm. By reason of the record title, the defendant has a claim which is adverse to the title of the plaintiffs.

NORWICH WOMAN HAS HERBERT HOOVER LETTER

In reply to a note of congratulation and good wishes which she sent to President-elect Hoover, the following has been received by Miss Lola Belle Roath signed in person by Mr. Hoover:

Stanford University, California,
Nov. 17, 1928.

Miss Lola Belle Roath.
146 Laurel Hill Avenue.
Norwich, Conn.

Dear Miss Roath: I am grateful for your kind message of November 8. I deeply appreciate your good wishes, and your expression of confidence is most encouraging.

Yours faithfully,
HERBERT HOOVER.

SEEKS DIVORCE FOR HIS WIFE'S DESERTION

By a suit brought in the superior court, the papers in which have been filed with Clerk John H. Walker, Arthur F. Ray of Norwich seeks divorce from Frances D. (Putney) Ray, formerly of Norwich and now of parts unknown. They were married Sept. 11, 1906 and he alleges desertion since Aug. 15, 1919.

New Prizes at College

Two new prizes will be awarded for the first time this year at Connecticut college.

Through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. William Savard of Ocean avenue, a prize of $25 is offered for excellence in spoken French. The award will be made upon recommendation of the department of romance languages.

The Norwich poetry prize of $25 is offered annually for the best unpublished poem handed to the chairman of the department of English before April 1. Miss Anna Hempstead Branch has been asked to serve as a judge as long as she can do so and two other judges will be appointed by the department of English each year.

The winner must submit the successful poem to the Quarterly for publication in its next issue.

Mr. Gilman Recovers Automobile

The Buick sedan of Nathan Gilman of Bozrah which was stolen when he left it parked on Bath street last Wednesday night was recovered Monday by Mr. Gilman when a Lisbon resident notified him of a machine that had been standing by the road in sight of his house for a day or two.

Mr. Gilman went to Lisbon at once and found that the car was his missing machine. The car was intact except that about $11 in cash which had been left in a bank book in one of the pockets was missing, but the checks in the bank book were left behind.

Guests at District Parsonage

Mr. and Mrs. German Boyce and son, Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. J. Van Alstyne and son, Albert, of Cherry Valley, N. Y., were week-end guests of Rev. and Mrs. Myron E. Genter at the Methodist district parsonage, 56 Williams street.

SHOWS FINANCIAL PLANS FOR NORWICH INN ENTERPRISE

Some of the best legal and financial mind sin Norwich have devoted a conminds in Norwich have devoted a coning out the plan that will be presented to prospective investors in the stock of the Norwich inn, says a statement issued Monday at the headquarters of the Norwich Inn Builders Ltd.

The stock to be offered for popular subscription will be that of the Norwich Inn corporation, formed for the purpose of erecting and operating an inn. Actual construction will probably be supervised and directed by the Consolidated Hotel Service, Inc., builders and operators of the Treadway system Inns, Norwich inn will be the property of the Norwich Inn corporation stockholders. The Treadway organization will probably be employed to operate and manage the property under conditions to be approved by the board of directors, when elected.

Upon the completion of the financing of the inn all the money necessary to meet expenses of construction, furnishing, equipment and the additional land necessary to protect the site will have been provided.

For the purpose of providing the necessary funds, it is proposed to offer to the public 3,200 shares of 7 per cent preferred stock of a par value of $100 per share and 3,200 shares of common stock of no far value, and to sell these in units of one share of preferred and one share of common for $110 per unit or multiple thereof.

The payment of $7 per share on the preferred stock will show a return of 6.36 per cent on the cost of the unit until such time as the common begins to receive dividends.

The conditions under which stock is to be issued are, as follows:

Both classes of stock shall have full voting power.

In order to retain the control of the company in the preferred stock, the common, which is put out at $10 per share, shall in voting be equivalent to one tenth of a share of preferred—ten shares of common equal one share of preferred.

The preferred stock shall be callable at the option of the company at $105 per share and accrued dividends.

Dividends at the rate of 7 per cent per annum to be paid before any dividends are declared or paid on the common stock.

Dividends on the preferred stock to be payable quarterly and to be cumulative; that is, if not paid as accrued it becomes a liability of the company.

Upon voluntary distribution of the capital assets, the preferred stock to be entitled to $100 per share and unpaid dividends.

In event of involuntary liquidation, the preferred stock shall be entitled to $100 per share and unpaid dividends before any distribution is made on the common stock.

The common stock, of nominal or no par value, shall have voting power equal to one tenth of a share of the preferred stock; that is, one share of preferred shall in voting be equal to ten shares of common.

Ownership of either or both classes of stock will carry no privileges except those enjoyed by the stockholders of any corporation.

Subscribers will be privileged to pay for their stock as follows: On each unit one share each of common and preferred stock, a payment of ten dollars will be made within ten days following the organization of the corporation, the balance may be paid in accordance with either one of the following plans: Plan A, cash on or before February 1st, 1929. Plan B, five equal quarterly instalments, beginning February 1st, 1929. Plan C, twenty equal monthly instalments beginning February 1st, 1929.

The sale of 3,200 shares of preferred stock at $100 per share will produce $320,000 and the sale of 3,200 shares of common stock at $10 per share will produce $32,000, a total of $352,000. This will be used as follows: To build, furnish and equip the 170 room house, beautify the grounds and provide individual garages for guests, at an estimated cost of not to exceed $300,000. To secure control of the Norwich Golf Land company free from all liabilities, except its bonded debt, (an option insured this figure for 100 per cent control), $35,100. The ownership of this company provides the site. Reserve in cash to protect the operations until well established at $16,900; a total of $352,000. This company would then start business with no debt except its capital stock liability.

The Consolidated Hotel Service, Inc., states that its experience in connection with the operation of inns of a similar character, not so favorably situated, justifies the belief that such an inn as here planned should secure a gross revenue sufficient to provide for all expenses of operation, and leave a gross income of $1,000 per room, $70,000.

In order to be conservative this estimate of gross income has been reduced one half, which would leave $35,000; out of which must be paid federal tax of $4,375; this would leave for dividends $30,625. A dividend at 7 per cent on $320,000 would be $22,400; this would leave a balance of $8,225, available for distribution under the terms of the proposed contract, which provides that after all interest and dividends on the preferred stock are paid the balance shall be divided equally between the common stock and the operating company. This estimate is based on statements made by the representatives of the Consolidated Hotel Service Inc. Common stock would then receive $1.25 per share on 3,200 shares, or 12 1-2 per cent. This would total $4,000. The operating company would have as profit an equal amount, $4,000 leaving a surplus of $225.

NORWICH TOWN

ACTIVITIES SUNDAY AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Rev. Charles E. Reeves, preached Sunday morning at the First Congregational church. He took for his text a portion of the second verse of the twenty-second chapter of Job, "Can a Man Be Profitable Unto God?" Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey was in charge of the service and offered prayer.

The Congregational Young People's C. E. society Sunday evening was in charge of Miss Louise Avery. The topic was "Remember God."

The Junior Intermediate C. E. society Sunday afternoon, had for its topic, "Best Ways to be Thankful." Bruce Ladd was leader. The celebration of November birthdays was noted, special significance being given to Esther O'Mara and Charles Browning. The pastor, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey conducted the installation of officers and committees to serve during 1929. Miss Eleanor Smith accompanied at the piano for the singing, also brought a message from the senior C. E. society. Miss Hyde and Miss Corrigeux were in general charge of the meeting. Following are the officers:

President, Esther O'Mara; vice president, Nelson Ladd; secretary, Ruth Avery; treasurer, Robert Hastings; prayer meeting committee, Bruce Ladd, chairman, Edna Pierce, Esther O'Mara, Nelson Ladd, John Hurd; lookout committee, Richard Heller, chairman, John Laskowski, Ruth Avery, Alice Avery, Edward Jordan, Donald Waterman; missionary committee, Paul Laskowski, chairman, Nelson Webster, John Browning, Betty Barber; social committee, Rachael Avery, chairman, Ethel Pierce, Robert Hastings, Eugene Wood; music committee, Betty Browning, chairman, Elaine Barrett, Charles Browning, Elizabeth Webster, Robert Barber.

During the week for several days very heavy blasts took place in some location in Norwich Town. The report was so loud it rumbled like terrific thunder, shaking houses and rattling window panes.

Under supervision of Henry T. Gorman of the state highway department with Ernest Gadbois foreman of the work crew in this part of Connecticut, the gutters on both sides of Town street were cleaned out during the week preparatory to winter.

Mrs. Fanny Holmes, a member of the family of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Hough of West Town street, is to pass Thanksgiving with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Grayvacz, of Hartford, former Norwich residents. Mrs. Holmes relatives motored to Norwich Town Sunday to convey her to Hartford. She expects to return Sunday, December 2nd.

Mrs. Theodore D. Peck of Westchester, has been visiting for the past five weeks at the home of her son-in-law, and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Peck, of Otrobando avenue. She will be joined by her daughter, Miss May Peck, for Thanksgiving and the holiday recess. Mr. and Mrs. Peck had as a dinner guest Friday, the former's brother Edward Peck, also of Westchester. While in Norwich, Mrs. Edward Peck and others who accompanied her attended the sessions of the Norwich Council of Religious Education.

Callers Friday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Peck, included the former's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cross of Moodus and their guest, Charles Zipp, of Rockville Center, Long Island, another cousin.

Charles Barber, of Elm avenue, has returned to work following several weeks confinement at his home as the result of an accident which kept him in bed about a week. While engaged at his work in a down town market Mr. Barber's foot got caught between the floor and the elevator shaft, causing his leg to slip through the opening and scrape the bone severely. With the aid of friends, Mr. Barber was able to go to the polls election day that he might vote.

PARENTS HAPPY WHEN BABY SLEEPS SOUNDLY

Here's a way to soothe crying wakeful babies to sleep quickly and easily. It's the way doctors endorse, and millions of mothers have proved it safe and harmless. A few drops of purely-vegetable, pleasant-tasting Fletcher's Castoria, has the most fretful, restless baby or child asleep in a few minutes. And for colic, constsipation, colds and upset spells, there's nothing like Castoria. The Chas. H. Fletcher signature is the mark of genuine Castoria. Avoid imitations and be safe.

TAFTVILLE

Emile Dionne has resigned his position with the local mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson have taken a house on North Fourth avenue.

Mrs. Arthur X. Bessette of Norwich avenue, who has been a patient at the William W. Backus hospital at Norwich for the past two weeks, has been discharged and has returned to her home in town. Mrs. Bessette was struck by an automobile operated by Frank Mader of Norwich, while waiting for a trolley near the Lisbon bridge, almost opposite her home. Her many friends are glad to learn of her remarkable recovery, and pleased that she has been able to leave the hospital.

The members of the Taftville Business Men's association held a meeting Monday evening at the Fire Company No. 2 hall on Merchants avenue.

Because of the holiday this week, the meeting of the members of the Thimble club which was to have been held at the home of Mrs. Walter S. Grant of the Old Canterbury turnpike, has been postponed.

WEDDING
Brochu-Rivest

The marriage of Miss Freda Rivest, daughter of Mrs. Amelia Rivest of 21 South Second avenue, and Napoleon Brochu, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Brochu of 21 Terrace avenue, took place Monday morning at 8:30 at a nuptial mass at Sacred Heart church with the pastor, Rev. Frederick R. DesSureault, officiating. The bridal chorus from Lohengrin was played by Miss Alice Frechette as the bridal party entered the church and moved up the aisle to the altar of the Blessed Virgin, where the bride's ribbons signifying her membership in the Children of Mary sodality, were removed by Miss Alma Paquette and Miss Mary Paquette. The bride wore a gown of white satin with lace. Her bridal veil was caught up with lilies of the valley and she carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations with a shower of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor, Miss Irene Rivest, sister of the bride, wore pink satin with maline, and hat to match, and carried pink rosebuds. The bridesmaids were Miss Bella Brochu, cousin of the groom, who wore blue and orchid satin with hat to match and carried orchid chrysanthemums, and Miss Olivia Brochu, the groom's sister, who wore yellow satin with lace and hat to match and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The best man was Joseph Brochu, brother of the groom, and the ushers were James Chapman of New Bedford and Charles Girard of Jewett City.

After the church ceremony there was a reception and wedding breakfast for 30 guests at the home of the bride's mother on South Second avenue. Among those attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brochu, Mrs. Leontine Brochu, Mrs. Beatrice Brochu, Mrs. Rose Dupuis and Miss Evelyn Brochu of Jewett City.

The bride received many beautiful and useful gifts, including linen, silver, household furniture and money. Both Mr. and Mrs. Brochu are popular young people of the village. Among the many social affairs being given in Mrs. Brochu's honor was a shower tendered her by her many friends.

The happy couple left by automobile during the evening for a wedding trip to New York, Rochester, Niagara Falls and Montreal, and upon their return they are to reside with the bride's mother in Taftville.

The groom is in the employ of the Fisk Rubber Co. of Jewett City.

M'MANUS CHARGED WITH THE MURDER OF ROTHSTEIN

Accused Surrendered to a Detective—Had Made Appointment and Was Enjoying His Morning Shave When Taken Into Custody—Held Without Bail For a Formal Hearing Friday—No Trace of Emotion Was Betrayed by McManus When Charged With the Murder

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—(AP)—George McManus, who summoned Arnold Rothstein to the hotel room where he was mortally wounded, was charged with the gambler's murder today.

He refused to talk beyond pleading not guilty to a short affidavit charging him with murder in the first degree and was held without bail for formal hearing Friday.

Police had sought McManus without avail ever since Rothstein was shot on Nov. 4, but he notified them last night that he would surrender this morning in a Bronx barber shop. When the appointment was kept by a detective on the district attorney's staff McManus was already in the barber shop, enjoying his morning shave.

Rothstein, a slow-pay gambler who gave I O U's but took cash, was sitting in Lindy's restaurant in the White Light district on the night of Nov. 4 when he was called to the telephone. When he hung up the receiver he got his hat and coat and went away.

"George McManus wants me over at the Park Central," he told the restaurant cashier, and he asked the man to keep his pistol for him until he got back.

But he never went back, for in Room 349 of the Park Central, a room rented under the name of George Richards, which police say was an alias adopted for the occasion by McManus, he was shot through the groin and two days later he died.

In Room 349 police found several bottles and glasses, and an overcoat with McManus' name in the collar. So they went to the home of McManus, the burly brother of a police lieutenant, and an intimate of Rothstein widely known in the gambling haunts along the fringe of the underworld, but he was not there. Nor did he go there any more and detectives could not find him.

There was no suggestion during all the three weeks' search that McManus was wanted for anything more than questioning. District Attorney Banton said repeatedly that he did not believe McManus killed Rothstein, but that he undoubtedly knew who did.

So it came as a surprise today when the short affidavit sworn to by the arresting officer stated that the detective was "informed and verily believed" that McManus fired the shot from which his gambler pal died.

The announced theory up to that time had been that McManus had summoned Rothstein to the Park Central to try to patch up differences between Rothstein and several gamblers who held paper he had given at a card game where his usual luck failed him and he lost $350,000. As police reconstructed the scene, for publication, McManus was the peace maker, but someone else in the room, one of the creditors or a hired gunman of one of them, got excited and pulled a trigger.

But though today's murder charge was a surprise to almost everyone else, no trace of emotion showed on the ruddy face of the defendant. He smiled his way into the district attorney's office, into the court of general sessions where he was arraigned, and then into a cell in Tombs prison.

During the arraignment he graciously surrendered what chance he might have had of eating his Thanksgiving dinner outside of prison to that court officers and the district attorney would not have to work on a holiday.

A person can only be held without bail for 48 hours on a short affidavit, which would have necessitated holding the formal hearing on Thursday, but McManus waived the point with a smile and agreed to let himself be held in prison until Friday.

After McManus had been led away, his lawyer, retained yesterday to manage the surrender and subsequent legal happenings, issued a statement in which he said that his client had not been a fugitive at any time and would have surrendered himself immediately had it not been for his sense of innocence. McManus felt, the lawyer said, that Rothstein must have whispered the name of his slayer on his death bed and, that the holder of the secret would impart it to the authorities. When this did not happen after three weeks, however, and when he read in the papers that he was wanted for questioning, he decided to give himself up.

While McManus was being arraigned, four associates of Rothstein held in $100,000 bail each as material and hostile witnesses, were making a futile attempt to get out of jail. They secured a writ of habeas corpus but it was dismissed by a supreme court justice. They are "Nigger Nate" Raymond, large holder of Rothstein I O U's; "Titanic Tommy" Thompson, another gambler who sat in at the big game believed to have produced the motive for the killing; Jimmy Meehan, betting commissioner, who was host at the party, and Sidney Stajer, former confidential secretary to Rothstein. Martin (Red) Bowe, another gambler and participant in the big game, who was also declared a material witness, was at liberty, his bail having been set at only $10,000.

After McManus was locked up, District Attorney Banton notified the grand jury that this arrest would obviate the necessity of calling a great number of witnesses, and the grand jury adjourned for the day after hearing a dozen witnesses. It is expected to complete its investigation tomorrow or Friday.

LABOR COLLEGES PROPOSAL DEBATED BY THE A. F. OF L.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 27—(AP)—A proposal to establish one or more labor colleges in the United States produced a spirited debate centering around Brookwood Labor college today at the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor.

Charges that communism is taught at Brookwood college at Katonah, N. Y., were hurled and heated denials were made. When the convention adjourned, A. J. Muste, dean of the school, issued a statement saying some of the statements made on the floor were "absolutely incorrect."

Matthew Woll, fourth vice-president of the federation, told delegates that he had been appointed by President William Green to investigate Brookwood college and said he had found the school "was teaching propaganda against the American Federation of Labor." He added that he found three teachers were communists and one an anarchist.

President Green then said that the executive council was "shocked and amazed at the revelations."

The council, Green said, then advised national and international unions to withdraw financial support from the school.

Defense of Brookwood was voiced by Tobias Hall of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, who said he had gone there three different times and had seen no indication of communistic teachings and by Charles L. Reed of Salem, Mass., who said he was a Brookwood graduate.

The vote then was taken and the convention concurred in the education committee's recommendation that the proposal for additional schools be referred to the incoming executive council.

BLAMES THE AMERICAN TAXPAYERS' LEAGUE

McALLEN, Tex., Nov. 27—(AP)—Answering charges of irregularities in the primary election in the 15th Texas congressional district, Representative John Garner, veteran democratic leader of the house, blamed the American Taxpayers' league here today for the fight being conducted on his successful race for re-election.

Garner took the stand at the hearing instituted by the house elections committee after his primary opponent, Sid Hardin, of Mission, had testified that he withdrew his formal charges of excessive expenditures and fraud in the campaign after being threatened by county officials supporting Garner with indictment for libel.

VICTIM OF FEVER HE WAS HELPING TO CONQUER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—(AP)—Dr. Edward Francis, scientist of the public health service, has fallen victim to Malta Fever, a disease which he was helping to conquer. Malta Fever heretofore has been found only in cattle, Dr. Francis, renowned for his investigation of Tularemis, a fever contracted from handling rabbits, is in the naval hospital here. Malta Fever generally takes three to five years to run its course.

The disease was contracted from cultures used by Dr. Francis in experiments conducted at the Hygienic laboratory of the public health service.

ABATEMENT OF TEMPEST IN THE BRITISH ISLES

LONDON, Nov. 27—(AP)—The British Isles today had a welcome surcease from the gales which in recent days ravaged almost the whole of Europe. In Belgium and Holland there also were signs of abatement in the tempest but those two low-lying countries were faced with a big task in repairing of damage or in fortifying dykes which threaten to give way with the next high tide. Channel shipping was still under a heavy handicap tonight.

The "low countries" were the worst sufferers from the storm. Dykes went down along the coasts and on tidal streams and tempest-tossed sea waters, forced even higher by unusual tides, swept over wide stretches. Houses were demolished, fields inundated, livestock drowned and outright suffering inflicted upon large sections of the population.

The death roll in Holland alone was estimated at 58. This, however, included 27 members of the crew of the Italian steamer Salento, which went to pieces off Zaandvoort, where she grounded Sunday night. The Italian sailors perished almost within sight of would-be rescuers.

Several lifeboats tried to put out to the wreck, but they were repeatedly thrown back on shore. One lifeboat capsized, drowning one member of its crew. Another man was so seriously injured that he died several hours later.

With the surf men unable to reach the wreck, military airplanes tried to drag life lines across the stranded vessel. In this, however, they were unsuccessful.

S. S. KRESGE MARRIED FOR THE THIRD TIME

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Nov. 27—(AP)—Sebastian S. Kresge, the millionaire chain store owner, was married for the third time a month ago, it was announced here today.

The bride was Clara K. Swaine of the Mountain Home, near here. The marriage was made known on Kresge's authorization by Jacob Hill, prothonotary of the Monroe county courts, who said the ceremony was performed on Oct. 27. The minister who officiated said it took place on Sunday evening, Oct. 28.

In the application for the marriage license the bride's age was set down as 34 and that of Kresge as 51.

It was the bride's second marriage, she having been divorced from her first husband five years ago for desertion.

OVERDRAFT OF SCHOOL FUNDS IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 27—(AP)—Readin' and writin' and 'rithmetic in Chicago's public schools today had become a matter mostly of arithmetic with the discovery that the school treasury has left less than $300,000 to meet expenses of $4,000,000 a month until February 15 when additional funds will be available.

Already 75 per cent, the legal limit, of this year's tax levy for educational purposes has been borrowed and spent, as a result that public school system faces a deficit of about $12,000,000 before borrowing can be started on next year's funds, investigators announced today after looking into school finances.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Nov. 27—(AP)—Governor Rajitch of the Belgrade district was struck several times with a cane by a man belonging to an opposing faction of the radical party who rushed upon the governor as he was leaving his office.

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala, Nov. 27—(AP)—The Guatemalan government again re-established diplomatic relations with Nicaragua by ordering its minister, Jose Esteban Sanchez, to resume his functions in Managua. Senor Sanchez has been staying in this city.

TIRANA, Albania, Nov. 27—(AP)—King Zogu, it was reliably reported, has written to Lela, the 23-year-old daughter of Shevket Bey Vlats, millionaire landowner of Elbasson, saying that for reasons of state he must break the engagement made between the two six years ago.

MANILA, Nov. 28—(AP)—(Wednesday)—Reports brought by restored communications today indicated that 200 persons perished in the typhoon which struck the central Philippine Islands Thursday and continued until Saturday. Ten thousand are homeless on the island of Leyete alone.

SAYS VESTRIS STOKERS DESERTED THEIR POSTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—(AP)—Harry Wheeler, superintendent of the Lamport & Holt lines, operators of the Vestris, testified today that if the Vestris put to sea on her fatal voyage with no covers on the hatches, she was unseaworthy.

Testifying in the federal inquiry into the disaster in which 110 lives were lost Nov. 12 off the Virginia Capes, Wheeler agreed with Captain Jessop, American nautical expert, that with the seas coming up it was the first duty of a "sea-going captain" to improvise hatch covers.

Reginald Dickson, sixth engineer of the Vestris, testified at the department of commerce hearing being held before Dickerson Hoover, supervising inspector general of the steamboat inspection service, that when all hands were needed most to keep the engines running, the stoke-hold gang was on deck.

"For God's sake, boys," Dickson quoted Captain Carey as saying to the stokers, "Go below and lend a hand."

The men started, Dickson said, but once out of sight of the captain, scurried to other parts of the vessel. As a result deck officers needed to direct the abandonment of the ship were obliged to stoke the boilers.

NEW YORK TO PROTECT SHIPPING SUPREMACY

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—(AP)—The port of New York started today a movement to organize against what the port authority described as attempts on the parts of Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and southern ports to destroy its shipping supremacy.

Representatives of New York and New Jersey commercial and other bodies, meeting under auspices of the port of New York authority, authorized appointment of a committee to develop a plan of organization and report early next year.

Wilbur La Roe, of counsel for the port authority, said that Baltimore, Philadelphia, Boston and southern ports were interested in freight rate proceedings before the interstate commerce commission which threatened New York's commerce.

"While Baltimore is fighting New York on the ground that the rates should reflect cost" said Mr. La Roe, "New Orleans and other south Atlantic and gulf ports are fighting New York on the theory that cost should be ignored."

Baltimore, Boston and Philadelphia, he declared, were seeking to increase port differentiale to the retirement of New York.

CONGRESSIONAL PROBLEM WILL CONFRONT HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27— (AP) —Herbert Hoover may be called upon by some congressional leaders to take a hand in the controversy raging at the capitol as to whether farm relief shall be disposed of at this approaching short session or await the leisure of the extra session promised by the president-elect if action is not now forthcoming.

Returning from his South American cruise probably in January, it appears likely that Mr. Hoover will find himself in this unique, if not embarrassing, position while Calvin Coolidge is still at the helm.

From the White House word came today that Mr. Coolidge had been unable to decide what the majority opinion of the wrangling congressional leaders appeared to be on this question. He feels that agreement on a farm bill by members of congress and others interested in the legislation is the first prerequisite to immediate action.

SHOCK ENDS LIFE OF PUTNAM RESIDENT

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Nov. 27—John F. Spencer, for many years a resident of this city, died at his home on Woodstock avenue, at 2.45 o'clock this afternoon following a shock suffered on Monday. Mr. Spencer was about the house on Monday afternoon, felt the sudden illness come over him and was forced to his bed. He failed to rally today and died shortly after noon.

Mr. Spencer was born at Pomfret Landing on Nov. 11, 1870, the son of John F. and Elizabeth Washburn Spencer. He received his education in the schools of Pomfret and Putnam, where he later moved with his parents. Mr. Spencer was a carpenter and contractor and has constructed many dwelling houses in the city. He is survived by two sons, Earl and Ralph, and his wife, all of whom reside in Putnam.

REVENUES AND EXPENSES OF THE NEW HAVEN ROAD

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 27—(AP)—Total operating revenues of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co. for the month of October, were $12,807,825, an increase of $661,754 over October of 1927, according to the monthly report of revenues and expenses issued by the road today. Total operating expenses were $7,793,305, a decrease of $412,557 from the operating expenses of last October.

For the ten-month period, January to October, inclusive, total operating revenues for 1928 show a decrease of $2,819,116 from the revenues for the same period in 1927 and total operating expenses show a decrease of $4,680,484 for the period.

The 1928 revenues from January to October were $113,747,205, and the operating expenses were $79,139,942.

Confessed To Series Of Hatchet Murders

Two Boys Responsible For the Arrest of Negro Laborer in Spokane, Wash.

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 27—(AP)—Elmer Williams, 24, Negro laborer, today told police that he killed two women in Omaha, Neb., with a hatchet.

The Negro "confessed" that he slew Mrs. Walter Resso and her sister, Miss Creta Brown, then threw the weapon into a nearby ditch.

Two newsboys were responsible for his arrest.

Robert Bushnell, 15, and John Rice, sales boys for the Chronicle, were standing on a street corner when the Negro approached them, asking if one of them wanted to earn a nickel by writing a letter for him. Rice agreed to do it, and Bushnell produced a notebook and pencil.

With the Negro dictating, Rice wrote as follows:

"Dear Sir—In regards to the man you have under arrest on charge of killing Mrs. Walter Resso and Creta Brown, before you prosecute an innocent party—"

Then the boys grew suspicious and while Rice "stalled" the Negro along Bushnell called a patrolman and he was taken to the station where he began his confession.

Police say they believed the Negro insane, but said he was rational enough to know what such a "confession" meant. They telegraphed Omaha authorities immediately for verification of the story Williams told them.

A newspaper account of the Resso-Brown murders at Omaha, Nov. 18, was found in the Negro's possession.

Officers said Williams told them he eluded the cordon of police and civilian posses thrown around Omaha after the slayings, and left the city Nov. 19, taking a passenger train to Denver. At Denver he bought overalls and a blue denim jacket, going outside the city to change the clothing he wore at the time of the murders.

Williams is heavier and shorter than the man described by Mrs. Harold Stribling, Omaha, the latest victim of the Negro's attacks, police said.

Later Williams said that he had been confined in the state insane asylum at Hastings, Neb., for criminal assault upon a woman but escaped about a year ago.

VICTIM IDENTIFIES BIRD AS HER ASSAILANT

OMAHA, Nov. 27—(AP)—Jake Bird, hatchet man suspect, was identified by Mrs. G. Harold Stribling, as the Negro who a week ago attacked her and her husband with a hatchet. Bird was taken to Mrs. Stribling's room at the hospital today, for a second scrutiny.

Guards with sawed-off shotguns circulated through the crowd which collected near the hospital. Inside guards were stationed at each door and in the corridor.

"You are the man and you know it," Mrs. Stribling told Bird. "It is a terrible thing you did to me, but I bear no animosity towards you. Tell the truth and you will feel better. You know I kept my word with you, Jake, I did not tell the detectives."

Police took her statement to mean Mrs. Stribling purposely had given false descriptions of the hacker, her life having been spared on her promise not to give clews to his identity.

Bird replied he didn't remember any such conversation because he wasn't there.

Bird was placed in an Iowa prison, identity of which authorities declined to reveal.

BRAKEMAN AWARDED $100,000 DAMAGES AGAINST N. H. ROAD

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 27—(AP)—A jury in supreme court tonight awarded Wick Craft of Portchester, a railroad brakeman, $100,000 in his suit for damages against the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

Craft claimed to have been disabled permanently by a spine injury received in a fall from a freight car at Holyoke, Mass., in August, 1927. The fall, he alleged, was caused by breaking of a hand support. He is 47 years old and married.

DOORS CLOSED BY EIGHT MIDDLE GEORGIA BANKS

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 27—(AP)—Eight middle Georgia banks closed their doors today and turned over their affairs to the state banking department.

The financial institutions which closed, in addition to the Citizens bank of Fort Valley, were the Irwinton bank, Irwinton, Ga.; the Bank of Byronville, the Bank of Bradley, the Farmers and Merchants bank of Gordon, Ga.; the Citizens bank of Culloden, the Bank of Preston, and the Farmers bank of Byron.

FAILED ON NON-STOP FLIGHT FROM CANADA TO HAVANA

WALKERVILLE, Ont., Nov. 27—(AP)—Elmo H. Ecker, representative here of Leonard S. Fio, who hopped off here last night on a proposed non-stop flight to Havana, Cuba, said tonight Fio was forced to land late this afternoon at Key West, Fla., when tablets he was taking to keep awake made him violently ill. He was taken to a hospital but expects to resume his flight tomorrow morning, Ecker said.

STATE'S ATTORNEY IS CHARGED WITH GRAFT

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., Nov. 27—(AP)—Arlie Boswell, state's attorney of Williamson county, was charged in a federal indictment returned late today with having been "cut in" on thousands of dollars collected by the Birger gang from resort keepers and bartenders in his county.

Boswell is also accused of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, in having liquor in his possession and of transporting liquor on several occasions.

TO EAT THANKSGIVING DINNERS IN MOUNTAINS

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 27—(AP)—Nearly 100 Dartmouth students have chosen to eat their Thanksgiving dinners in the New Hampshire mountains, the Dartmouth Outing club announced today. The club is sponsoring 12 trips to points between this town and Mount Washington. The students, with experienced guides, will carry supplies for a four course turkey dinner.

Condition Of King George Unchanged

His M[illegible]s Reported as H[illegible] His Own in His [illegible] Against Pleurisy.

LONDON, Nov. 27—(AP)—Soon after a bulletin tonight saying that King George was still holding his own in his struggle against pleurisy, the British public received the equally welcome information that the heir to the British throne had decided to return to England. The Prince of Wales notified the prime minister, apparently on his own initiative, that he and his brother were returning.

The assurance that his majesty was holding the strength which has enabled him to fight his illness for nearly a week, was welcomed tonight especially because general medical opinion had been that he was approaching a crisis which would determine the course of his illness.

A brief bulletin was issued from Buckingham palace tonight at the same time that it was announced that a warship had been ordered to proceed to East Africa for the disposal of the Prince of Wales. The bulletin read: "The king passed a less disturbed day. His temperature was somewhat lower than at the corresponding hour last night. His strength was maintained."

The admiralty has directed H. M. S Enterprise to proceed from Aden to Dar-Es-Salaam and to there hold herself at the disposal of the Prince of Wales. The prince, who has been hunting in the inaccessible interior, was due tonight at Dodoma, Tanganyika, which is on a railway and connected by telegraph.

PLANS OF THE NATIONAL CITY BANK OF NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—(AP)—The National City Bank of New York, the largest bank in America, today recommended to stockholders an increase in capital stock, which amounts to cutting a "melon" of approximately $67,500,000.

The directors proposed that the capitalization be increased from $90,000,000 to $100,000,000 and that each of the present 1800 par value shares be exchanged for five $20 par shares. The plan calls for the sale of 500,000 shares of the new $20 par stock to stockholders at $100 each, which would net $50,000,000.

It is already the world's largest bank in point of capital, surplus and undivided profits, but its deposits, which total more than $1,000,000,000 are surpassed by the deposits of several British banks, such as the Midland, Lloyds and Barclay's banks, because of the country-wide system of branch banking permitted in England. The capital of Lloyds and Barclays are each just under $80,000,000, of the Deutsche Bank of Germany, approximately $38,000,000 and of the Societe Generale of France, just under $10,000,000.

National City's capital was first increased from $1,000,000 to $10,000,000 in 1900. The last increase was last May, when it was raised from $75,000,000 to $90,000,000. Stockholders were then offered new stock at $400 a share, which compares with five of the proposed new shares at $500.

GOV. TRUMBULL AND STAFF ATTENDED MILITARY BALL

BRISTOL, Conn., Nov. 27—(AP)—Dedication exercises, a band concert, and a military ball attended by Gov. John H. Trumbull with his family and staff, were held in the new 169th Regiment armory here tonight.

The affair started at 8 o'clock and lasted until after midnight and was attended by more than 500 persons.

The new armory is of citadel style architecture, rising three stories from the ground in the front and two stories at the rear where the training shed is located. There are five entrances to the building on two streets and there is also a ramp and a garage entrance.

On the ground floor are rifle ranges, gymnasium, drill hall and locker rooms. Rooms for various companies and veterans organizations are provided on the other floors.

GOVERNOR SMITH HAS RETURNED TO NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—(AP)—Governor Alfred E. Smith, returned tonight from a two weeks "bachelor's" vacation in the south.

He was met at the station by Mrs. Smith, and their children and grandchildren, and by a delegation of some hundred citizens.

Governor Smith was non-committal in his replies to questions as to his future plans. Starting to make a flat denial that he contemplated forming a connection with a bank which John J. Raskob, his campaign manager, is reported to plan establishing, Governor Smith modified his reply somewhat, leaving the question open in the minds of his hearers.

SMITH COLLEGE GIRLS TO HAVE FOXLESS FOX HUNT

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Nov. 27—(AP)—A fox-less fox hunt will furnish the Thanksgiving entertainment for Smith college girls who will remain here over the holiday. A riding school teacher, mounted, will be the "fox" and he will scatter a paper trail before 23 girl riders take up the chase. Elizabeth Belden, of Jamaica Plains and Paula Patch, of Gloucester, are to be whips, and Frances Page of Peoria, Ill., is master of the hounds.

WOMAN CHARGED WITH MURDER OF PATROLMAN

BOSTON, Nov. 27—(AP)—Mrs. Mary E. Fitzgibbons, of Roxbury, was arrested today on a secret indictment charging her with the murder of Patrolman Eleazer G. Saunders last April. The policeman was found shot to death in Mrs. Fitzgibbons' apartment. She was arrested at the time but temporarily committed to a state hospital for the insane. She was held without bail today for arraignment Friday.

MRS. ADELAIDE RHINELANDER BRIDE OF LIVINGSTON THOMAS

BURLINGAME, Calif., Nov. 27—(AP)—Mrs. Adelaide Rhinelander Chaqueneau, 28, of New York became the bride of Livingston Thoma of San Francisco at a quiet ceremony here today. It was Thomas' third and his bride's second marriage. Mrs. Thomas is a sister of Leonard Kip Rhinelander.

NICARAGUANS FERVENT IN WELCOME OF HOOVER

As the President-Elect Landed at Corinto Hundreds of Natives Waved the Star Spangled Banner and Yelled "Viva Hoover"—It Was Notable That the Trio With Which Mr. Hoover Conferred Were Former Bitter Enemies—Formal Welcome Was Conducted by President Diaz and Other Dignitaries.

CORINTO, Nicaragua, Nov. 27—(AP)—A roaring popular greeting was given Herbert Hoover when he stepped ashore here today. He was also welcomed to Nicaragua by President Diaz, President-elect Moncada, former President Chamorro and several members of the cabinet and other dignitaries.

Mr. Hoover and Senors Diaz, Moncada and Chamorro had an intimate talk of more than half an hour, conversing through an interpreter in the customs house. Charles C. Eberhardt, United States minister, and several of Mr. Hoover's friends who are voyaging with him said that this conversation signified that the next president of the United States had accomplished just what he hoped to do in Nicaragua. Intimate talks with the leaders of the countries which he visits are what Mr. Hoover most desires.

It was especially notable that the trio with whom Mr. Hoover conferred here were former bitter enemies, opposing each other in politics and even in arms when the contending factions took to the field.

Hundreds of Nicaraguans, straw hatted and coatless, stood upon freight cars on the railroad track in front of the customs house when the American visitor arrived. They yelled "Viva Hoover" and waved Star Spangled banners, many of the latter being home made copies of the American emblem done in colored tissue paper.

A battalion of United States marines was stationed in the streets leading to the customs house. They came to "present arms" as Mr. Hoover arrived and their band played the national anthems of the two countries. The ceremony was repeated as the conferees left the customs house to board the U. S. S. Maryland where Mr. Hoover was host at a luncheon.

All ships in the harbor fired a presidential salute or dipped their flags as the battleship Maryland came to anchor at 8 o'clock about 8 miles off shore. Two American warships were already in the harbor, the cruiser Rochester, which is flagship of the special service squadron of the Caribbean, and the gunboat Tulsa.

Admiral David F. Sellers, commanding the squadron, and a boarding party were received by Mr. Hoover on the quarterdeck of the Maryland a little after 9 o'clock.

The waterfront piers and all nearby buildings of Corinto were decorated and hung with flags in honor of the visit. The colors of Nicaragua and the United States appeared everywhere. Welcome signs in both English and Spanish were posted on walls. The whole side of a warehouse opposite the landing pier was marked in huge letters "Bienvenida Hoover."

Mr. Hoover passed under another large sign reading "Welcome," made of flowers. Campaign pictures of the president-elect, coupled with the phrase Bienvenida were pasted on walls throughout the city.

One of the picturesque touches in the welcome was a "living Statute of Liberty." Miss Margarita Pers, the beautiful daughter of a prominent Nicaraguan family, in flowing white drapery and golden crown and carrying the Stars and Stripes, posed on the top of a pedestal near the landing pier as the Hoover party stepped ashore.

Bluejackets of the goodwill ship felt at home when they discovered near the landing a street named "Calle Annapolis."

Three United States marine airplanes from Managua soared over the Maryland as she came to anchor and hovered over the launches of the battleship as they carried Mr. Hoover to shore. The marine forces sent out to the Maryland a launch loaded with flowers as a gift to Mrs. Hoover.

During the day the glass-like surface of the bay was burnished by the tropic sun only a little softened by a few clouds. The low green coastline contrasted with the panorama of mountains and volcanos seen around La Union and Amapala yesterday. A gentle breeze prevented the heat from becoming oppressive.

Among those who met Mr. Hoover at the official reception in the home of R. J. Jordan, of Minneapolis, who is the custom collector here, were Foreign Minister Carlos Cuadra Pasos, Minister of Finance B. Guardian, and Brigadier General Edward K. Beadle, U. S. A., organizer and commander of the Nicaraguan National Guard.

While the reception was being held 78 marines, who have ben stationed in Nicaragua in connection with the supervision of the national elections, embarked on the Maryland. This restored the usual marine guard, which had been taken from the Maryland and some other battleships last July. Detachments of sailors have been performing guard duty during the trip of the Maryland from San Pedro, California.

Mr. Hoover escorted President Diaz, President-elect Moncada and former President Chamorro, with the cabinet members and some of the high ranking officers of the United States army, marine and naval forces stationed in Nicaragua, back to the Maryland where they were his guests at luncheon.

URGED CONSTRUCTION OF THE NICARAGUAN CANAL

U. S. S. MARYLAND, off Corinto, Nicaragua, Nov. 27—(AP)—The construction of the Nicaraguan canal, connecting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, by the United States at the earliest possible time was advocated today by President Diaz and President-elect Moncada of Nicaragua following a luncheon aboard the battleship Maryland with Herbert Hoover.

The two Nicaraguan officials expressed this view to newspapermen in an interview in which they declared that the visit of the American president-elect would aid the desire of all parties in Nicaragua for the closest and friendliest relations between their country and the United States.

Diaz and Moncada also declared that they favored the retention of the United States marines in Nicaragua until the training of the Central American republic's national guard is completed. This would take about two years, President-elect Moncada estimated, and he expressed the belief that in the meantime the marine units could be reduced to about 1,000 men.

HOOVER WILL ARRIVE IN COSTA RICA TODAY

U. S. S. MARYLAND, off Corinto, Nicaragua, Nov. 27—(AP)—The U. S. S. Maryland left this Nicaraguan port late today for Puntas Arenas, Costa Rica, after Herbert Hoover had entertained the leading officials of Nicaragua at a luncheon on board the battleship.

The president-elect will arrive at the Costa Rican seaport tomorrow morning.

Until he receives replies to communications, it is uncertain whether the railway bridges in Costa Rica washed away by floods can be repaired in time to permit Mr. Hoover's visit to San Jose, the country's capital.

LILLI LEHMANN, AGED 80, STILL TEACHES MUSIC

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Lilli Lehmann, erstwhile prima donna of the New York Metropolitan opera, who has just passed her 80th birthday anniversary, still teaches a group of advanced vocalists, and not only accompanies them on the piano with a vigor which would do credit to a matron of 40, but sings every exercise with and for them and supervises their general education.

Lilli Lehmann is the last connecting link with Richard Wagner and the beginning of Bayreuth. She is the sole survivor of the group of operatic stars who sang the "Nibelungenring" under the personal conduction of the composer in 1875. It was she, too, who starred in the role of Brundhilde, Fricka, Isolde, Elsa and other heroines of Wagnerian drama when, in the 80s, the Metropolitan opera counted in its ensembles such other names as Albert Niemann, Max Alvary, Emma Lucca and Marianne Brandt, and, in the 90s, the two De Reszke, Emma Eames, Marcella Sembrich, Victor Maurel and Pol Plancon.

Frau Lehmann begins her work every morning at 7 o'clock when the first of her pupils appears. She continues throughout the day until 7 in the evening.

SCHOONER IN DISTRESS OFF NANTUCKET LIGHT

NEW LONDON, Nov. 27—(AP)—The destroyer Wilkes of the coast guard fleet was ordered to proceed to the aid of a five-masted schooner reported in distress off Nantucket light tonight. The trawler Widgeon was reported to be standing by. No information as to the identity of the schooner nor the cause of her distress was available.

SENTENCED FOR BREAKING OUT OF COUNTY JAIL

NEWPORT, Vt., Nov. 27—(AP)—Robert Vaillancourt of Three Rivers, Que., today was sentenced to from 10 months to a year in jail and to pay costs of $188 for breaking out of the Orleans county jail here last summer. He had been arrested in Danville. County authorities said he was known as a rum runner and drug peddler and twice had been deported from the United States.

FLIGHT FROM WASHINGTON TO NEW LONDON HARBOR

NEW LONDON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Lieut. C. D. Harper, U. S. N., landed in the harbor here tonight in a seaplane after an unexciting flight from Washington, D. C., to spend Thanksgiving with Lieut. Commander E. F. Stone, of the coast guard base.

GENERAL BOOTH SAID TO BE OUT OF DANGER

Fifty years of Pioneering and Achievement

The original Tide Water Company was organized in 1878. It is among the oldest in the industry. It laid the first pipe line across the Allegheny Mountains. It carried the first pipe line to Atlantic tide water. It began to build its refinery at Bayonne, N. J., when only an old farmhouse and a marsh occupied the town site. Always it has pioneered . . . in producing, in refining, in selling. And so prudent, so far-seeing has been its direction that Tide Water today stands as one of the most powerful and successful oil companies in the entire world.

Today Tide Water owns, or controls, its own sources of supply. It operates a great fleet of tank steamers to every corner of the world. The equipment at the Tide Water Refinery at Bayonne is of the finest and most advanced type. Leading technical colleges send their students and teachers to study Tide Water methods, machines, and craftsmanship.

Tide Water distribution is world wide. Its thousands of outlets, wholesale and retail, are rapidly growing in number. And its continued increase in volume of retail sales indicates the growing preference of the motoring public for Tide Water's featured products . . . VEEDOL MOTOR OIL and TYDOL GASOLINE.

Today Tide Water is particularly proud to be able to commemorate the Fiftieth Anniversary of the company . . . with the finest motor fuel in its history . . . Hi-test TYDOL, a true premium gasoline . . . at no premium in price!

P. O. E. The entire proceeds of this affair, which will be a combined formal and informal event will be directed to charity. The ball is public and preparations underway today at the armory indicated that it was going to be put over in the characteristic big way of the local lodge of Elks. For the dance and concert program music will be provided by Tasillo's orchestra. Past exalted rulers who are on the reception committee include: Mayor Charles A. Gates, chairman; Charles W. Alpaugh, Charles W. Hill, Valentine L. Murphy, R. Ernest Melody, John B. Edgarton, P. D. Donahue, Michael E. Sullivan, T. Frank Cunningham, James F. McGlone, Albert J. Fournier and Clarence M. Mathieu with Exalted Ruler Maurice S. Leonard. William J. Grady is chairman of the ball committee.

Thanksgiving day itself will be quietly observed with a general closing down of all industrial and commercial activities. The Rossie Velvet company will close until Monday morning, December 3. At the post office all city and rural mail deliveries will be suspended for the day although the carriers and general delivery windows will be open from 7 to 10 a. m. for those who wish to call for mail. There are special programs offered at the Capitol and Gem theatres and a dance at the Al-Pierre Tabarin.

A union Thanksgiving service of the Protestant churches of the city will be held Wednesday evening at 7.30 o'clock at the First Baptist church in charge of Rev. David Winslow Lovett, the pastor. Included in the special singing will be selections by a junior choir from St. Paul's Episcopal and the First Congregational churches and a quartet of the Baptist church. Rev. Harold H. Critchlow of the Methodist church will preach a sermon on the subject, Our Thanks to God for Leaders and Teachers He Has Sent.

OBITUARY

John Milton Clark

John Milton Clark, 79, one of the leading citizens of Chaplin died at his home about 7 o'clock this morning after a brief illness. He was a native of Chaplin and was born October 4, 1849, a son of Edwin E. and Marietta Foster Clark. He had resided in his native town all of his life and had been engaged as a farmer until he retired a few years ago. He represented the town of Chaplin in the general assembly in the session of 1903. The deceased leaves his wife, Mrs. Francis Tucker Clark; one sister, Mrs. Fannie Landon and a nephew, Floyd Landon, all of Chaplin.

A good response to the campaign for membership in the local chapter of the American Red Cross was reported today by Frank P. Fenton, chairman of the chapter and James J. Lee, chairman of the roll call campaign, as the drive entered its second week. Many contributions and enrollments are being received at the Red Cross booth maintained in the Windham National bank and in charge of Mrs. J. J. Lee. A group of young girls have started a house to house campaign for membership. The campaign will continue for one more week.

The funeral of Mrs. Prudence Harvey Johnston was held with services in St. Paul's Episcopal church at 2 o'clock this afternoon, Rev. F. C. Williams, the rector, officiated. Burial was in the Willimantic cemetery. The bearers were: Oliver S. Toop and W. Randolph Toop of South Manchester, John A. Bowman and Emile Bernet. Arrangements were in charge of Avery and VanZandt.

In the progress of altering and renovating the cell lobby at the police headquarters 14 of the cells have been cleaned and painted in bright gray color to date. Electricians are rewiring the lobby and installing an entirely new system of lights. These lights will be controlled by several switches allowing each light to be turned on individually or all the lights in unison to flood the lobby brilliantly.

"Old Timers" night will be staged by San Jose council, No. 14, Knights of Columbus in St. Mary's hall December 12 with music by the Knights of Columbus Boys' band. Past grand knights of the council will occupy seats of honor and special entertainment will be furnished. The affair is in charge of a committee composed of Patrick A. Connor, Arthur P. Bergeron and John O'Brien.

WINDHAM GRIDSTERS ARE ENTERTAINED BY ROTARIANS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Nov. 27—The annual "Football night" of the Willimantic Rotary club was held at the Nathan Hale hotel this evening with over 30 Windham High school team men and guests in attendance. The affair opened with a "Pigskin" menu dinner at 6.30 o'clock and was made festive with special quartet and group singing under the leadership of Harry W. Standish. Music was provided by Gibson's orchestra. An appropriate welcome address was delivered by President Raymond A. Parker and the meeting was then turned over to Kenneth N. Hillhouse, chairman for the evening. The main speaker was Martin Gilman, N. F. A. graduate and star guard of the Conn. Aggies. Mr. Gilman gave some very interesting sidelights on the game of football. Capt. Nelson of Windham presented to Coach Callaghan a gift from the members of the squad. Remarks were also made by Principal Egbert A. Case of Windham high school, Coach Thomas A. Callaghan and Capt. Andy Sayers of the Aggies. The letter men of the squad are: Rosen, manager; Nelson, captain; Warren, Whitford, Merrill, Kelleher, Monast, Tomasko, Harlow Smith, Farrah, seniors; Lester, junior; Meikle, Ferriner, Luciani, Woodward, Ahern, sophomores; Chase and Slowik, freshmen. Mgr. Rosen introduced the players.

Other guests at the meeting were Eric H. Lind of the Y. M. C. A. Edwin J. Donnelly, John E. Brick and Charles F. Curran of this city.

Fined for Hitting Train

Patsy Barrato of Storrs, driver of the heavy sedan which crash into the side of a Central Vermont Railway electric train of two cars at Mansfield Depot on Monday morning, November 5, was fined $10 and costs on a modified charge of violating the rules of the road, at a session of the Mansfield town court Monday. Barrato pleaded not guilty to the original charge of reckless driving. The case had been held up awaiting the discharge of Barrato's employer, Michael Smith of Derby, who had been confined to St. Joseph's hospital since the accident. The accused testified that he did not see the train until he was right on top of it, as two freight cars on a siding near the crossing obstructed his view. Smith corroborated this testimony. State witnesses included Engineer George Alger, Baggagemaster Perry Brewer and Elmer Bothun of Mansfield Depot who stated that Barrato was driving at a rate less than 15 miles an hour at the time of the collision. In view of this testimony Justice of the Peace Albert N. Gilman modified the charge and Barrato pleaded nolo contendre to the violation.

The funeral of Conrad Vertefeuille was held from the family home, 9 Maple avenue this morning with services in St. Mary's church at 9.15 o'clock, Rev. J. J. Papillon officiating. Burial was in the family plot of St. Joseph's cemetery. The bearers were Jean Louis Vertefeuille, Germaine and Claude Duchesneau and Henry Tellier. Arrangements were in charge of the Hurteau-Bosse Corp.

Following an annual custom resident-students and members of the faculty including Principal George H. Shafer of the Willimantic State Normal school gathered at a Thanksgiving dinner in the dormitory dining room this evening. The dinner is given every year prior to the closing of the school for the holiday.

An additional office quarter has provided to the left of the entrance of the Willimantic Trust company with the erection of a panelled balustrade of quartered oak to correspond with the office of Treasurer Herbert W. Huber. The new office is to be occupied by Attorney E. Frank Bugbee, president of the bank.

Prize winners at the Windham Girls' club whist given in the club rooms on Monday evening were: First, Mrs. Harold Hansen and Raymond Aubin; second, Mrs. George Hall and A. P. Micha; third, Mrs. Thomas Murray and Martin Hurlihe.

Roland Sleeper, formerly with the firm of Tracy & Wolmer, has entered upon his new duties in Newport, R. I. Mrs. Sleeper and family will remain in this city for several weeks more.

Mr. and Mrs. Dickerson G. Baker, Morton H. Baker and Mrs William H. Benton of Holyoke, Mass., were visitors in town today. Mr. Baker coming on business for the American Thread company.

Notice was received today by Police Chief Thomas F. Grady that the operator's license of John Matuck of Windham Center had been suspended by the state motor vehicle department.

WARRENVILLE

Mrs. Ellen Weeks and O. P. Durkee returned last week Tuesday to Worcester, Mass.

The son, born to Mr. and Mrs. Lysle Harrington last week at Willimantic, has been named Leslie Otto.

The Thanksgiving Sunday service at the Baptist church was well attended. Rev. E. B. Verney used the words "Thank You!" for his subject.

At the Sunday school service, Mrs. A. M. Bassett, Mrs. Clarence Buck, Mrs. Z. B. Bicknell and Rev. and Mrs E. B. Verney were chosen a committee to arrange for Christmas exercises for the children.

It was also voted by the school to postpone the observance of Golden Rule Sunday for one week and hold it on Dec. 9, when an effort will be made to raise something for the needy children of the Near East.

The Ladies' Aid society was asked to meet and arrange for a supper in connection with an interesting church day program which the pastor is planning.

Next Sunday, Mr. Verney's subject will be "The Church—Catholic and Particular."

Miss Winifred Bassett was home from Mansfield Depot over the week end.

Miss Anna Brecka returned from New York Saturday, after three months' stay.

Mrs. Nettie Snow and daughter of Manchester and Mrs. Grace Clark of Brimfield, Mass., were visitors at the Bebbington homestead, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown moved some of their furniture to Hartford this week and will occupy an apartment on Farmington avenue for the winter.

The new Ford has a very simple and effective lubrication system

THE lubrication system for the engine of the new Ford is as simple in principle as water running down-hill.

A gear pump in the bottom of the oil pan raises the oil to the valve chamber reservoir. From here it flows on to the main crankshaft bearings and the front camshaft bearing. Overflow oil drops into the oil pan tray and runs into troughs through which the connecting rods pass.

As the ends of these rods strike the oil they scoop up a supply for the connecting rod bearing. At the same time they set up a fine spray that lubricates the pistons and other moving parts.

From the tray the oil runs into the bottom of the pan, and is again drawn up through a fine mesh screen and pumped to the valve chamber.

This system is so effective that the five-quart contents of the oil pan pass through the pump twice in every mile when you are traveling at only 30 miles an hour. Yet there is only one movable part—the oil pump.

As a matter of fact, the lubrication system for the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires practically no service attention.

There is just one thing for you to do, but it is a very important thing . . . watch the oil! Change the oil every 500 miles and be sure the indicator rod never registers below low (L).

If the oil level is allowed to fall below low, the supply becomes insufficient to oil all parts as they should be oiled.

To insure best performance it is also advisable to have the chassis of your car lubricated every 500 miles. This has been made easy through the use of the high pressure grease gun system.

Proper oiling and greasing mean so much to the life of your car that they should not be neglected or carelessly done.

See your Ford dealer regularly. He is especially well-fitted to lubricate the new Model A car and he will do a good, thorough job at a fair price.

VISITING CENTRAL AMERICA

Mr. Hoover has made his first call in Central America. He has stepped upon their soil, got enthusiastic welcomes and had an opportunity to set forth the object of his mission by word of mouth. He has gotten the chance he desired, of not only seeing the countries but of actually getting in contact with their people and becoming better acquainted.

What he had to say cannot fail to make a good impression. He hasn't undertaken any long speeches. He has told them that he is making a friendly visit the same as one neighbor is disposed to make upon another for the development of common welfare and to get acquainted with their viewpoints in order that there may be a better understanding of their common problems. He impressed upon them that it was the desire to "maintain not only the cordial relations of governments with each other, but the relations of good neighbors through a greater understanding that comes with more contact. We may build up that common respect and service which is the only enduring basis of international friendship."

In reference to national independence, self government and ordered personal liberty he properly declared that "We know it is the only true road to human progress and we know that the nations and the institutions we have created can flourish only in peace and mutual prosperity" and pointed out in explanation of his visit that in connection with the common pool of human advancement he felt that "the larger personal acquaintance both with our neighboring countries and with their point of view and, above all, with the men who have been elected to responsibility in their governments, would be valuable in the task which lie before me. It would perhaps enable me to better cooperate with you. Those who know the United States know also that we have only one desire and that is to cooperate to a constantly improving understanding, to common progress and to common attainment."

Mr. Hoover has well opened his good will tour to Central and South American countries and there is good evidence that its objects are as fully appreciated among those countries as in the United States.

MAKE STATE REMOVE CROSSINGS

In the efforts which have been made to get rid of railroad crossings, the legislation has invariably called for large expenditures on the part of the railroads. There have been times when it has been made so clear to utility commissions that the roads were in no condition to meet such expense that authorized changes have been held up. At other times it has been recognized that such work could not be carried on by wholesale without throwing the roads into bankruptcy.

That all the expense of crossing removals should not fall upon the railroads has been generally recognized. In general there is a participation by the state in such expense, while in some states the town also shares in the expenditures with provisions being made for the roads to borrow state funds in case the needed money cannot be obtained elsewhere.

In the state of Pennsylvania the state is working in cooperation with the railroads in the establishment of light signals at crossings for the prevention of accidents. This is regarded as a method of relieving the heavy expense of elimination.

But with the increasing use of the highways and the recognition of the fact that the gain in fatalities at such points is due to the increased highway travel and the lack of care on the part of such, the suggestion is being advanced that crossing eliminations should be carried on in the future solely at the expense of the state. The idea would be to have it made a highway expense much the same as the elimination of curves and carried out in the interest of safety.

Such a method would certainly provide an outlet for the proceeds that come from the taxation of motor vehicles. Straightening roads and reducing curves are in the interest of safety. The same is true of widening roads. That same object would be attained by the elimination of grade crossings with those who are served contributing to the expense that would be involved. Such a relief for the railroads would do away with much of the opposition that has arisen from forcing them to huge expenditures in order to overcome the carelessness of those over whom it has no control.

BULGARIA'S TROUBLES

There are always grave possibilities when trouble develops in the Balkans. In that region trouble bears a close resemblance to striking a match on a powder barrel. It may be ironed out but there is always the possibility of a conflagration. It is a cause for constant concern on the part of the countries of Europe.

Thus when Bulgaria is told by Great Britain and France that the outbreaks in Macedonia, which threaten the peace of that region, must be checked it becomes apparent that they are already concerned over the threatening attitude of the trouble makers. This demand upon the part of the leading nations of Europe results from the treaty arrangements following the war. There was a disturbed situation there before the war. Bulgaria went into the struggle on the side of the losers. When it came to a settlement it was penalized and neighboring countries were aided. This did not tend to pacify the pre-war conditions. Macedonian outbreaks keep that region in an unsettled condition but Foreign Minister Buroff of Bulgaria sees his country threatened because of its inability to cope with the situation. There is a revolutionary tendency which has become threatening, so much so that the foreign minister has warned the powers that appeals must be made to the other nations of the Balkans to use their good influences in suppressing the trouble.

These countries may well recognize their responsibility in the present situation. It is a far flung plea which Foreign Minister Buroff makes to the United States to save his country from disaster. He must know that it is not the disposition of this country to interfere in European affairs. We have difficulty enough in endeavoring to assure peace among the republics of the western hemisphere. But if Bulgaria does not feel that Great Britain and France are doing all they should to meet the situation it would appear to be well within its right to present its troubles to the league of nations. It should be desirous of using its influence for such adjustment as may be necessary among the Balkan states and as an organization for peace it should be much concerned in the prevention of strife and bloodshed.

THE WORLD COURT

At the last session of congress there was presented by Congressman Gillette of Massachusetts a resolution calling for the reopening of negotiations with other countries for the purpose of clearing up any misunderstanding that existed over the much discussed fifth reservation made by the senate of this country in connection with our adherence to the world court.

That appears to have been the part of the reservations about which other countries expressed uncertainty. Some of the nations have given their approval to our reservations. Others have not. Unanimous approval is necessary before this country can become a member of the court.

Inasmuch as it rests with these nations, the decision to find out what the sentiment is among them at the present time indicates that the idea of joining the court is by no means abandoned. This country, not a member of the league of nations which established the court, is desirous of protecting its interests. It was for that purpose that the reservations were adopted and it is worthy of note that the particular reservation about which there has been some question was drafted upon the advice of John Bassett Moore the American member of that court. It thus represents something more than a whim. It is a protection which we need as the result of the American judge's experience in the court. This country doesn't intend to become a member of the court by sacrificing its interests, but there is apparently a belief that there can be a clearing up of any misunderstanding that exists and it is proper that efforts should be made to do so. Certainly the Gillette resolution if adopted would mean nothing harmful whether the negotiations were successful or not.

ADMIRAL REINHOLD SCHEER

One by one those who took a leading part in the World war are being removed by death. It may be a general, a field marshal or an admiral, and every such instance brings to mind the important part which they played in their particular field of action.

The latest of these is Admiral Scheer of Germany. It was he who was in command of the German fleet and who made such a wonderful defense in the battle of Jutland that it was even regarded as a victory. That battle was fought over 12 years ago when the German navy was forced to go into battle against a British naval force that was twice as strong.

Could the German fleet have been wiped out it would have hastened the end of the war. It was not wiped out for he virtually fought the British to a standstill, went forth to meet the enemy, took a frightful hammering but after inflicting serious damage got back again. What was intended as a crushing defeat for the German navy was prevented through his tactics, to which there may also be added the caution of the British. The battle of Jutland will ever stand out prominently in naval history and the part he took therein will stand out far more to his credit than the advice which he is claimed to have given in connection with the ruthless warfare with the underwater boats. Instead of working to the advantage of Germany, the use to which the submarines were put had the opposite effect and was instrumental in getting this country into the international struggle.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The north wind clears up any doubt as to the time of the year.

Appetites and carving knives are being sharpened in anticipation of Thanksgiving day.

The man on the corner says: Did you welcome the first snow squall with an outburst of wild enthusiasm?

All those who remained up or got up, for the total eclipse found there was no congestion in the reviewing stands.

Probably you won't have to spend much time thinking up the many things for which you have reason to be thankful this year, but will it include the new gas and electric rates?

HOW CONNECTICUT IS CARING FOR ITS AGED AND DEPENDENT.

What Connecticut is doing for its aged and dependent through the work of the state department of public welfare is interestingly set forth in the following article by Isabel Foster which appeared in the Hartford Courant.

Fewer people are going over the hill to the poor farm today. Many almshouses in Connecticut have a floor or an ell unused. Some have been closed and others might well be for running a house to provide lodging for two or three is extravagant.

When They Were Crowded

When the almshouses were full, they were popular—not with their inmates but with the people responsible for their existence. They were the solution of nearly every problem of need in the community. Children were sent to them, unmarried mothers with their babies, men who would not work, and in large numbers, of course, the old and destitute.

In these days of well developed social work it is considered extremely undesirable to herd persons of so many different kinds together. The children are put in institutions run particularly for their benefit or, better yet, placed in good homes where they can meet the problems of life normally. Babies are considered undesirable under roofs that shelter the aged, not because the old people do not enjoy them, usually they do, but because the babies require so much care that the old people are likely to be neglected.

Other Ways Out

The best practice today is to try to keep the family together. But even if the old person is left without young relatives, or only with those with whom no happiness is possible, often because of clash of wills or temperaments with daughters—or sons-in-law, almost everything else is tried before the almshouse. If there is money, and about $10 a week is all that is necessary, for a well person $25 for a sick one, a private institution, a church home perhaps, is the first thought of the authorities or a boarding home. The almshouse has fallen into such disrepute philanthropically and economically that only 50 towns in the state still maintain them while more than 100 take care of their dependent old people in other ways.

The church homes are so popular that many of them have long waiting lists; others are open only to those with the proper religious affiliations. The boarding homes, therefore, have a large field of work. There are 73 licensed by the state of Connecticut, in comparison with the 50 almshouses and the 31 private institutions.

The Gilligan Murders

Ten years ago all boarding homes fell under suspicion because in one of them a series of terrible crimes had been committed. Five old men had been poisoned by the woman to whom they looked for comfort and care in their declining years. Mrs. Amy Archer Gilligan was sentenced to life imprisonment for these murders. Her victims were two husbands and several inmates of the Archer Home for the Elderly in Windsor.

Public opinion demanded reform and a law was passed by the general assembly of 1917 under which any person desiring to maintain a home in which two or more persons beyond the age of 60 years shall be cared for must obtain a certificate for the purpose from the department of public welfare and must file a report annually with the department.

Now Welcome Inspection

Until 1926 when a larger appropriation was made, little was done to enforce the law and when the first inspections were made, a good deal of opposition was felt by those who kept the homes. Mrs. Arthur Chaffee, however, who now makes the visits, reports a change in sentiment for the women who run the homes—they are in almost every case women—have come to feel that the department is their best friend, building up the reputation of the homes as it does by guaranteeing their standards to the public, giving professional advice free of charge, and even under exceptional circumstances legal and financial assistance.

Under this supervision the plant is inspected, and its methods of lighting and heating, its cleanliness, its fire protection and its bathing facilities. A report is made as well on the food, medical and nursing service and the general atmosphere, whether cheerful or sad. In the case of a new home, three signed references of moral character must be given by the manager. In most cases she is a practical nurse, in many a registered nurse and often a widow left with a child to support. One has a crippled son, who has helped her by wiring the house for all sorts of electrical conveniences. Another had a daughter to whom she was devoted but that daughter died just after she had grown old enough to take part of the financial responsibility. The mother is broken hearted, her work for the aged is all that she has left and she has planned to perpetuate it by leaving her house to be kept as a home for the aged.

A Difficult Public Service.

Mrs. Chaffee who knows these women and their work believes that they are performing a much needed and difficult public service. The financial return is very small in comparison with what could be earned with the same amount of effort in many other ways. Take, for instance, the good woman who makes a speciality for taking old people who are blind, and another who welcomes to her home discharged patients from the state hospital for the insane. The care of these old folks is particularly exacting and depressing.

Sometimes the work is widely recognized. "Aunt Grace," who has a big family of old folks is known and loved ways for miles around point the way to her home.

The Haven Wins a Friend

The Haven in Abington also has a sign, one painted by the grateful son of a former inmate, and the work that Mrs. Susan Griggs does for her boarders has been seen and appreciated. Several years ago she bought a little chapel in the town and turned it into a nursing home. She put all the profits back into the plant, installing electric lights and making the building comfortable. She named it the Haven, saying that it was the only resting place for the people of the community between the hospital and the almshouse.

Last year Mrs. T. Morris Murray, who has a country home nearby, sent her superintendent to ask if she could help Mrs. Griggs' work for the aged, if, for example, she would like a frigidaire. Mrs. Griggs was much surprised and answered yes, that it would be a great help. Not long afterwards she went to call on Mrs. Murray whom, up to that time, she had never seen.

Mrs. T. Morris Murray's Gift

Mrs. Murray told her, however, that she had often driven by the Haven, had watched the place and had heard only good reports of it. She had been particularly interested in it, for it had been one of her own desires to help old people but though she had the money, she had never had the training nor the opportunity to make a reality from her dream. Finally she said that she wanted to help Mrs. Griggs with even more than a frigidaire.

Mrs. Murray was as good as her promise. She has built an addition to the Haven of two stories with two verandas and ten bedrooms, two baths, an elevator, and in the basement a hot water furnace and a modern laundry.

The State Owed Her Something

Stories of the humanity of women who keep such boarding homes as the Haven could be told at great length. One or two must be enough. There was one for example who for years had in her house a woman who had lain paralyzed for 50 years. She was so helpless that she could not even brush a fly from her face. Her father had worked in a mill and he left for his daughter a small sum which he thought would be sufficient to care for her. "But he didn't know I was going to live so long," the woman said miserably. The money at last was all gone.

For weeks the manager of the home took care of her without pay, for she had grown very fond of her, but she was a poor woman and must make her work support her. She therefore applied to the state for help. It seemed that there was no place in the world for the wretched cripple. The almshouse could not give her the hospital care that was necessary, no hospital would take in a chronic case of this kind, and there is no state infirmary in Connecticut. The poor woman pointed out that she must be taken care of, that though she wanted to die she couldn't, and dwelt on the fact that she had never been able to go to school, so that all the money that the state would have spent on her education had been gathering interest for almost half a century and could not be better spent than in taking care of her now.

After the poor soul had suffered great agony of mind it was finally arranged through private charity that she should remain where she was and her board be paid.

A Mother and Her Children

Another case in which the state visitor was able to help was that of an Italian woman who longed to see her children. Her husband would not be bothered to bring them, he was interested in a young woman, and though it was largely because of his unkindness that his wife was sick and old before her time, he wanted to have nothing more to do with her. The mother, who was wretched at being cut off from the youngsters, was made happy again when a probation officer saw to it that they were brought to see her once a week regularly.

Nothing is sadder than the cases of old people who are suffering from disease. For the chronic sick and destitute there seems to be no place in all the state. The almshouses cannot handle them, for they have no hospital wards.

Miserable and Uncared For

A tragic example of this was discovered last year. A poor old man was afflicted with a terrible case of cancer of the jaw. So painful to look upon had he become that the almshouse keeper had given him a room in a rundown old house on the place. In summer it was hot and full of flies; for winter there was no heating provision. Some of the windows were broken and the holes stuffed with rags. Another cancer patient had a room there also and brought his companion meals. The keeper and his wife were so badly affected by his looks that they would not see him any more.

Care and Kindness Found

The solution was found in a boarding home where a kind woman was willing to take him in.

No special blame was attached to the keeper of the almshouse in this case; the sick man liked him and was always talking of when he would be well and able to go back to the farm. The simple fact was that the almshouses are not equipped to take care of the chronic sick.

Consolidated Almshouses

For this reason, among others, the department of public welfare is interested in towns uniting to take care of their poor and chronic sick. Lucius J. Hadley, the secretary, explains that because towns are maintaining a large plant at considerable cost with only one or two inmates they cannot afford care for the chronic sick, whereas in a consolidated almshouse the overhead would not be so much and a hospital ward could be included.

"One plan has been tried out advantageously in Massachusetts. This is to have a voluntary association of towns. The Charlton Almshouse, for example, is owned jointly by 24 towns and each of them pays a per capita board rate toward its maintenance. If a series of such almshouses could be placed in strategic positions, it would help to solve our important problem of the chronic sick as well as of the poor."

The great objection to consolidation is that the towns, and the old people too, feel that they are entitled to spend their last days where their friends can come to see them. Being torn from the familiar scene of their lives would be a terrible blow to many of them, especially to country people who had never traveled far from their birthplace.

The Ways of the Old

Old people are usually opinionated and set in their ways. No one can deny it. Francis Bardwell, who for many years has been state visitor of almshouses in Massachusetts, writes in his recent "Adventures of Old Age," that calling many of his old friends opinionated is putting it mildly. "Some in harsher terms call it 'cussed' and 'cantankerous.' They have lived for and by the little things of life, have never been called upon to yield, and consequently hold tenaciously to their own ways and ideas. They are selfish."

These old people are many other things besides; they love little children, they crave attention, they are independent of spirit and though the body has to be cared for because of infirmities, they have the will to do as they have always done and a spirit that chafes at restraint. Yet normally they are invariably courteous. They are interested in the past. Above all things they long for peace and dread mental decay.

This adventure, the last and the best fight, should come to the aged on their own hearthstone, surrounded by the life and happiness of their own sons and daughters, and the grandchildren who will perpetuate their name.

The burden is far greater, if the old person must go "on the town," a subject of charity, among strangers. Between the two extremes stand the boarding homes which are growing in numbers while the almshouses decrease. It is good to know that at last in this state they are emerging again from the cloud which fell on them ten years ago.

"In Connecticut," says Mr. Hadley, speaking for the department of public welfare, "many of our licensed boarding homes are run by high-minded people who are interested in the chronic sick and many of these people take patients for whom there is no provision elsewhere."

Standards Maintained

"The relatives of some of the leading citizens of the state," Mr. Hadley continues, "are in these boarding homes, the aged father or mother of a doctor, a lawyer, a business man. The homes often have attractive locations with gardens or sea views. They are run for the old folks; their comfort is the main interest. The department has many inquiries about the homes, especially from doctors, and is ready to give information by locality, price, religion and race. We believe that no one need feel badly to have his own parent in one of them."

YOUR HEALTH

SOME BIRTHMARKS DANGEROUS TO LIFE

By Erwin P. Zeisler, M. D., Chicago

There is not the slightest scientific foundation for the theory of prenatal influence as a cause of birthmarks. The origin of birthmarks is obscure. Most pathologists look upon them as developmental defects. In a small per cent. of cases there is a familiar predisposition and a hereditary element. The frequent occurrence of these lesions at the nape of the neck suggests intra-uterine pressure as a factor. In many cases there is no ascertainable cause.

There are two kinds of birthmarks. The commonest variety is composed of vascular tissue and is called a vascular nevus or angioma. It may be present at birth or appear shortly after. The other type is the pigmented nevus or mole, which is less commonly present at birth.

Angomas are divided into three varieties. The flat, reddish, or purplish, irregular marks called port-wine stains may cover small or large areas of skin and may even extend into the mucous membrane. They are slow in their development, are likely to persist throughout life, and are the least amenable to treatment. Raised, soft, compressible, bluish-red growths, so-called "strawberry" marks, vary in size from a pea to a walnut at birth, and often grow rapidly in the first weeks of life. They increase in size along with the rest of the body and at the end of six months may be quite large. They are commonly seen on the forehead, cheeks or scalp, but may occur anywhere on the body. When they involve the mouth, lips or tongue, they may interfere with the baby's feeding.

The third type is a deep-seated variety constituting a tumor under the skin, and is often destructive in its growth. It is called a cavernous angioma. Besides producing a great deal of deformity, it may become dangerous to life.

A physician should always be consulted for advice as to what to do for birthmarks. In certain cases it is justifiable to leave them alone for six months and to watch the rate of growth. Occasionally spontaneous scarring will take place and obliterate the nevus. In certain cases repeated painting with flexible collodion is of value. Caustics should never be used.

Port-wine stains are best left alone, especially when they are faint in color and in an inconspicuous location. It is extremely difficult to remove a port-wine mark without undue scarring.

"Strawberry" nevi can effectively and safely be removed in one of two ways. Radium is practically a specific remedy for this type. In the hands of careful workers, surface applications of radium in tubes or flat discs will obliterate the growth after several monthly treatments. When properly used, radium gives better cosmetic results than any other method. The painlessness and ease of application in the case of infants are important points in its favor. The other method of treatment is by freezing with a carbon dioxide snow-pencil, which removes the nevus by a "blistering" process. The method is somewhat painful but never requires an anesthetic. Often a single treatment will get rid of the nevus with a hardly perceptible scar. The deep-seated or cavernous type can be dealt with only by surgical measures or by special forms of treatment.

In general, it may be said that the successful removal of birthmarks requires skill and judgment on the part of the physician, and that it should be attempted only by those who have the necessary equipment for this type of work.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 — The Bystander heard excursions and alarms from Palo Alto that gave him very grave concern when the Hoover Latin American pilgrimage was undertaken.

They pictured a long time teammate of The Associated Press staff in Washington, "Jim" West, no less, hastening to equip his long figure with a tail coat and his head with a shiny stovepipe tile in order that even the busy press wing of the Hoover retinue should be garbed with a decent respect for the sartorial opinions of mankind.

Styles for Scribes

Certainly Henry Fletcher, who got hurry orders to abandon his ambassadorial duties temporarily in order to lend diplomatic dignity to the Hoover pre-inauguration trip, had to put on speed to get an adequate clothing supply, formal and informal. His own luggage was still in Rome or en route from there. The ambassador told Henry Goodman, who runs a modest haberdashery establishment in the shadow of the state department and has spent 30 years or more meeting emergency demands of government great folks, to take over the job. He had no time to make selection for himself or to try on.

Now the Bystander's concern over all this is the suggestion it contains that possibly the Hoover era in Washington is to see a return to long past days of formal dress in capital newspaper life.

It has been a free and easy business this last decade or two. With rare exceptions, Washington correspondents are reporters rather than journalists—and dress the part. Only such veterans as "Dick" Oulahan, New York Times bureau chief, or "Al" Clark of the Washington Star and a very few others can recall the time when a frock coat and high hat were an essential part of the trade.

There is one other Washington newspaper corps veteran, now assistant general manager of the AP, whose sartorial preparedness helped lay the foundations of his career. He is Jackson S. Elliott, who early in his Washington days as a political reporter realized that possession of a tail coat and high hat was a factor in favor of his going on a presidential tour.

Journalistic Models

The present Washington AP chief, "By" Price, recalls with amusement that a picture of The Elephant club, which perpetuated in the capital associations of the Harding front porch campaign in Marion, Ohio, being composed of President Harding and the newspapermen who sat with him on that porch in 1920, appears as frontispiece of a book on Washington etiquet.

As a charter member of the club, "By" Price points out that his colleagues appear to grace a work on etiquet clad haphazardly in dinner jackets or all the glory of white vests and pearl studs as suited their fancy.

From another staff colleague, "Dave" Brittle, who toured the country with Queen Marie of Rumania as the man of the quintet of official party reporters, the Bystander learns there were only two and a half full dress, open face suits and a Tuxedo or so to the lot of them. They had to borrow and lend and then assign the lads with full dress gear to "cover" the most formal proceedings.

Stories That Recall Others

His Preference

Junior has been going to school but a short time. He seems well impressed with it, but was asked, "What part of school do you like best?"

"Recess," was his prompt and emphatic reply.

No Biscuits

A man, who is fond of biscuits for breakfast, has difficulty in arousing his wife in time to get the coveted food.

One morning, recently, after a number of calls, the man became impatient and his wife said: "Don't be cross. I am just dead."

"Well, I'll just call the undertaker then and let the biscuits go this time," replied the disappointed husband.

BUCKINGHAM COUNCIL HAD 22 IN CLASS INITIATION

In Steiner hall on Saturday evening Buckingham council, No. 14, Jr. O. U. A. M. held a class initiation with 22 candidates initiated into the mysteries and secrets of the order. The degree team put on the work without fault or hesitation. Among the notables present were Past National Councilor Thomas H. Walters, National Secretary Wilmeth, State Councillor Sturtevant and State Secretary Joseph Wellington. The past national councillor spoke, taking as his theme Patriotism and Loyalty. He spoke chiefly in regard to the National Orphans home in Tiffan, Ohio, where at present 1127 children from the ages of one to eighteen are now being taken care of and taught various trades so that they may become a credit instead of a menace to society. Over 3,000 boys and girls have been graduated from the home and are now employed in their various trades. He also spoke in regards to patriotism. During the Civil war, when Lincoln issued his call for volunteers one council in Pennsylvania consisting of 65 men responded to a man and when the war was over only ten remained to sit in the council chamber. This he said was a long time ago and one may say that things are different now. During the recent world war government records show that more members of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics voluntarily enlisted than from any other fraternal order in the country.

National Secretary Wilmeth spoke on the diamond jubilee or 75th anniversary of the order in the United States of North America. The order was founded in a little red schoolhouse in Germantown, Pennsylvania, with only nineteen young men for the first council. Now the order has grown so that there are tens of thousands of members and state councils in 44 states. Surely the order has stood the test of time and must mean something to any American young man whose red blood bounds in his veins. He also stressed the orphanage home, and told further of its activities in taking in homeless children and watching them grow to manhood and womanhood and become a part of the great industrial world.

The meeting was closed with a few remarks by the state councillor and the state secretary. The meeting was followed by a bean and salad supper prepared by the Daughters of America to whom is due much credit for making the meeting a success.

APPOINTS M. E. JENSEN AS PARK COMMISSIONER

Mayor Lee Roy Robbins has appointed Martin E. Jensen as a member of the park board to fill the vacancy on the board created by the recent death of John M. Lee, who had been a member of the board for many years.

Mayor Robbins formally notified Mr. Jensen of the appointment, as follows:

Nov. 27, 1928.

Mr. Martin E. Jensen,
Norwich, Conn.
Dear Mr. Jensen:

This is to serve the purpose of a formal notification of your appointment to the park commission of this city to fill out the balance of the term of our revered Mr. John M. Lee, whose decease created a vacancy on this board.

Your prior valuable services in this public office pre-eminently qualify you for this appointment, and the fact that you will again assume the duties is cause for the public, as well as my own, elation.

Very truly yours,
LEE ROY ROBBINS,
Mayor.

SEEK HEAVY DAMAGES IN FOUR AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT SUITS

Suits for $25,000 in damages, $20,000 and $7,000 have been brought in the superior court for this county because of three automobile accidents, one of which was fatal.

Edward Hoch and Pauline W. Hoch, both of Jewett City, are made defendants in two separate auto-negligence actions, aggregating damages of $25,000. The first suit is brought by Annie I. Hargey of Norwich, administratrix of the estate of Charles H. Hargey, late of Norwich. She sues for $18,000 damages.

The plaintiff claims that on Nov. 10, 1925, the plaintiff's decedent owned a motorcycle and that he was riding it the aforesaid while the cycle was being operated by Michael Onuparik of Waterford, along the Boston Post road in Lyme, in a northerly direction.

The complaint further alleges that when a point, known as Dead Man's curve, was reached, an automobile owned by Pauline Hoch, was approaching in a southerly direction and crashed into the motorcycle, seriously injuring Onupalik and killing Hargey. Among other charges in regard to the operation of the automobile, the plaintiff alleges that the brakes on the car were defective.

The other suit against the Hochs is brought by Onuparik, driver of the motorcycle, who asks damages of $15,000 for injuries received. He claims that he received fractures of the arms and legs, contusions of muscles of the right leg, multiple abrasions of the face, and cerabral concussion.

Against Groton Garage Man

John S. Bale of New London seeks $20,000 damages against Eugene W. Jones of Groton, proprietor of Jones garage, alleging that on Aug. 11, 1923 he visited the garage as a customer and that he and one Abel Desmarais were taken out in an automobile in charge of one of Jones' servants.

When at the brow of Fort Hill, according to Bale, the agent allowed Desmarais to take the wheel, and the latter operated the car such a negligent manner that it figured in an accident with another machine, causing the plaintiff to receive severe and permanent injuries to his face, and causing him to be badly disfigured.

Sues Both Drivers

Damages of $7,500 are sought by Edna Walsh, a minor 18, who brings suit through her mother, Nellie Eggleston, of Montville, against William J. Walsh of Montville, and Alfred H Brown of Franklin.

The plaintiff claims that on Sept. 15, last, she was riding in an automobile owned by Walsh and at his invitation, when it figured in a crash with a machine owned and operated by Brown, on the New London-Norwich turnpike, in Montville. She alleges that the drivers of both machines were negligent.

GAVE TRAVEL TALK ON TRIP AROUND MEDITERRANEAN

"Around the Mediterranean" was the topic of a very interesting travel talk delivered by Prof. Thomas E. Brown, son of Rev. J. Eldred Brown, Tuesday evening in the parish room of Trinity Episcopal church. The address which was presented under the auspices of the men's club of the church, was illustrated with beautiful colored slides, 180 in number. The speaker's clever way of injecting bits of humor throughout his narration was greatly enjoyed by the audience.

Prof. Brown mentioned as the first port of call, the Madeira Islands, off the west coast of Spain. Cadiz, Spain, through the Strait of Gilbraltar and then into Algiers, Africa. The audience was then taken to Tunis, Athens Constantinople, Damascus, Jerusalem and through the Holy Land. After speaking interestingly upon the sights visited in the Holy Land, Professor Brown dwelt upon Egypt, Cairo, the Pyramids, along the upper Nile and the great ruins of the temples there. Leaving Africa the audience was taken across the Mediterranean to Venice, Pompeii, Riviera, to Naples and to the end of the cruise.

A number of the slides included views of oriental sunsets, the beautiful mountain scenery, the volcanic formations, ruins of Roman cities, and noteworthy buildings, such as Roberts college, the Pantheon, Aeropolis, and the Mosque of St. Sofia. Others comprised views of the Well of Mary, the birthplace of Christ, the Pyramids, the Sphinx and the Valley of the Kings.

BOSTON STORE SALES FORCE ENJOYS ENTERTAINMENT

The successful conclusion of a sales contest in the Reid & Hughes Co. Boston store was celebrated Tuesday night at Odd Fellows' hall when the winning Red team under William Welton as captain enjoyed an entertainment furnished by the losers, the Blue team, under Mrs. Ora Spencer.

It began with an excellent turkey dinner served by a committee of the Rebekah lodge, which was followed by a minstrel performance that was put on in capital style. The minstrel troupe included the following: Cyril E. Fitch, interlocutor; Nonie Nagle, Catherine Gallup, Leah Addlestone, Ora Spencer and Mary Smith, ends; Catherine Murphy, Mary Murphy, Florence Tilley, Viola Cousins, Helen Barry, Anna Cubanski, Ruth Hyde, Sarah Blum, Irene Buckley, Florence Parkhurst, May Welch, Agnes Bresnahan, Fannie Robinson, Nellie Nagle, chorus.

Well rendered solo numbers were by Miss Addlestone, Miss Nagle, Miss Mary Girard, Miss Gallup, Miss Mary Smith, Roger Tighe, George Strouse, Franklin Robinson and Frank Dodge, with duets by Miss Bentley and Miss Parkhurst, Milton Taylor and Francis Chapman.

A gold piece was presented by the Blue team to Miss Nonie Nagle, who directed the minstrels, and Mrs. Spencer also received a gold piece, a gift from the Red team.

In attendance from the Waterbury store of the company were John Hughes, Mrs. Peter, Mr. Boardman and Miss Thayer. Dancing concluded the evening, for which Ethier's orchestra played.

OIL STOVE STARTS FIRE IN BALTIC TENEMENT

An overheated oil stove caused a small blaze in one of the tenement houses of the Baltic Mills Co., on Depot hill shortly before midnight Tuesday. The blaze was confined to one room and, outside of the woodwork being scorched there was but slight damage. The Baltic fire department responded to the alarm and soon had the blaze extinguished. A telephone call was sent in to the Taftville department which responded but became lost in Baltic as there was no one left to direct them to the fire. When the fire was finally located there was no need of their services.

BRINGS SUIT AGAINST COUNTY FAIR SOCIETY

The New London County Agricultural society's property at East Great Plain, has been attached as the result of a $2,200 civil action brought in the superior court by H. F. & A. J. Dawley, lumber dealers of Norwich. The action is brought on the common counts. Service was made on secretary, Louis M. Crandall. The lumber company's claim is stated at $1,928.92.

For Thanksgiving Day Exhibit

Converse Art gallery is to be open to the public on Thanksgiving day afternoon from 2.30 to 5.30 so that the holiday may afford opportunity to view the exhibition of stage sets, costumes and little theatre models now at the gallery.

In the hall at the entrance to the picture gallery under the case of pewter will be noticed three fine specimens of early American furniture which have been loaned to Slater museum for the winter. They are a banister back chair, a slat back chair and an unusually good trestle table.

It is some time since the gallery has been open on Thanksgiving day but the notable theatre exhibit led to the decision to have the gallery open this year.

Thanksgiving Morning Service

A service on Thanksgiving day morning is to be held at 10:45 at Grace Memorial Baptist church. The sermon will be by the pastor, Rev. D. Milligar

ASHLAND COTTON COMPANY UNDER NEW YORK CONTROL

Public announcement has just been made of a business change which has kept Jewett City buzzing with excitement for a week, the purchase of control of the Ashland Cotton company by Samuel C. Lamport of New York.

The following dispatch appeared in the Daily News Record on Nov. 24 concerning the deal:

Samuel C. Lamport of New York yesterday bought control of the Ashland Cotton Co. at Jewett City, Conn. Disclosing this last night Mr. Lamport stated that his acquisition of the Ashland mills was the first step in the important move for the development of rayon fabric industry. Other plants will eventually be build in the south in this connection and as part of this organization, with the idea for producing the finest kind of rayon fabrics.

Grosvenor Ely, formerly president of the Ashland Cotton Co. is no longer to be connected with the mill. L. M. Carpenter continues as treasurer and general manager and the Turner Halsey Co. continues as selling agent.

Mr. Lamport said he was planning to market the product of the Ashland mill and other plants which would form a part of this project eventually throughout the world. "I have made promises in most parts of the globe," he said, "that I would show them the wonderful products of the American cotton mills, which compares with the finest made anywhere, and I am going to fulfill this promise through the export abilonment of the merchandise of the Ashland mills. The company has intimate connections with important rayon producing sources and I believe is the best rayon mill in the country."

The blue book lists the Ashland Cotton company as having 1106 broad looms, 23,936 ring spindles, 5,560 mule spindles, 204 twisters, employing 450. The company which was established in 1820 and was incorporated in 1863, is capitalized at $1,276,000.

The first business of any great importance in what is now Ashland was the woolen mill in about 1804 of John Schoifield on the north side of the river. This plant had a monopoly on all the wool carding in northeastern New London county and Windham county for some years. Then cotton manufacturing became established and continued with frequent changes until 1845 when Adams, Tucker and Anthony bought the mill privilege and in a new building, which is still standing, carried on cotton manufacturing for 18 years. During this period the name Ashland was acquired. In 1863 the Ashland Cotton Co., was incorporated, a joint stock company with a capital stock of $400,000. Its president was Moses Pierce of Norwich. In 1864 a new brick mill was built and tenement houses sufficient to house 30 families were erected. Governor William A. Buckingham was interested in the company and bought for it about 1,000 acres of land south of Pachaug for flowage purposes. In the early part of 1866 all these works were completed. The new reservoir was at first called Buckingham lake but the name did not survive. Pachaug pond became the accepted name. The new plant, fully equipped, contained, it is said, 330 looms and its annual output for years amounted to between two and three million yards of fine goods. In 1886 occurred the great freshet which destroyed the Ashland dam and much Ashland property. This damage was repaired and the business enlarged and ten years after the company was running 760 looms and furnishing employment for about 300 hands. James O. Sweet was treasurer and agent from the beginning and until near the time of his death in 1913.

MISS BEULAH WHITELEY INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Word has been received here of injury sustained by Miss Beulah Whiteley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Whiteley of Yantic, in an automobile accident last Sunday night on the road between Bennington, Vt., and Albany, N. Y. She was with Mr. Brushey and his sister of Montreal, with Mr. Brushey driving, when the car turned over, pinning Miss Whiteley and the driver under it.

Miss Whiteley received injury to her back, as well as cuts and bruises, and is now at the DeWitt Clinton hotel in Albany under a doctor's care. Mr. Brushey sustained injuries which have laid him up, but his sister was unhurt. The automobile was looted after they left it.

Mr. and Mrs. Whiteley will endeavor to have their daughter brought to their home in Yantic.

Happy Sunshine Club Met

The Happy Sunshine club held its weekly meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Miss Susan Lynas on Eleventh street. Many articles were made with beads by the members. Refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Lynas. Games were also played. Those present were Rita Bailey, Margaret Dunlon, Dorothy Daley, Edna Wallace, Elsie Laycock, Matilda Bulke, Ida Barwell, Susan Lynas. The club will hold its next meeting at the home of Rita Daley at No. 10 Twelfth street on Friday, Dec. 7.

For Absentee Members' Instruction

To enable absentee members of the Norwich Inn Builders' campaign organization to receive full instructions and ask any questions regarding the enterprise and the conduct of the campaign, there will be a dinner meeting at 6:15 this (Wednesday) evening at the Wauregan hotel of those who were unable to be present at the meeting of their division. These meetings have been found of great value to the campaign workers in developing a clear understanding as to the many phases of the enterprise. It is the hope and wish of the campaign directors that every member of the campaign organization enter into the active work of the campaign with a full understanding of all the elements that enter into the selling features of the project.

FRAUDULENT CHECK PASSER ARRESTED IN WILLIMANTIC

WILLIMANTIC, Nov. 27—Louis Angelitti, 32, of Hampton, was finally safely landed in the local lockup tonight after playing a hide and seek game with the Columbia and local authorities since Nov. 17, when he began operations in this section by passing a fraudulent check in Columbia. On that date the man called at H. W. Porter's store in Columbia and succeeded in passing a $10 check to Mrs. Porter drawn on the East Hampton bank, the check later proving to be a fraud.

Mrs. Porter, however, had secured the registration numbers of the car in which Angelitti rode and notified Deputy Sheriff Harvey S. Collins, who subsequently enlisted the aid of County Detective William E. Jackson and the local police. Although the name of Angelitti had been secured from the state motor vehicle department by a checkup on the numbers, he had continued to evade the authorities until a series of events today finally brought about his apprehension on a number of charges.

Shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon, Angelitti's car was being towed in an easterly direction on the North Windham road by a coach driven by Frank A. Kaliza of 18 Lafayette street, this city. In some manner the towed machine turned out into the road and sideswiped a sedan coming in the opposite direction and operated by Marion E. Shouse of 408 Pleasant street, this city, and owned by Thera Ellsworth of Hampton. As a result of the accident all three cars were damaged to some extent. Angelitti came to local police headquarters to make out an accident report. While he was doing this, Capt. of Police Frank McLean suspected that the man was the one for whom County Detective Jackson was then looking for in Hampton. Captain McLean went into another room to telephone Detective Jackson to inform him of his suspicions, but when he returned to the patrolmen's room he found that Angelitti had also become suspicious and made a hasty exit.

It was later learned that Angelitti had returned to Hampton, passed a fraudulent check for $50, drawn on the Corn Exchange bank of New York and made out to D. T. Phillips, grain store man, of Hampton. He had also made arrangements to have his wrecked machine towed to Hampton. The man was finally located at the scene of the wreck and although he had first denied that the car was his, he was taken into custody, as the man wanted for passing the checks.

Later under questioning at police headquarters Angelitti added to the complication of the case by stating that he had been an inmate of an insane asylum at New York. This statement and his various activities are to be further investigated.

NON-SUIT DENIED IN McCAUGHEY VS. SMIDDY

Motion for non-suit, made by Attorney Arthur T. Keefe, counsel for William Smiddy of Montville, was denied in the superior court here Tuesday afternoon by Judge John Richards Booth in the trial of the $15,000 suit of Miss Anna McCaughey of New London against Mr. Smiddy, who has been justice of the peace in Montville for 30 years.

Miss McCaughey is suing him for injuries she received on Jan. 12, 1928, when she was struck on Waller street, New London, by the Smiddy automobile, which was driven at the time by William Joseph Smiddy, son of the defendant.

Evidence in the case was concluded Tuesday afternoon and Attorneys G. C. Morgan and Keefe will make their arguments before Judge Booth and the jury at the opening of court this (Wednesday) morning.

Witnesses called by the plaintiff Tuesday were Dr. Hugh F. Lena, John H. Broadwell, Dr. George P. Cheney, Anna McCaughey, Margaret McCaughey, Daniel Button, Laura McCaughey, William Joseph Smiddy, Edith M. Valletl, Clarence Clark Joseph Du Trembla and Bert G. Hewitt.

For the defendant the following witnesses testified: William Joseph Smiddy, James D. Fogarty, Truman Moran and Judge Smiddy. The defense claims contributory negligence as testimony was given that the young woman was running across the street from behind parked cars and ran into the side of the Smiddy automobile.

NEED MORE RESPONSES TO RED CROSS ROLL CALL

Responses to the Red Cross roll call appeal in Norwich have brought in $1,445 so far, which is only about half the quota of 2500 members for Norwich as fixed by the national headquarters of the Red Cross.

Officers of the local branch are hoping and expecting that the responses yet to be received from the people of Norwich will enable the chapter to reach its goal and sustain the record made heretofore by Norwich of meeting all that was expected of them in each annual Red Cross roll call.

There have been many appeals to the sympathies of the Norwich public but none more worthy of their whole-hearted support by their contributions on the basis of efficient service whenever and wherever called upon than that of the American Red Cross through its annual roll call now in progress.

SUES FOR PARTITION OF NEW LONDON PROPERTY

Suit for partition of property in New London has been brought in the superior court with John H. Newman as plaintiff and James P. Newman, Margaret N. Moran, Elizabeth A. Harrigan, Annie H. Newman and Lillian Newman as defendants.

All the parties concerned are tenants in common in a house and lot in West Colt street, a house and lot in Jefferson avenue, and some building lots in Summer street.

It is alleged that the plaintiff and defendants, James P. Newman, Margaret N. Newman and Elizabeth Harrigan each have an undivided 3-14 interest, and that Annie H. and Lillian Newman each have an undivided 1-14 interest.

Theft Charge Was Changed

Michael Lagoda, 18, and John Lagoda, 16, brothers, of Versailles, were presented in the city court Tuesday morning on theft charges. They were caught Saturday night by Officer Howard Coburn, removing tires from a machine in Greeneville.

The court nolled the charge against the younger boy as it was shown that the older brother had led him into the trouble. The theft charge against the older brother was changed to tampering with a machine and he was fined $10 and costs.

SIX BOUTS ON DUWELL AMATEUR CARD END IN QUICK KNOCKOUTS

The winter indoor season of the Duwell A. A. boxing shows started off last night at the Armory and although the crowd was the smallest that the club has ever drawn and the bouts rather abbreviated on account of the quick knockouts, the fans saw plenty of fighting and knockouts which some of the fans crave.

Of the ten bout card, six of the battles ended in knockouts, one ended in a foul and the other three went the limit. The New Britain team came out second best in every one of their bouts all four of the up-state boys losing via the K. O. route. This is one of the reasons for the shortness of the bouts. The team came down with a retinue of new men who just couldn't stand up under the experience of their opponents. The Worcester lads won three of their four battles, Mike Troy, the loser for his team, dropping a decision to Micky Ward which was the best go of the evening. All the local boys cleaned up in their battles.

The go between Micky Ward of New London and Mike Troy of Worcester was easily the best of the evening and gave the fans a mighty fine exhibition of a boxer handing out a trimming to a fighter. Troy dropped Ward in the first for the nine count and held the upper hand for the remainder of the first round. But Ward took the lead in the second and with a pretty left jab stood Troy back on practically all of the latter's rushes. Troy was in a bad way in the second round, but Ward just couldn't finish him. Overcoming the knockdown and coming back to win the decision gives Ward a new lease on his fighting career and it is hoped that he will continue to appear at the future cards. Troy tipped the scales at 142 and Ward 144.

The first bout had the fans well warmed up. Art Bergeron a good looking little lad from Worcester, found himself after the first round and gave out a lacing to Frankie Brown of Westerly. Art showed lots of cleverness and had the Westerly boy rather wild swinging throughout. Both boys punched themselves tired in the second, but Bergeron recuperated quickly and with a nice right cross working, drove Brown all over the ring. The latter kept trying, however, but Bergeron held the lead with his boxing and a good right hand and won hands down. Brown weighed 111 and Bergeron three pounds less.

It took Phil Plante of Norwich just about four seconds and two or three blows to the mid-section to frighten Roland Dupre of Danielson into submission. That's about all there is to that story. The red-headed Danielson lad was whipped before he started. He weighed in at 123 and Phil at 121.

Joe Mleski, another newcomer to the fistic game won over Frank Tuscano of Westerly in the third bout, and took whatever honors there might be in winning over the novice from down the line. Frank didn't seem to know the first rudiments of the game. He rushed in and then stopped and hardly knew how to hit. Mleski did what fighting there was but was a tired boy at the final bell for his trouble. He weighed 130 to Tuscano's 133

The fifth bout had rather an abrupt and perhaps unfortunate ending, although it looked almost impossible for Joe Cilenti of Stafford to be able to withstand the blows of hard hitting Francis Carter of Worcester. Both lads started off at a fast pace Cilenti with a hard right driving it to Carter's body while the Worcester lad tipping in blows from all directions had Cilenti in a bad way in the second and about ready to drop. With a dying spurt Cilenti whipped in a few to Carter's body and the latter rushing in, slipped and went to his knees. Cilenti in his wildness swung at Carter and the referee. Frankie Busch stepped in and stopped the fight giving it to Carter on a foul. Both lads gave the customers a real fight while it lasted and a return bout should show some fireworks. Carter weighed 125 and Cilenti 122.

Anthony Germaine of the Worcester stable swarmed over Sebastian Gianoli of New Britain and wore him down for a K. O. in the first round of their bout. Both lads started off cautiously and had to be warned to step on it. When they did Germaine with head down tore in and ended the affair with a few hard blows. Both boys weighed 115.

Angelo Rita, our long armed friend from Westerly went down for the count in the first from a terrific left to the stomach from Albert Savageau of Worcester. The later undismayed by Rita's long reach piled in close and turned the trick in the first two minutes of fighting. Rita weighed 128 and Savageau two pounds more.

Johnny Kop the popular Norwich lad drove a few body blows into Julius Biglinnetti of New Britain, brought his left up to the jaw, and it was curtains for Julius. Short and sweet. Kop weighed 133 and Julius 135.

Patsy Ferra another local favorite made short work of one more New Britain boy, Mike Cinco. They exchanged a few punches, but Mike declared enough in about a minute and a half of the first round. Both tipped the scales at 152.

The last go gave another loss to the New Britain outfit, but Lewis Blair at 161 pounds put up the best fight of any of his compatriots. He showed some fair punching ability against Phil Gingerella of Westerly, but again the lack of experience lost him the fight. He had Phil on the floor in the first from a hard driven body blow, but couldn't keep him there. Phil, who used to be known as the Westerly fat boy was trained down to the unheard of weight of 158 which is remarkable for him, and goes to show that he was in good shape. He needed to be to take the wallops of Blair. Phil, after the knockdown, took the lead and finally wore Blair down and dropped him in the second. This was a good fight too, but would have been better had Blair had more experience.

Another card was announced for two weeks hence and it is hoped that the fans that have supported the Duwell affairs in the past will turn out better. Frankie Busch refereed and Jack Wilson and Doctor Sussler did what judging there was to be done

BOSTON COLLEGE DEVELOPING STRONG DEFENSIVE PLAY

BOSTON, Nov. 27—(AP)—The Boston college football team, bundled in heavy sweaters and wearing white canvas gloves, today went through a long defensive scrimmage against Holy Cross plays on its frozen gridiron at University Heights.

The Purple attack was put on by the Eagles scrubs and the varsity repelled it impressively. Head Coach Joe McKenney, who feared that his regulars might be injured on the hard ground, breathed a sigh of relief when the workout was over and prayed for a rise in temperature and a softer practice field before tomorrow's practice.

McKenney, after making all due allowances for Holy Cross' strong line, expressed the opinion that his forwards were equally good and his ball carriers much better than those in the Purple backfield.

CAGLE AND STRONG PLACE ON YOUNG'S ALL-AMERICAN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Lou Little, Georgetown football coach, names Carnegie Tech and New York university players on his All-American eleven selected today for Th. Associated Press. No other team has more than one. Eight eastern players, two from middle-western teams and one from the south comprise Little's selection which follows:

Ends—Barrabee, New York university, and Rosenzweig, Carnegie.

Tackles — Nowack, Illinois, and Mooney, Georgetown.

Guards — Pommerening, Michigan, and Getto, Pittsburgh.

Center—Westgate, Pennsylvania.

Quarterback—Harpster, Georgia.

Halfbacks—Strong, New York U., and Miell, Georgia Tech.

Fullback—Cagle, Army.

Quinn to Fight at Providence

Jimmy Quinn, popular local amateur featherweight is to display his wares Friday night at Providence where several other Norwich boys including Al Koziol have been favorites. Quinn holds the Connecticut featherweight title and was a candidate for the Olympic team last spring. At Providence it is understood that Quinn will be pitted against a Rhode Island featherweight of real ability but this means nothing to Quinn who has been getting into shape for the month or more.

Lions Challenge.

The Lions challenge any team to play them Sunday. The players must average between 110 and 125 pounds. If challenge is accepted, answer in The Bulletin. The Lions are to play two more games and if any team desires a game in advance with us communicate with The Bulletin office.

ACADEMY VICTORY WAS LARGEST IN TEN YEARS

Bulkeley's lack of its usual fighting qualities in the game with the Academy Saturday was probably a fact that impressed many. That the New Londoners did not get a worse beating is only due to a trace of fumbling in the Academy backfield.

The Whalers, in getting their worst football beating at the hands of the Academy, seemed to make no general fuss about it, at least, after the first period. Thanks to a bad pass from center and then to a fumbled punt by the Academy, the Orange and Black was enabled to keep on even terms, if not a little ahead of the Wildcats for the first minutes but after the Academy found itself there was nothing to the contest but Academy.

In 1910 an Academy team beat Bulkeley 17 to 0, and since then, the few football victories the Red and White have gained, the margin has been very close. On the other hand, Bulkeley, through the years of 1922 to '24 gave the Academy some terrible lacings, twice by 33 to 0 and another time, 44 to 6.

Of course, this victory is very sweet to the Academy and all of its followers, but coming as it does, during a period of success in practically all sports at the local school, it did not seem to arouse the enthusiasm that was to be expected. In past seasons, even the closest kind of a victory over Bulkeley would arouse Academy followers to unbounded enthusiasm and a noisey parade would be expected the night of the game.

Whether, this "silent celebration" marks a new era in Academy athletics is not known but the fact remains that much of the color of the Academy-Bulkeley games is lost. The cheering Saturday, while better than anything all this year, still could not compare with that of past years. School spirit, undoubtedly, is in the duldrums at the local school just at the time when athletics are at a high standard and when the Academy ranks with the leaders in the state in nearly all sports.

The absence of a drop-kicked on the Academy squad was again manifested Saturday when three tries were missed. Had Bulkeley been even with touchdowns it would have been almost a 100 to 1 shot that they would have won the game. In 16 tries for the extra point this year, the Academy made but one point, and that only by the closest margin. The locals lost two games by this one point missed, which, if turned at least into ties, would have made the season one of the most successful in the past decade.

The Academy-Bulkeley games evidently still carry the same appeal to the public of both Norwich and New London, as the capacity audience will show. Various estimates from 4,000 to over 5,000 were given of the attendance.

NAUGATUCK'S STATE TITLE CLAIM DISPUTED BY HARDING

With the close of the football season for the majority of high schools in the state this week the annual football debate as to the mythical state title arises. It will be debated until the baseball season opens in the spring and then no one will be any nearer a solution than at the present time unless sthe proposed Naugatuck-Warren Harding game is played. Naugatuck bases her claim for state honors on her undefeated record for the year, she having beaten Torrington, 7 to 0, the team that defeated Harding 3 to 0. On the face of it this would seem logical but to delve farther into the records of the teams is found that Naugatuck's victories have been over Class B teams while only three Class A teams were played, In winning from the Class A teams Naugatuck just about nosed them out.

Harding on the other hand has played admittedly stronger teams than Naugy. Harding beat the Norwich Free Academy, the accredited champions of Eastern Connecticut, Stamford high whose sensational work of the season was their defeat of New Britain high, and Manchester high champions of the Connecticut Valley league. This gives Harding victories over teams representative of three sections of the state. Harding claims that her defeat by Torrington was due to having five regulars on the injured list. However, that is the fortunes of war and Naugatuck says it was no fault of theirs that the Harding players were injured. And there you have it. One could argue till doomsday and be no nearer a solution. There is but one way to decide it, a game between Harding and Naugatuck on a neutral gridiron. Practically any city in the state would offer inducements for this game which would be the biggest interscholastic game ever played in the state.

LETTERS AWARDED TO 28 DARTMOUTH MEN

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 27—(AP)—Letters were awarded to members of the football and soccer teams by the Dartmouth college athletic council today. Twenty eight varsity football players received their letters, 25 freshmen gridsters were awarde class numerals and nine minor D's were given the varsity soccer players who played in the Harvard and Yale games.

Twenty football letter men will return to college next year. Eight of them were regulars of this year's team.

PERMISSION GIVEN BEARS FOR POST SEASON GAME

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 27—(AP)—Approval of California's Bears playing a post season football game at the Rose Bowl, Pasadena, on New York's day was granted today by the executive committee of the university. It is understood that Georgia Tech will be the opponent in the east-west classic.

PLAINFIELD CLASHES WITH PARKWOOD PROFESSIONALS THIS EVENING

Tonight at the Plainfield Community house the Plainfield Pros stack up against one of the strongest basketball combinations in New England when they meet the Parkwood Pros of Springfield. Plainfield has been sailing along under full sail taking Johnny Beckman's Detroiters and the Boston Whirlwinds in turn, but may find the Springfield club a tough proposition. The Parkwoods boast a team of former college stars all with reputations well known in basketball circles.

The Bay State aggregation carries a roster of ten men among whom are Ray Fitzgerald, formerly with the Bigelow-Hartfords of Thompsonville, Scotty Welsh, of the Springfield New England Y. M. C. A. champs, Irvie Pahl, formerly with the Fisk Red Tops, Bob Berry, of the New Britain National Guards, Harmon Smith, formerly Springfield college, Harry Slate, former Penn State star, Art Johnson, formerly with the Newport Pros of Newport, N. H., and Red Parnell of the old State Armory Five of South Manchester. Jimmy Bell, the manager of the pros will pick his team from the above which will probably be Walsh and Berry, forwards, Smith, center, Slate and Parnell, guards.

Springfield comes to Plainfield with a very formidable record which includes wins over Brattleboro Athletics, Rutland American Legion, Fairbanks A. A. of St. Johnsbury, Vermont state champions, The Sullivans of Claremont, N. H., Schneider's Clinton Pros and the Schenectady Big Five. The Fairbanks A. A. in 1926 were claimants of the New England title by virtue of two defeats over the Boston Whirlwinds. Fans by digesting the records of the Parkwoods can see that Plainfield is up against a real basketball aggregation tonight.

Manager Salisbury of the Plainfield outfit is contemplating no changes in his lineup for tonight's game and will send in the same team that beat Johnny Beckman and the Boston Whirlwinds. Kasper and Bruso will play the forward line, with Whitey Bernot at the pivot position and Tisdell and Dissinger, in the guard positions. This combination functions well and is hitting mid-season form right along.

For the preliminary game the Buddies clash with the U. S. S. Camden team in a return game. In the first game the Buddies won, handily but were given plenty of opposition. As usual the preliminary goes on at 7.30 and the big attraction at 8.45. Dancing will follow the big game.

DANIELSON TOWNERS GETTING INTO TOP CONDITION

Reports continue to come in that the Danielson Town Team is getting itself in the pink of condition for Thanksgiving night, when the team plays the fast So. Manchester team.

So. Manchester is boasting of an exceptionally strong team this year and are out to beat all contenders. However, the Danielson boys have a little surprise for them in such men as Gallup, Burke, Longo, Godreau, Armington and Keach.

Three of these men are fresh from college and there is no question but what they are going to put on some real classy basketball.

Every man on the squad has been practising faithfully and just raring to go, so a good fast game can be expected Thursday night at the old stand, the Danielson town hall.

The fast C. L. C. A. will furnish the preliminary with either Kid Brundage or Schofield holding the whistle.

Burgess Bedtime Story

Buster Bear is Jumpy

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Tmptation always is insistent,
And day and night is most persistent.
—Old Mother Nature.

Buster Bear tried to fool himself. He tried to make himself believe that he was surprised to find himself back at the place from which he had started in the morning. "Now, how did I get here?" said Buster to himself. "How under the sun did I get here? Why, this is the place I was running away from, and here I am back again! Well, now that I am here, I believe I'll have another look at those pigs. A look isn't going to hurt anybody."

But Buster didn't start right over to the pigpen. In the first place, there were lights in the little farmhouse, so he knew the farmer had not gone to bed. In the second place, he heard a dog bark over in the barnyard, and dogs always made him nervous. So he decided that he would not have a look at those pigs until the lights were out in the farmhouse and the dog had stopped barking.

But while he waited he couldn't keep still. He wandered about uneasily, keeping all the time in the blackest shadows. He kept his ears open their very widest all the time. Every little sound he heard would make him jump. He was very jumpy, indeed. Yes, sir, Buster Bear was very jumpy, indeed. That was because he was nervous.

At last he saw the light go out in the farmhouse. He had heard nothing of that dog for a long time, for the dog had been called into the house. Buster waited. He wanted to be sure that everybody in the farmhouse was asleep. When at last he thought he had waited long enough he started toward the pigpen. But he had gone only a few steps when he turned and ran back into the woods. He thought he had heard a noise from the farmhouse. He waited a long time and then tried again.

This time he was almost over to the pen when a horse in the barn stamped. Away went Buster straight back to the woods. He certainly was jumpy. This time he decided that he didn't want to see those pigs. "I'll go off," said Buster, "and I won't come back. I've seen those pigs once and they'll look just the same the second time. Looking at them won't do me any good, anyway. I want to taste one, not see one. But I'm not going to taste one, because it might get me into trouble. So if I am not going to taste one, what is the good of staying around just to see one? I won't do it. I'll go away right now."

Buster walked a few steps, then turned and walked back again. Then he sat down, looking out toward that pen. As he sat there his head swung from side to side, as Bear's heads have a way of doing. He just couldn't tear himself away. One of the wandering Little Night Breezes brought the pig smell over to him. You and I wouldn't have liked that smell. We wouldn't have liked it at all. But to Buster Bear it was the most tantalizing smell possible. No wonder he couldn't tear himself away.

The little stars twinkled brightly in the sky. The moon came out and flooded the little farm with light. Out there back of the barn the pigpen was almost as light as by day. The pigs were uneasy and moved around. Buster could hear them. Finally he sighed. It was a long, deep sigh.

"I've got to have one of those pigs," said Buster to himself. "I just can't get along without one of those pigs. Every time I think of those pigs my stomach turns over with longing. One pig won't be missed. I don't believe it would ge me into any trouble after all."

He stepped out into the moonlight and, standing up, looked long and hard. Then he started toward the pen

MYLES LANE IS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER PROFESSIONAL HOCKEY

By Edward J. Neil
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—(AP)—Young men who play hockey for a livelihood do not hit a bit harder or play nearly as roughly as collegians who churn up the ice, perfectly willing to do or die for dear old Harvard, Yale or Princeton.

This is the belief of Myles Lane, once the ace of the Dartmouth hockey team and the first American college star to enter professional ranks. Last Sunday night Lane made his debut here with the world champion New York Rangers and echos of the cheers that greeted his play then still are ringing in his ears.

The youth who for two years was one of the highest scoring halfbacks in the land is frank to admit that he has yet to find his bearings in professional sport. Everything is very different, of course, but the Ranger veterans have found him a willing student, a likable boy, and something the team has needed for years—a fourth at bridge. Previously there were but three auction addicts on the squad.

"The big difference between amateur and professional hockey, of course, is the speed and versatility of the league players. It is no longer a question of watching one or two good men on a team; everyone is a cracker-jack and they have mighty few weaknesses.

"At Dartmouth, when we played smart teams, the good men were spotted and at least two of our players were assigned to cover them. If you tried that in this game you'd pretty soon have twice as many men on the ice as the rules allow.

"Then, too, most of the college stars could only go to one side. They set for shots and they hadn't any idea of the dribbling and passing that makes up professional hockey. These fellows go either way, and how they go. They are smart and tricky. It seems as though they can shoot standing on one ear.

"Fundamentally, college and professional hockey are founded on a different basis. At Dartmouth, the team was taught to play the puck entirely. Here we play the man and forget there is such a thing as a puck. Of course when three forwards come flying at you, passing between them down by the goal, you have to think of both and usually end up by getting the wrong man. Then the goal tender plays the puck for all he's worth.

"It is only natural that when men make their living playing one game they specialize, practice, and become proficient to an extent beyond any college athlete. They put a great deal of feeling into their game, too, but they never could get as rough as college players in there to do or die for alma mater."

The greatest surprise that has come to him, Lane says, is the calibre of the men playing this game for weekly pay checks. The rest of the Rangers root for him on the ice, encourage him from the side lines, teach him the little intricacies of the pastime, and do everything possible to help him along.

To Lane the Rangers are like a college football team that has been playing together for three years. They go to movies and shows together, live together or home and on the road, and have a fine time through it all. Just now Myles is entertaining the rest of the squad with mathematical puzzles. The last one cost Lester Patrick, the Ranger manager, a whole night's sleep.

Despite his limited experience, the hockey fans of New York have taken this big, curly black-haired youngster from Melrose, Mass., to their hearts. In the Sunday game with the Pittsburgh Pirates, his first full-time appearance, Lane stepped into the normal defense role of "Ching" Johnson and later "Taffy" Abel so completely that he found himself in the penalty box three times.

The first time he was sent off the ice, the crowd cheered politely. The second time they were more enthusiastic. And when he came right back from that penalty and bowled over the first Pirate to come near him, the fans gave in entirely, yelling wildly as he skated back to the "pen". New Yorkers like their hockey rough.

SEVERAL BEQUESTS MADE TO LOCAL CHARITIES

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Nov. 27—Various bequests of general public interest are included in the will of Mrs. Susie E. Williams, who died this month and whose home was in Brooklyn for many years. Through the will Mrs. Williams gives $5,000 to the American Missionary association, $2,000 to the Congregational Home in Hartford, $1,000 to the American Bible society, $1,000 to the American Board of Foreign Missions, $1,000 to the Day Kimball hospital at Putnam, $1,000 to the Brooklyn Congregational church, $400 to the East Woodstock Congregational church, $300 to the East Woodstock Cemetery association. In addition to these bequests the will provides for others of a private nature. Mrs. Williams was the widow of Nathaniel G. Williams of Brooklyn. Mrs. Williams was a native of Woodstock, and prior to her marriage had been engaged as a school teacher.

Pioneer Round-Up

Secretary L. Edwin Hill of the Windham County Y. M. C. A., issued from his office here today a statement relative to the State Pioneer Round-up which is to be held at the Middletown Y. M. C. A. on Saturday, December 15. The meeting is to be open to Pioneers and Prospective Pioneers from all parts of Connecticut, and the hope is to have a considerable delegation in attendance from Windham county. The morning session, opening at 11 o'clock, is to be given over to a life saving and diving demonstration by the Wesleyan university swimming team. After the dinner hour the program provides for a demonstration of a Pioneer meeting, with the various ceremonies, stunts, etc., demonstrated by Pioneers representing Hartford, Meriden, Waterbury, Falls Village and Middletown. Ezra Meeker of New York, a famous pioneer of the olden days, is to give an address, his subject Four Trips Over the Oregon Trail.

Twenty boys from Windham county were included in the large number from various parts of the state who were at Meriden last Saturday attending the pow-wow of Friendly Indians. A tribal meeting was demonstrated by the Friendly Indian group from Moosup. All the boys were taught an Indian song and also the Ojibway Friendship dance during the course of the day's activities.

Gets Seven Months for Vagrancy

Edward McDonald has gone away for the holidays—but not to his home city of Fall River. His absence will not only include Thanksgiving, but also Christmas and New Year's, the Easter period and Memorial day. Yet he hasn't gone far—just over to the county jail in Brooklyn to serve a sentence of seven months. McDonald was presented before Judge W. Fenner Woodward in the town court this morning to answer to charges of vagrancy and intoxication. Attention was first particularly attracted to McDonald here yesterday, when he began ringing doorbells or knocking at doors and asking for clothing, seeming to favor trousers especially, and being in some instances over insistent about being obliged. Incidentally, he was drunk, quite completely so. His activities eventually resulted in his being locked up and then to the sentence he received this morning. Danielson has not been bothered a great deal by cases such as McDonald's for a long time, and the stiff sentence given him is indicative of what others may expect who try to emulate him.

Holiday in Danielson

Danielson's program for the holiday contemplates many family reunions at which Thanksgiving will be observed in traditional manner, dances, football and basketball games and special theatrical offerings. In the list of diversions that have been arranged are affairs sufficient to interest about everyone in one degree or another. The holiday period will get into its full swing Wednesday evening. There are those who will find a midnight dance that has been arranged to their liking, and others who will wait to dance Thanksgiving night. Thursday will be a general holiday in Danielson with all activities reduced practically to a Sabbath standard.

Thanksgiving Exercises

Preceding the closing of the high school Wednesday afternoon for the Thanksgiving recess there is to be a program of exercises appropriate to the observance of the holiday. An activity interesting the class of 1929 at the school just now has to do with arrangements for the production of the annual senior play, set for a date in early December and to be given in the auditorium of the school. The Charm School is the title of the play selected for this year. The cast is a promising one.

Danielson people appear to have attained a widespread reputation of being unusually generous. This at least may be presumed from the perfect deluge of begging letters now coming through the mails by hundreds to local people and from many states and for many causes, all apparently worthy enough. However, giving to all of them, they are so numerous, would just about involve, for the average person, passing in each week's pay in such allotments as one would cake to make, and that simply cannot be done.

Announcement that the Connecticut company is removing its tracks from certain streets in Putnam has been the means of reviving speculation here as to when the company plans to take its tracks out of Water street and Dyer street and along the edge of the state highway leading to Wauregan as far south as Fall brook. The tracks will have been in disuse three years next Friday night, for the motor coach service that replaced the trolleys was inaugurated on December 1, 1925.

A small fire this morning down near the U and I garage on lower Dyer street again brought to the forefront the need of the borough having some definite and generally known arrangements for getting through telephoned fire alarms. The borough is without such an arrangement at the present time. The matter is one that, it was said today, will engage the attention of Chief A. P. Woodward of the fire department. As things are today it is more or less difficult to decide just where to call for the assurance of a fast response from the fire department in cases where a telephone may be used in preference to running a long distance to pull in the nearest fire alarm box. Of course, the numerous boxes about the town are used when they are conveniently situated. A suggestion was that the signal light for response by the borough police when they are needed in a hurry might be used for transmitting telephone calls for the fire department. While this arrangement may eventually be regarded as entirely unsatisfactory, there remains the need of some arrangement that will prevent delays when fire alarms happen to be transmitted by telephone.

Insofar as could be established today the total eclipse of the moon this morning was a flop in Danielson as to attracting spectators. Yet the hardy and enthusiastic few who watched what they describe as a beautiful spectacle, with brightly shining stars as big as silver dollars glimmering in the shadowed period, say it was well worth staying up to view.

Frederick Quintal of Goodyear and William McLean of Killingly were taken into custody by state officers late this afternoon and likely will appear in the town court Wednesday to answer to charges growing out of the automobile accident in which Homer Beecher of Brooklyn was so seriously injured here last Saturday night that he had to be taken to the Day Kimball hospital at Putnam Quintal, operating a car owned by McLean, will be charged with evading responsibility for an accident. McLean will face charges of being the owner of an automobile being driven under numbers alleged to have been stolen from Kibbe's garage here. It will be charged in court that the car driven by Quintal flashed out of Franklin street to crash into the Beecher car, force it off the state highway, over a sidewalk, through a fence and down an embankment near the Quinebaug bridge and then dash off without waiting for the police checkup required in all such cases. It was not revealed this afternoon how the state officers happened to ascertain that Quintal and McLean should be charged with the counts they will face in court.

We wish everybody a joyous Thanksgiving, and desire also to remind you to join the 1929 Christmas club at the Windham County National bank.—Adv.

John W. Gallup, a patient at the Peter Bent Brigham hospital in Boston for a number of weeks, has returned to his home here, much improved in health.

Mrs. Francis Ducharme and Mr and Mrs. Aldei Lamothe are to spend Thanksgiving with relatives in New Bedford.

Slipping while herding his flock of turkeys, ready for the holiday, Joseph B. Stetson fell at his place in Brooklyn and fractured a rib, an injury that does not prevent his getting about, however.

A sunrise service, beginning at 6 a. m., is to be held Thanksgiving morning at the Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ray expect to get away the first of the coming week on their motor trip to California, via Florida and the gulf coast states.

Following a custom of years, Danielson's basketball season will be opened Thanksgiving night.

Mrs. Marjorie Bill Woodbury of Norfolk, this state, is to spend Thanksgiving with Attorney and Mrs Arthur G. Bill.

The prospect heightened today for traditional Thanksgiving skating—the first of the season—on small ponds if the cold spell of the past few days is not broken in advance of the holiday.

A sport feature for Thanksgiving in this town will be the annual football game between the teams of Killingly high and Putnam high schools.

The usual schedule of holiday hours will be in force at the postoffice on Thanksgiving day, and the city and rural delivery services will be suspended.

Numbers of Thanksgiving offerings for the Day Kimball hospital at Putnam were from residents of Killingly and Brooklyn.

Mrs. Henry Weaver, who has been a surgical patient at a hospital in Boston, is at her home on Church street, Brooklyn, and much improved.

Miss Yvonne Auclair of New Bedford is here to spend the holiday with relatives.

Because of the holiday, a meeting of the Ladies' Benevolent society of the Westfield Congregational church to have ben held dthis week has been postponed.

Miss Mary Geer has returned from a visit with friends in Boston.

LOCAL POST OFFICE PREPAPING FOR CHRISTMAS RUSH

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Nov. 27—Postmaster Archibald Macdonald and the members of his staff are now making ready for the holiday rush of mail expected within the next week at the Putnam post office. Postmaster Macdonald is in receipt of information from the government post office officials advising the early mailing of foreign parcels that are expected to be delivered in time for the Christmas holidays in England and continental Europe. Mail intended to reach its destination in the eastern hemisphere should be deposited at the local office not later than the first of the month. The foreign mail matter under new regulations must be affixed with forms supplied by the post office department before they may leave this country. Postmaster Macdonald feels that the public will co-operate with the local office to lighten the Christmas season tasks of the employes by shipping their mail matter at an early date.

The annual meeting of the Putnam grange was held last evening in Odd Fellows' hall on Pomfret street with a capacity attendance on part of the members. The most important incident taking place at the meeting was the election of officers. Following is the outcome of the election: Master, Mrs. Daniel J. Durand; overseer, James P. Groves; lecturer, Mrs. A. Graydon Sharpe; steward, Clarence Myers; assistant steward, Clarence LaMondy; chaplain, Mrs. Sarah Gifford; treasurer, John Myers; secretary, Byron Howard; gate keeper, William Converse; Ceres, Marguarite Sherlock; Pomona, Ruth Chase; Flora, Helen Woodis; lady assistant steward, Irene Howard; pianist, Irene Bruce. Thaddeus Pitkin, retiring master, was elected to the membership of the executive committee of the organization for a period of three years. The committee now consists of Harold Morrarty, Arthur Tourtellotte, and Thaddeus Pitkin. Following the close of the meeting a social session was held and buffet lunch was served, arrangements for the affair being in charge of Marion Myers.

On Jan. 21, the officers of the Putnam grange, together with the newly elected officers of the Quinatissett, Senexet and Brooklyn granges, will hold a joint installation. The event is to take place at the state armory on Harris street and the degree of installation to be worked by Charles M. Gardner and staff of Demetar.

The assignment of new broadcasting wave lengths by the federal radio commission, to radio stations, has greatly affected the receiving conditions of local radio fans, who report that the local stations are being heard, but with a degree of difficulty. Boston stations, since the assignment of the new wave lengths, are not being picked up by the amateur receivers and steps are being taken by the owners of stations in the Hub to have the wave lengths modified so they may be heard in this section of New England affected by the change. Local fans report that distant stations are being received with ease since the change went into effect.

Phineas Wright, according to word received here, died a few days ago at Uncas-on-Thames after a long period of illness. Mr. Wright is a nephew of the late Phineas Garde Wright of this city, who died a few years ago. At the time of his sudden illness, Mr. Wright was making his home in Waterford. He was born in Putnam in October, 1866, the son of Ebenezer Wright, a brother of Garde Wright. Mr. Wright's father was a stone cutter, a trade which was later followed by his son. For a number of years Mr. Wright followed the quarries in this vicinity and later left for Westerly, where he continued in his trade.

The Well Baby conference was held today in the Putnam high school auditorium, with a large attendance on the part of mothers of the city, who appeared with their children. The youngsters were given examinations and all physical defects, common among the children, noted by the nurses, were reported to the mothers with advice as to their correction. Each month the attendance at these child conferences continues to grow.

HAMEL BOY BADLY SCALDED BY TEA

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Nov. 27—Adelard Hamel, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hamel of North Grosvenordale, was a victim of a tea scalding accident this morning when his mother accidentally poured boiling tea on his leg, while treating his limb for a fracture received but a few days before. Mrs. Hamel said that while attending to a knee dressing she pushed into the tea pot as it rested on the stove, it falling over her shoulder, and the majority of the liquid flowing on her son's injured leg. The child was quite severely burned and additional medical attention was needed. Mrs. Hamel suffered burns on the back and shoulder, but not of a severe nature.

The weekly tournament of the winter months between the Elks and the Masons was held last evening at the Masonic club rooms and the outcome was an 8 to 7 score which was won by the Elks, they breaking the tie and taking the lead by one meet. The win last evening for the Elks was the third straight and indicated that the Elks intend to maintain the lead they clinched by their win last evening. The names of the Elks are given first in the summary: Bid whist, W. Gallant and Richard won over Talbot and C. Tourtellotte; Larose and Kerouack won from Mellor and Shaw; Welch and J. Rafferty won from Marcy and Tetreault.

At bridge the Elks won and lost as follows: Miiot and Lewis won from King and Wolozin; Wheelock and Girard won from Holden and Miron; Hogan and Carroll won from Potter and Medbury; Berth and Cavanaugh won from Seward and Myers; Mansfield and S. Diamond won from Gifford and McIntyre; A. Brousseau and Miller lost to Stanton and Sherman; P. Gagne and Duvert lost to DeCarlo and Duffey; W. Rafferty and E. Gagne lost to Morse and Geissler; J. Murray and Cotter lost to Chase and Johnson; Champlain and W. Averill lost to Merriam and Hawkins; Loomis and Chadwick lost to E. Moss and C. Moss; Burgeois and Wheatley lost to G. Brousseau and Miner.

Today's weather mark failed to eclipse that of Monday and it stood today as the coldest blast of the season. At daybreak today, the mercury stood at points from 5 to 10 degrees higher than the same hour of Monday. During the early hours of Tuesday morning snow flurried and another light coating of snow was had this morning, but disappeared before noon. Small ponds and slow running brooks contained light coatings of ice this morning with indications of an early skating season if the cold snap of the past few days remains.

Probably a policeman or two, a few night watchmen and a telegraph operator at the Putnam tower, working the "grave yard" shift, saw the moon pass into a total eclipse this morning at 3:35 a. m. A Putnam police sergeant who happened to be within view of the moon claimed that this phenomenon was somewhat obscured when clouds passed before the face of the moon at the hour it passed into the shadow of the earth, hindering somewhat the characteristics of the astronomical event. According to those who viewed the eclipse this morning, the moon passed into the shadow of the earth at exactly 3:33 this morning, with a slightly red outline of the darkened body as it was seen from intervals between the clouds. The eclipse of the moon was unheralded in Putnam and only a few who happened to be in the line of duty at that time of the morning seemed to know anything about its occurrence.

Miss Lillian Giles of Front street, for many years an employe of the Whittemore Grocery store of this city, suffered a severe stroke of apoplexy today. She was reported this afternoon as in an unimproved condition.

Mrs. Alice Hayward of Woodstock, formerly of Putnam, has returned from St. Joseph's hospital in Willimantic, where she underwent an operation for a jaw infection.

WITH CALL MONEY UP TO 9 PER CENT THE STOCK MARKET CLOSED FIRM

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—(AP)—The stock market ran into the mire of tight money for the first time in several week today, but managed to plough through in remarkable style, closing with a wide assortment of issues up 5 to nearly 30 points, and about three dozen again treating on new high ground.

Call money renewed at 7 per cent and was successively stepped up to 9, the highest figure since Oct. 2. Banks called some $40,000,000 during the day to meet the holiday demands and to adjust their position at the federal reserve. An important factor in the money stringency has been the renewed outflow of gold. The recent movement to Canada reached $10,000,000 today, and the reserve bank announced ear marking of $13,000,000 this week, presumably for the Bank of France.

Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City bank, said today that the holiday demands will result in a higher average of rates during December, as is usual, with extremely tight money around the year end. The normal easing after Jan. 1 may be looked for, he explained, but the extent of the easing will depend upon the competition for funds from speculative circles. He pointed out that the speculative demand for funds may slacken without necessarily bringing about a reduction in stock values.

The day's selling was augmented by the desire to take profits before the Thanksgiving holiday, and the close resulted in a wide sprinkling of losses of 1 to 7 points, although the Associated Press average price of 20 industrials rose a fraction to a new high, while the average of 20 rails receded slightly from the high record made yesterday. Trading was slowed up considerably from the hectic pace of recent sessions during most of the day, but violent pool operations in a handful of specialties in the late trading carried the total sales up to 8,287,700 shares, just under yesterday's total. The ticker kept close to the market most of the day, even printing odd lot sales occasionally, but it ran for 19 minutes after the close.

The day's news was generally good news, with a half dozen extra dividends, including American Can, International Business Machine and Phillips Petroleum. The National City bank announced a five for one stock split, together with a "Thanksgiving melon" of about $60,000,000 in rights. The New Haven railroad placed its common stock on a regular $4 annual basis for the first time in more than 15 years. A number of October railway earnings statements here highly satisfactory, the total net for 88 class I roads showing an increase of 27 per cent over October, 1927.

The fireworks of the session were provided by A. M Byers, which shot up nearly 29 points to a record price of 180. The company is expected to increase its earnings through exclusive rights to the Ashton Puddling process. Spang Chalfant, with which it has a working agreement, stepped up more than 4 points. International Nickel was another spectacular performer, shooting up more than 13 points to a record price at 225 3-4. The floating supply of this issue has been sharply reduced by the reorganization program.

Non-ferrous metals generally were in urgent demand. American Smelting was bought on rumors that an important brass and copper merger of eastern and middle western companies is planned in which it will have a substantial interest. Anaconda, Federal Mining, McKeesport Tin and U. S. Smelting broke into new high territory, and National Lead made an extreme gain of about 3 points.

Railway equipment issues again went forward, General American Tank Car, Lima Locomotive, Pressed Steel Car and Union Tank Car mounting 2 to 6 points. Utilities also encountered good support, American and Foreign Power, Columbia Gas, and Brooklyn Edison touching new peaks, while Interborough Rapid Transit, Peoples Gas and Philadelphia Co. gained 4 to 5 points.

A few automotive shares were pushed vigorously forward, Mack Truck, in a burst of renewed activity, mounting about 8 points to a new peak at 110, Yellow Truck touching another new top at 56, and Motor Products and Electric Auto Lite making extreme gains of around 10 points. Nash Motors touched a new high and General Motors rallied nearly 3 points.

International Combustion Engineering rose about 10 points to a new top at 50, and it was understood that the Durant interests were again active in that issue. S. H. Kress rose about 10 points to a new peak at 124 3-4 on reports that negotiations for a merger with Schulte have been in progress for several months. By-Products Coke, Ingersoll Rand, Conde Nast, Eisenlohr, and Rossia Insurance made extreme gains of about 7 to 19 points.

In the rails, Norfolk and Western, Chicago Great Western, Rock Island, and Erie touched new peaks in moderate gains. Oils were inclined to heaviness.

Among the soft spots were Goodyear, Hershey Chocolate, Canadian Pacific, Commercial Solvents, International Business Machine, Curtiss Aero, Coty, Radio, Western Union, and Midland Steel Products preferred, which sagged 2 to 7 points, in profit taking. Wright lost about 5 points, then rallied.

In the commodity markets, grains ran into selling after early gains. Wheat was influenced by a sharp increase in the visible supplies. Cotton reacted after again advancing in the forenoon.

Foreign exchanges were quiet, with sterling and the Canadian dollar firm. Japanese yen had another drop, falling 22 points to 45.83 cents.

MISS WATERMAN'S CLAIM FOR $20,000 BALANCE DUE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Nov. 27—Tuesday was the second day of trial in the suit brought by Miss Laura E. Waterman, nurse and housekeeper, for services rendered in amount of $20,000 from the estate of Charles J. Green, former Richmond, R. I., town treasurer and school committeeman. Today Miss Waterman continued to testify until well into the afternoon when the spare jurors were excused to report Wednesday morning at 10:45. The witness was examined, cross-examined and examined in redirect testimony. Miss Waterman was a nurse for Mr. Greene during his illness and she brought suit to recover for back wages alleged due her. The case is being tried before Judge Arthur P. Sumner and a jury. From the testimony of Miss Waterman it appeared that Mr. Greene had no regularity in making the payments to the nurse for her services, but money was given her as she asked for it, and sometimes more. Miss Waterman, according to the testimony, had been in the Greene home for 14 years, from 1913 to the time of Mr. Greene's death, a year ago last month. Miss Waterman acted at first as a nurse and then as nurse and housekeeper. Between 1913 and 1927, Miss Waterman claimed, she was paid only $10,287.01 by Mr. Greene, whose estate is now estimated at $200,000. The plaintiff claims a balance due of $20,001.56.

Other witnesses were Oscar E. Barber, of Carolina, R. I., town clerk for the town of Richmond who produced a certified copy of the claim for $20,001 56, filed with the probate court on July 2, 1928, and disallowed by Sumner Mowry, executor. The jury was withdrawn while arguments were made as to the admissibility of the inventory of the Greene estate, finally ruled out by Judge Sumner.

Mrs. Jannitte L. Brown, who taught school under Charles J. Greene as superintendent and who resided near the Richmond town hall, testified to knowing and serving with Mr. Greene on the school committee, as being connected with the engaging of the Richmond visiting nurse, also acquainted with the work done by Miss Waterman.

MORGAN POST AUXILIARY TRAVELING BASKET PLAN

The auxiliary of Richard Williams Morgan post has elected officers for the coming year. The president is Miss Madeline Wiemer; vice president, Mrs. Haroldeen Campbell; secretary, Mrs. Helen Osborn; treasurer, Mrs. Marie Croucher; historian, Mrs. Rachel Berry; chaplain, Mrs. Wilhemena Grenley; sergeant at arms, Mrs. Alice Noyes. The members are to make their annual visit to the Mystic homes Thanksgiving day and Friday with the traveling basket. Each member starts from headquarters with a basket in which is generally some grocery item. The person first visited purchases this article for any amount she desires and puts another article in the basket. This procedure is repeated until every home has been visited. Proceeds are to go to make up Christmas boxes for disabled World war veterans in hospitals. Last year was the most successful so far since this method was inaugurated.

Friends are receiving cards from Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Allyn, telling of their safe arrival in Orlando, Florida. They left Mystic Wednesday morning, Nov. 14 and reached Orlando Monday the 19th before noon. They report a pleasant trip, with ideal weather all the time and roads good. They stopped over night at Princeton, N. J., Washington, D. C., where they met the Connecticut delegation on their way to the national grange. Their next stop was Raleigh, N. C., then Blackville, S. C., and Jacksonville, Fla. They saw the cotton fields of the Carolinas, acres, which looked like a good crop being picked. In Florida the prospects of good orange and grapefruit and crops is assured. The weather was cool, one morning showing white frost.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rickeman and family of Butler, N. J., are spending a few days at their summer home on Pequot avenue. Their daughter Catherine comes today (Wednesday) to be with her parents and return with them Sunday.

TO LEAVE ROAD REPAIRS WITH THE SELECTMEN

(Special to The Bulletin)

COLCHESTER, Nov. 27—There was an unusually large attendance at the special town meeting held in Grange hall yesterday afternoon. Charles F. Brown was chairman. The report of the committee appointed at the recent annual town meeting on the repair of the Colchester roads and bridges was read by James F. Purcell. Fred O. Brown, William K. Raymond, E. H. Norton and J. F. Purcell comprised the committee. The committee recommended that the repair of the town roads be let out to contract for the ensuing year, with periodic inspection by some reliable and experienced person. After the completion of the report, S. H. Kellogg addressed the meeting stating that, in his opinion, the town was better off to leave the road repairs in charge of the selectmen because when the repair work is let out to contract the contractor is apt to spend half of the money on road work and put the rest in his own pocket. Mr. Kellogg was stoutly supported in this contention by a large majority of those present. By an overwhelming vote the plan proposed by the road committee was rejected and the supervision of road repairs is left in full charge of the selectmen, as heretofore.

Against Water Piping

The other problem brought before the meeting was the question of appointing a committee to investigate the feasibility of piping water to the borough from the southern section of town. The Colchester Water Co. which was granted a charter by the state in 1926 was instrumental in having the matter brought up of the meeting. Samuel McDonald, G. J. Murray, J. F. Purcell and W. J. McDonald, all local people are the incorporators of the company. Mr. McDonald, in addressing the meeting said that the Dutton pond is 120 feet above the level of the village and has a flowage area of 156 acres. Mr. McDonald had no idea as to the probable cost of piping the water to the village but suggested that a committee be appointed to look into the matter. Fred O. Brown and A. T. VanCleve spoke in support of Mr. McDonald's views. Selectman C. A. Kramer and many other people thought that the installation of running water in the village would entail too great an expense. In addition to this they believed that the water question should have been brought before a borough meeting instead of a town meeting since people outside of the borough would not benefit from the water system.

By a decisive vote the proposal to appoint a committee to investigate the water supply problem was rejected. Many of the people were against the plan because it was taken for granted that they would have to fill up their wells if water is piped to the village, that being a requirement in cities having a water supply. Then too, it is generally felt that the town is deep enough in debt now, without adding any expenditures which are not absolutely needed. Incidentally, it is reported that the promoters of the water project are to bring the matter before a borough meeting at some later date.

Doctor at 83 Found People Preferred His Prescription

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Peppsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. If grown people want to use them no one can deny them the privilege, but they should never be given to children.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin why take chances with strong drugs? All drug stores have the generous bottles.

Many is the family today that makes it a rule always to have a bottle of this perfect preparation in the house. Keep it handy and observe these three simple rules of health: keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you—see special offer in coupon:

SCHOOL PUPILS PROMPT WHEN GIVEN FIRE DRILL

The village school on East Main street has a fire drill just so often, but the pupils do not know when it is coming. Right after singing the morning song the sign was given by Miss Eloise Ross and M. Balestrini sounded the bell which means fire call.

Every room was ready, the teachers telling the pupils not to get excited but to take their time even if it was a real fire. Two by two the children marched down the fire escapes like soldiers, reaching the ground in safety. The teachers were well pleased with the drill. A large crowd on the street was watching the children in action. Such drills are the very best thing for the children in case of a real fire, they know each position and are taught by the teachers not to lose their heads and rush for the fire escapes but to take their time and be as cool as a cucumber in the summer time.

Game Costly—Score a Tie

Dance hall football team have come back on their home field, after a few days trip to New Hampshire and Maine, by train and coach. Hurry Up John Bentley gave his players a day of rest Sunday, so as to be ready for East Providence Wild Cats, who sent the village players back from Providence early in the season with a close score. About 11 o'clock Monday morning a large bus came into the village loaded with Wildcat players. They got out in front of the Sardine club where they were taken care of by the Dance Hall players. A Mumford cove oyster stew was served to them which went good on a cold day. Changing their street clothes to the gridiron rigs they were off to Dunn's field for the battle. After a short practice Referee Orlando Clark got the game going, but only ten football fans braved the coldest day of the season so far when the wind was blowing across the field. Dance Hall team kicked off to the Wildcats, Lightning P. Steele made a pretty kick and it was caught by Looking Mike Olong, making a long run of 40 yards before he was brought to earth by Giant Eddie Ellis. But the Wildcats could not get through the Cod Chasers line for it was cement, and lost the ball on downs. It was Dance Hall's chance to see how the air line was. Southpaw Fitzgerald threw a forward pass 55 yards to left end. Listen-in L. Sullivan caught the ball over his left shoulder and was on his way to a touchdown, but Dash Crowell for the Wildcats, the fastest man on the team caught him on the one foot line. The East Providence line was strong and held for four downs, so the Cod Chasers lost the ball. Five Yard Jones, standing in back of his goal posts kicked out of danger. The score was 0 to 0 at the end of the first half. Coach Hurry Up Bentley tipped his players about line kicking while Coach Ike Phillips for East Providence, told his men to try more forward passes, shake the Rhode Island dust off their feet and let out. Soon the battle was on again and Five Yard Jones for the Wildcats got started to make a 72 yard run by broken field running but could not get by Long Reach Langworthy and was downed on the 6 inch line. Again the Wildcats had to give up the ball as the Dance Hall cement line was there. The game ended, Wildcats 0, Dance Hall 0. Manager K. Ebbetts said the team cost $225 to come here and went in the hole over $200 and the key of the treasure tin box was found and after opening it to pay off the Wildcats team there is still $400 left. It was the last game of the season. A big blow-out is to be held next week with reports made of how many games were won during the season.

Clarence Spink of Fall River, Mass., is home for a few days.

NEW LONDON PATROL BOAT FLOATS SCHOONER FAST ON FISHERS ISLAND

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 27—The four-masted schooner William P. Keer grounded on the southwest tip of Fishers Island last night and remained there until floated early this morning by the coast guard patrol boat Nemaha. Word of the vessel's plight reached the Fishers Island coast guard life saving station and was immediately transmitted to the base here and a rescue ship was ordered out. While the schooner was in no immediate danger, the exceedingly rough sea made going for the patrol boat very difficult. It took more than two hours of stiff fighting against the unusually high waves before the schooner was reached.

DISHONEST BUTLER HELD FOR SUPERIOR COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 27—Robert Devone, the Filipino butler employed for several months by Dr. Daniel Sullivan, Jerome court, was in the police court this morning charged with theft. Through his counsel, Devone demurred to the complaint, but the demurrer was overruled and the accused was held for trial at the next term of the criminal superior court. He was unable to provide a surety on his bond of $3,000 and was committed to jail. Devone was arrested on suspicion of having stolen $725 from the safe of the physician Sunday night during the absence of Dr. and Mrs. Sullivan from their home. After being a prisoner at police headquarters all Sunday night, during which time he steadfastly denied his guilt, Devone broke down and confessed to the theft the following afternoon. The money was recovered, it having been placed in the upholstery of Devone's automobile.

The Joseph Lawrence Free Public hospital has sold a house and lot, corner of Faire Harbour place and Riverview avenue, to Mary Freedman. The house was one of three private residences occupied by nurses of the hospital as a dormitory. The nurses are now occupying the recently completed dormitory on Faire Harbour place. Two other residences that have been used as dormitories will be sold, also.

NORWICH DRIVER FINED IN MONTVILLE JUSTICE COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 27—Gustav Sonnenberg, R. F. D., Norwich, paid for the erratic driving of his automobile Sunday. He was presented in a justice court at Montville last night on charges of reckless driving and evasion of responsibility. On the former count a fine of $25 and costs was imposed and Sonnenberg was penalized $50 and costs on the latter charge. Sonnenberg was driving through Montville and in such a reckless manner that his auto sideswiped another car, which was forced off the highway. The driver of the car struck managed to obtain the markers of the colliding car and reported the reckless driving to the state police of Groton barracks. The accused was arrested yesterday by Officer Frank Webber.

A Chrysler coupe, owned by Mrs. Edith L. Grant, 7 Water street, Stonington, which was stolen in this city Saturday night, has been recovered. The state police yesterday found the auto abandoned in the woods near Oxoboxo lake, Montville. The auto was parked about 200 yards from the highway and view of it was hidden by woodland. The auto was one of three stolen in New London Saturday night and Sunday morning. All have now been recovered.

Charles Appley of Long Hill, Groton, was struck and knocked down on Thames street, Groton, yesterday afternoon by an automobile driven by George H. Godfrey of 9 Beckwith street, this city. After an examination he was reported as not being seriously injured and went to his home. Godfrey was not arrested as it seemed that contributory negligence of both parties was responsible for the accident.

Patients dismissed today from Lawrence-Memorial hospital were Mrs. Arthur Jackson and daughter, of 41 Church street, Groton; Mrs. Henry C. Tiede, Groton; Catian Patrick Durkan, of S. S. Polver.

GETTING LIQUOR EASY FROM THIS DRUG CLERK

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 27—J. Elisor Metivier, employed as clerk in the drug store of Leon Higgins, Pawcatuck, was in Stonington town court this morning charged with violation of the liquor law. He pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs. Metivier was arrested yesterday afternoon by State Police Officer Bernard Kennerson. Complaint had been made to the state police that liquor was being sold at the drug store without the purchaser being compelled to supply a physician's prescription. Officer Kennerson went to Stonington and experienced little or no difficulty in purchasing a pint of whiskey from Metivier. After the sale Metivier was arrested. It is understood that Metivier sold the whiskey unknown to his employer.

REV. GORDON BODENWEIN, S. T. D. HONORED BY MANY FRIENDS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 27—A testimonial dinner was tendered Rev. Gordon Bodenwein, S. T. D. at the Hotel Mohican last night by over 150 friends and admirers. Those present gave the guest of honor a beautiful solid gold chalice as a token of their affection and regard. In accepting the gift Father Bodenwein appeared deeply touched. He was the principal speaker of the evening and in his address described the feeling of one who has chosen the mission of Christ as his life work. He declared, "I had rather be what I am, a priest, than have my name written in letters of gold on the most enduring monument of time." The dinner was a tribute to him upon his transfer to Bethel, Conn., from St. Agnes' church at Niantic, where he served as curate late summer. Father Bodenwein was presented the chalice, the presentation address being made by Rev. Raymond J. O'Callaghan, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, who told the departing guest that the gift symbolized the sincerity and lastingness of the affection of the people of this city. Deeply touched by the gift and the spirit that prompted it, Father Bodenwein said that he had done nothing to warrant or deserve such a wonderful testimonial but that he would carry with him forever the bright recollections of the event.

The dinner was served in the main ball room, and Father Bodenwein occupied the place of honor at the head table, flanked on one side by Toastmaster David A. Connors and on the other by Rev. Edwin A. Flynn, pastor of St. Agnes' church at Niantic, whom Father Bodenwein came to assist last summer. Others at the head table included Mayor Malcolm M. Scott, Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth, Rev. William J. Fox, pastor of Sacred Heart church, Groton, Rev. Raymond J. O'Callaghan, Harry M. May, Peter J. Eshenfelder, Senator-elect William C. Fox, Theodore Bodenwein, father of the guest of honor, Arthur Keefe, William T. May and Judge C. C. Costello of Groton.

The program was opened with grace by Father Flynn and during the service of the dinner, Assistant Potsmaster Edward T. Corcoran was song leader. Music for the group singing was furnished by Prof. Frederick C. Wight at the piano. There were inspiring addresses by Mayor M. M Scott, Rev. Mr. Danforth, Senator-elect Fox and Judge Costello.

Francis J. DeGange has sold an undivided one-half interest in a house and lot on Ocean avenue.

FUNERAL

Mrs. Alcido Hadley

The funeral of Mrs. Mildred Hadley, wife of Alcido Hadley, of 1 Richards street, was held this morning at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, the high mass of requiem being sung by Rev. George Clark. The bearers were Joseph Christopher, R. A. Richards, L. J. VanHalt, Frank Brooks, Leo Copeland and A. Maynard. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

STATE PIER FIRE LOSS NOW ESTIMATED AT $70,000

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 27— Business was transacted with dispatch at the local base 4, state pier, of the United States Coast Guard, which was visited by a destructive fire last night when a series of buildings, including the radio office, sick bay, barracks and store house were destroyed. The entire personnel there was on hand as usual this forenoon and all work was carried on as though nothing out of the ordinary had occurred. How the fire originated is still to be solved. It is known however that the fire started in the building occupied by the radio, but from what cause may never be known, although the officers there intimate that in their opinion the fire originated from defective electric light wiring, but that is simply a matter of conjecture. The fire gained headway with great rapidity from the time it was discovered and because of the nature of the construction of the buildings, for all were of the wooden type, the blaze gained volume by leaps and bounds and although the fire fighting equipment at the base was brought into play, there was absolutely no chance to stem the advance of the flames. It is claimed that the uniformed fire-fighters of the coast guard allowed the fire to rage too long before an alarm was sent in, for when the New London firemen arrived at the pier the buildings were a mass of flames. The storehouse containing oil, gasoline, paints and ammunition, was an easy prey for the blaze. After the storehouse had been consumed it was an easy matter for the firemen to quell the flames. The buildings destroyed were all the property of the State of Connecticut and it is understood that they will be replaced by a structure of a more modern and less hazardous type. The body of George Tattleman, a patient in the sick bay and who perished in the flames, has been removed to an undertaking establishment, while it awaits the wishes of his relatives as to the disposition of the remains. It is believed that Tattleman was overcome by smoke while assisting in the rescue of the other 50 patients in the sick bay. His body was burned beyond recognition. The exact amount of the loss that the state will suffer has not been determined, but it exceeds that which was believed would be the loss last night. When the fire had been extinguished it was the general opinion of officers at the case that the loss would not exceed $50,000, but today it was stated that the loss would reach close to $70,000.

E. G. Buckland, it is anticipated by employes of the New Haven railroad, will be elected by succeed Edward J. Pierson as president of the road, when the latter's resignation becomes effective Dec. 31. Mr. Buckland is known to be a competent official of the railroad and during the world war he was president of the corporation.

SHIP AND ENGINE CO. PLANT IS GETTING NEW BUSINESS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 27—There is a noticeable activity at the plant of the New London Ship & Engine company. The Vanadium Metals company are working on full time, something that has not been the case in many months. Improvements are being made there and officials of the company are anticipating an increase in orders, for which they have been negotiating during several months.

Thanksgiving day will be observed generally throughout the city, for practically all business will be suspended, excepting that in markets and grocery stores, which will be open during a part of the forenoon. But all other places will suspend business Wednesday night and remain closed until Friday.

The young son of Theodore Constantine, 25 Rosemary street, reported to the police tonight that earlier in the evening his Iver Johnson bicycle had been stolen while he absented himself a short time from the wheel on State street.

Mrs. Mary Brydson Connell, about 50, wife of George Connell, died last night at her residence, 318 Bank street. She had been ill for a long time. Mrs. Connell, besides her husband, is survived by three sisters who reside in Scotland and two nephews residents of Boston. She was born in Scotland and for many years resided in Waterford. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church and Lady Strathcona lodge, Daughters of Scotia.

The funeral of Ralph W. Tinker was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of his sister, Mrs. George N. Church, Willetts avenue extension and was attended by a large gathering of mourners. The services were conducted by Rev. Chester H. Howe, pastor of the First Baptist church. The bearers were Monroe Beckwith, Jeremiah Street, Harry Nichols and Henry Rogers. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Private funeral services for Mrs. Harriet R. Vincent were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at her residence, Hotel Mohican. Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth conducted the services. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth Donohue Johnson, 27, wife of Edwin Johnson, died this morning at her residence, 276 Crystal avenue after an illness of about three years. Besides her husband, Mrs. Johnson is survived by a daughter, Delphine, 5 and a son, John, 4. Mrs. Johnson is also survived by her mother, Mrs. Sarah Donohue, New York; four sisters, Mrs. Edward Cavanaugh and Mrs. John Hanford of this city and Misses Anna and Rose Donohue, New York and by three brothers, William, Edward and Richard Donohue of New York.

Married Six Months Ago

At a shower given by Mrs. C. C Macdonald at the home of Mrs. Andrew Spesa, 50 Mountain avenue last night, the marriage of Miss Nellie Prescott, a sister of the hostess and William J. Ypders of the Coast Guard was announced. News of the wedding which occurred six months ago came as a surprise to the guests. The bride received many gifts. After an evening of games and music refreshments were enjoyed.

Lindskog-McGinley

Thomas S. McGinley, son of Mrs. Evelyn E. McGinley of Highland avenue is to marry Miss Paula M. Lindskog of Long Beach, California this (Wednesday) afternoon at the Little Church Around the Corner in New York city.

Members of the Harbour club and friends are to hold a harvest dance tomorrow night in the club house. Dancers will come in rustic costume.

At the meeting of Goff temple, Pythian Sisters to be held tomorrow night a roll call and first nominations for officers will take place. Mrs. Jane Reed, most excellent chief will preside over the meeting.

Mrs. Chester H. Howe was given a surprise party last night by members of Hitalo class of the First Baptist church, when a number of them arrived unannounced at her home. Those present presented her with a canary bird and cage as a token of appreciation of her work in the church.

Scout Contributions Less

The sum raised so far in the Boy Scout drive launched last week totals $4,899, which amount is about $4,000 less than the goal aimed at. However the needed sum is expected to be secured before the campaign ends.

Station House Keeper Frank Corcoran is confined to his home by illness, not, however of a serious nature

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre.

Ruth Elder, the plucky aviatrix who with Capt. George Haldeman braved the Atlantic in a futile attempt to span the ocean by air in the plane "The American Girl" in the fall of 1927, and who was rescued at sea after their plane had failed, makes her motion picture debut at the Palace theatre playing opposite Richard Dix in "Moran of the Marines." The picture opens tomorrow for a three days' engagement.

The public is well acquainted with the manner in which Miss Elder was brought to the fore. Winning a beauty contest on the same day Lindbergh essayed his epochal flight from New York to Paris, she harbored the ambition to be the first woman to make the same flight, being an accomplished flyer herself, she enlisted the aid of Capt. George Haldeman to act as her co-pilot.

Followed a trip to Paris and return to the United States, Miss Elder entered vaudeville and, while playing Los Angeles was given a screen test by Paramount. It proved so satisfactory that she was given a contract later in New York. Her assignment to play the feminine role opposite Richard Dix followed.

"I don't believe Miss Elder will ever have to worry about a future on the screen," said Dix recently. "She worked opposite me like a veteran, and I think her acting ability is with her just like her ability to fly and that is natural. Although nervous at first, she soon overcame that and behaved before the camera like she had been doing it for years. People do not realize what a remarkable thing that is, and it only bears out the many written stories about Miss Elder's being able to overcome all obstacles. She is truly a remarkable character."

Broadway Theatre.

The Broadway theatre will soon present one of the most sensational pictures of the season. It is "The Melody of Love," an all-talking picture, made by Universal with such well-known players as Walter Pidgeon, Mildred Harris, Jane Winton and Tom Dugan. It will open here tomorrow.

World-famed musical celebrities from the Hollywood Bowl orchestra, the golden harmonists comprising the Los Angeles Police quartette; talented veterans of the World war and a renowned director also are among the ingredients of this pioneer Universal 100 per cent. talking picture.

"The Melody of Love" is Universal's proud dedication to the newest form of entertainment. From the first flash to final fadeout, every sound, from the slightest inflection of the player's voices to the incidental atmospheric noises, is brought faithfully to the ear of the audience.

The leading role is portrayed by Walter Pidgeon, who gives generously of his marvelous baritone voice; beautiful Mildred Harris enacts the role of the French heroine, her beautiful soprano standing her in good stead in this difficult part; Jane Winton and Tom Dugan, well known on stage and screen are heard to great advantage; and Jack Richardson and Victor Potel complete the list of an imposing array of principals.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Hi-test Tydol.

To mark its fiftieth anniversary with a fitting product, the Tide Water Oil company is offering a new gasoline that should attract wide interest among automobilists. This new gasoline, known as Hi-test Tydol has been achieved by marshalling the utmost resources of a great modern refinery and taking advantage of the latest discoveries of trained technologists with the result that the new fuel is offered as a premium gasoline at the price of an ordinary gasoline.

Tide Water engineers explain that this assertion is made on behalf of the new product only because both road tests and laboratory tests have shown that the new gasoline has every property the automobilist demands for his modern high-compression motor.

An interesting group of testing devices have been assembled to make certain that Hi-test Tydol does everything that is claimed for it, according to Dr. L. F. Parsons, chief technologist of the Tide Water company who lists these as the qualities that go to make up a well-balanced premium gasoline; instant starting, quick acceleration at both high and low speeds, anti-knock, high power all the way through the piston stroke and long mileage.

"We looked inside a glass bomb," said Dr. Parsons, "and watched this gasoline explode. The bomb was equipped with a measuring device so that we were able to see that with just a fraction of a drop in the bomb there was instant explosion with the spark. The smaller the quantity of gasoline needed to answer instantly to the spark in this way, the livelier the fuel, and hence the less does the motorist have to use the choke in cold weather. But even this visual evidence of quick starting was not enough. We used a complicated machine designed by the U. S. Bureau of Mines to measure the same result in another way and then we made split-second watch road tests for practical proof of what we had seen in the laboratory.

"Acceleration, too, we measured both in the laboratory and on the road until we were certain not only of fast pick up, but that after the car was doing 25 miles an hour it could be stepped up to 55 so swiftly the response of the fuel seemed instantaneous.

"Anti-knock determination is a much more technical and complicated process. It is done with a Midgley indicator and gives a cold, matter of fact record of the knock rating of any gasoline and told us beyond a doubt that Hi-test Tydol could be called anti-knock without any fear of challenge.

"Block and road tests for high power and long mileage which showed that Hi-test Tydol was a premium gasoline in both respects, concluded the examination that decided us we had evolved a product suitable to our rounding of the half-century mark."

According to Dr. Parsons there is no secret in the production of the new gasoline. Fifty years in the field had made the Tide Water Oil company master of its own crude supply situation, so that it was able to say to its engineers and its chemists, "Write the best gasoline prescription you can and we will fill it." Also, Dr. Parsons made clear that millions of dollars spent in modernizing the Bayonne, N. J., refinery had resulted in a plant that set a new mark for petroleum refiners everywhere. He instanced the new "Battery A" famous throughout the industry, where multiple distillation is carried out at a single operation, and where "bubble towers" ingeniously take the sluggishness out of the product. He cited the cracking coils with their impressive bored billets of forged steel, as huge as the Big Bertha guns of the late war. In this monster installation pressure and heat combine to produce a volatile, high-test gasoline and in them, too, the knock is taken out. Dr. Parsons also mentioned the contact treaters which are known as "Tide Water's own" because they were developed by engineers within the plant as a certain method of eliminating the impurities that mar the motor.

After explaining the technical features of the Bayonne refinery, Dr. Parsons added that such scientifically precise mechanical and electric control had been worked out for every step in the process, with each step laboratory-guided from start to finish, that a uniform product was bound to result, the desired qualities being uniformly built into every drop of finished gasoline that emerged.

"Thus" Dr. Persons concluded, "by scientific selection of the proper elements, scientific control of their production, and refining methods that made every gallon of crude yield its utmost of the desired components, we were able to make a premium gasoline without increasing the price. And then we gave Hi-test Tydol a green color to distinguish it."

Thanksgiving Entertainment.

St. Andrew's church, Colchester, will hold its annual Thanksgiving entertainment and dance at Grange hall, Colchester, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, Nov. 28 and 29. The program suited to present-day conditions in that rural parish provides a Polish orchestra, The Frank Jagielski orchestra of Hartford for Wednesday evening and a Polish concert of singing and recitations, Polish folk dances and present-day dances. Thursday evening children will present the entertainment and music will be by Brennan's Norwich orchestra. The affair is to provide funds for the Diamond Jubilee celebration next year of St. Andrew's parish.

Breed Theatre

"The Winning of Barbara Worth," Samuel Goldwyn's presentation of the Henry King production of Harold Bell Wright's best selling novel, with Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky, come to the Breed theatre as the feature attraction for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The dramatic romance which features Ronald Colman and the lovely Vilma Banky, reunited on the screen after a year's separation in other films, is a glowing tale of those pioneers who battled with the menace of water, first in its total absence and then in its over-flowing presence. It is at once the story of vast lands reclaimed and the reclamation of a man's soul.

"The Winning of Barbara Worth" presents the most unique etern triangle of any of the more important films, with Willard Holmes, eastern engineer, coming to love Barbara just as Abe Lee, desert-bred westerner, does; and poor Barbara does not know her own mind, loving both. Gary Cooper, one of the year's "finds," plays Abe Lee to Ronald Colman's Holmes. And Miss Banky is Barbara Worth, daughter of the Jefferson Worth who knew the west should be reclaimed.

The ten million readers of Mr. Wright's best seller will find the salient features of the dramatic narrative preserved. Abe Lee and Holmes ride for their lives with the money, the poor benighted townsfolk flee in splendidly staged stampede away from the waters, the sandstorm of the desert whips and lashes Jefferson Worth and his beautiful wife in the prologue, orphaning the baby Barbara. And Henry King has beautifully photographed a tornado for the first time in a motion picture, made possible through a stroke of fortune while the company was on location in the desert.

Sharing interest with the widely read dramatic narrative of Harold Bell Wright and the fame that already attaches to the picture Henry King, maker of "Stella Dallas," has made of "The Winning of Barbara Worth," is the reunion of Goldwyn's complementary stars.

SANTA CLAUS COMING TO PORTEOUS & MITCHELL'S

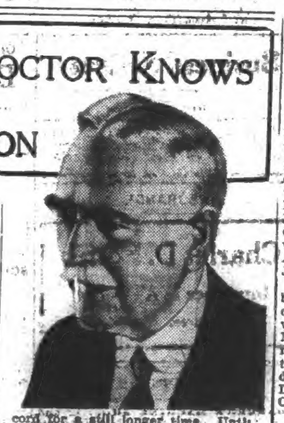
Good news for the children of Norwich, and in fact for all the children of eastern Connecticut, is contained in the announcement by the Porteous & Mitchell Co., of this city, that they have had a radiogram from Santa Claus, sent from his home at the North pole, stating that he is leaving and will soon be on his way to their store and expects to arrive Saturday, Dec. 1, on schedule time.

According to his message, it has been a mild season in his cozy home in the north and for that reason he has been able to work every day and to assemble a greater collection of toys and playthings than ever before. He states that he will make the first part of his journey in his special airplane, because in some sections there is no snow for his sled. Once he enters eastern Connecticut, he will leave his airplane and travel in his "Santa Claus Special" so that his little boy and girl friends along the route may see him and talk with him. He expects to meet and occupy his special car just north of Baltic.

This is his route as planned. Arrive at 2 o'clock, Occum at 2:15, Taftville at 2:30, Greeneville at 2:45, finally arriving at Franklin square at 2:55. He will then proceed to the store of the Porteous & Mitchell Co., where in their large window his work shop has been erected, amidst scenes which will remind Santa of his home at the North pole, the entire arrangement being one which will charm and enchant the younger generation.

The Santa Claus window, which was designed and arranged by Joseph T. Farrell, the store decorator, has many new and novel features this year and will be a source of delight to the children and of interest to their elders. The management of the Porteous & Mitchell Co. says, "Bring the kiddies to see Santa Claus arrive on Saturday afternoon; or if you live in any one of the towns through which his special car will pass, be sure and be on hand with the children to meet the 'Santa Claus Special.' This triumphal journey of Santa Claus is an event that has been planned especially for the enjoyment of the children; the memory of which will last long after other happenings of childhood days are forgotten."

WHAT A DOCTOR KNOWS ABOUT CONSTIPATION



There IS a way to overcome the tendency to constipation. And here is how you can PROVE it:

The next time your bowels need any assistance don't take the first laxative that comes to mind. Take one the druggist can assure you is made with CASCARA. Just as effective as using force, and it's good for the system, indeed, it helps make good blood. For cascara is nothing but the bark of a tree. The Indians chew this bark, and live to an old age without a day's sickness.

What happens when you cascarize he bowels! They will usually function well for SEVERAL DAYS. One more dose—no larger, and perhaps smaller than the first—and the bowels function of their own accord for a still longer time. Until you don't feel the need of any aid of any sort for weeks on end.

So, the only habit you get from cascara is that of natural and normal regularity. How different from things one must usually repeat on the morrow! Cascara is the ideal laxative; and the familiar little candy Cascaret is doubtless its ideal form. Children beg for these tasty tablets, and many men and women wouldn't think of taking ANYTHING else for the purpose And EVERY drugstore has them.

CASCARETS They Work While You Sleep!

HAD TO WORK TOO HARD

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Gave Her Strength

Mt. Carmel, Pa.—"After my second baby was born I had to work too hard and be on my feet too soon because my husband was ill. After his death I was in such a weakened and run-down condition that nothing seemed to help me. I am starting the fourth bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and feel a great deal better. I am much stronger and don't get so tired out when I wash or work hard. I do housekeeping and dress-making and I highly recommend the Vegetable Compound. I am willing to answer letters."—Mrs. GERTRUDE BUTTS, 414 S. Market St., Mt. Carmel, Pa.

TWO IN AUTOMOBILE GO THROUGH FENCE ON CURVE IN THE PINES

Two men miraculously escaped death about 7.15 o'clock Tuesday evening when their machine, a Buick closed car, left the military highway in "The Pines", tore down fifty feet of fence and came within an ace of dropping down a steep embankment. All that saved them from plunging end over end to the bottom of the steep drop was a slender tree against which the machine lodged.

The victims of the accident are M. J. Holland of No. 54 Chicago avenue, Groton, and Joseph Racicot of No. 16 Prospect street, Willimantic. Mr. Holland escaped with a fractured nose and minor abrasions and Mr. Racicot received lacerations. Both men were treated at the W. W. Backus hospital, this city, to which they were rushed a few minutes after the accident. They left the hospital shortly afterwards.

The machine, almost new, was badly wrecked. It is registered in the name of Helen O'Brien Holland and it is said that Mr. Holland was driving. The two men were evidently on their way to Groton and from marks in the highway and the extensive damage caused to the car, it is thought to have been traveling at a fast rate. As the car approached a curve it left the highway and crashed into the fence on the right hand side of the road. Tearing down about 50 feet of the fence, the front of the machine went over the bank, and became wedged between a small tree and the side of the bank. One of the fence rails was driven through the radiator and carried along by the car in its plunge. Both front wheels were crushed under the machine and the front bumper was picked up about 100 feet away from the machine, where it was either thrown or rolled down the embankment when torn from its fastenings.

The state police were notified and Officer Kenerson conducted an investigation. As far as could be learned no other machine was involved in the accident.

TURNBULL DIES FROM INJURIES IN ACCIDENT

As the result of injuries received in an automobile accident on the Military highway, November 19th, James Turnbull, 52, known as the "snake man" died at 4.05 o'clock Tuesday morning at the W. W. Backus hospital. Mr. Turnbull was operating an automobile towards this city from the Norwich state hospital and started over the old road. Then noticing his mistake he attempted to get back on the new highway stretch and an automobile operated by Herbert Campbell, a local salesman, collided with his machine. Mr. Campbell was also injured but was discharged from the hospital several days ago.

Medical Examiner C. C. Glidersleeve stated that Mr. Turnbull's death was due to the injuries received in the accident with septic peritonitis. Coroner Edward G. McKay will conduct an investigation. The state police are still investigating the crash.

At one time Mr. Turnbull conducted a large farm on Wauwecus hill where he kept a menagerie of pets. He specialized in reptiles and at one time made yearly visits to various sections of the state to enlarge his collection. Through his extensive handling of reptiles, Mr. Turnbull was known to many people as the "snake man". He recently exhibited some of his reptiles at Clark's Pet shop. About a year ago he sold his farm and for two months past he has been employed as an attendant at the Norwich state hospital.

Mr. Turnbull was born in Scotland, May 6, 1876 and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Turnbull. The family came to this country when he was 9 years old, locating in Ashaway, R. I. His father was employed as a night watchman there for years.

In 1904 Mr. Turnbull was united in marriage with Miss Helen Greenwood of Westerly, R. I. For three years Mr. and Mrs. Turnbull made their home in Ashaway and then removed to Saugus, Mass., where they resided five years. About 18 years ago they came to Norwich and had since resided here.

Mr. Turnbull was a member of the Central Baptist church. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Helen Dorothy Turnbull and Mrs. W. O. Buddington, two brothers, John and Peter Turnbull of Ashaway and three sisters, Mrs. Edmund Smith, Mrs. Everett Conn and Mrs. Harold Saunders of Stonington.

PROBE OF PROPAGANDA IN NORWICH SCHOOLS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—A probe of public utilities propaganda circulated in Norwich, Conn., schools is planned in a sweeping national educational association program, it was learned here today. The probe is the outgrowth of the exposures in the current investigation of the power interests by the federal trade commission. The purpose of the investigating committee will be to study constructively the question of how Connecticut schools may bring themselves closer in touch with everyday life through proper use of the vast amount of material which various organizations and agencies have made available for school use.

The committee also will state the principles which should guide school officials and teachers in using such material.

The committee will study the question as it concerns all business and educational organizations which have distributed material in the schools rather than confining itself to particular power interests and utilities.

BRINGS FORECLOSURE ON TWO PIECES OF PROPERTY

Attorney Thomas J. Kelley of this city as administrator of the estate of Abraham Schanker, late of this city, is made a defendant in two foreclosure actions brought in the superior court by The Dime Savings bank, according to papers served by Deputy Sheriff Oscar H. Main.

The bank seeks to foreclose on two pieces of property located in this city as the result of two notes, it is now holding given by Schanker. One note is for $5,500 and the other is for $1,800. The State Finance corporation of New London, is cited in as party defendant, the concern claiming to hold a mortgage for $2,000 on the property.

SUES CITY BECAUSE OF DEEP RIVER RESERVOIR

Damages of $10,000 and an injunction against the city of Norwich are claimed in a suit brought in the superior court by John Langennegger owner of a summer boarding house near Salem Four corners.

Langennegger claims that his business has been ruined by orders from the city of Norwich prohibiting bathing in a pond on his land from which runs a stream which is a tributary to Deep River, which is the water supply for the city's new reservoir. Without the bathing feature, his summer resort is valueless, he claims.

FORECLOSURE SUIT ON N. MAIN ST. PROPERTY

In a foreclosure action brought in superior court by Anna T. Barber of this city in which a receiver was asked for and Judge John R. Booth appointed Gilbert S. Raymond as temporary receiver, Mrs. Barber is suing Blanche Bendett, wife of Lester Bendett, of this city, for foreclosure of a $4,500 mortgage on property located in North Main street, Norwich, part of which is being used as a gasoline station.

Party defendants named are the Beacon Oil Co., claiming a $2,000 mortgage, Onfrio Amedio and Cosmo Quarto claiming a five year lease on a portion of the property, and Irving M. Bronervine, claiming a $50 attachment lien.

Mrs. Irene Burnham, American Federation of Women's clubs.

WILL SEND BODY TO OKLAHOMA FOR BURIAL

The body of Aubrey Goodpasteure, 28, killed in an automobile accident Sunday night in Montville, will be sent to Hydro, Okla., for burial. The former naval man's father, F. D. Goodpasteure was located in Hydro by Undertaker C. A. Gager and telegraphic instructions were received by Mr. Gager Tuesday to send the body to Oklahoma. The funeral service is to be held at the undertaking parlors today (Wednesday) and friends will accompany the body to Hydro. Mr. Goodpasteure will be buried in his naval uniform.

NATIVE OF SALEM DIED IN MASSACHUSETTS

George P. DeWolfe, 82, the oldest business man in the town of Spencer, Mass., died there Sunday morning.

Mr. DeWolfe was born in Salem, this state, the son of Edward and John Lattimer DeWolfe. He enlisted at the age of 17 in Co. H of the First Connecticut Cavalry and fought under General Custer.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Harry A. Moore of Salem, Conn., Eleanor of Philadelphia; and George of New Haven, and a brother, Frank, of Salem, Conn.

TAFTVILLE

A number of friends of Miss Edith Louise Heap surprised her Friday evening at her home on South Second avenue. Games and music made the evening pass enjoyably, and in behalf of the assembled company, Miss Ruby Houston presented Miss Heap with a purse. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lee Heap, assisted by Miss Elsie Heap and Miss Flossie M. Meyer, and the party terminated at a late hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bayreuther of Albany, N. Y., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Bayreuther of the Jewett City road.

The last in the series of social evenings arranged for the parishioners of Sacred Heart church was held Tuesday evening at St. Theresa's hall in the basement of the church. There was a large attendance, all the evenings being pronounced successes.

John Cubanski has returned to his home in Manville, R. I., after a week's stay with Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Kilbosa of Norwich avenue.

SIX JUDGMENTS IN COMMON PLEAS COURT

Six judgments were entered by Judge Charles B. Waller at Monday's motion list session of the court of common pleas in New London.

Anetone Guinart of Ledyard was given judgment for $349.75 against Theodore R. Chappell, of Waterford. The judgment was in accordance with a sworn bill of particulars.

Edmund Lamb of Ledyard was given judgment for $311.31 against Chappell, in accordance with a sworn bill of particulars.

Judgment for $319.96 on a sworn bill of particulars was given A. Josephson of Waterford against Chappell. Chappell.

The First Division Pictures of Boston was given judgment of $227.80 against the Capitol theater of New London for advertising.

Judgment for strict foreclosure in the amount of $321.69 was given the Savings Bank of New London, against Giuseppe Logiocco, and others. The last Monday in December was given as the limitation of time.

Judgment for $150 was given Mike Girl of New London against John B. Leary, also of New London. The judgment was in accordance with a sworn bill of particulars.

Default Opened.

Default was opened in the case of Philip O. Hatch against Ida McMoran and others. The default was of Nov. 12, 1928.

A default of Nov. 20, 1928, in the case of Robert Goldstein against J. Birenbaum was opened.

Disclosed of defense within two weeks or judgment, was ordered in the case of the Westerly Maytag Co., against Harry B. Haynes.

Motions Continued.

Humphrey-Cornell Co., against Ferissa M. Jenkins, disclosure of defence or judgment.

The Texas Co., against Shetucket Coal & Lumber Co., disclosure of defense or judgment.

B. Dudley Lathrop against Annie M. Page, disclosure of defense or judgment.

Edward McNamara against Theodore Larsen, et al., disclosure of defense or judgment.

Edward G. Hellyar against Walter Petka, judgment by default for failure to plead.

HEIR UNDER SCROGGIE WILL SEEKS INTERPRETATION

A judgment in connection with the provisions of his mother's will is sought by Joseph H. Scroggie of New London against Mary Scroggie and State Attorney Arthur M. Brown according to papers filed in the superior court Tuesday.

The plaintiff claims that his mother, Mary E. Scroggie, on July 19, 1894, executed and delivered to the plaintiff a warranty deed to a house and lot in Richards street but that she reserved a life interest in it, and that after the death of his mother, on April 2, 1909, he was to have it.

He claims that the defendant Mary Scroggie is unmarried and that William J. Scroggie, her son is married and has three children all more than 21 years of age and that Arthur M. Brown as state attorney, represented the unborn children.

He asks that the court enter judgment giving him the premises for life; that the part in the deed, which says, that after his death, "to his heirs in fee," be declared void; and that W. J. and Mary Scroggie, children of Mary E. Scroggie, as the only other heirs are entitled to the remainder of the estate after the life interest of the plaintiff.

TWO WIVES SEEK FOR DIVORCE FOR DESERTION

Papers in two new divorce actions have been served by Deputy Sheriff Manuel J. Martin and are returnable to the superior court in December.

Catherine J. Ameden of Waterford seeks a divorce from John H. Ameden of North River, N. Y., on the grounds of desertion, alleged since Nov. 1, 1925. The couple was married April 19, 1923. The petitioner also seeks permission to resume her maiden name, Catherine J. Doherty.

On the grounds of desertion, alleged since Dec. 16, 1922, Bessie Klatchkin, alias Bessie King of Colchester, seeks a divorce from Harry Klatchkin, alias Harry King, of Brooklyn, N. Y. They were married April 26, 1917. The petitioner, also seeks to resume her maiden name, Bessie Gelmur.

Flag Honor to Former Mayor

The flag on the court house was at half-mast Tuesday out of respect to ex-Mayor Jeremiah J. Desmond, who died Monday. Mayor Lee Roy Robbins ordered the flag half-masted. Members of the New London County Bar association of which Mr. Desmond was a member for 48 years, are to attend the funeral services at St. Patrick's church in a body, according to an announcement made by Hibberd R. Norman, secretary of the bar association. The members will meet at the superior court clerk's office.

MAKES ADDRESS AT NOONDAY SHOP MEETING

At the noon meeting under Y. M. C. A. auspices at the plant of the Richmond Radiator Monday at 12.30 Rev. Charles H. Ricketts gave the employes attending the meeting a very interesting and helpful talk on the topic, "Preparation For Tomorrow."

Rev. Mr. Ricketts spoke in part as follows: We have a good illustration of the necessity of doing the things needful now, rather than wait until later. Jesus met a blind man, and doubtless reasoned that he would probably never pass that way and see that man again; he therefore made some clay and told the blind man to go and wash and be cured. Jesus did the thing on the spot that needed to be done. We should do now the things that need to be done now. There is, in a sense no such thing as tomorrow, for the so-called tomorrow soon becomes today, etc.

The New Haven railroad management repair their tracks just when they need repairing, a mile at a time, and in doing this they avoid loss of life and costly damages. If a boulder falls on the track, they at once flag the coming trains and they remove the boulder at once; it must be done right away.

In the matter of schooling, the time for it is when we are young and not wait until we are old; it is usually too late then. I knew a man years ago in middle life; a large, burly fellow, who did not know how to read and write. He was converted one night in a Methodist church, and he right away felt the need of some education and tried to learn to read and write, but it was too late; he could not master it. It is also true in regard to learning a trade. What man when he is past middle life would say to his wife, "I think I will learn a trade." The wife would conclude that he should have attended to that years before; it is now too late.

There is a time when no time is as good a time as now.

The same thing is true in business life. If a man borrows money for 90 days, when that time has expired, it would do no good for him to say to mimself, "Well I will let it slide along, it will make no difference." He must pay it on time.

Every man is normally bound to make provision for old age, and society owes it to every man who does his share of the world's work to make this provision possible. He has a right to look forward to the time of retirement feeling that he and his will be cared for.

Any man who "gets there" must expect to work hard and faithfully; today is the sound of battle, but if he is faithful he will share in the victor's song on the tomorrow, and the Almighty God will say to every faithful man, "well done good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of the Lord."

NORWICH TOWN

SCHOOL PUPILS' GENEROUS THANKSGIVING DONATIONS

The spirit of Thanksgiving was manifested by the enthusiastic children of the Norwich Town schools, as they liberally contributed all sorts of good things to be distributed to the needy by the United Workers of Norwich. The goods, which were collected Tuesday morning, comprised a large quantity from each building. At the Samuel Huntington school, West Town street, nearly seven barrels of all kinds of vegetables and fruit, canned goods, jellies, etc., were received. The 390 pupils at this school brought cabbages, potatoes, turnips, squash, onions, apples, and various other things, designed to go toward making up the holiday dinner.

At the Town street school, where many of the smaller children are cared for, including those of the first four grades, generous supplies were also donated by the pupils. There was a variety of vegetables and fruit, estimated as several bushels. There also were jellies, canned fruits, also canned vegetables, sugar, tea and coffee, as well as some money. A number of the bags contained an assortment of vegetables.

Old folks concert, Cong. chapel, Friday, 7.30 p. m., 35 cents.—adv.

Miss Bernice Underwood is director of an Old Folks' concert to be presented for the Men's department of the League of Service of the First Congregational church. A rehearsal was held Monday evening.

Mrs. Ray Holdridge of Ledyard was the guest, Tuesday, of her grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth R. Kinney, of Norwich Town.

UNITED WORKERS ARE TO DISTRIBUTE 150 BASKETS

In keeping with their annual custom the United Workers will distribute, today (Wednesday) to poor families over 150 Thanksgiving baskets, filled with all the necessities for a real old fashioned Thanksgiving dinner. As in past years the school children of the city contributed foods, vegetables, etc., which were packed at the various schools in barrels and taken to the old Record building on Chestnut street where the baskets are being made up. Mrs. Charles T. Bard, president of the United Workers, is supervising the work.

Poquetanuck Parent-Teachers.

The November meeting of the Poquetanuck Parent-Teachers' association was held at the parish house last Wednesday evening. After the business meeting the program was opened with pleasing piano selections by Miss Natalie Nagle. This was followed by a very interesting talk and illustration on birds and nature by Russell F. Lund, Glastonbury, state supervisor of nature study. There was an attendance of 100 at the meeting. Refreshments of sandwiches, coffee and fancy cookies were served by the committee as follows, Mrs. Raymond Beckwith, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Charles Betting, Mrs. George Bogue, Mrs. Harry Beckwith, Guy Ayer.

Eagles' Class Initiation

A class of 15 is to be initiated by the Norwich Eagles at their special Thanksgiving eve gathering. Besides the initiation, a turkey supper and entertainment have been arranged to follow the degree work.

Better Than Any Diet

AY less attention to what you eat; not one person in a thousand need diet; or ever really has indigestion. Acidity, flatulence and heartburn are caused by excess stomach acid and food fermentation.

Following a hasty lunch, or too hearty a dinner, a little "Pape's Diapepsin," instantly neutralizes excess acidity, stops that fermentation, and soothes and heals the acid-inflamed stomach lining as if by magic. Your recovery is quick, and complete. Make a special point of getting a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diapepsin" from your druggist today, and so follow the example of millions all over the world who use "Pape's Diapepsin" to end indigestion and allied stomach troubles.

With "Pape's Diapepsin" handy you can eat and enjoy whatever you fancy without fear of pain or discomfort to follow. At any rate, it's worth the trial, for lots of folks have found a new freedom at the table.

HOOVER CONTINUES TO SOW SEEDS OF FRIENDSHIP

At San Jose, Costa Rica, Filicitations Were Exchanged Between President Viques and President-Elect Hoover—Holiday Was Proclaimed Throughout the Republic and Mr. Hoover Was Declared to Be the Guest of the Nation.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Nov. 28—(AP)—Congratulatory expressions of pride in the long and traditional friendship between Costa Rica and the United States were exchanged here today by President Gonzales Viquez and Herbert Hoover, president-elect of the United States. The visit of the distinguished American made the occasion for a presidential decree, declaring him to be the guest of the nation and proclaiming a holiday throughout this republic.

Mr. Hoover landed at Punta Arenas where he was met by a special governmental delegation and escorted to a special train which carried him to the capitol. Five thousand school children lined the streets of this city and waved flags of the two republics as Mr. Hoover and his escort passed through the foreign office where President Gonzales Viquez was in waiting.

"Your mission was a happy inspiration," said the Costa Rican executive in welcoming the nation's guest. "This historic occasion will result in a continuance of the sincere and sound friendship between the United States and Costa Rica and I believe it will have the same effect as between the United States and all Latin-American countries."

Mr. Hoover, in response, acknowledged the glowing tribute to the accomplishments of my country under the stimulus of our common democracy," and added:

"Nowhere do I know of a greater and more proved example of the beneficence to mankind of our common institutions, than that which has been accomplished through the hands of the people of Costa Rica. Their advancement of human welfare is well known in my country, and, as a student of social and cultural advancement, I have long wished to confirm with my own eyes the progress which you have made."

President Viquez had said that Costa Rica admires the United States most of all for its spirit of unshakable justice which it always has manifested in its relations with this country.

Mr. Hoover in his reply emphasized that the mission of co-operation between the United States and other nations was to build up mutual prosperity and progress.

The president-elect had gone from his train to the United States legation where he received the American residents of the capital. After meeting they proceeded to the national theatre President Viquez at the foreign office, for the luncheon and official welcome. Mr. Hoover was able to inspect at the theatre an exhibit of several hundred paintings by Costa Ricans, the first national art show before entraining again with President Viquez for the return to Punta Arenas. He left the capital at about 3 p. m.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED AT THE A. F. OF L. CONVENTION

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 28—(AP)—Opposition to the use of public schools to "spread propaganda of special interests" was voted here today at the concluding session of the 48th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor.

The convention unanimously re-elected all its officers, including President William Green and Secretary Frank Morrison, selected Toronto as the next convention city, voted to strike from the record references to Prof. John Dewey of Columbia university and approved the action of the executive council in advising withdrawal of support from Brookwood Labor college, Katonah, N. Y., because of charges of communistic teaching.

Only one vote was cast against the school resolution, which declared that "exposures of the federal trade commission have shown that the special interests are seeking every opportunity to use the public schools to spread their propaganda."

It called upon the federation to "condemn as unworthy the confidence and trust of the American people those institutions which have been proven to be subsidized by special interests and which are carrying on, under the guise of disinteresting research, propaganda in favor of the interests which are subsidizing them."

In its original form the resolution used "power interests" instead of special interests. It was amended by the committee.

Opposition to the resolution was raised by Victor A. Olander of the Seamen's Union of America, who declared it "attempted to do the same thing that Tennessee tried in excluding certain books from the public schools."

COOLIDGES TO GIVE THANKS IN BLUE RIDGE MOUNTAINS

STAUNTON, W. Va., Nov. 28—(AP)—High upon a summit of the Blue Ridge mountains, surrounded by magnificent vistas of hills and valleys, President and Mrs. Coolidge today began a Thanksgiving holiday in Virginia.

At Waynesboro, Mr. Coolidge was received in true presidential fashion. A long line of cadets from the Fishburne Military school stood smartly at attention, while a band played "Hail to the Chief," above which could be heard the booming of a 21-gun salute.

Automobiles and an escort of Virginia state police were waiting for the four-mile journey to the Country club.

The club house stands at an elevation of 2,400 feet. To the west spreads the historic Shenandoah valley and to the north lies Rockfish gap, the two separated by a long range of hills. On all sides the distant horizons are broken by the rolling summits of the Blue Ridge mountains.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge tomorrow will journey to nearby Charlottesville, Va., the home of Thomas Jefferson, and in the morning will attend a combined Thanksgiving day service of the city's churches held at the First Baptist church.

NORWALK MAN VICTIM OF MONOXIDE GAS POISONING

BETHEL, Conn., Nov. 28—(AP)—Perry E. Fairchild, 54, a market owner of Norwalk, was found dead in the garage at the rear of his home here today by his wife. The garage doors were closed and the motor of his car was running. Cause of death was given as accidental monoxide gas poisoning.

OBITUARY

Worth Brehm

NORWALK, Nov. 28—(AP)—Worth Brehm, 44, one of the foremost illustrators of boys' books and well-known artist, died at the Norwalk hospital today, after a short illness. He had spent most of his life in the study of boys and had illustrated the Mark Twain edition of Penrod. His work in this line had brought him nation-wide attention.

He had been a resident of Silver Mine, an artists' colony here, for the last 15 years but had a summer residence at Chilmark, Mass., on Cape Cod, where there is a noted colony of artists and writers.

Mr. Brehm was a graduate of Indiana university and had later studied in London and Paris. He had maintained a studio in New York.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Jane Brehm, one brother and one sister. His body will be taken to Chilmark, Mass., for burial.

SAMUEL WEISS SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT

HARTFORD, Nov. 28—(AP)—Samuel Weiss, 32, of New Britain, charged with the first degree murders of his brother, John, John Stehr and John Stein, all of New Britain, was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Allyn L. Brown in superior court today. Weiss pleaded guilty to the second degree murder of his brother and not guilty to the other indictments.

John Weiss died on Aug. 26 after drinking home-made beer. Stehr, who lived in the same house, and who also had some of Weiss' beer, died the same day.

A few days later while Samuel Weiss and his brother's widow were being taken into custody in connection with the investigation into the two deaths, John Stein, a friend of the interested parties, drank some of the beer to convince himself and friends that the beer could not possibly have caused the deaths. He died within a few hours.

Samuel Weiss later signed a confession, according to the New Britain police, in which he admitted that he had poisoned the beer because his brother had objected to his intimacy with the latter's wife.

Mrs. Weiss was held for several days as a material witness and eventually released.

FORMER POLICEMAN HELD FOR DRUNKEN DRIVING

WESTPORT, Conn., Nov. 28—(AP)—Policeman Charles J. Quigley, Westport's first chief of police and later a state policeman for three years, was arrested tonight by state police of the Westport barracks on charges of driving a car while under the influence of liquor and operating a car without having a license.

Quigley's arrest followed a 24-hour investigation by state police into the circumstances of an accident on the Post road, Fairfield, Tuesday night, when a car driven by Quigley crashed into a truck, causing a fractured skull and other severe injuries to Frank Drozlek, of 72 Colorado avenue, Bridgeport.

Quigley, who was stripped of his badge and suspended from duty for the third time this year by First Selectman King W. Mansfield, of Westport, early today, has been summoned to appear in Fairfield town court on Friday to answer to the charges of drunken driving and failure to carry an operator's license.

INSPECTOR TESTIFIES IN ESTRIS INQUIRY

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—(AP)—Edward Keane, inspector of hulls in the United States steamboat inspection service of the department of commerce, acknowledged on the witness stand today that if he had made a truthful report of his inspection of the steamer Vestris it should not have been issued clearance papers on its last voyage, on which it sunk.

Testifying at the federal hearing into the disaster, Keane repeated testimony he gave last week at the inspection service's investigation that although he said in his official report that he had lowered the Vestris' lifeboats, he had not actually done so.

"That being one of the requirements," said United States Attorney Tuttle, who is conducting the federal inquiry, "unless it was done clearance papers should not be issued, should they?"

"No," the inspector acknowledged.

AIRPLANE PILOT KILLED, PASSENGER INJURED

LIGONIER, Pa., Nov. 28—(AP)—A pilot was killed and a passenger injured today when their plane struck the tops of trees in a fog in the mountains near Laughlintown. Carl G. Strickler of Scottdale, Pa., the aviator, received a fractured skull. The passenger, Michael McIntyre of Hagerstown, was taken to a hospital at Latrobe. It was said his hurts were not serious.

The ship was owned by the Kreidner-Reisner Aircraft Corp., Hagerstown, Md., and was en route to the Bettis field, Pittsburgh, from Hagerstown.

HURRICANE LOSS IN PORTO RICO WAS $85,300,000

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Nov. 28—(AP)—A loss of $85,300,000 in the hurricane which swept the island on Sept. 13 was reported in the compilation by official survey committee completed today. This did not include estimates for livestock or household goods and furnishings.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

RIO JANEIRO, Brazil, Nov. 28—(AP)—The Brazilian government has decided to place the historic palace of Guanabara at the disposal of President-elect Hoover during Mr. Hoover's visit here.

PARIS, Nov. 28—(AP)—The request of the United States for the extradition of H. M. Blackmer for trial on charges of making false income tax returns at Denver, Colo., is expected to be officially rejected by France within a few days.

MADRID, Nov. 28—(AP)—Several Madrid newspapers, including El Sol, have published protests against the reported sale of the palace of Pleyes de Toro to an American, who plans to remove it to the United States. El Sol says that it is in favor of a law forbidding the exportation of artistic treasures from Spain.

SUCCESS NAVAL CONFAB WITH GREAT BRITAIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—(AP)—Chairman Britten of the house naval affairs committee, today declared that his suggestion for a conference between his committee and a committee from the British parliament on naval armament limitation should in no way interfere with the passage by the senate of the pending cruiser bill.

The Illinois representative said that the construction of 15 light cruisers, authorized in the measure which was passed by the house at the last session is needed.

Congress also would have to authorize other additional cruisers, he declared, before the United States navy could attain equality with England and Japan in this class of vessel. He cited that Great Britain has 56 cruisers built and building; that Japan has 29 while the United States has but ten first line light cruisers built and eight under construction.

"To attain equality of naval power in the classes of vessels unrestricted by the Washington arms conference," he said, "either we will have to build more, or Great Britain and Japan will have to scrap tremendous tonnage of new cruisers, which I am sure they will not do."

PRESIDENT OF RADIO-KEITH-ORPHEUM CORP.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—(AP)—Hiram Brown, whose first job was office boy for the New York Herald at $5 a week, today was elected president of the newly organized Radio-Keith-Orpheum corporation.

Mr. Brown, who is 46 years old, resigned as president of the United States Leather company to head Radio-Keith-Orpheum. He will remain as a director and member of the executive committee of the leather company.

Mr. Brown has had a varied career in the industrial world. Born on a farm near Chestertown, Md., he was graduated from Washington college at Chestertown, at the age of 18. He came to New York in 1909, when he went to work on the Herald. Later he became secretary to several industrial executives and in 1904 entered the public utilities field and was active in operation of utilities in Michigan, Illinois, Ohio and Pennsylvania. During the war he was chief of the finance division of the air service.

YALE PURCHASES EXCHANGE BUILDING AS INVESTMENT

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 28—(AP)—Yale university acquired another piece of property in the center of the city today, when papers were filed in the town clerk's office transferring the exchange building at Church and Chapel streets from the Louis K Liggett company to the Yale corporation. The Liggett company which operates a drug store on the ground floor of the building has taken a lease on the property for 50 years with an option of extending the lease for 49 more years at the expiration of that time.

According to Thomas W. Farnam, associate treasurer and comptroller of the university, the Exchange building has been purchased as an investment.

PROF. PHELPS NAMED HONORARY PASTOR

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 28—(AP)—Of all the honors which have come to Prof. William Lyon Phelps of Yale university, the one bestowed on him tonight by members of Calvary Baptist church is perhaps the most unique. At the suggestion of Rev. Harold B Camp, pastor, Prof. Phelps was named honorary pastor of the church at a meeting of the governing board and it was voted to hold a special service on Sunday, December 9, in recognition of the appointment.

Prof. Phelps has been an attendant at the church for many years and has taken an active part in all its work as well as lending financial support to its various projects.

INTRUDER IDENTIFIED AS AN ESCAPED CONVICT

THOMPSONVILLE, Nov. 28—(AP)—An intruder in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Grant, caught after Mrs. Grant had discovered the man on a stairway in her home in October and summoned help, has been identified as Charles Edwards, an escaped convict from the Michigan State Reformatory. According to an investigation carried on by County Detective Edward J. Hickey for the states attorney, Edwards has a criminal record dating back for the past ten years. He will be arraigned at the December term of the superior court, charged with breaking and entering.

$75,000 SUIT AGAINST NEW HAVEN ROAD DISMISSED

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 28—(AP)—Suit brought against the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad by Mrs. Susan M. Hall, widow of William E. Hall, an engineer, has been dismissed by the appellate division of the New York state courts on a declination of jurisdiction.

Mrs. Hall asked $75,000 for the death of her husband, who was killed in Stratford on Feb. 22 of this year when he came in contact with electric current while throwing a knife switch.

The Halls resided at 183 English street, this city.

AVIATOR FLO HAS ARRIVED AT HAVANA

HAVANA, Nov. 28—(AP)—Leonard S. Flo, whose flight from Walkerville, Ont., to Cuba was interrupted at Key West last night, landed here at 3.52 p. m. today.

Flo said he would remain here for several days and was undecided as to whether to attempt a non-stop flight from Havana to Detroit. He said he probably would enter the airplane races from Detroit to Miami to be held in January.

An Ultimatum By Eureka Students

To Quit College Until President Bert Wilson Has Been Removed as Head.

EUREKA, Ill., Nov. 28—(AP)—An ultimatum declaring they would quit their classes until President Bert Wilson was removed as head of Eureka college was the reply of the student body today to the college board of trustees, which last night voiced its confidence in Dr. Wilson and refused his resignation.

The action in defiance of the trustees was taken at a midnight meeting summoned by students who tolled the college memorial bell and sent messengers through the streets, summoning pajama-clad students, alumni, faculty members and business men to the protest meeting which broke up at 3 o'clock with the students expressing their intention to remain away from classes after the Thanksgiving holiday.

The next meeting of the trustees has been called for Dec. 7 and unless a special meeting is called in the meantime the students expected to stay away from school all of next week.

The college president incurred the displeasure of the students when, pursuing a financial retrenchment program with the approval of the trustees, several popular professors were dismissed. In protest, the students, almost unanimous in their sentiment, called for Dr. Wilson's resignation. He offered it and yesterday the board convened to consider the situation.

The board adjourned at midnight and word went around that student demands had been disregarded and the trustees, fully cognizant of the undergraduate "unrest" had declined President Wilson's resignation.

CONDITION OF KING GEORGE UNCHANGED

LONDON, Nov. 28—(AP)—Extreme reticence continued tonight to characterize the medical bulletins issued at Buckingham palace on the illness of King George. Taken at its face value, this evening's bulletin from Sir Stanley Hewett and Lord Dawson of Penn, was regarded as favorable, especially when read in connection with a letter which the two physicians sent to the cabinet earlier in the day.

It was noted, however, that again nothing was said about the patient's temperature or pulse and that even the rather stereotyped statement that his "strength was maintained" was omitted this evening. The bulletin said this: "The king passed a fair day, with some sleep, otherwise conditions are unchanged."

It was possible to infer from the statement "conditions are unchanged" that there had been no diminution in the king's strength. The fact that he had obtained sleep was hailed as another favorable sign.

ACTRESS MARIE PREVOST SICK WITH PNEUMONIA

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 28—(AP)—Marie Prevost, motion picture actress, was removed from her home to the Hollywood hospital late today after her physician had decided she had contracted pneumonia. The physician expressed the opinion she would recover.

Several other film actors, actresses, and two motion picture directors have been confined to their homes as victims of an epidemic of influenza, which city health officers have described as of mild form.

Forty one deaths have been reported in the last ten days, but only one of these has been an uncomplicated influenza case.

Wreckage Along The Coasts Of France

Farmers Are Threatened With New Troubles by Rising Winds—Dikes Swept Away

PARIS, Nov. 28—(AP)—The northwestern coasts of France were tonight one long line of wreckage, varying from corpses and derelict craft to crates of oranges washed overboard from freighters by tempestuous seas. Storm-weary French seamen were threatened with new troubles by rising winds.

The sea broke dikes along the Picardy coast today, flooding highways and fields near Le Treport. Three hundred feet of concrete dike were carried away at Boutainville, Normandy. Several unidentified bodies were washed up at that place.

The Chausey semaphore station signalled to Cherbourg that the big three - masted German schoolship Pommern was a derelict off the Normandy coast, completely demasted. She was abandoned several days ago in the channel after 80 cadets had been rescued by means of lifelines and hauled aboard a tug.

At Bordeaux, docks and quays were flooded by the rising waters of the Garonne. No ships were able to enter or leave the port in the face of the heavy seas.

All navigators were warned that the permanent light at LaCroix on the tip of Britanny, had been extinguished.

Thanksgiving

With thankful hearts once more unroll the scroll of memory,
And picture round the jovial board a merry company,
The tall grand-sire, the sweet granddame, matron, maid and boy,
The little toddler sitting there in highchair with her toy;
O happy scene for eye to see and heart to contemplate,
As one by one each dear guest stands beside his chair in state,
Waiting till all are gathered and the reverent blessing said,
And father, mother graciously are seated at the head,
When greetings, joy and laughter fill the spacious room with cheer,
Thanksgiving Day! Of all home days most cherished and most dear.

O, then give thanks, e'en though we feast in memory today,
The joy that wrote the scroll was ours—God takes it not away·
So bring the loved ones back again to make the circle true,
And let the heart a-new song sing—
Let gratitude renew
Our praise to Him who gave us love and bounties manifold,
Vision of life, blessing of toil, and treasured days of old.

— By Gertrude B. Walker.

Because of the storm it was impossible to relight it.

Meanwhile the violence of the elements inland had expended itself in furious winds. There were heavy snowfalls in the Pyrenees, the Vosges, the Jura, Savoy and Central mountains.

From a foot to a foot and one-half of snow fell on most mountains of France from an altitude of 2,000 feet up. Floods in rivers were subsiding, but this was believed to be only a temporary change and more high water was expected.

STORM AGAIN VIOLENT ON COAST OF BELGIUM

BRUSSELS, Nov. 28—(AP)—The storm, after a lull, again became violent tonight all along the coast. An enormous breach was opened in a dyke near Breedene and Kursaal, Middelkerque, was threatened with destruction. Troops were sent to aid the inhabitants in their desperate battle with the elements. The crisis in the floods is expected at one o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The floods today were subsiding in the valleys of the Meuse, Sambre and Ourthe. Queen Wilhelmina visited the stricken districts to personally superintend the distribution of relief.

NO ACTION ON CHANGES BRICKLEY'S PAROLE APPEAL

BOSTON, Nov. 28—(AP)—The state board of parole during its meeting here today failed to act on a petition for the parole of Charles Brickley, former Harvard football star, who is serving a sentence of one year on the state farm at Tewksbury for larceny in connection with his former brokerage business here. He has served six months of his sentence.

Under the law, Brickley will be eligible for parole after he has served two-thirds of his sentence, but the board of parole has the power to recommend his release before that time if unusual circumstances warrant such action.

The board voted to release 40 prisoners, mostly men serving sentences for drunkenness, to enable them to go to their homes on Thanksgiving day.

ENGAGEMENT OF FLORENCE TRUMBULL AND JOHN COOLIDGE ANNOUNCED

HARTFORD, Nov. 28—(AP)—Coincident with the celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary, Gov. and Mrs. John H. Trumbull tonight formally announced the engagement of their eldest daughter, Florence, to John Coolidge, son of President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge.

The announcement was made at a supper party held following the silver wedding celebration at the Farmington Country club.

It was indicated that the marriage would not take place before the summer, thereby eliminating the possibility of a white house wedding, since the president's term expires next March. The ceremony, in all probability, will take place at the Trumbull home in Plainville.

Rumor of the engagement of Miss Trumbull and John Coolidge has been current for some time, and although it was denied often, it persisted. Several weeks ago on her return from a trip to Europe, Miss Trumbull admitted they had an "understanding."

Their romance had its beginning several years ago. They met for the first time in March, 1925, when Gov. Trumbull and his family were on their way to Washington to attend the inauguration of President Coolidge. John Coolidge, then a student at Amherst, was on the same train, with the same destination and purpose. Learning of the presence of the Connecticut governor on the train, young Coolidge went to the Trumbull car to pay his respects. He was introduced to the Trumbull family and thus met Florence.

Miss Trumbull at that time was a student at Mt. Holyoke college, a short distance from Amherst. John Coolidge became a frequent visitor on the campus and later began to call at the Trumbull home in Plainville. Miss Trumbull has been entertained at the white house and Mrs. Coolidge has been a guest at the Trumbull home in Plainville.

A reporter who wandered into the dining room at the Farmington Country club after the formal announcement had been made found places set for about 250 guests and at each place a card on which was printed "John and Florence"—nothing more.

STRIKE OF 15,000 TEXTILE WORKERS IN R. I. IMPENDING

Emergency Board of the United Textile Workers of America Takes Action to Contest Wage Reduction Proposed by Three Textile Concerns—Strike Authorized—Proposed Reduction is to Become Operative Next Monday—The Wage Cut is Understood to Be 5 Per Cent.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—(AP)—A strike of 15,000 employes of three textile concerns in Rhode Island was authorized today by the emergency board of the United Textile Workers of America as a protest against a wage reduction proposed for operation next Monday.

After a board meeting today, Francis J. Gorm, vice president of the United Textile Workers of America, issued a statement saying executive officers of the union were authorized to endorse strike action against the Manville-Jencks corporation, the Lonsdale company and J. & P. Coates, thread manufacturers of the Blackstone Valley.

Notice of the reduction, which union officials said they understood to be five per cent, was posted Monday. In this regard Gorman referred to the recent settlement of the New Bedford textile strike through the acceptance of a five per cent reduction with the stipulation that 30 days notice would precede future cuts, and added:

"Why doesn't the mill owner make a decent comparison and agree to 30 days notice before changing wages? This particular point was the deciding factor in the New Bedford settlement."

"We make this proposition to the employers: Let them postpone the reduction and we will enter into discussion with an agreement to a settlement in consideration of the facts presented."

The statement said wages in the Blackstone Valley were already "miserable and not sufficient to provide for the necessities of life," and included a charge that the Coates company had discharged $12 a week employes and rehired them at a $3 reduction.

SPOKANE NEGRO NOT THE "HATCHET SLAYER"

OMAHA, Nov. 28—(AP)—A clue to the solution of Omaha's hatchet slayings which led to the Pacific coast virtually was eliminated tonight by police who again turned to Jake Bird, Negro, held "somewhere in Iowa" in connection with the attack on Mr. and Mrs. G. Harold Stribling.

Spokane police last night reported that Elmer Williams, Negro, had confessed slaying two women in Omaha. Jake Bird was identified by Mrs. Stribling as the man who attacked her and her husband, both of whom still are in a hospital. A fifth victim of the hatchet-man was an elderly farmer found dead in bed.

Bird has denied any knowledge of the Stribling attack and although he has given an apparently iron-clad alibi as to his whereabouts on the night of the attack, police are holding him in some Iowa jail as a suspect.

Police have received reports from institutions for the insane where Williams had been confined, that he would "confess anything". He is mentally unbalanced, they said. Inspector of Dectectives B. F. Danboum said he gave little credence to Williams statement but would investigate further.

IRWINTON BANK OPEN AND DOING BUSINESS

MACON, Ga., Nov. 28—(AP)—The Irwinton Bank of Irwinton, Ga., which was erroneously listed among those which closed yesterday due to the suspension of the Fourth National bank here Monday, is open and doing business, George Carswell, president of the institution, informed the Macon Telegraph late today.

He pointed out that the Fourth National, to which was attributed responsibility for the suspension of seven other banks in Georgia, had not affected the Irwinton institution. Mr. Carswell, who is secretary of state, said the bank had been doing business as usual.

The Irwinton bank was organized in 1909 and is capitalized at $15,000. In its report of otober 1 the bank showed surplus and undivided profits of $7,293.01.

The Associated Press is glad to make this correction.

DEATH OF ADMIRAL F. F. FLETCHER, U. S. N.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—(AP)—Admiral F. F. Fletcher, U. S. N., retired, died in St. Luke's hospital at the age of 73 today.

Seizure and occupation of Vera Cruz during the Mexican trouble in April 1914 was the most famous exploit in Admiral Fletcher's career in the navy.

In 1915 he was designated admiral in command of the Atlantic fleet which post he occupied until June 1916.

He was a member of the war industries board of the council of national defense in 1917 and a member of the general joint army and navy board.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Susan H. Fletcher and two daughters, Mrs. Reginald Hubbell and Alice S. Fletcher.

YALE FRAT ENTERTAINED TWO PRINCES OF SWEDEN

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 28—(AP)—Delta Kappa Epsilon at Yale university played host today to two princes of the ruling house of Sweden and several of the most distinguished noblemen of the north country. The occasion was a dinner tendered by H Edward Manville, Jr., Yale 1929, whose sister, Estelle Manville is to marry Count Folke Bernadotte on Saturday.

In the party were Prince Gustavus Adolphus, Prince Sigvard, Count Bernadotte and a number of Swedish nobles.

They were taken for a tour of the Yale buildings after dinner and left late in the afternoon for New York to attend a dinner party at the Plaza given by Mrs. C. Vanderbilt Barton.

TWO BOXES RIFLED IN MERIDEN R. C. CHURCH

MERIDEN, Nov. 28—(AP)—A sneak thief entered St. Joseph's church here today and rifled two boxes in which parishioners deposit coins for candles. The theft was discovered tonight by the Rev. J. J. Duggan, rector of the church.

The boxes are located on either side of the altar. According to Rev. Duggan, the loss was small, since the boxes are emptied daily.

TO CONTEST ELECTION OF MRS. RUTH BRYAN OWEN

TLLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 28—(AP)—Gov. John W. Martin was advised today by a Daytona Beach law firm that William C. Lawson of Orlando, defeated republican candidate for congress from the fourth district, would contest the election of Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen of Miami, democrat. Mrs. Owen is a daughter of the late William Jennings

LOS ANGELES POLICE FIGURE IN SCANDAL

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28—(AP)—Treading its way through the maze of testimony relating to the charges of bribery against District Attorney Asa Keyes and the intimated connection between these charges and the mysterious disappearance two years ago of Aimee Semple McPherson, pastor of Angelus Temple here, the county grand jury has run into another scandal.

A special investigation for the jury, said today the body had before it testimony that six Los Angelus police officers had obtained approximately $75,000 to conceal facts concerning several big robberies here.

The investigator said that three cases were specifically referred to in information before the grand jury and that one of the men involved was a "high ranking police official."

The police official, the investigator said, has agreed to appear before the grand jury and was quoted as saying, "I was sitting in a spot with a gun at my back and couldn't help myself, but I'm going to come clean now."

The tip to the grand jury concerning the six policemen came from three men serving time for murder in San Quentin and two other convicts who appeared before the jury. One of the robberies in which the policemen are alleged to have supressed facts was said to be that of the Pacific National bank last spring when $50,000 was taken.

The revelation was made today as the grand jury was summoning the Rev. J. W. Arthur of Angelus Temple in connection with reports that Mrs. McPherson had spent more than $100,000 in defense of conspiracy charges brought against her and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy following her return after an absence of several weeks.

HEAVY SNOWFALL IN THE ROCKY MOUNTAIN REGION

DENVER, Nov. 28—(AP)—Thanksgiving was heralded with a Christmas like fall of snow in the Rocky Mountain region today.

The storm was fanned by a raging wind down the eastern tier of Rocky Mountain states and snow that fell steadily all day continued tonight.

Wyoming felt the full force of the storm. Air mail service was hampered and motor traffic blocked. Highways to the north and west of Rock Springs, Wyo., were impassable. Motorists remained at convenient towns to await the opening of the highways through the western part of the state.

A rescue party set out from Parco today to search the section north of Rawlins, where Mrs. W. H. McCoy was reported stranded in the 18 inches of snow that has fallen there since last night. Mrs. McCoy left Parco alone in an automobile for her husband's oil camp.

At least six inches of snow lay on the ground in the vicinity of Denver tonight and varying depths were reported over the west and central parts of the state.

POLICEMAN KILLED BY FORMER SWEETHEART

DENVER, Nov. 28—(AP)—A chance meeting in a hospital ward, reviving an old acquaintanceship, resulted today in the shooting to death of Robert K. Evans, a policeman, by his former sweetheart, Farice King, 25-year-old nurse.

Evans, recovering from a gunshot wound, suffered last Thursday night when he took part in a bootleg raid, was killed instantly with a bullet fired into his head by the nurse while he slept early this morning. Miss King afterward shot herself, inflicting a wound in the breast which physicians said might prove fatal.

A note written by Miss King before she killed the officer provided the police with a brief explanation of the shooting, which occurred in the firemen-policemen ward at the Denver General hospital.

"You belong to me and I cannot go on longer living without you," read the note, addressed to "Dearest Bob," the slain policeman. "I have waited over five years for this chance—and it came." In another note addressed to a brother, Miss King asked that she be buried at the same time and near Evans.

$10,000 PERSONAL INJURY SUIT FILED BY A WOMAN

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 28—(AP)—Wilbur G. Walker, Hartford police commissioner and businessman, is named defendant in a suit for $10,000 personal injuries filed in superior court here today by Miss Mary Cordova, of this city.

Miss Cordova charges that the machine in which she was riding on November 3, was struck by one driven by Walker at Union avenue and Water street, and that Walker in crashing into the machine disobeyed both a policeman's signal and a signal given by the operator of the car in which she was a passenger.

ONE IN HOSPITAL AS RESULT OF AUTO CRASH

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Nov. 28—Members of the families of Hugh Anderson of this city and his son, Robert J. Anderson of New Britain, were taken to St. Joseph's hospital for treatment about 7 o'clock this evening following a collision of the car in which they were riding with one operated by Arthur Bouffard of this city. The accident took place a short distance west of Katsman's corner on the Columbia road, while the Andersons were on their way to New Britain, where Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Anderson and their daughter, May Anderson, were to be guests of their son and brother for Thanksgiving. The Bouffard machine struck Anderson's car causing it to fall on its side and then ran into an embankment. The members of the Anderson family were taken to the railroad station on the Hartford-Willimantic bus and removed from there to the hospital in the ambulance. Their injuries consist of severe cuts and bruises, not considered of a serious nature, however. All were discharged with the exception of Mrs Anderson, who is to undergo an x-ray to determine possible fracture of a rib.

ANGELLITTI BOUND OVER TO SUPERIOR COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Nov. 28—Louis Angellitti of Hampton, who was apprehended by County Detective William E. Jackson and Deputy Sheriff Harvey S. Collins of Columbia Tuesday night, after he had given the authorities a long and intricate chase, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Hubert P. Collins of the Columbia town court this morning and bound over to the next criminal term of the Tolland county superior court. He faced three charges: Obtaining money under false pretenses, forgery and passing a worthless check A plea of not guilty was entered by Angellitti. Justice Collins fixed the bonds at $1,000. The only witness heard was Mrs. Horace W. Porter, wife of Postmaster Porter, who had cashed a check to the amount of $10 for Angellitti and later discovered that the check was worthless. It had been drawn on an East Hampton bank. Angellitti's name did not appear on the check and he claimed in court that he had found the check and entered the store on Nov. 17, to have it cashed. He admitted having used "high pressure" salesmanship to induce Mrs. Porter to give him the cash.

Angellitti is wanted by the local authorities on a charge of driving without a license, this violation being a sequence to an accident in which his car figured on North Windham road Tuesday afternoon and which led ultimately to his arrest. Should he be found at liberty again in Hampton it is also understood that he will be arrested there for passing a worthless check to the amount of $50 drawn on the Corn Exchange bank of New York and cashed at the store of D. T. Phillips in Hampton.

ELKS' CHARITY BALL IS BRILLIANT AFFAIR

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Nov.28—The Elks' Charity ball staged at the state armory this evening under the auspices of Willimantic lodge No. 1311, B. P. O. E., proved a delightful social success and gave prediction that the innovation would firmly become established as an annual Thanksgiving eve event. The dance was discretionary, formal or informal, and those in formal attire occupied well-decorated boxes bordering the drill shed. Excellent music was furnished by Bill Tasillo's orchestra of Hartford and the hall was gaily arrayed in decorations installed by P. D. Donahue. Included in the attendance were a number of out-of-town people and one box was occupied by Past Exalted Ruler Michael J. Roberts of Rockville lodge No. 1359, and party. Refreshments were served at intermission and dancing continued until 2 o'clock in the morning. The dance program, which was preceded by a concert from 8 to 9 o'clock, consisted of 18 regular numbers. The reception committee was composed of Exalted Ruler Maurice S. Leonard and Past Exalted Rulers Mayor Charles A Gates, chairman; Charles W. Alpaugh Charles W. Hill, R. Ernest Melody, John B Edgarton, Valentine L. Murphy, P. D. Donahue, Michael E. Sullivan, T. Frank Cunningham, James F. McGlone, Albert J. Fournier and Clarence M. Mathieu. The committee of arrangements was headed by William J. Grady and included Gilbert P. Flynn, Roderick Gaudreau and Thomas Donovan. The entire proceeds of the dance are to be diverted to local charity.

The sale of Christmas seals by school children in the city and vicinity will be eliminated this year, according to an announcement made by Miss Mabel Baird of Hartford, state director of the campaign. In lieu of this canvassing, more intensive mail appeals will be made in this city, the Windhams and Mansfield. It was found last year that there was a good response to the mail sale and it is hoped that by conducting the campaign in this manner this year the public will be saved the annoyance of answering doorbells on the frequent visits of school children. The report shows that more than 125,000 lives were saved last year from tuberculosis as a result of the public response to the sale of seals.

The Welfare bureau, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth P. Anderson, secretary, delivered numerous Thanksgiving dinners to needy families in the city late this afternoon. Each basket contained the full course dinner and provided enough for the entire family. Much of this food was contributed following an appeal by the bureau for food and vegetables, many of these donations coming from school children.

Cars operated by Francis Dillon of 48 Manners avenue and owned by Edward C. Jones of 163 Mansfield avenue and by Hormisdas Vincelette of 3 Milk street, figured in a collision on the Windham Center plains road Tuesday night. Both machines were damaged. Dillon, who was receiving instructions in driving from the owner of the car, was going toward Windham Center while Vincelette was coming in the opposite direction. While making a turn, Dillon lost control of the car and drove it into Vincelette's machine, bowling the latter machine over on its side, breaking the windows and the left rear spring. Dillon's car came to a stop against an embankment and was damaged to the extent of a bent front fender and broken headlights. Miss Alice Gaudreau of 37 South street, a passenger in Vincelette's car, sustained bruises on the chest. Jones agreed to settle for all damages in reporting the accident to the local police.

Miss Christine Aldrich of Bridgeport died at the Mansfield State Hospital and Training school Tuesday afternoon. She was born in Bridgeport June 18, 1879, a daughter of Bernard and Lena Frederick Aldrich. The deceased leaves one sister.

Work on the 11-mile stretch of new state highway being constructed between Mansfield four corners and Phoenixville, via Warrenville, will be continued as long as weather conditions permit, it was stated today by the contractors, Miller Brothers, of Hartford. About three-quarters of the section between Warrenville and the four corners, a distance of six and one-half miles, has been completed but is not as yet in perfected condition. The four-mile stretch between Warrenville and Phoenixville will not be passable for some time. The section of three miles between Mansfield depot, where it joins the Stafford Springs highway and the North Coventry road, was opened about two weeks ago and has already been popularized by heavy traffic.

The pretentious dwelling last occupied by Supt. Peter J. Hinds and family and built by the late Dwight E. Potter, at 76 Windham road, was sold today by the American Thread Co. to Mrs. Dorothy M. Adams. The house has been vacant since the removal of Superintendent Hinds to New Jersey about one year ago.

Officers elected at a meeting of the feshman class of Windham high school held today were: Elwyn Chase, president; Margaret Tracy, vice-president; Helen Mattews, secretary; Frederick Haddad, treasurer, and Miss Isabell Service, faculty advisor. Blue and white were chosen as the class colors.

A most entertaining mock trial was staged in the town hall at South Coventry this evening by the South Coventry Men's club. G. Hersey Robertson was judge; Ernest H. Woodworth, grand juror; Louis A. Kingsbury, attorney for the defense, and Jack Day and Fred Potter the defendants. Day and Potter were accused of assault and battery alleged to have been committed last election day. The plaintiff proved to be a well-known resident.

With at least four weddings, involving well-known people, scheduled to take place Thursday, it is evident that Thanksgiving day will prove a banner one for the little god Hymen in this city. Two of the weddings are at St. Joseph's and two at St. Mary's church.

In a Thanksgiving day program presented at the Lyceum meeting of Windham high school this forenoon the governor's proclamation was read by Waldo Bass and an appropriate poem was read by Jane Alling. Selections were rendered by the W. H. S. orchestra under direction of Miss Elizabeth F. Hunt and Kerman Lavigne led in group singing.

The extensive sidewalk construction program in which this city participated during the past season will be concluded next week with the laying of a strip of walk on the east side of Bellevue street bordering land of Attorney E. Frank Bugbee.

The two-tenement house on Pleasant street owned by the Evvie Edgarton estate has been sold by John B Edgarton, administrator to Rose and Ellen Gaudreau of this city, it was announced today.

Rosario Bedard of 123 Chapman street was fined $25 and costs, with $15 of the fine remitted, at the session of police court this morning when he pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving.

The weekly meeting of the Willimantic Exchange club was omitted this evening because of its proximity to the holiday. A representative of the Federal Reserve bank of Boston will speak on Banking Systems, at next week's meeting.

Edward Saba, student at Saxton's River academy, Vt., is at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fadlou Saba, for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland B. Jordan and family will have Thanksgiving dinner with her brother, Harold Pierson, and family in Torrington.

Miss Jessie Baldwin, teacher in Forest Hills, L. I., has arrived at the home of her sister, Mrs. Georgie B Lee, for the Thanksgiving recess.

Mrs. A. B. Carpenter has been entertaining Mrs. C. H. Moore and daughter, Miss Dorothy Moore, of Springfield, Mass., formerly of this city.

J. D. Conant and family left today to spend Thanksgiving with Mrs Conant's mother in New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashton C. Persons left this evening to spend Thanksgiving day with their daughter, Miss Margaret Persons, a student at Skidmore college, Saratoga, N. Y. Miss Persons will return here with her parents Friday for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Risedorf are to be holiday guests of her sister, Mrs. Wilbur F. Burrows, in Middletown.

F. J. Flaherty and sister, Miss Mary Flaherty, who have been residing on South street while Mr. Flaherty was connected with the Hutchins Organ Co., have removed to Waltham, Mass.

THIS TURKEY RAN AWAY RATHER THAN TO SMOKE

Leland MacGrath who had a large turkey given him for his Thanksgiving dinner had the bird in a big box in front of Crandall's News store, when several young fellows wanted to see if the turkey would smoke a Noble cigar. The turk was ready to take a puff when Owner MacGrath caught the jokers. The air was blue for he did not want to lose his dinner and when his back was turned some one let the turkey go free. Down the street doing his 2.10 like a college runner, went the bird, with about 40 people trying to catch him. Owner McGrath called "Catch my dinner!" Along came Spike Panciera coming from work and saw McGrath's turkey running like Red Cagle of the Army eleven going through the line for 50 yards. Spike is rated the fastest runner in the village and going at top speed he tried to catch the turkey before an auto hit it, so the owner would not have to feast on corn beef sandwiches Nov. 29 Making a quick grab he caught the turkey. The race caused some excitement as the whole village was trying to get a holiday dinner running by. Owner MacGrath felt good to get his bird back and thanked Panciera for his hero deed.

Mike Passi has returned from a visit on Sterling Hill with relatives.

Spark Sets Grass Fire

A train came by from the east and a spark set the lot at the cedar pasture on fire. The wind was blowing a gale and sparks were soon flying. Track Walker P. Balestrini saw the blaze and he with a broom and several members of the section gang with shovels worked hard to put out the flames.

Track Walker Balestrini was in charge of the fire fighters and it took 40 minutes before the grass fire was safe to leave. Chief H. H. Park of Noank fire company came and looked over where the fire was but the company was not needed to aid the section gang. It was lucky the fire did not start in the night for there are several houses near that location.

Miss Mollie Deane of Holyoke was a caller on friends in the village Tuesday.

Walter Welles has gone to see his uncle, Peter Pan, in Hanover, Ct., for a week.

Roots for Storrs Eleven

Parker Willis, who loves football and played the gridiron game for four years at Storrs college about nine years ago always follows the Storrs team around the circuit. When the season of 1928 was ready Parker had his hand bag all packed ready to go and he has been in many states, has traveled 6,000 miles and saw his team go down to defeat for the first time it was scored on. It has lost but one game to Boston College 51-13. He claims in the last game the winning team had 103 men on the field and three of the stars for Storrs were badly hurt. He saw one game played in snow storm. Traveler Willis is a central board official and has been signed to referee basket ball games during the winter.

Socony Story Contest

Several workmen of the Socony company in New London attended a banquet at the Mohican hotel recently where the big dining room was all dressed up with Thanksgiving turkeys, colored paper and oil cans in different corners with the white letters "John D. Rockefeller Heap Big Outing." The table was set with something that the employes never had before, a Midway plum duff, with pumpkin pie and coffee. A prize was given to the one who told the best lie. Raising his right hand at the end of the table was Morgan Haven who wanted the first try. So he said down in his home town in Pennsylvania where his father owns a large farm and raises only pumpkins, he remembers at Christmas time when the whole family was there and his mother knew they liked pumpkin pies. So his father went out to pick the biggest pumpkin and found that he would have to have help to get the pumpkin into the house. It took five men and three pairs of horses to get the pumpkin and it was so large that his father cut the inside out and his family of six lived in that pumpkin all winter. His mother made 100 pies out of it. The gang said "We will sing that song 'The Farmer Took Another Load Away.'" Russel Bray known as the Michigan Wild Cat by his pals was next called on. He said: "Out hunting in the woods of Michigan, I was walking along with the gun over my shoulder when up in a tree I spied a wild tiger. Quick as a flash the tiger swung his left paw, (it was three inches around) and bent the barrel of my gun right into a knot. But I held on tight, pulled a Tom Mix shot and got the tiger running up the tree. I found the tiger had a wrist watch on and it said 11 o'clock—that was the time he was killed." He received a pocketbook for that story. Jerry Mace, singing bishop of the gang sang eKep in the Middle of the Road.

DAUGHTER OF HORACE VOSE LEAVES PUBLIC BEQUESTS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I. Nov. 28—By the will of Mrs. Mabel Vose Chapman, widow of Otis P. Chapman, Jr., and daughter of the late Horace Vose, once known as Westerly Turkey King, a number of trust funds are created which are or will become more or less public bequests. Mrs. Chapman a member of the class of 1896 of Westerly high school died at her home, 10 Chester avenue, Nov. 5th, after an illness becoming serious in early summer. The will was executed Aug. 29, 1928. In the seventh clause the sum of $1,500 is bequeathed to Westerly school committee, the income to be used for prizes to be equally divided among boys and girls in the annual prize speaking contests open to students of the school. The fund is to constitute a memorial to her husband and to be known as the Otis Pendleton Chapman, Jr., prize speaking fund. Both Mr. and Mrs. Chapman were members of the class of 1896. A trust fund is established with the Washington Trust company, of Westerly, for the use of her mother, Mrs. Susan A. Vose, widow of Horace Vose, and for her brother, Charles Vose, for use during their lifetime. At their death one-half of the fund is bequeathed to Westerly hospital to be known as the Horace Vose Trust and one-half to the Westerly Young Men's Christian association, to be known as the Otis Pendleton Chapman, Jr., Trust. Mr. and Mrs. Chapman were known to many outside Westerly through their ownership of Hillcrest dahlia gardens, off Granlote street.

The following transfers have been recorded in the office of Westerly town clerk: Nov. 27. Georgia A. Nichols, widow, John D. and Lucy A. Nichols, husband and wife, Harry A. and Mary V. Nichols, husband and wife and Miss Jessie M. Nichols to South County Public Service company, easement in a 125 foot right of way for electric light lines, to revert to owners, if abandoned, extending from lands of William Miner to Boom Bridge road.

Nov. 27. John Catto to Annunziato Vuono and wife, Finita, V., land at Bradford on a proposed street adjoining property of Valentino Campo.

BIG FLAG POLE ERECTED ON NEW FIRE STATION

A 30-foot flag pole was erected Wednesday afternoon on the tower of the newly built central fire station headquarters of the Westerly Fire District, on Union street. From the pole is to be flown an American flag, the gift of Dr. Edwin R. Lewis, a well-known Westerly veteran fireman, who continues to take great interest in all fire-fighting activities.

Wednesday afternoon workmen were engaged cleaning up and grading the strip of land, the property of the district on the north side of the station building and adjoining the state court house end of Westerly town hall building. Much progress had been made in the grading of land on the south side of the new building and the work of razing the old wooden temporary fire company headquarters in the former garage building of the Panciera brothers, had progressed until the frame building was nearly demolished. Work of completing the interior where painters are now engaged was being held up by the plumbers. It is expected that the building will be partly occupied by next month.

WEDDINGS

Franks-Terranova

Wednesday afternoon at 3:30, at the parsonage of Grace Methodist church, High street, Miss Dorothy Luil Terranova, daughter of Henry G. Terranova, of Charlestown, R. I., became the bride of Carl J. Franks of New York city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Henry C. Suter, the pastor. Bride and groom were unattended. They will make their home in New York.

Stenhouse-Hutton

On Tuesday in New York Miss Sara E. Hutton, R. N., of Ocean View Heights, Mystic and Sergeant Ernest F. Stenhouse, a Rhode Island state trooper, of 37 Newton avenue, Westerly, were married at the Little Church Around the Corner. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. Randolph Ray. The groom is the son of John and Elisabeth Jordan Stenhouse and was born in New London. The bride, the daughter of Brouse J. and Charlotte Acton Hutton, was born in Smith Falls, Ont. Mr. and Mrs. Stenhouse will return to Westerly today (Thursday) for a short visit and will then take a trip to Canada.

Williams-Sylvia

About 50 relatives and friends assembled for the wedding of Miss Lenore Agnes Sylvia and Francis Edmund Williams at 7 o'clock Monday morning in St. Michael's church, Pawcatuck. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. Fr. John F. X. Quinn. The bride wore pale pink crepe de chine with metallic hat and carried white carnations. Miss Madelene Sylvia, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore pale blue flat crepe with blue velvet hat and carried pink carnations. Joseph Sousa was best man. After the ceremony a breakfast was served to thirteen at Peckham's inn. The bride's gift to her bridesmaid was a pendant and the groom's gift to his best man was a green-gold license case. Mr. and Mrs. Williams left for a wedding tour through Massachusetts and upon their return will reside with the groom's father, Julius Williams of Stonington.

Cronin-Ahern

A wedding of Westerly interest was that of Miss Beatrice Ahern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ahern of Troy, N. Y., and Timothy George Cronin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Cronin of Newton avenue, Westerly, Monday morning at St. Peter's church in Troy. A sister of the bride was maid of honor and Edward Cronin, brother of the groom, was best man. The groom was graduated from the Westerly high school in the class of 1917. He attended Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, N. Y., graduating from there in 1922. He is employed as a civil engineer by the New York Central railroad and at present is located at Ossining, N. Y.

WATERMAN-GREEN ESTATE TRIAL NOT FINISHED

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, Nov. 28—When the Washington county superior court adjourned at 4:30 Wednesday afternoon to convene Friday at 10:45 a. m. trial of the $20,000 suit of Miss Laura Waterman, registered nurse against the estate of Charles J. Greene, Richmond town treasurer, was still in progress. A handwriting expert was being cross-examined by Judge Rathbun, counsel for plaintiff Wednesday morning Miss Lottie M. Waterman, sister of the plaintiff, testified as to her making up an account for Miss Waterman. Judge J. O. Watts, counsel for Sumner Mowry, administrator of the estate, questioned witness, concerning two books belonging to Mr. Greene in which he is said to have kept account of the money paid Miss Laura Waterman as nurse and housekeeper. From the accounts as read by Judge Watts from the books it appeared that on April 26, 1915 from Mr. Greene's entry Miss Waterman had been paid $369.90 to date.

Stephen B. Wells, of Richmond, former representative and senator from that town in the general assembly, said he had known Mr Greene for 48 years. Mr. Wells told of Miss Waterman being very attentive to Mr. Greene, always seeing that he had a shawl or coat over his shoulders as he came outdoors The witness said Mr. Greene told him she would always have a home there.

Senator Charles S. Weaver of Richmond testified to knowing Mr. Greene for a period of about 40 years.

The plaintiff rested at 11:50 o'clock and James H. Robinson, a gate tender at the Hazard Kenyon railroad crossing, about 100 feet from the Greene residence, was called as the first witness. Mr. Robinson said he had a conversation with Mr. Greene at one time and he told him was paying Miss Waterman $15 a week.

James Greene Clark of Peace Dale, a nephew of the late Charles J. Greene, next witness called, said that in going over papers he came across an item of $30 paid to Miss Waterman. He said at that time Miss Waterman said she had been paid $15 a week. Miss Waterman never told him that the estate owed her money or that she had not been paid in full.

Dr. M. H Scanlon testified in the trial of the case that nurses' wages had gone up from $25 to $42 a week in 1927, and he gave the information that a nurse who did housework was generally entitled to $3 and $7 a week additional.

Mrs. Emma B. Williams, a neighbor of the late Charles J. Greene, told of his being in ill health for three years before his death and needing constant attention. He relied very much on the services of Miss Waterman, she added.

TO HAVE MARRIED LOCAL GIRL, BUT LANDS IN JAIL

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Nov. 29—Arthur Nerbonne, who has been employed here as a truck driver, instead of being on his honeymoon this week, is in the house of correction at New Bedford to serve a sentence of two months. Nerbonne was to have been married to a Danielson girl last Monday, and the banns of matrimony has been twice published here. On the very eve of his wedding there came the hint that his past was other than he admitted it to be. He never made known here that he had been previously married and that his divorced wife and a child of their union were resident in New Bedford. It was his neglect to provide for this minor child under an order of the probate court that led to his being sentenced yesterday to serve two months time. At the hearing in the probate court Mrs. Nerbonne testified that he was $300 in arrears on his payments for the support of the child.

Nerbonne first came into this territory as a bus driver for the New England Transportation company. He operated on the Providence-Williamantic line and made his headquarters here. Later he was employed in New York and about two years ago came near to being accidentally asphyxiated while working in a public garage. His fascination for a Danielson girl eventually brought him back here, and he pressed his suit for marriage so persistently that eventually all the arrangements were made for the marriage Monday. Til the last Nerbonne denied that he had ever been married, but conclusive evidence to the contrary being obtained, he was taken into custody by a state officer and turned over to the police of Fall River.

Christmas Seals Next Week

Next week brings to beginning of the sale of Christmas seals for this holiday season. Mrs. Agnes H. Paine is chairman of the organization that will have charge of the sale of the seals, which will be available at numerous places in town. Once again the public is informed that the Christmas seals are sold in the interest of afflicted humanity, and out of every dollar received here for the seals 83 cents remains to be expended, through the visiting nurse, for milk and eggs for needy families and to support the free monthly clinic conducted here by Dr. Hugh Campbell of Norwich, who specializes in the treatment of tuberculosis.

Tri-Y Girls Elect

Last evening Tri-Y girls elected officers for another year at a regular meeting held in the Parish house of the Westfield Congregational church. Miss Ruth Mellor was named as president, Miss Phyliss Kenworthy as vice president, Miss Grace Martin as treasurer and Miss Gertrude Reynolds secretary. Miss Florence Bedard was selected as pianist. A feature of the meeting was a short discussion period. Five new members were elected and will be received at the next regular meeting. C. Edwin Hill, County Y. M. C. A. secretary, entertained the members at last night's meeting with a showing of motion pictures, projected with a new machine he has acquired.

Quintal and McLean Fined

In the town court this morning Frederick Quintal of Goodyear was presented to answer to charges of reckless driving and with avoiding responsibility for an accident in which the car he was operating figured last Saturday night. On the reckless driving charge Quintal was fined $25, and on the other charge an additional fine of $50 with costs of prosecution. William McLean, Killingly, whose car Quintal was driving at the time of the accident, was fined $5 and costs for taking markers belonging to Earl Kibbe and illegally displaying them on his car. Quintal and McLean were the occupants of the machine that crashed into Homer Beecher's car on South Main street near the Quinebaug bridge last Saturday night.

There is the likelihood that Danielson will enter upon its loud deferred sidewalks building campaign next spring. A considerable amount of good sidewalk has been put down in various sections of the borough during the past two or three years, but much more remains to be built. Under a provision of its new charter, the borough now has control of the sidewalks within its limits. It is possible that some arrangement will be worked out under which the borough will pay a part of the cost of building sidewalks while the abutting property owners pay the remainder of the cost.

Announcement is made that, beginning next Sunday, Howard V. Miller superintendent of the New England district of the Church of the Nazarene, will begin a series of evangelistic meetings at the Nazarene church here. The meetings will continue through two weeks. On Sundays services are to be held at 10.30 a. m. and at 7 p. m. The week day services are to be held each evening excepting Saturdays at 7.30 p. m. Mr. Miller is announced as a particularly forceful and effective speaker.

Nathan Blumenthal, as chairman of the committee of arrangements, made announcement today of plans underway for a smoker to which all former service men are invited. A feature of the event is to be a card of boxing bouts between well known amateurs of Danielson and vicinity. The smoker is an incident of the present drive of Leo J. L'Homme post, American Legion, for additional members. The success of the canvass for members during the past fortnight has been very encouraging.

PUTNAM

WORK ON REMOVING RAILS HALTED UNTIL SPRING

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Nov. 29—Eugene Mignealt, chairman of the city highway committee said this afternoon that the section gangs of the Connecticut company had stopped their work on the removal of the trolley rails running through the streets of the city. The gangs began their work in Putnam Monday morning and removed a few of the rails when ordered to halt the work until more favorable weather arrived. Mr. Mignealt said today that the electric street railway will remain intact until the spring months of the year. The railroad now out of service, begins at South Main street, running south to Center, then north to Chapman street and from there to Grove. The rails, then continue to South Main running North to Front, to Main where they continue to Providence and then out to the city line.

Work continued today on the bridge at Providence street, with all preparations made for the insertion of the huge beams that will support the structure, spanning the Quinebaug. Workmen have been preparing the opposite side of the bridge, near the Belding Hemingway Silk company, to hold the girders. Concrete bases have been set in and are now being notched to hold the girders.

J. Frederick Ash, Windham county game warden, addressed the members of the Putnam Rotary club this afternoon at their weekly noon day luncheon. Mr. Ash told of the state's policies and practices towards preserving the fish and game, and talked especially upon their work in Windham county where he and his deputies preserve law and order in the woodlands. The state now is leasing streams, so as to insure plenty of trout and other fish for the anglers when they venture out in the spring. As an example of this work Mr. Ash offered the Snake Meadow brook in Killingly, one of the foremost trout brooks in the state, in which over 1500 fish were taken by fishermen in a single day. Mr. Ash told of the work the state is doing in stocking the hunting grounds with additional game species each season to replace the birds and animals killed the previous season. He made his talk brief and proved highly interesting.

The Putnam delegation to the Putnam Killingly football game to be held in Goodyear Thursday (Thanksgiving) morning will leave Putnam high school at 9.15 a. m. The group of rooters is expected to be the largest since Killingly and Putnam began their rivalry several years ago. The team members will be transported in private cars furnished by the members of the Putnam Rotary club.

OBITUARY

Charles Arnold

Charles Arnold, one of the city's oldest residents died at his home on South Main street last evening at the age of 85 years. Mr. Arnold's death was not sudden, as he had been ill for several weeks and had been confined to his bed for the past few days. Mr. Arnold was born in Coventry, R. I., and came to Putnam as cashier of the old Thompson bank which is now occupied by the Cargill Trust company. Later he entered the employ of the First National bank, as a teller and remained in that position until failing health forced him to retire from active service. Mr. Arnold is survived by two daughters, Miss Mary A. Arnold of Putnam, who made her home with him, and by Mrs. Elmer C. Wood of Elmville. He is also survived by a son, Charles W. Arnold of Providence.

Town and county institutions will celebrate the holiday when the feast is set before them tomorrow noon. The Windham County Temporary Home in the Sawyer district, 118 kiddies will sit down to dinner served under the guiding hands of "Mother" Parks, matron of the home. The menu will consist of roast pork and will include the serving of the much awaited candy, dessert, cakes, pies and ice cream.

At the town farm, 19 inmates will delight in a chicken dinner served by superintendent Hill. Supt. Hill said this afternoon that the dinner will also have the coveted extras.

At the Day Kimball hospital the staff and several patients now recuperating from ills will be able to enjoy the turkey dishes. The Thanksgiving offerings by the public has provided for much of this.

The community at large will be filled with holiday cheer, as sons and daughters at school and employed out of the city will return to be present at the annual Thanksgiving feasts.

"Heads up" was the watchword this afternoon as a light airplane circled over the city several times, endeavoring to find a place to land. The plane, according to local mechanics was "skipping" and doubtlessly was in danger of its engine stalling. Sudden gusts of unburned gases left a streak across the sky as the plane circled the city. It was seen dropping out of sight on the southern horizon, apparently in good running order and continued on to its destination.

Elisha Sherman, 77, died at his home in Abington today after a sudden illness. Mr. Sherman for many years has been a lover of antiques and his lonely home secluded in the Abington woods is better known to antique collectors than many of the famous avenues of New York city. His home is furnished with some of the rarest collections of antiquated articles, which have been the desire of many who indulge in this art.

Joseph Stoddard of Pomfret, who lost the sight of one eye last week in an explosion had the injured sight organ removed at the Day Kimball hospital yesterday.

Franklin Perry, a student at Amherst college is home for the Thanksgiving recess.

Miss Madelyn Houghton, a student at Dana hall, Wellesley, Mass., arrived home today for the Thanksgiving recess.

The Putnam Red Cross is 332 members behind in its drive for 100 members, which will close tonight. The 1,000 members was part of the annual roll call assignment. During the past three weeks in which the drive has been functioning the local chapter succeeded in reaching the total of 668 members. The drive will continue tonight with hopes of drawing in the necessary members to push the affair over the top. The Putnam chapter today expressed their thanks to the team members who did so well in obtaining the members, to the press who liberally devoted space to the cause and to the number of merchants who extended the use of their display windows for Red Cross advertising.

EKONK

Rev. George H. Reese of Central Village occupied the pulpit on Sterling Hill, Sunday, and preached an excellent Thanksgiving sermon from the text "What Shall I Render Unto God For All His Benefits to Me."

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hall suffered a great loss by the burning of their house in Ekonk, Saturday evening, caused by a defective chimney. Neighbors rallied to their assistance, but it was impossible to save the dwelling. Part of their furniture was saved. Mr. and Mrs. Hall spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Warren Tanner.

Roy Frink and a friend from New London were here recently, hunting.

Warren Tanner, John Tanner, Charles Tanner and Harry Maynard attended the annual meeting of the Plainfield local N. E. M. P. A. at Plainfield Grange hall, Monday evening. John Tanner was reelected president and Nathan Exley, secretary. Charles Tanner gave a report of the annual N. E. M. P. A. meeting in Boston. Mr. Finalman of Providence was present. The sisters of Plainfield Grange served an oyster supper.

Surveyors from the state highway department are surveying the road on Ekonk north to meet the state road on Sterling Hill.

Mrs. George Tanner is suffering an attack of bronchitis.

F. A. PARKER'S DEATH RECALLS OLD TIME MUSICIANS

The recent passing of Clarence Parker and his brother Fred A. Parker, brings to mind thoughts of other days, when they were associated with their father, Samuel Parker, in the manufacture of carriages etc., in their home town on Bozrah street. The firm's name was Parker Bros., Bozrah Conn., which was attached to a large number of fine vehicles which they built, and which found a ready sale. Samuel Parker and sons were fine musicians and their services were much sought for Fourth of July celebrations, entertainments, parties, etc. Samuel Parker and two sons also belonged to the Bozrah brass band. This band with its score of members was noted for its sweet music and the fine appearance of the members in their uniforms. On their caps were the bright letters B. B. B. They carried torches to see after dark. The very efficient band leader was Dwight E. Abel now of Willimantic. Another coincidence Selden Wightman played the bass drum; his sons, Elijah was the snare drummer, and Byron Wightman (who is still living) played the alto horn. This was about 45 years ago, but in memory it seems but yesterday that the townspeople saw and heard them play. All would like to hear the old band play again!

A very helpful Thanksgiving sermon was given by the pastor Sunday morning. There was no service in the evening, the people attending the Union Thanksgiving service of the four churches in town held with the Baptist church.

Pupils of school district No. 12, Miss Dorothy Davies, teacher, gave a very interesting play entitled The First Thanksgiving, during the Sunday school hour November 25.

The young people are rehearsing for a minstrel show to be given at an early date.

The Bozrah Electric Co. of Bozrah is to extend its line in the spring to Schillars, a distance of about two miles. The pole line is to be built across private land and will accomodate numerous farm homes along the way from Bozrahville.

People here were surprised when they awoke Friday morning to find several inches of snow on the ground; the snow had fallen so lightly it clung to the limbs of trees and small shrubbery. Another curious sight was the dense blanket of fog hanging over the river valley.

The first real cold snap came Sunday night when the quicksilver dropped down to 18 degrees. It is reported there has been lots of snow for sledding up in Massachusetts.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Randall and daughter, Miss Amy Randall and their cousin, C. L. Backus, of Andover, were recent visitors at the home of Mr. Randall's brother.

FRANKLIN

When Miss Myrtle Files, of Storrs, met recently with the Franklin Thimble Wearers at the home of their leader, Miss Florence Rockwood, a definite program of work for the coming year was outlined. This work includes smelling, basketry, pattern drafting and altering, dyeing, making complete outfit of clothing and other work. The next meeting is scheduled for Dec. 5. Refreshments were served by Miss Rockwood.

Rev. Robert Blair of the Yale Divinity school, New Haven, occupied the pulpit at Franklin Congregational church Sunday, his subject being Self-giving of the Master. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed.

A meeting of the Franklin Congregational church is to be held Friday evening.

The newly elected officers of the Nimble Workers were installed at a meeting held Saturday at the town hall. These officers are: President, Mary Manning; vice president, Jennie Jdzkowski; secretary, Marian Robinson; treasurer, Edna White. During the business meeting it was voted to adopt the star system of keeping record of cooks. Club songs were sung.

Mrs. C. H. Robinson was a recent guest of Mrs. George Geer of Plain Hills.

THANKSGIVING

Through proclamations by president and governor today has been set aside as a day of thanksgiving and we have been reminded of our religious duty in connection therewith.

It is in keeping with that ancient custom which was established by the early settlers in New England who could not forget their thanks for blessings received even when there was so much adversity and hardship encountered.

If there were good and sufficient reasons for expressing their thanks to a kind Providence then they have certainly increased as the years have gone on. It has been well said, "a year's sun, a year's rain, a year's labor have not been without their fruits. In farm and factory, in public endeavor and in private struggle toward the light, the twilight of the year shows results that forbid the gloomy and inspire courage and cheer. The instinct of thanksgiving belongs to courage. Gratefulness is the handmaid of grit. Nature's whisper of well being rises to a splendid volume of wholehearted song. Whatever may happen in America's own life, or in America's relations with the rest of the world, the reasons for thanksgiving shine with an unquenchable light. No disaster threatened or possible can obliterate the great fact of piled riches in natural and human resources. The fixing of Thanksgiving as a festival at the close of the harvest era is, after all, but an adaptation of symbols. The symbol is worth having, since it always visualizes the eternal charity of nature herself, and since it is an ever present reminder of the finest resources in human ideals, human aspiration, human will to win. It is from the gathered harvests, the assembled fruits of labor, the established signs of productive power in every activity of men and women that Thanksgiving gets its meaning."

As our forefathers did so should we give thanks to God for the many and perhaps too seldom appreciated blessings we have received. Well may we give consideration to such action more frequently than once a year.

A NICARAGUAN CANAL

It was inevitable when President-elect Hoover reached Nicaragua that there would be raised the question of constructing the Nicaraguan canal. That is a problem for the future depending upon engineering advice and conditions in the Panama waterway, but it becomes evident that Nicaragua is much interested in its possibilities and recognizes the advantages that it holds in store for that country.

There were the days when it was thought that the Panama canal would do for all time. Such a view is not held today. Its value to shipping has been recognized by all countries. The use of it is increasing every year. The receipts from the tolls have grown steadily until there has been some advocacy of a reduction. The canal has not been outgrown but its use has increased to the point where consideration has been given to the advisability of making extensive changes for the accommodation of more business, of making it a sea level canal and thus meeting all future requirements or of employing such funds as would be required in making changes at Panama for the construction of a new canal through Nicaragua and thus provide the facilities which are certain to be required some time.

The canal is naturally of much concern to Nicaragua inasmuch as this country holds the right to construct it and the right to establish defenses at each end for its protection. But that republic can appreciate the opportunities that would be created for that country by the building of a waterway through it. Such a canal would even provide a shorter water route between the eastern and western coasts of this country than is now the case by way of Panama.

A canal through Nicaragua will be built by this country when it is constructed. It will cost a large sum of money. It will have to be started before it is actually required and such a time will have to be determined by the congestion at Panama and the advisability of employing the funds there rather than on the present waterway. First and last it is an engineering proposition but it is nevertheless gratifying to know that Nicaragua wants it and appreciates the benefits it holds in store for that country.

CHANCE FOR IMPROVEMENT

Whether it was an effort to place the blame upon this country for the sinking of the Vestris, the statement in the British parliament that the vessel in distress might have been reached in two hours had its S. O. S. call been heard by the steamer Montgomery calls attention to the fact that there are vessels without such equipment. That places a handicap upon them and it makes it impossible for them to either give or receive aid.

It is of course far fetched to think that blame can rest upon this country but it nevertheless shows in a convincing manner what ought not to be.

There may have been various other ways in which the loss of life on the Vestris might have been prevented. It is possible to see how the vessel itself might have been kept from sinking, or getting into serious difficulty, but when an emergency arises it is of much importance that every possible effort be made to save lives and that every agency be employed in such work.

Regulations at the present time require wireless equipment for passenger carrying vessels. It is an invaluable provision. The innocence of the captain of the Montgomery as to what was going on within two hours of where his ship was located when the Vestris was sinking was due to the fact that he had no wireless on his ship. It is not the first time that it has been demonstrated that those who go to sea should have such a means of communicating their troubles to others or of learning of the difficulties which others were experiencing and where they might have been of assistance.

There will be no success in trying to fasten the blame upon Uncle Sam, but there are good prospects that the failure of the Montgomery to play a very prominent part in the rescue of the passengers and crew of the Vestris will unquestionably result in an agitation for the placing of wireless on all sea-going vessels, whether passenger or freighter. Such disasters have been the cause of many protective measures in the past and the lesson of the most recent one cannot be disregarded in this as well as other respects.

THE NORWICH INN

With the coming of December there will be opened here the campaign for the Norwich inn. This is undertaken in the belief that Norwich needs just such facilities as it is proposed to provide. Upon that point there can be little or no question.

This undertaking is the outgrowth of the recent survey that was made by the Babson organization. Its engineer encountered so many and such strong demands for increased, modern hotel facilities that he made it one of his important recommendations. It confirms a recognized need and the accomplishment of the effort is bound to be of decided benefit to the community.

That such a civic undertaking should awaken a general interest is only what is to be expected. Inasmuch as Norwich doesn't possess what is required by its people and its visitors and it becomes necessary to go to other cities to obtain accommodations and facilities such a conditino is bound to exist until the situation is met. It is the purpose in the ten day campaign to meet it, the belief being on the part of those well known citizens who are backing the movement and working for its success that the time has come for action and that the right method of accomplishing it has been adopted. The purpose is to do something for Norwich by removing what has been pointed out, and what is known, as one of its handicaps.

HOW CHICAGO DOES IT

Chicago has tolerated much in the way of crime and now it would appear that it was in a way to become the laughing stock of the world through the administration of justice.

It was only a few days ago that the head of a family went home and began to abuse his wife. He had been drinking. It was not the first time he had done such a thing. It had become a habit with him. It had greatly disturbed his son and the latter's resentment in addition to defending his mother, rose to such a point that he handed his father a gun and told him that he preferred to be dead than the son of a drunkard.

That might have been enough in some households to have brought the father to his senses, but not so in that Chicago home. The father took the gun, shot and killed his son and was arrested for his act.

The usual features in connection with this affair might have been considered enough to have had them ended there, but such was not the case. There was an immediate repentence on the part of the father. He was fearful of the penalty that might be inflicted upon him. When brought into court he began to cry. His family also began to cry over the fear that such a valuable father might be penalized. The wife and daughter sobbed and had such an influence upon the jury and the prosecutor that they began to weep and the latter declared he would prosecute the case no further. The result was that the jury deliberated five minutes and sobbed out a "not guilty" verdict and the man who killed his son and confessed it went free.

What a travesty on justice! That prosecutor, that jury, that court might as well have told the accused that even though he had taken a life, and that of his son, he had done a good job and hereafter he should not be bothered in his career of a drunkard and home smasher.

HUNTING.

"What's the matter?" asked Gregory Spaulding abruptly.

"Nothing." His wife began to collect the supper dishes with an absent air.

"Nonsense! Didn't I say that it had been a wonderful dinner? I did. Didn't I remark on how becoming that dress was? I did. Didn't I tell you how much I liked your hair done that? I did"

"It's the same way," murmured Gloria.

"That's not the point. I've tried all three of the old faithfuls, and not one of them worked. What's the trouble?"

"Oh—it's too silly to mention, but I might as well tell you. I've been reading all those travel books you borrowed, and they made me so crazy to go somewhere that it didn't seem I could stay here any longer. This afternoon I finally went to a movie just to get my mind off the subject, and, of course, I ran into that wild animal film that somebody took in Africa!"

"I should have thought you'd like that. Wasn't it good?"

"Wonderful! That's the trouble. It made me so crazy to go myself that I'll be a couple of days getting back to normal. Oh, Gregory, we will travel some time, won't we?"

"Sure thing. Want to start tonight?"

"Don't be beastly."

"I'm not. We can pretend can't we? Don't you remember how much fun we had planning the house we were going to build? Where do you want to go?"

"Anywhere—away from this apartment and Chicago and everything. Let's go to Africa."

"Our boat sails from New York," explained Gregory. "Let's hurry."

New York, it seemed, was the living room, for once there Gloria was stretched in her "deck-chair," wrapped in an imaginary steamer blanket and commanded to watch the waves.

"We're off," announced Gregory. "Isn't the sea calm tonight— Look at the gulls; they never seem to tire."

"When do we land?" asked Gloria dreamily.

"Right now. Here we are."

"Where are we?"

"London. Come around to the sporting dealer's and pick out your arsenal."

Gloria spent a good deal of time choosing her guns. She selected an umbrella for elephant, a golf stick for smaller game and an old rubber to serve as revolver. They left the store-closet rather regretfully, and made the trip from London to Nairobi in record time.

"We're hunting now," explained Gregory. "You and I, creeping over the veldt with our gunboys at our heels. We come to the top of a little hill and peer over between two thorn trees. In the distance we see—"

"Oh, Gregory, what's that?"

"I can't make it out. It's either an elephant or an ant hill."

"No, no. Over there. It's moving. It's alive!"

"Well, as I live and breathe! A giraffe! Do you want to stalk it or try a shot from here?"

"But, really, Gregory. Yeeee! It's a mouse. Do something!"

Gregory followed her pointing finger and made out a furry flash in the gloom of the corner. Snatching up the elephant gun, he charged across the room.

"He's gone, dear."

"Over your head. Oh, be careful!"

Gregory glanced up and noted that his tiny prey had scaled the portiere and was sitting comfortably in one of the rings at the top. Gregory scored three clean misses, with the elephant gun before knocking the rod out of its brackets.

"Got him!" exulted Gregory, pounding the puddle of brocade.

"Be careful. You're bending the umbrella. Oh, Gregory, what if you've squashed him!"

"The mighty hunter has made his kill," proclaimed Gregory, sorting the remnant of mouse out of the fabric. "Tell for the gunboy and the camera. How will this head look back home over the fireplace?

"Take it away," pleaded Gloria. "I feel ill. Didn't you see how cute he looked, sitting up in that ring? His little ears and his little paws—"

"All right, all right. Out he goes." Gregory made a hurried trip to the back porch and returned minus his trophy. "Forget it. We're off again. Shall we run up Mount Kenia and pot some gorilla?"

"I'm tired of Africa," wailed Gloria. "I'm tired of killing things. Let's go straight home and call up the Whites and see if they went to play bridge."

"Fair enough," grinned Gregory returning the rifles to the store on his way to the telephone—Chicago News.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Entertainments in Other Days

Mr. Editor: I have often thought and wondered if the young people of today get the real pleasure out of life that we old timers did. Of course they do not know of those other days except what is told them, perhaps by their fathers or mothers, or they may hear some old acquaintance who can give them an insight into the activities of those times. There is no question in my mind but today there are more things to attract the young element than was ever known before, with gas wagons, movies, and if they want a real thrill they can take a chance in a lighter than air machine, go up into the clouds and look down on their neighbors, for the sky is the limit.

We think of some of our amusements. Where we were entertained at some of the shows in Breed hall and by the way, Breed hall at one time was the finest and best show place in the city of Norwich. Although there were many small halls none had the seating capacity that was to be found there. And further, none of the shows of today can compare with those of the old days, with some of the finest road shows of that time.

On this statement I don't intend to back up, for the "fly by nights" that we had the pleasure of seeing and listening to had some of the greatest stars that were ever known to the stage. They far outshone the ones of today, for, consider this, there were none of the accessories as of today. No spot lights nor none of the thousand and one things that serve as props to back up an actor and help him put his stuff across. Then they had the ability and did not need artificial means to reach the ones out in front. At this moment there come to memory some of the many that I had the pleasure of seeing and listening to and I want some of you old timers to see how many you can recall in this list:

Dion Boucicault in the "Shangrann." He it was who wrote the song that is dear to the heart of every son of Erin, "The Wearing of the Green." In his play, "Colleen Bawn," he had no equal.

Frank Chanfran in that great border play of Davy Crockett. "Be sure you are right, then go ahead."

Joseph Murphy in the Kerry Gow with his wonderful singing voice. I would like to tell you the beautiful story connected with this, but time and space forbid.

Joe Jefferson in Rip Van Winkle.

J. K. Emmett in Fritz in Ireland.

Madame Parepa Rosa in English opera.

Charles T. Ellis in a play called The Wandering Minstrel. What a voice he had! David Warfield with Barlow Bros. Minstrels, who many among you haven't seen in years. After he was in the "Music Master" and the "Auctioneer." Also the greatest violinist perhaps of all time—Remenyi.

Every one of these and many others have made their bow before the people of Norwich at Breed hall, and through the medium of your very estimable paper, The Bulletin, were brought to the notice of the public.

Today there isn't, in my opinion, one who can compare with any of the above in their own peculiar line, for when they were through there may have been others who aspired to take their places but there was a something lacking. What it was I cannot say, perhaps their stars were the part, while the others only acted it.

Don't let the reader think for one moment that we had to depend upon others for our amusements, for we were able to hand out our line of hokum and there were any number of boys who had a certain amount of talent as singers, musicians and otherwise and they frequently started out barnstorming. One of the early troupes composed of local talent was known as Lester and Mack's Minstrels. The Lester was Harry Lester, or, if you please, Johnny Cleary, who is the steward of the Chelsea club. And he was as good and clever as anything on the big time circuit. The Mack was none other than Tom McMahon, who then lived at the corner of 11th street and Main. He was very clever as a clog dancer and today holds a responsible position with the Winchester Arms Co. in New Haven. With this aggregation there were many men who became factors in the social and political life of their home city. The orchestra connected with this were all fine and talented players, and some of them are living in the city today. Here is a partial list: Charlie Wilbur, cornet; William Gordon, clarionet; Ed Sauter, violin; Frank Holmes, 'cello, with organ or piano, as the occasion might require. Now I want to tell you of a date that we had in Jewett City at one time, the show to be put on in "Whiting's" hall. We had a tough time getting there, for it was an old-fashioned New England winter, and quite some snow on the ground. The night we were due, we had hired a carryall that had no doubt seen service for many years and was a counterpart of the "Deacon's old one hoss shay; that ran for a hundred years to a day." Well, anyway, our driver's name was Pat Regan, in the employ of Thad Gordon, who was one of the solid men of Greeneville. Well, we started and they got about where the J. B. Martin hall ground is located today when I think a wheel came off. Please note I say "they" had to get out, flounder around in the snow and fix things up, for I wasn't with them just then—for I come in later. Well, repairs were made and they started again. But some of the bunch walked for it was rough going and then one of the traces broke. But they were used to trouble by this time, and they finally got under way again although their craft was not very seaworthy. Here is where the writer comes on in this comedy, for I, with one of my old pals, a young fellow named John Blumley, went up on the train early and we stopped at a hotel run by a man named Ira Lewis to get something to eat and go from there to the hall. Blumley sold the tickets, while I received them at the door, the show to start at 8 o'clock sharp; so the bills said, and then it was 8:30 and the only artists in sight were the bird who was taking the tickets and the one selling them. Nine o'clock came in sight as it has done many times since and still no wandering minstrels. A goodly crowd was there and it was 9:15, when they began to stumble in and the two advance agents heaved a sigh of relief. And then yours truly called for the attention of the audience and explained the situation. And stated, "We are going to give you a good show, and in addition, due to the fact that you have been so patient, we will give you three hours of good dancing." And, as they say in the big time, we put this over big. Oh, yes, we got home next day—and how!

My, how time flies!

Yours very truly,
C. H. "DAD" SHAW.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 — (AP) — Return of Theodore E. Burton of Ohio to the senate of the 71st congress will be a notable event.

For one thing, it's an utterly unprecedented affair for a senator to retire from that body and later enter the house, as Burton did; but to reverse the process to normal again and for the second time advance from house to senate makes the political career of this distinguished Ohioan a thing by itself.

Result of Own Decision

Back in the dim ages, a vice president resigned that office to become a senator, to harken to senate proceedings is to reach a conclusion that senators generally look upon their jobs as being second in importance and dignity only to the presidency itself. Some seem to doubt even that. The normal process, too, for the selection of senators seems to be promotion of house members, although woe betide the senator or the newspaperman who dares speak or write of the "lower house" of congress.

It was so in Burton's case. As chairman of the house rivers and harbors committee he achieved such prominence that his first term in the senate was conferred on him by the Ohio legislature.

Looking back instead of forward, it seems certain he could have continued in the senate indefinitely. It was by his own motion he retired, refusing to be a candidate for re-election in 1914 because of his numerous splits with his republican colleagues on party policy. The final straw was his decision to follow President Wilson's urge for repeal of the Panama Canal Tolls act in that year.

Fateful Retirement

And in reaching that decision, it now seems that Burton was unwittingly the very finger of American political destiny. But for his refusal to run for re-election to the senate in 1914, Warren G. Harding might never have come to Washington politically life, never have reached the white house to die in office and open the way to the presidency for Calvin Coolidge.

Lacking that chain of circumstances all flowing out of Burton's withdrawal from the senate, who can say what the course of American political history might have been? What might otherwise have been the status of Herbert Hoover? For it was the seat voluntarily vacated by Burton which Harding filled to give him the place that made him his party's candidate for the presidency in 1920.

Burton's swan song in the senate was the filibuster he led successfully against a democratic $53,000,000 river and harbor bill. Revolt of 16 democrats led finally to the first lump sum river and harbor bill, pruned to $20,000,000. Now, as an outgrowth of that battle, the lump sum $50,000,000 substitute for the old fashioned "pork barrel" river and harbor measure is an established practice.

Yet the thing that Burton's republican colleagues of the senate believed then actually moved him to retire was not his differences with party leadership, but his judgment that it was to be a democratic year in Ohio and that he would be defeated if he did run. He was mistaken; and out of that error, born of what men like Charlie Curtis regarded as political timorousness, flowed events vital in American history.

YOUR HEALTH

Pyorrhea, Insidious, Frequently Cause of Extensive Destruction

By W. D. Tracy, D. D. S., New York City

Twenty-five years ago the malady bearing the name "pyorrhea" was called a "filth disease." While there were some good reasons for the use of the term, it is now spoken of as a disease of neglect.

While we do find pyorrhea in the mouths of patients who are faithful and particular about the care of the mouth and teeth, it can almost always be traced back to a time when they were less methodical and the departure from the normal had occurred and become chronic before they realized the presence of the disease.

There are several factors, both local and systemic, involved in the development of pyorrhea. While it is impossible to discuss these factors at length, we will mention a few points of interest to the lay reader.

Pyorrhea is a disease that attacks not only the gums and fibrous membranes that support the teeth in their bony sockets, but the bone tissue itself. It is easy to understand, therefore, how destructive this disease, if unrestrained, may be. While advanced pyorrhea is accompanied by more or less discomfort, it is not in the class of painful diseases and is therefore all the more insidious, frequently causing extensive destruction of the tissues before the patient really realizes that they are seriously involved.

The most common of all the causes that are involved in the beginning of the disease is the needless accumulation of fermenting food debris and sordid material that is permitted to remain in contact with the gum margins and necks of the teeth. These accumulations become virtual hotbeds of bacteria, and act as a constant source of irritation to the delicate tissues upon which they rest.

Tartar upon the necks of the teeth is an accumulation of mineral salts that forms gradually and produces mechanical irritation of the gums, which then become red, flabby and congested and being deflected from the neck of the tooth the beginning of a pyorrhea pocket is seen. Malocclusion of the teeth is also a frequent cause of pyorrhea, and can be detected and remedied only by a dentist.

The only way we know of to prevent patients from acquiring pyorrhea is for them to begin early in life to follow a careful regime of personal attention to the dental toilet, brushing the teeth twice or thrice a day. In addition to this, a competent dentist should be consulted at least twice a year for examination, advice and treatment. In this way only can the early evidences of pyorrhea and other dental disorders be detected and kept under control.

WHAT IS A CITY?

Announcement that Plymouth, England, has recently been given the title of "city" gives rise to the question "What is a city?" Plymouth, with some 200,000 people, about equals the population of Richmond, Va., or Syracuse, N. Y. A bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society states that the requirements for the designation of "city" vary in different parts of the world.

"Formerly any English town having a cathedral was called a city," continues the bulletin. "A later status, not legally confirmed, gave incorporated towns which were or had been episcopal sees (seats of bishops' jurisdiction), the right to that designation.

"In the states where population designates which are cities and which are towns, the numerical requirement necessary to constitute a 'city' varies. In Massachusetts towns having a population far larger than communities which proclaim themselves 'cities,' cling to their 'town' designations because of historic pride in their 'town meetings.' Brookline, for example, with 40,000 people, insists on remaining a 'town.'

"The English 'city' and the French 'cite' are used in versions of the Bible to translate the Latin 'civitas.' That the Israelites did not discriminate between 'cities' and 'towns' is apparent in the fact that they referred to a comparative metropolis like Jerusalem and small communities like Bethlehem and Nazareth all as 'cities.'

"The Greeks and Romans regarded a town as any assemblage of people living together under municipal laws. A city had the status of an independent state. Inhabitants of the surrounding countryside were allowed the rights of citizenship. Athens and Rome were early city-states. Medieval Italy had many city-states, such as Venice and Florence. And, in our own time, the treaty of Versailles set up the Free City of Danzig.

"In China cities are walled towns. The rank of a city is designated by a prefix or suffix attached to its name. Thus 'fu,' 'chow' or 'ting' affixed to the name of the city indicates its respective importance in the 'tao' or section of the province in which it is located.

"It is claimed that Damascus in Syria is the world's oldest city. The exact date of its origin is unknown. While cities of great renown have antedated Damascus, it has good claim to being the oldest city continuously inhabited. Modern Damascus is not unlike the city that stood in the days of the prophets. It is still of commercial importance, a center of trade for the surrounding desert."

Not Satisfied

A certain high tempered and none too refined man had a fight with a neighbor and was placed in the lockup charged with assault and battery. Lacking money he sent the following note, after several days, to his son in law:

"I want you to see Henry and some of my other friends around there and try to arrange a bond to get me out of jail. I am not a bit satisfied here."

Smiles

Myrtle accompanied her mother on an errand into the city and relating her experiences excitedly to her daddy on his return from business, said:

"Mother and I turned the car a way we ought not to and policeman stopped us. Mother said: 'Don't say a word, just smile.' We diss smiled and he says, 'It's all right this time, sister.'"

ALL-AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA TO EUROPE

ANN ARBOR, Mich., (AP)—An orchestra of 150 pieces, the members of which will represent almost as many high schools in the United States, will visit Europe next summer.

The organization will be assembled and plans perfected by Joseph E. Maddy of the University of Michigan school of music, chairman of the instrumental affairs committee of the music supervisors' national conference.

An invitation to bring a high school orchestra to Europe came from Percy A. Scholes of London, eminent musician, who heard the national high school orchestra play at the music supervisors' convention in Chicago last summer.

CONSTIPATION IS PLAGUE OF RACE

Eat Fruits and Vegetables — Properly Flavored

The papers are full of statements and theories about constipation—one of the plagues of civilized people. What are the facts? A famous food biologist was asked to state the case and he summed it up in these few words: "At least 90% of constipation is due to a lack of roughage in the diet. Eat bran, cereals, and fruits and vegetables both raw and cooked."

He went on to emphasize how much more pleasant it is to eat these healthful foods provided their delightful tastes and flavors are developed by the use of sugar. He spoke of how hard it is to get children to eat cereals, so beneficial in their diet, unless they are properly sweetened. He asked us to remember how many healthful fruits would be unpleasant to the taste without softening the fruit acids and developing their remarkable flavors with sugar.

We should put it down as a safe rule of health that all human beings living in the civilized world today need plenty of fruit and vegetable fiber in their daily diet. Sugar, by making nearly all such diets pleasant to taste and easy to eat, is the one dependable aid to the eating of roughage.

There is no substitute for sugar in the normal diet. Sugar is Nature's ideal flavor for healthful [illegible] you need and [illegible]

Notification has been received by Capt. Charles T. Potter of Norwich of the death at her home, 1447 Fair avenue, Columbus, Ohio, Monday morning of the widow of John T. Lanman. Mr. Lanman was a former resident of Norwich and died over a year ago. Since then the health of his widow gradually failed.

Captain Potter was frequently accompanied on fishing trips out of Noank in former years by John T. Lanman.

Edward T. Monahan

Edward T. Monahan, veteran of the world war, died Wednesday afternoon in this city following an illness of about a week with pneumonia. Mr. Monahan, who was employed as a lineman, was born in Norwich and was the son of the late Michael and Mary Connell Monahan.

He served overseas with Battery E, 56th Artillery, for about 16 months and took part in the battles of the Marne and the Argonne-Meuse. Surviving are two sisters, Misses Nellie and Susie Monahan of Norwich, a brother, Michael Monahan of Providence and several nieces and nephews.

FUNERALS

Frances Cook

The funeral of Frances Cook, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Cook, of No. 22 York avenue, was held at the home of her parents Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The burial was in St. Mary's cemetery. Undertakers Cummings & Ring had charge of the funeral arrangements. The child died Tuesday and is survived by her parents and three brothers and sisters.

Jeremiah J. Desmond

With a very large attendance of relatives and friends, including the members of the New London County Bar association and delegations from other organizations, the funeral of Jeremiah J. Desmond, former mayor of the city and former coroner of the county, was held Wednesday morning at 8:15 o'clock at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Francis D. Donohue, 156 Broadway. At 9 o'clock there was a solemn high requiem mass at St. Patrick's church with Rev. John J. Reilly celebrant, Rev. William A. Keefe, deacon, and Rev. Frederick M. Coholan sub-deacon. Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael H. May occupied a seat in the sanctuary.

Henry J. LaFontaine presided at the organ and as the waiting hymn, Roderick F. Sullivan sang Jesus, Lover of My Soul. At the recessional, a duet, Nearer, My God to Thee, was sung by Mr. LaFontaine and Mr. Sullivan. As the body was borne from the church, Mr. LaFontaine played Chopin's Funeral March, with chime accompaniment.

The burial was in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery and the committal service was conducted by Monsignor May. The honorary bearers were W. S. Allis, Nelson J. Ayling, John A. The body was sent to Hydro, Okla., where his father lives and where burial will take place.

PAST CENTURY MARK DIES IN STONINGTON

Miss Anna Madeira Sylvia, reputed to be 103 years of age, and probably the oldest woman in New England, died Tuesday noon at the home of Manuel Lema, 22 Diving street, Stonington.

She was born in the Azores, being the daughter of the late Joseph M. and Anna (Katana) Sylvia. She came to Stonington many years ago and was a well known resident of the borough.

Miss Sylvia enjoyed good health up until about seven years ago, when illness confined her to bed. She had been an invalid since then

NOLLES IN TEN CASES IN FIRST DAY OF CRIMINAL COMMON PLEAS

Nolles were entered in ten cases here Wednesday, when the session of the criminal common pleas court was opened with 47 new and continued cases on the docket, Judge C. B. Waller presiding and Charles B. Whittlesey as prosecuting attorney. Several of those presented before the court elected to be tried by court or jury and the court will come in here again next Tuesday for the first trial.

Abraham N. Meyer of this city pleaded not guilty to a violation of the motor vehicle law, in which he was charged with reckless driving in Old Lyme. He elected to be tried by the court.

Levi S. Talbot of Montville, charged with a violation of the motor vehicle law, had his case nolled on the payment of $25.

John Novellino of New London charged with a violation of the motor vehicle law, had his case nolled on the payment of $39.90.

The case of Samuel A. Melanson of Stonington, charged with breach of the peace, was continued.

Elias F. Stockett of this city, charged with non-support, had his case continued.

Daniel Finn, Jr., of this city, charged with non-support, had his case nolled.

Bonds of $500 were called in the case of William B. Fleming, formerly of this city, now of parts unknown, who was charged with a violation of the motor vehicle law, and who failed to make his appearance in court.

Malcolm H. Austin of this city pleaded guilty to a violation of the motor vehicle laws and was fined $50 and costs. He was in a collision on March 12, 1927 in which several persons were injured.

The case of Joseph Spardaro of New London, charged with non-support, was continued.

Nolle on the payment of $10 was entered in the case of Olivard Bouchard of this city, charged with violation of the motor vehicle law.

The cases of John and Julia Ruszenas of Jewett City, charged with breach of the peace, were continued.

Leon J. Bassette of Norwich, charged with a violation of the motor vehicle law, pleaded not guilty to reckless driving in Franklin, Aug. 25, and elected to be tried by a jury.

Mrs. Rose De Stefano and Joseph Zenkowski, both of this city, who had appealed to this court from fines of $400 and costs and jail sentences of 10 days on charges of violation of the liquor law, had nolles entered in their cases upon recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney Whittlesey. Both were represented by Attorney Thomas M. Shields. The evidence against the two was obtained by the police by the use of a stool pigeon.

This man was not in court and Prosecuting Attorney Whittlesey explained that his name was James Young of Windham, a frequent inmate of the Brooklyn jail, who had applied for lodging at Norwich police headquarters and had been used by the police to get liquor evidence. Afterwards the man went around a second time and tried to get liquor evidence. Afterwards the man went around a second time and tried to get money from those on whom he had the evidence. Mr. DeStefano and Zenkowski refused to pay.

Young disappeared after the cases came up in the city court, the prosecutor said, but he wouldn't believe him if he were here and wouldn't ask any jury to believe him.

Vincenzo Ginesi of this city, who was ordered to pay his wife the sum of $5 a week for support for a period of six months or else go to jail for 30 days, from which he appealed, obtained a nolle in his case. The couple are now living together.

Julia Wendt of Montville pleaded not guilty to selling cider to State Policeman Peter B. Busch of the Groton barracks and elected to be tried by a jury. Attorney Josiah Greenestein is her counsel.

The case of Marjorie Ruth Boylan of Middletown, charged with speeding at Salem Four Corners, was nolled on the payment of $25.

Charles Rodden of this city pleaded not guilty to keeping liquor with intent to sell. Rodden was before this court on an appeal from the city court which gave him a fine of $200 and a jail sentence. Rodden is to stand trial by jury and the court after listening to his plea of poverty, ordered that Public Defender Charles L. Stewart look after his interests. Rodden is out under bail. He was gathered in by the local police on July 7, last, after a quantity of alleged beer, claimed to be owned by him was found.

A nolle was entered in the case of John Haink of Montville, who was charged with indecent exposure.

Julia Juikleurtz of this city was given a fine of $200 and a jail sentence of 30 days, the execution of which was suspended after she pleaded guilty to selling a half-pint of liquor to a state police on July 6. The court gave her to understand that leniency was shown to her because of her family of four small children.

A nolle was entered in the case of William Jaken of this city, charged with peddling without a license. The defendant it was charged, sold religious literature and sold some to Captain Thomas Murphy of the Norwich police. In the city court of Norwich he was fined $10 and costs, so that he might appeal it as a test case. According to Prosecuting Attorney Whittlesey, "the facts in the case does not warrant taking any time with him here." He explained the matter of the religious literature, some of which he (Jaken) gave away, taking something in return for. He asked for an absolute nolle, which the court granted. Attorney Charles L. Stewart appeared for the accused.

The case of David O'Brien of Sprague, charged with a violation of the motor vehicle law, was nolled. Prosecuting Attorney Whittlesey said that there was practically no case against O'Brien but the Sprague court took the procedure in order to save the town the costs.

Nolle upon payment of $10 was the way in which the court disposed of the case of Olivard Bouchard of Taftville, charged with intoxication. The case came from the justice court at Lisbon last July, where Bouchard was charged with violation of the motor vehicle law.

THANKSGIVING ADDRESS FOR NORWICH ROTARY CLUB

Although it was the monthly business meeting of the Norwich Rotary club a half hour was devoted to the observance of Thanksgiving Wednesday noon at the Wauregan hotel with Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth as the speaker. Rev. Mr. Danforth, who is a past president of the New London Rotary club, was introduced by Benjamin H. Palmer, Jr. Rev. Mr. Danforth spoke on Thanksgiving and What It Should Mean to the Individual and in a most eloquent talk said in part:

"No two persons are thankful for the same things or thankful in the same way. But all of us should be thankful in the right way. The majority of persons govern their thankfulness by comparisons; they are thankful because they have more than their neighbor; thankful because they are not afflicted as some other people in the world and thankful because this is better than that. We should say to ourselves, I am thankful within myself. Have an absolute thankfulness rather than a comparative.

As we look back over the past year there is much that we find to be thankful for. There may have been sadness and heartaches during the year but there are the bright spots that in the sunset of the closing year loom like sun-haloed mountain peaks rising from a drab tableland. Life is not all shadows. Our years have just as much daylight as dark but our lives are different for the daylight far surpasses the darkness. Even out of our most trying sorrows we can find something for which to be thankful. Go into an old attic and we see many things stored away there and we wonder why these things were saved. In every house there are two receptacles for cast off things, the attic and the ashcan. So it is with ourselves, we have the attic of memory and the ashcan of forgetfulness. It is our task to decide into which receptacle things in our lives shall go.

Then we must consider at this thanksgiving time not for what we are thankful but for whom and toward whom. In a visit to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem I found gathered there peoples of every known creed, all eyeing the other with askance. They were of divergent creeds but they had all gathered there—why? Because they came to the place where One whom they had never seen had lived and sacrificed for them. For Him we should be thankful and to Him we should give thanks.

Rev. Mr. Danforth was given a hearty vote of appreciation.

At the meeting which was the monthly business meeting President Edward W. Jewett, presided and Flint Brayton acted as song leader, there were reports of progress from the various committees. H. B. Cary announced that the first meeting in December would be under the direction of Glenn Merithew, Lucius Briggs and Thomas Burdick, and that the topic would be "Buying and Selling Relations." E. LaRue gave a brief but full and comprehensive report for the Vocational Service committee. Charles E. Taylor was appointed chairman of the Christmas observance committee. The meeting closed with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Siegfried Sonnenberg Was Fined

Machinery in the artificial silk and cotton department of the Rossie Velvet company's plant in Noank will be moved soon to the Mystic plant, it was announced this week by John Rossie, owner.

FINDS NO CRIMINAL BLAME IN ACCIDENT

No criminal liability is found against Carl A. Yeaton, a sailor from the submarine base, who was driving an automobile on Oct. 26 at the time when one of his sailor friends, John Dush, sustained fatal injuries, according to a finding made by Coroner Edward G. McKay.

Coroner McKay makes his finding in substance as follows:

John Dush died in the town of New London from rupture of the bladder, contusion of the brain, fracture of pelvis, fracture of nose, traumatic shock, fracture of the right humerus, injuries sustained by him in the town of Old Lyme, Oct. 27, 1928, when a Buick touring car owned by Odell S. Harrison and driven by Carl A. Yeaton, collided with a tree on the side of the highway, throwing Dush against the tree and onto the ground, causing the fatal injuries.

On the evening of Oct. 27, 1928, John Dush started out from the submarine base, near New London, for his home in Bridgeport. He was a sailor attached to the submarine base and was planning to spend Sunday, the day following, at his home. He invited two other young men, Odell S. Harrison and Carl A. Yeaton, who also were sailors attached to the submarine base, to visit with him at his home. This party of three started from the base at about 9 a. m. in a Buick roadster, registered in Maine as No. 123-732, and in the name of John E. Witt, U. S. S. 48, Portsmouth, N. H. The automobile was in charge of Harrison and was kept in New London. Harrison it appears was part owner of the car.

When the party left the submarine base, Yeaton was driving, Harrison was sitting in the middle and Dush on the right. The seat of the roadster was large enough to hold three persons. They rode through New London, stopping at a garage on Bank street to purchase a quantity of gasoline. They rode on, over the Boston Post road, toward Saybrook. When they arrived at Old Lyme they rode straight through and missed the turn to the west which leads across to the Connecticut river. They came to what is called the Lower road, which is a main highway leading from Waterford, through Old Lyme, to the Connecticut river, and runs nearer to the shore of Long Island sound than the Post road. They were unfamiliar with the correct route or direction and took the wrong turn and started back toward New London. On the way they inquired and were informed that they should reverse their direction along the same highway to reach Saybrook. This they did and started back over the same route on the Lower road.

When they reached a point a short distance east of Black Hall, they drove around two sharp curves without any trouble. As they came to another curve, which had a slight arc a passenger automobile passed them with strong headlights. The highway at this point is slightly crowned of bituminous macadam construction with dirt shoulders. The road falls away near the edge of the hard portion of the highway. When Yeaton saw the automobile approaching, he drove to the right hand side of the road. In so doing the right wheels went onto the dirt shoulder and on the slope of the slight crown. He tried to steer back into the center of the road but was unable to do this in time to avoid hitting a tree which was a few feet off the hard portion of the highway. The right side of the automobile collided with the tree, totally demolishing that side and the right rear wheel. The automobile then swerved to the right and came to rest partly against the highway fence and another tree which was about 50 feet away from the first tree that was hit. Yeaton was practically uninjured and when the car came to rest, he got out from behind the steering wheel, which was intact. Both Harrison and Dush were thrown out of the car on the right side, and when found were lying very close to it, with their feet on or near the right running board. Both sustained serious injuries, but Dush was in the more critical condition.

Passing motorists lent assistance and the three young men were taken to the Lawrence memorial hospital in New London by a party who arrived shortly after the accident. Harrison's injuries were not fatal, but Dush expired the following day from his injuries.

During an investigation which was conducted at the scene of the accident, evidence of liquor was found, in the form of a bottle containing a small quantity of liquor. This bottle was found in the grass about 20 feet to the rear of the wrecked automobile. However, I am convinced that the three young men who were involved in the accident did not own this liquor and were entirely sober before and at the time of the accident. I believe that this bottle was thrown there by someone who came to the scene after the accident and before the police arrived.

The condition of the automobile has considerable bearing on the probable speed at which it was traveling at the time of the accident. The blow was sustained on the right side near the door. The car then swung around, went 20 feet, and hit a tree and fence. The damage caused by this second collision was slight. It seems that if the car had been going at a high rate of speed, the damage resulting from the second collision would have been considerably greater. The accident undoubtedly was caused by the fact that the car went off the hard surface partly onto the dirt shoulder; this combined with the slight crown and the curve made it difficult to come back to the hard surface in time.

I am satisfied that the death of John Dush was not caused by the criminal act, omission or negligence of any other person or persons.

THANKSGIVING DINNERS AT INSTITUTIONS IN NORWICH

Thanksgiving dinners will be served, as usual, at the various institutions of the city and town. At the Rock Nook home there will be a full course turkey dinner, served under the direction of Mrs. Murray, the matron. The 32 children and eight employes at the home will enjoy the special dinner at noon.

Norwich State Hospital

Roast turkey and chicken will feature the menu at the Norwich State hospital today. There are 2,237 patients and 434 employes at the institution. In addition to roast turkey the menu will consist of white and sweet potatoes, cranberry sauce, celery, olives, mince pie, coffee.

Most of the supplies that will provide the dinner were raised at the institution.

The following supplies will be required for the 2,670 dinners: About 2,000 pounds of chicken; 1,000 pounds of sweet potatoes; 300 pounds of cranberry; 66 2-3 bunches of celery; 600 one and one-half pound loaves of bread; 1,000 pounds of turnips; 70 pounds of coffee; 1,025 pounds of onions; 600 quarts of milk; 400 pies; seven barrels of apples; 1,000 pounds of white potatoes; 24 pounds of possum; 88 pounds of turkey, and 400 pounds of sugar.

Backus Hospital

At the W. W. Backus hospital, Miss Lucy G. Abbott, the superintendent, has arranged special dinners for the employes and patients. There are 71 patients, 21 employes and 54 nurses at the hospital. The menu will be as follows: Soup, roast turkey, dressing, gravy, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, squash, plum pudding, mince pie, ice cream, tea, coffee, fruit, nuts.

At County Jail

The menu at the New London county jail will consist of a roast pork dinner. The 36 men and one woman will be served the following menu: Roast pork, boiled onions, mashed potatoes, turnips, mine and pumpkin pie, oranges, tobacco.

At County Home

A chicken dinner, fruit, candy and nuts will be served at the New London county home, under the direction of Miss Jessie Gibson, the matron. There are 71 children at the home. At the almshouse, Supt. and Mrs. Charles Ellis have arranged for a roast beef dinner for the family of 30 men and 14 women. There will also be potatoes, turnips, onions, cranberries, mince, squash pie and cake.

For Sheltering Arms

G. Wyman Carroll has made possible a turkey dinner at the Sheltering Arms, for the eight employes and the family of 16. Miss B. W. Beckwith, the matron, is in charge of the dinner.

Distribution by Elks

Norwich lodge, No. 430, B. P. O. E. distributed Wednesday afternoon 150 baskets of food for worthy poor families in and about the city. The baskets contained pork loins, potatoes, onions, turnips, butter, tea, coffee, crackers, bread, milk and sugar. Members of the lodge delivered the baskets under the direction of the welfare committee, William S. Murray, chairman; Frank Donnelly, secretary; James T. Egan, William Fitzgerald, John H. Carney, Fred Thumm, Leone Boschier, Rutherford C. Plaut and John P. Lyston.

At Uncas-on-Thames

An old-fashioned turkey dinner will be provided for the patients and employes at Uncas-on-Thames. There are 222 patients and 100 employes at the hospital. The menu will be as follows: Consomme with croutons, roast turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, mashed turnips, cranberry jelly, giblet gravy, celery, olives, bread, butter, mince pie.

After the dinner, several acts of vaudeville from the Garde theatre, New London, will be presented through the courtesy of the New London lodge of Elks.

Legion Auxiliary Baskets

The American Legion auxiliary distributed baskets of fruit to the seven ex-service men and two members of the auxiliary at Uncas-on-Thames, Tuesday evening. The baskets were prepared by the following committee: Mrs. William R. Denison, Mrs. Everett Morrell, Mrs. Herman Bruckner, Mrs. John B. Oat, Mrs. George Liepold, Mrs. Harold R. Bennett, Mrs. Clarence Lucier, Mrs. Gilbert Rogers and Mrs. Dexter. Mrs. Denison and Mrs. Morrell distributed the baskets.

WILL MAKE ADDRESS TO NORWICH INN BUILDERS

Everett B. Rich, president of the Consolidated Hotel Service, Inc., will be one of the principal speakers at the first and opening dinner meeting Friday evening of the Norwich Inn Builders, Limited, the volunteer organization of nearly 150 Norwich citizens who are to carry the message of this civic enterprise to their fellow citizens during the next ten days.

Mr. Rich, according to the Boston Transcript, became well known through his connection with the Vendome and the Profile House for many years and his activities in hotel associations. Three years ago the Frank H. Abbott & Son corporation acquired control of the Vendome and Mr. Rich has been in retirement since, spending his summers at his old home in Wolfeboro, N. H., where his mother recently died, and his winters in Florida. There was every expectation that he would locate in Boston after leaving the Vendome, as there were interesting propositions with which his name was associated in rumor. It was well known among his associates that he was offered the position of manager at the Hotel Statler, months before its opening, and that a similar position was available for him at St. Petersburg. Everybody has wondered what he would finally decide upon, and the answer is now disclosed.

EVERETT B. RICH

Everett B. Rich and L. G. Treadway —have joined in a business partnership that has aroused the interest of their associates, as well as their large circle of acquaintances, far and wide. They are associated in the Consolidated Hotel Service, Inc., of 247 Park avenue, New York city, in an interesting combination of activities, embracing designing, building and operating hotels, primarily of the Colonial and English type of inn.

For months this enterprise had been in the minds of Messrs Rich and Treadway, and had been influenced by the most substantial appeal which the so-called Treadway chain of inns has aroused. This New England chain, in fact, forms the basis of the venture. It comprises the Middlebury Inn, Middlebury, Vt.; the Lord Jeffrey, Amherst; the Williams Inn, Williamstown; the Ashfield House, Ashfield; Ye Dorset Inn, Dorset, Vt.; the Mount Holyoke, Holyoke; True Temper Inn, Wallingford, Vt.; and the Berkshire Valley Hotel and Country Club Hotel in Florida.

It is this organization whose genius and experience will be engaged in the designing, construction and management of the new Norwich Inn.

BOYS GUESTS OF LIONS FOR THANKSGIVING DINNER

Nearly 150 worthy poor boys of the city were guests of the Norwich Lions club Wednesday noon at a roast turkey Thanksgiving dinner served at Odd Fellows hall. The dinner was scheduled for 12:15 o'clock but the boys started to arrive at the hall as soon as the morning school session was over. The boys were formed in line and President Kopland K. Markoff of the club directed the march into the banquet hall, where the boys were seated. Present at the dinner were Mayor Lee Roy Robbins and First Selectman William S. Murray, as guests of the club. C. E. Carpenter asked the blessing and Dr. Charles W. Solomon was the song leader. The menu was served as follows, by the Daughters of America, who catered: Roast turkey, mashed potatoes, mashed turnips, gravy, peas, dressing, celery, cranberry jelly, pickles, ice cream, pie, coffee, bread, butter, rolls.

All kinds of noise producing contraptions were provided for the boys and they made good use of them, cheering the Lions from time to time as well, during the course of the dinner. There were also cheers for Mayor Robbins, Selectman Murray, the committee in charge of the dinner, Charles C. Treat who furnished the ice cream, Swahn's orchestra which provided the music, the trustees of the Odd Fellows building who contributed the use of the hall, and the Daughters of America who prepared the menu.

A number of the boys provided an entertainment programme. Popular songs were sung by Tommy Fogarty and he also gave exhibitions of the black bottom, Charleston and other eccentric steps. Euclid Fowler sang several pleasing numbers and Emanuel Diez, about 10 years old, sang, recited and danced. All three boys were heartily applauded.

At the close of the dinner the boys pledged allegiance to the flag after which President Markoff explained the origin of Thanksgiving. He mentioned the fact the Lions club is always glad to do what it can for the boys of the city and that it was a real pleasure to see so many pleasant appearing boys on hand for the dinner. He told the boys that the success of the party had been largely due to the efforts of the committee in charge. Ed Carpenter, chairman, Max Hanover and Lou Fontaine. President Markoff also mentioned the fact that both the boys and club should be thankful to those who had donated their services for the dinner.

Mayor Robbins and Selectman Murray also briefly addressed the boys. President Markoff announced that the Lions are planning to give a theatre party next month at the Palace theatre for the children of the city.

WEDDING

Lyman-Fredrikson

A very pretty wedding took place at noon Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Lyman, when Miss Selma C. Fredrikson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fredrikson of Ivoryton, and Merton C. Lyman of East Great Plain were united in marriage by Rev. George H. Strouse of Bozrah. The bride was charmingly dressed in dark blue figured georgette and carried an arm bouquet of butterfly roses. The only attendants were Mrs. L. H. Hayden, John R. Lyman and Mrs. John R. Lyman.

After the ceremony a lunch was served and the couple left on a trip to Springfield, Saybrook, New York and Philadelphia. On their return they will reside in a newly furnished apartment at East Great Plain.

Owing to the severe illness of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. John G. Lyman, the wedding was a very quiet one.

Ouimet-Hyde

Eusebe Ouimet, 56, a weaver, and Mrs. Della Hyde, 45, both of 54 Shetucket street, were married by Rt. Rev. Mgr. Michael H. May at St. Patrick's church at 7:15 o'clock Wednesday morning. The couple was attended by Treffle Benoit and Adelard Ouimet, both of this city.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Mrs. William M. Zumbro, of Church street, has gone to Wellesley to spend the holidays with her daughters, Misses Kathryn and Betty Zumbro.

The Tuesday club was entertained by Mrs. John R. Tarrant at her home on Church street. The prizes were won by Miss Ella C. Shannon and Mrs. Laurence E. Miller.

Mrs. Ralph H. Meicer, of Uncasville will arrive home this week, following a ten days' motor trip to Hot Springs, Virginia and to Cincinnati with her cousin, Mrs. Frederick McClure, of New York.

Miss Eloise Smith, of Yale Drama school, and Miss Virginia Smith, from Smith college, reached their home, Oldelms on Wednesday for the holidays. The latter was accompanied by two Smith college friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Jordan of Broad street left Wednesday to motor to New Bedford, for a visit of a week with their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Goulart.

Miss Constance Raymond from Mt. Holyoke college and Charles V. Raymond of Dartmouth are home for the holidays.

Mrs. Charles Henry Osgood of Washington street will be a member of a family dinner party today (Thursday) at The Elm, the home of Mrs. Augustus Cleveland Tyler, at The Pequot. Present also will be Mrs. Tyler's daughter, Mrs. Tyler Marshall, who arrived in New York Monday on steamer Minnewaska, from London.

Mrs. Harrison Gray of Crescent street was a recent guest of her sister, Mrs. Roscoe H. Ashley, of Danielson.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Elliott of Broadway have

POOL OPERATIONS CENTERED IN THE UTILITIES IN ACTIVE STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—(AP)—The bulls held da pre-Thanksgiving feast on the stock market today, gobbling up shares at a rate that sent total sales up 6,856,600, the fifth 6,000,000 share day in history and the fourth largest.

A few traders were included to take profits before the holiday, but pool operations centering in the utilities sent prices soaring before midday and most of those disposed to sell quickly changed their minds and began to buy. About 50 issues were sent up to peak prices, a handful of extreme gains running from 10 to 35 points. The results of the holiday realizing were reduced to a sprinkling of losses of 1 to 7 points.

The tightening of credit rates was virtually ignored, although call money renewed at 8 per cent. for the first time in weeks and held at that rate throughout the day. There was also a slight hardening of time money. A further shipment of $2,000,000 in gold to Canada was announced as the Canadian dollar mounted to the highest premium of the year, and the treasury department announced that it would call $19,120,200 on deposit with the banks on Nov. 30. The only bright spot in the credit situation was a drop in sterling as funds were attracted from abroad by yesterday's 9 per cent rate, although it was not regarded as sufficient to cause a return of the gold movement.

The days news included an easing in steel prices, with indications that advances planned for the first quarter will not materialize, but "Iron Age" reported increased buying, with the possibility of a slight increase in production in early December, which would be contrary to the normal seasonal trend. Railways continued to report excellent October earnings, the Pennsylvania reporting a record net for the month of $14,732,629, about $4,000,000 greater than October, 1927. Not of the first 51 roads to report for the month totalled $123,254,000, approximately $23,500,000 more than for the month last year.

The Associated Press average price of 20 industrials was carried up more than 4 points above the high mark established yesterday to a new peak at 257.27. The average of 20 rails eased slightly, as profit taking in some of the recent favorites offset gains in others the ticker ran for 49 minutes after the close. It was announced that the practice of printing the volume of sales will be resumed in transactions of 5,000 shares or more.

The opening was tame, and it appeared that the market would be allowed to drift until after the holiday. Then the bulls tried a new tactic in seizing upon the utilities. Heretofore unspectacular performers, Brooklyn Edison and Brooklyn Union Gas were shot up about 25 points to record prices, and Peoples Gas 17 to a new top. American and Foreign Power, Columbia Gas, Consolidated Gas, North American, Public Service of New Jersey, and Southern California Edison rose 3 to 10 points to new peaks.

Radio again was the higher flier, skyrocketing 35 points to 400 mark for the first time. It lost about 12 points of its gain in the final trading. Adams and American Express, American Linseed, Burroughs Adding Machine, Gold Dust and Keith-Albee preferred mounted 10 to 15 points to new peaks. It was reported that interests close to the management were heavy buyers of Gold Dust. Motor Products jumped 21 points, and closed up 15. Wright Aero climbed 22 points to 281 and closed at 270.

The sharp bidding up of Radio was in part inspired by a startling jump on the curb of Canadian Marconi, in which Radio has a substantial interest. General Electric, which has a substantial interest in Radio, was carried up about 8 points to a record price at 197 3-4.

Some of the motors developed striking strength, Packard rising 10 and Nash about 6 to peak prices, although Nash later lost much of its gain. Chrysler made a moderate gain, but General Motors turned soft on realizing. In the coppers, Howe Sound and Kenecott broke into new high ground. Oils again were in demand, Mexican Seaboard forging ahead more than 7 points to a new top. Standard of New Jersey and Tidewater recorded new peaks.

American International, Corn Products, American Sugar, Chicago Great Western, Rock Island, Eisenlohr, and Katy, went up 2 to 7 points to new high territory. International Cement achieved a new peak on announcement that the management of Mathieson Alkali had obtained representation on the board.

Yellow Truck, which has been bounding forward in recent sessions, encountered realizing. It was learned that its advance was based on an arrangement whereby General Motors will turn over all of its truck business to Yellow and make the General Motors distribution system available to the truck company.

Victor Talking Machine convertible preferred, which had been dormant for months, appeared at 300, in contrast to its previous high of 202 1-4.

Steels were inclined to heaviness on the report of easing steel prices, although Ludlum touched a new top on reports of negotiations for Atlas Colorado Fuel and Iron went forward in the early trading, then reacted. Byers fell 7 points in profit taking.

Allied Chemical, National Tea and National Biscuit lost 4 to 7 points.

Bullish crop estimate and strong trade demand. Wheat eased and corn improved slightly, reflecting generally an evening up of accounts for the holiday.

In the foreign exchanges, sterling cables fell 1-8 to $4.85 1-32, while the Canadian dollar moved up to a premium of 18 3-4 cents.

Burgess Bedtime Story

Buster Has a Real Thanksgiving
By THORNTON W. BURGESS

A stomach filled, you'll often find,
The secret of a happy mind.
—Buster Bear.

Buster Bear climbed up over the rails of the pigpen of the lonely little farm on the back side of the Great Mountain. Buster was a long way from his home in the Green Forest near Farmer Brown's. It is doubtful if he would have been bold enough to climb into anyone's pigpen over there, but here it was different. He wasted no time. He seized one of the young pigs—a pig that was about a quarter grown, killed it almost before it had time to squeal, and, dragging it back with him over the rails of the fence, he carried it to the woods. He carried it a surprising distance. You see, he had a guilty feeling. He knew that those pigs belonged to one of those two-legged creatures called men. But so far as Buster was concerned, he could see no reason why he had not as much right to eat pig as the man who kept it in the pen. So he didn't feel that he was stealing.

Now, though Buster didn't know it, it was Thanksgiving day. There in the early morning hours Buster was eating his Thanksgiving dinner. You would have called it breakfast, but it really was dinner, for Buster would not eat again that day. My, how good that pig tasted! Buster hadn't had a full meal for so long that he couldn't remember when it was. This was the time of year when his appetite was best and he was supposed to eat most in order to make fat to keep him through the cold winter. His appetite this year was just as good as ever, but the acorn crop and the beechnut crop had failed, and Buster had had hard work to find enough food to keep him from day to day, not to mention making fat for the winter.

So, you see, this was a real Thanksgiving dinner for Buster Bear. When he had finished it he gave little thought to what might happen when the farmer found his pig gone. A full stomach makes a wise head. Buster could think of nothing but a good nap. So he shuffled off to find a place to sleep. Pretty soon he came to a great windfall. You know a windfall is a pile of trees that have been blown over one on another in a great windstorm. This was just the kind of place that Buster liked. He found a place where he could creep under that windfall.

CUT HERE ETAOI

In two minutes he was asleep and dreaming of pigs

He raked a few leaves in there and then lay down. In two minutes he was asleep and dreaming of pigs. Buster Bear was having a perfect Thanksgiving day. His stomach was full and now he was sleeping comfortably and dreaming delightful dreams.

But over at the farm where Buster had caught that pig an angry farmer was planning trouble for the one who had taken his pig. He had heard the pigs squealing in the night and had gone out to see what the trouble was. But in the moonlight he couldn't see clearly enough to know just what had happened. However, when he went out early in the morning he was no longer in doubt. He counted his pigs and found one missing. Then he found Buster Bear's footprints. That told him all he needed to know. That pig had been taken by a Bear. Right away the farmer began to make plans to get that Bear's skin as payment for the pig. It was well for Buster Bear that he did not know all this. I fear that, had he known it, his Thanksgiving would have been spoiled. As it was, he felt that he had had a perfect Thanksgiving.

Patronize These Well Known Concerns

HAVE YOUR CHILD'S PICTURE TAKEN BY BELLE RATHBONE

Now tat the Christmas season is rapidly drawing near, it is time for you to begin thinking of the photographs you have planned to give for presents.

A photo of yourself or of the children is the one personal gift. Only you can give a relative or friend a picture of yourself. There is nothing more precious than a photo.

Especially is this true of photographs of children. As the years go by the children grow up they change. Only by memory can you picture that lovely baby or that cute girl or boy of yesterday. A photo taken now insures a lasting memory picture. Why not have them taken now?

Belle Rathbone of 161 Main street, phone 2135, makes a specialty of photography. In addition she features photos done in natural colors. These are lifelike and make wonderful gifts. All work at the Rathbone studio is of the highest type. Work done is guaranteed to last. Only good work at reasonable prices can last. Cheap work and materials fail to catch and hold lasting pictures.

Rathbone photographs are well known for their individuality and the manner in which they attract and hold attention. Early appointments insure excellent work. Do not wait until the holiday rush starts. Have your photo taken now and thus be sure of satisfaction.

MAKE YOUR PLANS FOR HEATING WHILE COLD DAYS ARE HERE

The pleasant fall days are to be much enjoyed but it cannot help but make one think of the cold wintery days which are to come. And, with them comes the problem of heating your home, your office, your business place. Plan now for those days before winter arrives.

Gas is becoming more and more popular every year as a means of insuring comfortable, warm homes and business places an even temperature at all times easily controlled, and without any fuss or muss.

The Eastern Connecticut Power Co. at any of their eastern Connecticut offices will tell you how easily and economically this method of heating can be installed, how simple it is to operate and how inexpensive, all things considered, it is to maintain.

ARRANGE FOR YOUR WINTER STORAGE WHILE SPACE IS AVAILABLE

With cold evenings and nights, it reminds you of the time you will soon have to have a warm place to keep your car. Good clean storage places, always heated, in a modern fire-proof garage, with efficient employes to deliver good service is not to be had always at your convenience. That is one reason why it is well to arrange for your winter storage before the good spaces are all gone.

The Central Garage at 135 Franklin street is an ideal garage. It is modern throughout, fire-proof, is just a step from the center of the city, is always open and has an efficient corps of employes to render service. Just the right place for the busy business man, where he can have all-night, all-day or intermittent storage. Your car will always be ready to run, no matter how cold the weather, and it will be handy, if you arrange to keep it at the Central Garage.

Gasoline, oils and accessories are also carried, and these can be attended to while your car is idle.

ADAMS MOTOR CO. GIVES MOTORISTS REAL SERVICE

For automobile repairing of quality the Adams Motor Co. of Jewett City, is just the place for particular automobile owners. If you want to make sure that your automobile repair work is properly and conscientiously performed, all you have to do is to take your car to the mechanics at Adams garage, who are well and widely known as experts on virtually every type of automobile. Their long experience in dealing with automobile owners has resulted in building up a business founded on honest dealing. There are so many motorists who have little idea of what constitutes an honest repair job that they are taking chances with poor mechanics at many places. For years dealers in Buick and Chevrolet cars the Adams Motor Co. has a reputation to be protected. Efficient service is its motto.

DEPENDABILITY KEY NOTE IN ALL MATTERS CONCERNING BUICKS

With constant transitions in the operation and maintenance of one of the most prominent and important branches of human evolution today the automobile—the average public man looks more and more each year to a place where he can do business, not today alone, but in the future, with the minimum of effort and annoyance and with a better and more pleased viewpoint each year.

The Jewett City Garage is built upon dependability, starting with the car itself which the concern represents, and carrying on through every fibre of the institution.

The Jewett City Garage handles Buicks which year after year have demonstrated its absolute dependence in the automobile market. The same strong fundamentals which make the car increasingly popular are woven into the texture of the Jewett City Garage in its business dealings with the average automobile buyer and owner.

HEATED GARAGE SERVICE SOUGHT FOR IN COLD WEATHER

The cold evenings of the past few weeks makes you think of what you are going to do with your auto when colder weather continues. Of course you want to keep on using it throughout the winter, and in order to do it you have to have a warm garage to keep it in at night and during the day when not in use.

One of the most modern fireproof, heated garages in Eastern Connecticut is the Adams Motor Co. of Jewett City and Baltic, a step from the business center in either town.

The concern also maintains service in gas and oils and accessories. Almost any service is available and they will tell you how moderately is their storage charge and how complete the service.

The very finest granite, and the best workmanship obtainable are put into our Memorials, to assure perfect and lasting satisfaction.

POETRY

The Pilgrims of 1620

With westward prow the Mayflower sailed
A crowded ship, a hope forlorn
And are New England's shore was hailed
—A pilgrim maid and a babe-war born.

Bigot and tyrant left behind,
And homes too, that September morn.
She called upon an autumn wind
For lands where Freedom might be born.

She labored then through heavy seas,
With straining spars and canvas torn.
But ever on the wintry breeze
Was brighter inspiration borne.

O'er gulfs profound and trackless ways
By faith upborne, that sturdy band,
After a dreary hundred days,
Debarked upon a frozen strand.

What mattered! Here, no longer slaves,
All hated bondage now forsworn,
Though digging half a hundred graves
While waiting for the spring's return.

They delved, they span, they had their cares,
The leveled graves were green with corn,
And fervent their Thanksgiving prayers
For there was this Republic born.

—By Rossiter Johnson, in Boys' Life.

Rocky Mountain Sheep

The red deer loves the chaparral,
The hawk the windrocked pine;
The ouzel haunts the rills that race
The canon's steep ingline;
But the wild sheep from the battered rocks,
Sure foot and fleet of limb,
Gets up to see the stars go by
Along the mountain-rim.

For him the sky-built battlements,
For him the cliff and scar,
For him the deep-walled chasms
Where the roaring rivers are;
The gentian-flowered meadow-lands
The tamarack slope and crest,
Above the eagle's screaming brood,
Above the wild wolf's quest.

When in the riot of the storms
The snow-flowers blossom fair,
The castle get them to the plain,
The howlers to the lair.
The shepherd tends his foolish flocks,
Along the mountain's hem;
But free and far the wild sheep are,
And God doth shepherd them.

—Mary Austin, in "The Children Sing in the Far West."

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"You call on a different girl every night, don't you?"

"I'll say she is."—Life.

"How old are you, my little man?"

"I don't know. Mother was 26 when I was born, but now she's only 24."—Times of India.

"Wanda's uncle has left her $5,000 a year in perpetuity."

"Fine! But does she have to go there and live to get it?"—Judge.

State Attorney—Do you think we can convict him for that bank robbery?

Assistant—No, but I think we can get him for speeding past the stop signal after the robbery.—Detroit News.

"I say, girlie, your dress is—well, a bit on the disappearing side, isn't it?" What would your mother say if she saw it?"

"Lots of things. It belongs to her."—Sydney Bulletin.

A Yankee journalist went to interview a famous film actress who had just been divorced from an even more famous husband.

"Why did I leave him?" she echoed. "Say, did you ever live with a genius?"

"Sure!" said the reporter, modestly. "I live alone."—London Opinion.

"You have nine children, you say. They must cost a lot to bring up."

"Yes, but at least we save the expense of a maid."

"How is that?"

"Do you think any maid will come where there are nine children?"—Le Rire, Paris.

The famous football player was pacing the floor at midnight trying to soothe his yelling offspring. This, instead of placating the infant, seemed only to make him yell the louder, and at last the footballer remarked to his wife, "If the captain of the team were to see me now, he'd give me a good slating."

"Whatever for?" she asked.

"Because," came the reply, "I've lost control of the bawl."—Boston Transcript.

Going down a grade near Ventura, Cal., S. L. Plant of San Francisco ran into a guard rail. The car was speared by three 1x6 planks. Two of the planks pierced the radiator, one of them breaking off when it struck the driver's seat, the other, 20 feet long, extended on out through the rear of the machine. A third plank went through the windshield and also pierced the rear of the car. The driver, while completely penned in his seat, was untouched.

A Topeka (Kas.) woman went away from home and Mr. Husband went to the hotel to live during her absence. The following morning the husband was aroused by the telephone at the disagreeable hour of 5 o'clock. With visions of a train wreck and a dying wife, he grabbed the telephone with trembling hands and heard the telegraph operator read this message: "Go out to the house and see if I turned out gas under water heater."

PLAINFIELD WINS THIRD STRAIGHT OVER FAST PARKWOOD PRO CLUB

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PLAINFIELD, Nov. 28.—Plainfield Pros won their third straight game here tonight against the strong Parkwood Pros of Springfield, the score being 36 to 28. It was one of the fastest and hard fought games ever seen on the Community house floor. The game opened in a slow manner, neither team being able to penetrate the defense of the other. Parkwood broke the ice and held the lead throughout the first half with the score standing 16 to 11 in their favor. Plainfield tied the score many times but could not forge ahead.

At the opening of the second half Plainfield tied the score in whirlwind fashion the Pros showing of their old time form after a few minutes of play. They gradually forged ahead to a lead which they held to the final whistle. In this half Plainfield took the aggressive and fairly played the Springfield boys off their feet. Fat Plainfield Dissinger showed a world of speed and seemed to be in every play, contributing five field goals in the second half from all angles of the floor. Tisdell, paired up with Dissinger, and although off on his shooting caged some nice baskets. This combination held their men to one field goal while they caged 12 baskets between them. Smith of the Parkwoods brought the crowd to its feet with several beautiful one-hand shots from the side of the court. As a whole the Plainfield team played nicely and all deserve plenty of credit. Also special mention should be given to the visiting team as they displayed a fine brand of basketball.

The Buddies continued on their winning streak by beating the U. S. S. Camden for a second time this season by the score of 29 to 24. Bromley and Peterson starred.

Next Wednesday night Plainfield plays the Bristol Endees at the Community house while on Saturday of this week Plainfield plays at Bristol. The summary:

WORTERS SIGNS CONTRACT WITH PITTSBURGH CLUB

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—(AP)—Roy Worters, crack goalie of the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National Hockey league, signed a contract today after holding out from the start of the season, Benny Leonard, former lightweight champion and now owner of the Pirates, announced here. Leonard said Worters signed at the club's figure, which was considerably less than the $7,000 the goalie had demanded for a single season's salary.

Leonard said, however, that Worters will not play for Pittsburgh but will be traded to the club offering the most cash and player strength. Worters is considered the outstanding goal tender of the league.

"I have an offer from the New York Americans," the retired champion said, "of Miller, the goalie we borrowed, and $20,000 for Roy. I want players more than money, however, and since they won't give me Norman Himes or Johnny Sheppard, the deal is off. Worters will go to the highest bidder in cash and players. Boston has made me an interesting offer."

The Americans have sought Worters' services for months and loaned Miller, a sub goalie, to Pittsburgh when Worters refused to sign in expectation that the deal would be made. Worters was suspended recently, by President Calder, head of the league, and clubs in the circuit were warned not to negotiate with him without Pittsburgh's consent.

PUTNAM AND KILLINGLY IN ANNUAL CLASH TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Nov. 28—With the fighting spirit instilled in them in a last minute conference by Coach Lauriston F. Noyes, the Putnam High school football eleven, so far undefeated this season left the school tonight with the words "Beat Killingly" on their lips. The Blue and White will leave Putnam early tomorrow morning for Goodyear, where the 10th annual clash of the two teams will take place. Putnam is confident of victory, and will fight harder than in any previous encounter, because a win brings their dream of Eastern Connecticut championship honors to reality.

The team had a light workout this afternoon and all new plays to be used for the first time against the Killingly, were carefully executed in a practice scrimmage with the scrubs today and appeared to work out beautifully. Coach Noyes said this afternoon "If the line holds, we'll win." He said that his backfield men who during the past season have performed so wonderfully are in perfect condition and are eagerly awaiting the whistle that will send them into the conflict. Shann and Bove, the team's flashes, are ready to skirt the Killingly end's while Walt Cody, who so far has successfully tripped the light fantastic in all games is awaiting to crash the Killingly offense. The Tourtellottes Sabin, Dumas, Franklin, Sherman, Massicot and Reynolds left the dressing rooms tonight, confident they would return to their Thanksgiving feast with Eastern Connecticut Laurel donning their brows.

The student body of the school was ablaze this afternoon with "We'll be with you tomorrow." It is expected that one of the largest cheering sections attending an out of town game will be present at Goodyear tomorrow to watch the fate of Putnam.

Y EMPS OPEN SEASON ON SATURDAY EVENING

After several weeks of strenuous practice under the watchful eye of Coach "Chester" Conklin the Y Emps appear to be in mid-season form and ready for their opening game with the Baltic Independents on Saturday evening at the Y. M. C. A. court. The Emps have practically the same lineup as last year when they were runners-up in the eastern Connecticut basketball tournament. New uniforms have been distributed to ten players and will make a fine appearance as well as play a fast game. The Emps schedule for the first two weeks in December is as follows:

Dec. 1—Baltic Independents at Norwich.
Dec. 8—Willimantic Emps at Norwich.
Dec. 11—Woodstock Academy at Woodstock.
Dec. 12—Baltic Independents at Baltic.

Games are pending with Mystic All Stars, Noank Cod Chasers, Westerly and several high schools in the eastern part of the state.

PLAINFIELD SOCCER TEAM OPENS SEASON TODAY

At a large and enthusiastic meeting held Wednesday evening the Plainfield football club organized for the coming season and the following officers were elected to serve: President, Currier; secretary B. Coyle; treasurer, A. Baldwin; directors, T. Rhodes, J. McNulty, T. Wilson, W. Collins.

Thanksgiving morning at 10 o'clock they play an exhibition game with the J. B. Martin and Sunday they play the opening game of the eastern Connecticut and southern Rhode Island league with Bradford City at home, game being called at 2.30 p. m.

Lizzies Win

Elisabeth street school eleven defeated Samuel Huntington school at the Academy campus Wednesday. The score was 30-0. The touchdowns were made by B. Morandi 2, A Kirstein 2, Lacey 1, L. Kirstein, Sikorski, George Diernery, Dehoven, Sheckter and Blinderman featured for the winners.

Robert Little, Smith, Alta featured for the losers.

NO SPORT ACTIVITIES IN NORWICH TODAY

Sportwise there is nothing stirring in Norwich this Thanksgiving day and those that would get their Thanksgiving sport menu must hie themselves to other parts, with the exception of those who park themselves by the radio, to listen in on the football games.

The feature gridiron attraction of the east will be the Coast Guard Academy-Canisius game at New London this afternoon. This will be a real college battle and in Canisius the Coast Guard Bears face a strong team. Canisius has lost but one game this season, that to the strong Boston College eleven. This game starts at 1.30 o'clock.

In high school football Putnam faces Killingly in their 10th annual conflict at Goodyear. This game will be played this morning and will prove the banner attraction for sport lovers in the northeast corner of the state. Stonington and Westerly meet in the annual Thanksgiving day battle at Westerly this morning at 10.30 o'clock. This game is one of the bitterest grid battles in the state.

Norwich is without a basketball game for the holiday, the first time in many years. It has been the custom of the Taftville basketball team to open its season on Thanksgiving day but Taftville has made no effort to put on a team this year. At Danielson will be the only basketball game in the eastern part of the state, the Danielson Town team meeting the South Manchester team this evening. The death of J. B. Tattleman of the Coast Guard team in the fire at the State Pier this week has caused the postponement of the opening of the Y. M. C. A. Senior league in New London slated for this evening.

FEW BIG FEATURES ON RACING PROGRAM

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—(AP)—An impressive performance by W. J. Salmon's Dr. Freeland at Churchill Downs and an exciting clash for two year olds at Bowie made up for a lack of big features or large purses on today's racing bill.

The Salmon two year old demonstrated that he is ready for the Jockey club stakes on Saturday when he vanquished The Choctaw, Windy City and Judge Murphy in the fifth race at the Downs which was over the seven furlongs route. Overtaking The Choctaw, Audley Farm stable entry, in the last furlong after racing restrained under the guidance of Jockey L. Schaefer, Dr. Freeland won in handy fashion in the last eighth. His time was 1:25 3-5. Windy City which finished third in a field of four is owned by the Chicago sportsman, F. M. Grabner.

At Bowie the Bay Ridge purse, a dash of six furlongs, brought 11 fair two year olds to the post and surpassed in interest the remainder of the bill, which consisted of a series of claiming affairs. The entire field was well matched but the event resolved itself into a duel between the favorite, Stand By, and Earl Sande's Safety Pin. The Sande entry was beaten by a head after a gallant effort to make up ground lost in making a wide turn into the home stretch. Fortune's Favorite was four lengths away in third place.

WESTERLY HIGH HARRIERS AT NEWARK TODAY

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 28—(AP)—Twenty schools in the east will be represented tomorrow in the third annual national interscholastic cross country championship to be run under auspices of the Newark Preparatory school in Branch Brook park.

Teams competing will include Westerly High school, R. I., New England champions Hebron academy, Maine and Lasalle academy of Providence, R. I.

The course is two and three-quarter miles.

Scheer Trade for Schmehl

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 28—(AP)—As the result of a deal which was started at the meeting of Eastern league owners and managers here Monday, President George Weiss of the New Haven baseball club announced today that he has traded Joe Smith, veteran catcher, and Heinie Scheer, league-leading second baseman to Hartford in exchange for Tommy Paden, catcher, and Carl Schmehl who although rated as a third baseman can cavort around almost any of the infield or outfield positions.

It wgas an outright trade with no cash involved according to Weiss.

Koepke to Lead Navy Griders

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 28—(AP)—Tyle L. Koepke, of Flint, Mich., has been elected captain of the Naval academy 1929 football team, it was announced today. Koepke, who has played guard during the last four games is a member of the class of 1929.

BOSTON COLLEGE DROPPED FROM AGGIE FOOTBALL SCHEDULE FOR 1929

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Nov. 28—Two new college elevens will face the Connecticut Aggies next fall on the gridiron according to the 1929 schedule which was announced today by the athletic department. The usual eight game list will be retained and in place of Boston college and Lowell Textile, the Nutmeggers will play Tufts and Amherst. The schedule appears to be one of the best had at the state college inasmuch as it holds an even balance throughout with the Aggies playing wholly within their class.

After two conservative meetings with Boston college in which the Aggies dropped both contests, it was decided not to play the Eagles for an indefinite period. The reason for scheduling the powerful Boston eleven was to make an attempt at playing one of the colleges with a higher rating than the Nutmeg opponents. Although the Aggies managed to make a good showing each time against the Boston college machine, it was thought better by athletic authorities to drop them. Amherst will play the Aggies for the first time in the history of the two colleges while Tufts will appear again after a lapse of four years. The last time the Aggies played the Medford lads was in 1925 when the Nutmeggers won by a 3-0 score.

The eight game schedule follows:

September 28—Amherst at Amherst.
October 5—Wesleyan at Middletown.
October 12—Maine at Storrs.
October 19—Tufts at Medford.
October 26—Coast Guard Academy at Storrs.
November 2—Vermont at Storrs.
November 9—New Hampshire at Storrs.
November 16—Rhode Island at Kingston.

HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS

For the first time in some years, the Academy has no game with the Alumni for today (Thanksgiving day). This game never really meant anything and so it was decided to close this campaign with the Bulkeley game

The two high school clashes in this section for the holiday, Westerly-Stonington at Westerly and Putnam-Killingly at Danielson, will draw large galleries. Both are objective games for these teams.

Wilby and Crosby have their annual battle at Waterbury today.

Westerly's cross-country team runs in the national meet at Newark today.

The between-seasons lull is expected in high school sports after today's grid clashes. Basketball will start about the second week in December for some schools but not until after the holidays will the campaign get going in earnest.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theater.

Samuel Goldwyn paid $125,000 for the screen rights to Harold Bell Wright's best selling book, "The Winning of Barbara Worth," which comes to the Breed theater in film form today. It was the avowed intention of the pioneer film producer, when he and Director Henry King purchased the film rights in New York, that the story should lose none of its sweep, none of its dominating power, and dramatic appeal in the transfilming process.

Carrying out this idea successfully, Mr. Goldwyn assigned Frances Marion, famous scenarist, to do the scenario for the screenversion. She worked for six months while studio technicians toiled over various pre-production angles and Mr. King traveled more than 5000 miles seeking a typical and realistic location, which he found on the desolate but impressive Black Rock desert of Nevada.

The film version preserves each great incident of the novel, including the thrilling ride of Willard Holmes and Abe Lee with the money to pay striking workers in Jefferson Worth's struggling town of Barba, and the terrific sandstorm which orphaned the tiny Barbara.

The very setting duplicates the Imperial Valley of California, where the original action took place.

Even in casting, the tempo of the story played an important part. Ronald Colman plays Willerd Holmes talented young eastern engineer, who came to the desert for money but remained for love.

The role of Barbara is filled by Vilma Banky, whose delicate blonde beauty and versatility are typical of the real American girl she portrays.

Gary Cooper, son of a Montana superior court justice, and a young man who knows the range life of his native state, is cast as Abe Lee, desert educated engineer whose boyhood admiration for the beautiful Barbara continues to manhood. Charles Lane plays the part of Jefferson Worth respected banker and developer of the West who stakes his entire fortune that the settlers of the country may find homes and justice.

Battery B Circus.

The Indoor Circus which is to be held under the auspices of Battery B at the Norwich armory on December 6, 7 and 8 promises to be one of the largest affairs which has been brought to Norwich. Real circus acts have been booked and the programe shows that these are some of the best from the large circuses which are resting during the winter. Everything is being done to give a real circus atmosphere to the armory on those nights. There will be two performances each evening. One of the acts, Madam Maree and her Pals presents trained ponies in a series of remarkable tricks, assisted by some clowns which can almost talk and a monkey which gives the children all they expect. An unridable mule for the more adventurous and a revolving table for the fun loving make this act one which will please children and grown-ups.

Renee and Calvert have something decidedly new in a bicycle polo and basketball game. First the polo game with the cyclists using nothing but their wheels to deflect the ball into the goals. After a display of riding ability which is unequaled, the goals are removed and each of the riders with a stick attempts to keep the ball off the floor and push it into the basket.

Three other acts and the clowns complete the big tent leaving room for the side shows which will give plenty of entertainment. Two of Voluntown's finest are handling one of the concessions with games of one kind or another. Anyone wishing a nice, fat turkey for Christmas will enjoy a visit to the show.

Broadway Theater.

The popular telephone company slogan, "The Voice With The Smile Wins," can be paraphrased for the benefit of the new talking picture trend, into "The Star With the Voice Wins."

Such a star is Walter Pidgeon, famous on stage and screen, who enacts the leading role in Universal's first 100 per cent. Talking Picture, "The Melody of Love," which will open at the Broadway theater today.

"The Melody of Love," an original screen work by Robert Arch, is the result of months of unbroken experiments under the guidance of President Carl Laemmine. All of Universal's vast resources were placed at the command of A. B. Heath, the director, and his crew of technicians, in order that a picture befitting the dignity of Universal be produced as that company's first contribution of the new art of the "talkies."

The selection of Pidgeon for the lead was a happy one. He is conceded to possess one of the finest voices of any actor on the stage today. Audiences will be thrilled by the realism of his pure baritone as it emanates from the screen. His greatest song success, the popular Gene Rodemich hit, "My Sweetheart," will be heard to unusual advantage in "The Melody of Love." It is used as the theme song of the picture.

Surrounding Pidgeon in "The Melody of Love," is a cast of exceptional talent and possessing unusual qualifications for the "talkies." Each member of the company has had stage experience, thus assuring audiences of perfection in diction and dramatic deportment. Mildred Harris, Jane Winton, Tommy Dugan, Jack Richardson and Victor Potel comprise the supporting cast.

In addition to the splendid feature an unusually diversified Vitaphone program is offered. The first Mayer and Evans, the Cowboy and his Lady, present several numbers in their clever style. Then the dainty May McAvoy, the well known Warner Bros. Movie star appears in a comedy sketch entitled, "Sunny California," and last but not least The Yacht Club Boys in an entertaining instrumental program.

Palace Theater.

Rapid-fire action describes "Moran of the Marines," starring Richard Dix, which opens at the Palace theater today. The story is swift moving from beginning to end packed with thrills, tense moments, and laughter.

Dix is at his best in the happy-go-lucky role he portrays in this picture. While he has his serious moments, his ability to handle the laughs makes "Moran" one of his finest to date.

Ruth Elder, the pretty aviatrix who drew so much attention with her almost successful flight across the Atlantic, makes her professional motion picture debut in this picture. She performs in a veteran manner, and impresses one as being a natural screen "find."

Dix plays an irresponsible youngster who excites his rich uncle's ire by getting into jail. He wants to go to China because the girl he has "fallen" for is going there, so he selects the United States Marine corps to send him there. What he hasn't found out, however, is that the young lady is the daughter of the marine general.

The picture is one of quick action in which members of the supporting cast rise to the occasion. Roscoe Karns gives an admirable characterization of Dix's buddy, and Duke Martin portrays a hard boiled sergeant in a typical manner. Brooks Benedict does excellent "menacing" as the villian and Capt. E. H. Calvert is perfect as the marine general.

The story was written for the screen by Linton Wells, famed war correspondent. Frank Streyer, who directed the production, lives up to his previous hits, and injects plenty of breezy action into the play.

All in all it is a very pleasant picture.

Well Child Conference.

The well child conference in Wauregan will be held in the Wauregan Men's club rooms on Tuesday afternoon, December 4, from 2 to 4 o'clock.

PARKING RESTRICTIONS IN FORCE ON MAIN STREET IN NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 28—City Manager William A. Holt today notified Captain of Police Charles A. Pinney that added parking restrictions on Main street had been adopted. In the future parking of cars will not be allowed on that thoroughfare on the west side, between Church street and a point opposite Hallam street. Signs notifying autoists of the new order were placed in position today.

JACOB TATTLEMAN'S FUNERAL AT CHELSEA WEDNESDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 28—The body of Jacob Tattleman, United States Coast Guard, who perished in the fire Monday night that destroyed several buildings at the state pier, one being the sick bay, was sent to Chelsea, Mass., last night and today the funeral and burial took place. Tattleman was a patient in the sick bay and was unable to make his escape when flames attacked the building.

NIAGARA ENGINE COMPANY HOLDS ITS ANNUAL FEAST

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 28—The annual Thanksgiving eve celebration by members of Niagara Engine company was held this evening at the quarters of the company on Bank street, when a representative number of the firemen were entertained. The members assembled about 9 o'clock and following the roll call, a turkey dinner was served. The informal exercises after, a program of speeches and music, provided much pleasure for the listeners. The Niagara Engine company is one of the oldest fire-fighting organizations in the state and the Thanksgiving banquet and roll call is a yearly affair.

Hundreds of former residents of this city, now employed outside the town, returned here this afternoon and tonight to spend Thanksgiving with relatives and as a result, as well as because of those going to other New England cities, the east-bound trains of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, were crowded with holiday visitors. Several of the trains were run in extra sections. Most of the visitors will remain in New London over the week-end, returning to their employment Sunday night.

NEW ENGLAND HOLIDAY TO BE GENERALLY OBSERVED

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 28—Thanksgiving day will be generally observed here for business of every description will be suspended the entire day, excepting for a few markets and grocery stores, which will remain open during a part of the forenoon. The city and county institutions will provide holiday repasts for their charges, particularly will this be the case at the county jail. At the two hospitals, there will be special dinners for the patients. The B. F. Learned mission will also serve a substantial meal to the unfortunates so that all housed there will be supplied with a holiday dinner.

Charles P. Hammond, formerly a detective sergeant on the New London police force, now employed at Port Washington, L. I., arrived in town and will remain over Sunday with his wife and family.

WEDDING

Sugrue-Sugrue

Miss Delia Sugrue of 285 Mitchell street, Groton, and Daniel Sugrue of Grand street were married by Rev. Dr. Timothy M. Crowley at 9 o'clock yesterday morning at St. Mary's church. The bride wore a white crepe de chine dress with hat to match and carried white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Mary Sullivan, wore pink georgette with hat to match and carried pink roses. Michael Sullivan was best man. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Sugrue received their friends in their newly furnished home at 32 Walden avenue. They later left for a honeymoon to be spent at New York and Atlantic City.

The bride has been making her home with her cousin, Patrick Falvy. The bridegroom has been making his home with Mrs. Timothy Sullivan, on Grand street.

THAT BANK ST. SIGNAL UNDOING OF TWO DRIVERS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 28—Two violators of the city's traffic laws were arrested tonight and will be in the police court tomorrow. Both were arrested by Patrolman Albert Iverson for passing an automatic signal set at danger on Bank street. One of the offenders was Samuel Feldman, 455 Montauk avenue, and the other was R. G. Matterson, P. O. Box 61, Uncasville. Both drivers ignored the signal at the corner of Bank and Howard streets.

The police this afternoon devoted their energies to ridding the streets of a gang of drunks that had been loitering on the highways the greater part of the day. As a result, several cases of intoxication will be tried in the police court tomorrow morning. Patrolmen William Cordoran and Arthur Feeley, together with Automobile Patrol Officer Augustus Ray, rounded up a quintette of drunks on Hallam street and besides being charged with intoxication, the men will also be charged with vagrancy. Patrolman Frank Linehan arrested another drunk on Main street and Patrolman Feeley apprehended another on North Bank street.

Tax Collector Hibbard N. Alexander has ordered the sale of the property of two more New London citizens, delinquent in back taxes. They are a house and lot on Home street belonging to Bernard and Celia Wiener and a house and lot on Henry street belonging to Carl Burgess.

Rev. Charles E. Spaulding, Sunday night, delivered an interesting lecture on Mexico New and Old in Beverly Methodist church, Boston, before a congregation which filled that house of worship.

Charles De Grasse, World War veteran, of Norwood avenue, this city, is a patient at the United States naval hospital in Brooklyn. He has been suffering for some time from a nervous disorder brought on by shell shock. His condition is reported as grave.

Members of the auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers had a salad supper last night in Odd Fellows hall. Fifteen were present. A short business meeting was held.

The Thanksgiving eve dance held tonight on the roof garden of the Hotel Mohican was the outstanding social function of the season. An orchestra from New Haven furnished music.

The senior dance of Williams Memorial Institute, held tonight at the Hotel Mohican with Russo's orchestra furnishing music was arranged by a committee composed of Mrs. Edward Leighton, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Quanet, Mr. and Mrs. H. Socol and Mr. and Mrs. C. D. MacKinnon.

All schools of this city closed today at 1 p. m. for the Thanksgiving holidays. At the railroad station all morning and afternoon students of Connecticut college were leaving for the holiday recess at home.

Laura Thatcher, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marsh A. Thatcher, of Forest street, Groton, was struck and slightly injured yesterday afternoon by a motor truck operated by Alvin A. Fowler of this city. The child was crossing Poquonoc road from Mitchell street. Apparently the accident was unavoidable and the driver stopped the machine immediately. The girl sustained a deep cut above the temple and was badly shaken up. The accident was investigated by Patrolman Edmund Griswold who reported that no blame could be attached to the driver of the truck.

WEDDING

Cavanaugh-McCovic

Traffic Officer Dennis W. Cavanaugh, son of Mrs. Ellen Cavanaugh, Shaw street and Miss Laura A. McCovic, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. McCovic, were married at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, the nuptial mass being celebrated by Rev. Dr. Timothy M. Crowley in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. Thomas Cavanaugh, brother of the groom was best man and Miss Mary McCovic, sister of the bride was bridesmaid. Following the marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Cavanaugh left on a wedding trip by automobile which will include a visit to Mrs. Cavanugh's former home in Montreal.

EASTERN VOLUNTOWN

George Green and grandson attended his brother-in-law Charles Humes' funeral Friday at Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dawley and family of Mount Mizery have moved to Eastern Voluntown on the Charles Pratt farm. Mrs. Dawley has bought it. They are making quite a few repairs to the buildings.

George Green, Herbert August and Thomas Lewis spent the evening recently with Mr. and Mrs. William Bitgood. Mr. Green took his fiddle with him and they had some nice music.

Visitors at Mr. and Mrs. William Bitgood's Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barber and son, Joel, granddaughter, Ruth Richmond, and Clifford Bugbee of Jewett City; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bitgood and daughter, Lila, and niece, of Pachaug and Thomas Lewis.

A cold spell came into Eastern Voluntown for a change.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bitgood got news recently that their grandson, Robbie Bitgood, had hurt his hand by sticking a file through it. He had to go to the doctors' with it. They hope to hear soon it is better.

Mrs. Wm. Bitgood had a phone call Saturday evening. She went to answer it and Mrs. Warren Tanner was there. She asked if she had seen the fire up near where she lived on Ekonk hill. She said it was Benjamin Hall's house. Mrs. Bitgood could see it plainly. Mr. Hall and family have the sympathy in their loss. A few years ago lightning struck his barn and burnt it up. He and his wife are feeble. He will go to live with his daughter and husband at Rockville, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Remington have got moved into their new home. They have been over one year trying to get there. Got there at last.

Mr. Davis is drawing off lumber from his wood lot in Eastern Voluntown.

John Stankovich and daughter Emily were callers at Mr. and Mrs. William Bitgood's recently.

Charles Barber and Floyd Congdon of Jewett City were business callers at the Pine Grove farm recently.

N. F. A. WINS FIRST E. CONN. GRID CHAMPIONSHIP SINCE 1917 SEASON

Buck LaCroix's 1928 Academy team has annexed the first Eastern Connecticut championship in 11 years for the Red and White. Winning six and losing three games, the local school has the best record of any team in this section and is conceded the mythical title of this section of the state. The last title was in 1917.

The Academy lost but one game to an eastern Connecticut team, that to Windham, 7 to 6, while winning from Stonington, 24 to 0, Bulkeley, 18 to 0 and Chapman Tech, 2 to 0.

Absence of Kicker Felt

Absence of a drop-kicker lost two of the three games for the Wildcats, Warren Harding and Windham were victorious by one point while the other defeat, by 12 to 0, came from two long passes at the hands of Hartford High after the locals has held the heavier insurance city even in all other departments of the game.

The Academy easily won its objective game of the year, with Bulkeley by 18 to 0, having things its own way for the final three quarters. It was the most decisive defeat that the Academy had administered to the Orange and Black since 1910. Stonington, champions of eastern Connecticut, in 1927, fell an easy victim to the Red and White, by a 24 to 0 score, never being in the running. Stonington, which had been again leading in the running for the title until that game, was promptly erased from future calculations. Stonington also was held to a tie with Chapman Tech and throughout the season did not have as tough a schedule as the Red and White.

Putnam Not Figured

Putnam, which is undefeated to date, has played only weak teams in Connecticut, and cannot be considered for the crown.

Jack Marks, fullback, led the eastern Connecticut champs in scoring with 66 points of the 93 rung up. He was responsible for 11 touchdowns and was the leading scorer of the eastern Connecticut-western Rhode Island Interscholastic league.

Amie (Buck) LaCroix, halfback, led the team this year in fine style while Courtland C. Whitney, a former all-round athlete at the local school, was the successful coach

A meeting of the members of the Dramatic club followed by a rehearsal of the play and the minstrel which the club is planning to give in connection with the annual fair of the Taftville Congregational church was held Wednesday evening at Ponemah hall.

Fifteen crates of foodstuffs and a generous sum of money was the contribution of the scholars and teachers of the Wequonnoc school to the United Workers of Norwich this Thanksgiving.

The seventh and eighth grades of the Wequonnoc school have received a gift of a rugby and a soccer football from Wesleyan university.

NORWICH TOWN

SMITH FAMILY GATHERING FOR DINNER TODAY

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney P. Smith of Washington street will have as Thanksgiving guests the former's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. T. Snowden Thomas, and their son, Robert Thomas, of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., who motored to Norwich Town Wednesday evening. Others present will include Miss Eunice Elizabeth Smith of New York and her sister, Miss Helen Huntington Smith from Boston, daughters of Rev. and Mrs. Edward Huntington Smith of China, and nieces of Sidney Smith; also his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen S. Smith, of Norwich Town. Miss Helen H. Smith, recently commissioned a missionary in Boston to serve under the American Board of Foreign Missions in Foochow, is to sail for China Jan. 4, 1929. Miss Smith is to spend a week at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen S. Smith.

The Late James Turnbull

Friends of James Turnbull were shocked to real in Wednesday morning's Bulletin of his death the morning previous at Backus hospital, where he was taken following an automobile accident on the Norwich-Groton state highway several days ago. It was not known by some of his friends that he had received serious injuries.

Mr. Turnbull was an energetic man in the interests of his farm on Wauwecus Hill during the years he lived there, striving to earn an honest dollar through long hours of hard work. He endeavored to live up to the Golden Rule. Honest and conscientious in his dealings with his fellowman, he was a good Christian citizen. Mr. Turnbull was a loyal husband, father and friend, and his death will be sincerely mourned by those who knew him best.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight L. Underwood and daughter, Miss Bernice Underwood, of Peck's Corner, will be included in a family gathering today (Thanksgiving) at the Lillibridge homestead on Scotland road, the former home of Mrs. Underwood. Mr. and Mrs. Erroll Lillibridge are to be hosts at the dinner. Others present will be Mrs. Susan Lillibridge and sons, Thurston, Charles and Clarence Lillibridge, also Albert Lillibridge, a member of the home family.

At a class meeting held recently by the eighth grade of the Samuel Huntington school the following officers were chosen: Robert Agnew, president; Priscilla Houch, vice-president; Chester Maciejewski, secretary; Doris Rose, treasurer. This class numbers 43. Class colors of blue and gold were chosen.

RELIEF CORPS TO PRESENT FLAG TO METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday morning next during the service at the Methodist Episcopal church, the Woman's Relief corps of the city will present a flag to the church.

The Norwich Town group of Camp Fire girls held a meeting Monday evening at the Methodist parsonage. The meeting opened with a talk by the guardian, Mrs. Helen Haviland Potter. A business session was conducted by the president, Doris Rose. The girls voted to change the hour of their meeting from 6:45 to 7. Committees were appointed for the coming initiation meeting and to choose a name for the group. Camp Fire songs were practiced during the closing period. There was an attendance of 18.

$5,000 VERDICT IN McCAUGHEY SUIT; MOTION TO SET ASIDE FILED

The jury in the superior court here Wednesday afternoon returned a verdict of $5,000 in favor of Miss Anna McCaughey of New London in her $15,000 suit against William Smiddy, a former justice of the peace in Montville, whom she sued because of injuries which she received on Jan. 12, 1928 when she was struck by the Smiddy automobile while she was crossing Waller street in New London. William Joseph Smiddy, son of the justice, was driving the automobile at the time of the accident.

Attorney Arthur T. Keefe, counsel for Judge Smiddy, quickly filed with the clerk of the court, John H. Walker, a motion to set aside the verdict and for a new trial, as soon as the jury verdict had been rendered.

When court opened Wednesday morning, with Judge John Richards Booth presiding, the arguments were made by the two attorneys, G. C. Morgan for the plaintiff and Mr. Keefe for the defendant. Judge Booth concluded his charge of the jury after the noon recess, and the verdict was reached in about 90 minutes after the case had gone to the jury.

Miss McCaughey was an employe of the New England Collapsible Tube company which is on Waller street, and was leaving the plant to go to dinner at the time the accident occurred. A charge of reckless driving and negligence was made against the operator of the machine.

Defense testimony was to the effect that an automobile was parked at the curb and outside of this a truck was standing at the time Miss McCaughey started to cross the street. The testimony was that she ran out past these two into the center of the street and ran into the side of the Smiddy coupe which she struck about where the hinges of the door are.

FOR NORWICH CONTROL IN NORWICH INN PLAN

Many questions of a pertinent nature are being asked members of the campaign organization about the various phases of management and administration of the affairs of the Norwich Inn when under active operation. The majority of answers to such questions have been answered in the questionaire which will be in the hands of every prospect before the opening of the campaign. One question that has been developed deals with the personnel of the board of directors under whose guidance the affairs of the inn will be administered. It has particular bearing on the vested control of this important feature. The committee in charge of the plans for the campaign and the subsequent development of the enterprise wish to announce that the plan of organization will be in the hands of the stockholders who will by their casting of votes in accordance with their stock holdings, elect their own board of directors who will in turn represent them as the executive organization in charge of the management of the affairs of the inn.

The present plan is to have an executive committee of five members appointed from the board of which four members shall be Norwich or local people and one member a representative of the Treadway organization. By this division of authority, the stockholders through their board of directors will always be in control of the inn affairs, so that at no time can the control pass into other hands than the stockholders. It is planned so that in the issuance of all checks in payment of operating accounts that the president and treasurer of the Norwich Inn company must be the signators.

As the preferred stock is entitled to one vote for each share and the common stock entitled to but one tenth of a vote for each share, control will always be vested in the preferred stockholders regardless of the disposition of the common stock. The Norwich Inn movement is and always will remain a civic enterprise in the hands of its promoters, the citizenry of Norwich, the committee declares.

TREASURE HUNT FOR BOYS OF THE Y. M. C. A.

Norwich boys will participate in their fourth annual treasure hunt under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. on Thanksgiving day morning, meeting at the Y building at 10 o'clock to receive their instructions as to where, when and how to begin their search.

The treasures which will be their reward will be over 25 prizes, each worth at least a dollar, which have been contributed by Norwich merchants, as follows:

Henschel's Tire & Rubber Co., flashlight; Boston candy store, one pound of chocolates; Macpherson's, $1 necktie; Lerou's drug store, flashlight; Quinn & Desmond, $1 necktie; Ailing Rubber Co., pair "Keds"; Ethier's, automatic pencil; Disco's, jack-knife; Jack's Sport Shop, sweat shirt; Jerry's Men's Shop, $1 necktie; Ferguson's, Ingersoll watch; Savard Bros., $1 necktie; Perkin's candy store, one pound box chocolates; Eaton-Chase Co., jack-knife; Porteous Mitchell Co., belt; Kies Shoe store, pair "Keds"; Plaut-Cadden Co., flashlight; Spencer's Shoe store, pair heavy storm rubbers; Ellredge Hardware, Scout knife; Clegg's, Ingersoll watch; Morley's Hat store, tie-set; Cranston Co., a game of Rook.

BISHOP WILL BLESS BELL AT HOLY TRINITY SUNDAY

A new tower bell for Holy Trinity church on Capitol avenue, Hartford, the gift of the late John Radvilas, will be blessed Sunday afternoon, December 9, at 3 o'clock by Rt. Rev. Maurice F. McAuliffe, auxiliary bishop of Hartford. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. Edward Gradeckis of St. Andrew's church, New Britain. The service will close with benediction of the blessed sacrament. Rev. John J. Ambot, formerly pastor of St. Joseph's church, Norwich, is pastor of Holy Trinity church.

PECKHAM TAKES LEAD IN WEST SIDE PINOCHLE

Peckham got off in the lead, with Underwood second and Parker third, when the West Side Pinochle club opened its second series of the season Wednesday evening.

The scores were as follows: Peckham 7345, Underwood 7095, Parker 7080, McNaught 5970, Schuler 6840, Bailey 6815, Lewis 6750, Pettis 6715, Boynton 6475, J. Jordan 6145, Ellsworth 6085, A. Jordan 5175.

NOVEMBER FIRE CALLS AVERAGE ONE DAILY

So far this month the fire department has received 28 calls which is the unusual average of a call a day. Of this number 26 alarms were by telephone and two by bell. A large number of the call were for brush fires.

Highway Fence Restored

The state highway department did prompt work Wednesday in the restoring of the fence in "The Pines" which was knocked out by the Holland automobile on Tuesday night. Eight posts and the rails were carried away by the machine when it plunged off the road, but complete repairs had been made by Wednesday afternoon.

HONOR AWARDS MADE TO NORWICH BOY SCOUTS

At a meeting of the Court of Honor of the Norwich Boy Scout council, Wednesday night, several Scouts received awards. Charles Colt, president of the Scout council, presided over the meeting, assisted by Commissioner Arthur L. Peale and Scout Executive Bielefield. Mr. Colt awarded a bronze medal to Scout Cecil Wetherbee of Troop 1, as second prize in the tent caterpillar contest held this year among the Scouts of this city. Three awards for Star Scout were made. This award is given to the Scout successfully passing test for five merit badges, and Star Scout emblems were pinned to the uniforms of Scouts Kirker, Wetherbee and Tarrant. President Colt also awarded the Junior Red Cross Lifesaving emblem to Scout Robert Agnew, who completed his examinations for the Lifesaving corps this summer at Camp Wakenah.

Awards of merit badges were made as follows: James Fitzgerald, Troop 5, salesmanship, scholarship, physical development, firemanship, handicraft, civics; William Potter, Troop 5, swimming, lifesaving, leathercraft, firemanship, cooking; Nicholas Tarrant, Troop 5, pioneering, pathfinding, first aid, civics, athletics; Robert Agnew, Troop 12, pioneering, lifesaving, first aid to animals, cooking; John Eyberse, Troop 12, public health.

Two Scouts were awarded the First Class badge, they having successfully completed tests for First Class Scout. These Scouts were Grant Denison of Troop 12 and Lawrence Douville of Troop 5.

EAGLES INITIATE AND FEAST ON TURKEY

After initiating a class of 22 candidates, the members of Norwich aerie, No. 367, F. O. E. held their annual Thanksgiving eve roast turkey supper at the Eagles home. The aerie degree team initiated the new members.

About 11 o'clock the turkey supper was served in the dining hall to the 175 Eagles present. Visitors from the Westerly aerie were among those present.

During the business session there were remarks by Past President John Shugrue, Dr. Louis T. Cassidy, Past President August Hastedt, who spoke on the Old Age Pension and on The Mite Box, and Past President Timothy C. Fields.

The supper menu comprised roast turkey, mashed potatoes, mashed turnips, gravy, celery, olives, cranberry sauce, rolls, coffee and pie. It was one of the most successful Thanksgiving eve celebrations yet held by the aerie.

The committee in charge comprised Timothy Fields, chairman, John Shugrue, John McKenna, Walter Caughey and Henry St. Laurent.

Given Miscellaneous Shower

A miscellaneous shower was given to Mary Fournier at her home at 19 Mohegan avenue, New London, in honor of her approaching marriage to Charles Mohr, of Pennsylvania. Games were played and refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Fournier.

Held Music Round Table

Miss Margaret Suck presided at the meeting of the music round table of the Women's City club Tuesday evening in the club room in the Wauregan hotel. Miss Camp read the current events and there was a general discussion of the art song. A large number was present.

Family Gathering for Holiday

The afternoon of Thanksgiving day will bring several pleasant hours for Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Sage of 121 Cedar street for as many of their children and grandchildren as can gather there for a family reunion. Distance and illness in their families will prevent some from attending but it is expected there will be at least eight of their children and seventeen grandchildren.

THANKSGIVING DINNERS ARE SENT OUT IN BASKETS

The United Workers distributed 150 baskets containing supplies for as many Thanksgiving dinners to worthy poor families of the city Wednesday morning. All of the baskets had been delivered by noon by the motor squad. The baskets were prepared for delivery Tuesday by the following committee:

Mrs. Archibald Mitchell, 4th, Mrs. Robert W. Perkins, Mrs. Edmund W. Perkins, Miss Alif Stevens, Mrs. Flint Brayton, Miss Porteous, Mrs. John H. Barnes, Miss Mary Osgood, Mrs. William Wade, Miss Bill, Miss Cecile Crowell, Mrs. Robert T. Johnson, Miss Marion L. Bishop, Miss Burlingame and Mrs. Charles T. Bard.

Mrs. Robert Johnson was captain of the motor squad which consisted of Mrs. Richard Snow, Mrs. Flint Brayton, Mrs. Archibald Mitchell, 4th, Miss Porteous, Miss Bill, Miss Burlingame, Mrs. Robert W. Perkins, Mrs. Aurin Q. Payson, Mrs. Emil M. Fox, Mrs. Charles H. Osgood, Mrs. Edmund W. Perkins, Mrs. Charles T. Bard, Frederick Bielefield and Henry F. Parker.

The family welfare committee of the United Workers has extended its thanks to the children of the local schools for their generous donations of food. Miss Julia Corcoran, welfare worker of the United Workers, had charge of the work.

ENGLAND PLANS TO UNIFY CONTROL OF CIVIL FLYING

LONDON (AP)—The general council of the associated light airplane clubs is considering a plan for unified control of civil flying in Great Britain.

Under the scheme worked out for consideration the central administrative organization would take charge of all flying clubs, provide them with airplanes, engage instructors and select airports. Some flying schools and passenger-carrying lines also would come under its jurisdiction.

The government will be asked to lend aid to the project through some form of subsidy, probably through payment of a certain sum for each new pilot trained.

Money For Holidays

NEW YORK (AP)—From $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 in currency will be needed to finance the great American Thanksgiving and $200,000,000 more will be needed for Christmas, federal reserve officials estimated. A peculiarity of the holiday demand at this time of the year, they say, is that the currency does not flow freely back into the bank after Thanksgiving, as after other holidays, but in large part remains in circulation until after Christmas. Transportation costs, widespread distribution of gifts and a general public need of cash is responsible.

Barrel Burning by Duwells

The Duwell club will hold its first barrel burning celebration this (Thanksgiving) evening at 7:30 o'clock on Edward's Hill. The members of the club have collected 200 barrels which will be strung on a pole and touched off this evening. It is expected that a large crowd will be present to witness the huge bonfire.

Sound Movies Paying

NEW YORK (AP)—Theater managers say use of sound films has had a beneficial effect upon box office receipts, noticed particularly in cases of pictures in which stars of the legitimate stage appear. They point out that a sound film makes no objection to 14 showings a week, including a daily matinee, while the legitimate show can be given only eight times, including two matinees.

France Paying Bills

PARIS (AP)—The French budget for 1929 appropriates 5,000,000,000 francs for payment of war damages, or 4,000,000,000 less than last year. It is expected the entire bill will be paid within 18 months, making the total France will have spent to indemnify her citizens on war claims about 160,000,000,000 francs.

BELL ALARM FOR FIRE AT ROOSEVELT AVE. DUMP

The second bell alarm of the month was rung in from Box 618 at 2:46 o'clock Wednesday afternoon for a fire at the city dump off Roosevelt avenue. The fire department responded and a line of 2 1-2 inch hose was laid to extinguish the blaze, which was started by a boy playing with matches.

Automobile on Fire

The fire department was called out at 2:19 o'clock Wednesday afternoon for a fire in a machine at the automobile "graveyard" in front of 98 Hamilton avenue. The blaze was caused by a short circuit, which set fire to gas leaking from pipes in the machine upon which Oscar Eccleston was working at the time.

Thanksgiving Church Services.

A union Thanksgiving service of the Protestant churches of the city is to be held this (Thursday) evening at 7:30 at the United Congregational church. The sermon is to be by Rev. Joseph Cooper of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church.

The Thanksgiving day service at the Christian Science chapel, 45 Main street, is to be held at 10.45 in the morning.

OPERATORS SUSPENDED FOR DRIVING UNDER INFLUENCE

Automobile drivers in New London, Willimantic and Oakdale are included in the list of 40 in the state whose names are announced by the state motor vehicle department as having had their licenses suspended for driving while under the influence of liquor. Those in the list include Alexander Douglas, William Frechette and Wallace Lanier of New London, Arthur Cyr of Willimantic, and George A. Holmes of Oakdale.

COAST GUARDSMEN KILLED MAN IN SEIZURE OF LAUNCH

Another Man Was Wounded on Lake Ontario Near Fort Niagara—The Men Were on the Launch Bug, Which Guardsmen Had Orders to Seize on Sight—No Ale or Liquor Was Found on the Launch—Wide Difference in Version of the Shooting Given by the Coast Guardsmen and That of the Wounded Man.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 29—(AP)—One man was shot dead and another wounded on Lake Ontario near Fort Niagara early today in a clash between coast guardsmen and a launch whih the federal authorities had instructions to seize on sight.

Carl Anderson, 34, reputed owner of the launch, was killed. His home was in Lewiston. Edmund Sahr, 24, Niagara Falls, was wounded.

Federal authorities said that papers were found in the dead man's pockets showing that the launch, known as the Bug cleared from Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., on Nov. 24 for Wilson, N. Y., with a cargo of 200 cases of ale. No name was on the clearance papers to indicate who was in charge of the launch when it left the Canadian port. It was said, however, that the coast guardsmen along the Niagara river and on Lake Ontario had orders to seize the Bug on sight. No ale or liquor was found on board the launch when it was searched after the shooting.

There is considerable difference in the version of the shooting by the members of the coastguard to their superiors and that given by Sahr, the wounded man, who was brought to a Niagara Falls hospital.

Sahr told Coroner Frank T. Cramer and Under Sheriff Ralph Irish that he and Anderson were out in the motorboat with no contraband on board when they heard two shots fired.

The launch was disabled at the time, Sahr said, and he was tinkering with the engine while Anderson was at the wheel. A few seconds after the warning shots Sahr declared, the volley was fired that killed Anderson and wounded him in the chest.

The Bug, Sahr said, was drawn ashore with a line from the government boat. The three members of the crew of the coast guard boat he declared, left him beside the body of his dead companion saying they were going for a doctor.

After waiting for an hour, Sahr further stated, and fearing that he would bleed to death he made his way to the farm of John Streblow who took him to the office of Dr. Wm. Falkner of Youngstown. Dr. Falkner brought Sahr to the hospital here and notified the Niagara Falls police, who in turn informed the sheriff's office of the shooting.

Under Sheriff Irish said that when he reached the shore of the lake where the Bug was aground, Anderson's body was on the beach and the three members of the coast guard crew boatswain's mate, N. G. McCune and Surfmen Roy Rush and Chris Dew were standing by. Their boat was at anchor near shore. Irish ordered Anderson's body removed to Ransomville.

The members of the coast guard in their report to superiors said that it was at their orders to seize the Bug and they hailed her off the south shore about five miles east of Fort Niagara at 2:30 a. m. Two warnings shot were fired, it was stated, when they saw the launch running without lights. Instead of stopping the Bug made directly for the coast guard boat. The federal men said it was a deliberate attempt to ram them. As the Bug slipped by, missing their boat by inches, it was stated, they fired a volley. Sahr, they declared, jumped from the boat as it was beached and ran away. Two of the coast-guard crew remained beside Anderson's body while a third went in the search of a doctor, it is claimed. This part of the coast guard report also contradicts Sahr's version of what happened, immediately after the shooting.

Chris Dew, one of the surfmen, figured in the shooting of Jacob D. Hanson on Lewiston Hill last May.

PLANNING CONNECTICUT RECEPTION OF GOVERNORS

HARTFORD, Nov. 29—(AP)—Adventure above the clouds and beneath the sea, as well as the best that Connecticut has to offer in the more prosaic channels of hospitality, were among the attractions which decided the governors' conference to hold its 1929 meeting in Connecticut, it was learned from Gov. Trumbull, who extended the invitation to the conference to meet in Connecticut during the recent 1928 session in New Orleans. Decision of th executive committee of the conference on the place of its next meeting immediately following the session, as was done this year, is usual, it was said, as this decision is not made usually until some months after the annual conference.

The discussion program for the conference will be arranged at a meeting of the executive committee to be held in Chicago some time after the first of the year. The practice of the conference has been to discuss matters of common interest in state government, but to avoid expression of indorsement through resolutions or otherwise.

In all probability, Gov. Trumbull said, the conference will be held at the Griswold at Eastern Point some time in July, although the exact date and place has not yet been fixed. He expects, he said, to have a battleship sent to New London during the conference, which will give the governors an opportunity to inspect a modern sea fighting machine.

BLANKET OF SNOW IN ROCKY MOUNTAIN REGION

GUBER, Nov. 29—(AP)—Under clearing skies, the Rocky Mountain region tonight lay beneath a heavy Thanksgiving blanket of snow.

All of the states in the mountain territory—Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Colorado and New Mexico—were covered with a blanket of white as the storm, marked by unusually high temperatures, moved slowly eastward. Many cities and towns in Colorado and Wyoming, where the snowfall was heaviest, were left with a covering of from one to two feet of snow.

The flakes which fell continuously for 32 hours were haled with joy in the farming areas and the storm was passing without leaving any extended damage. Livestock was not injured. Automobile accidents were singularly few and transportation and communication systems were only slightly affected.

The snow ranged from a depth of ten inches at Denver to 17 inches at Lander, Wyo., and reached much greater depth in the mountain. Pike's Peak got a 22-inch coverine.

Tonight the storm moved eastward toward the Mississippi valley and the weather bureau predicted moderate temperatures for the Rocky Mountain region. Precipitation brought by the storm to the west exceeded in value the damage wrought by the storm, the weather bureau said.

LEVIATHAN DELAYED BECAUSE OF STORMS

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—(AP)—The liner Leviathan, flagship of the United States lines, arrived from Europe tonight, 12 hours late because of storms along the European coast during the first two days of her voyage.

The passengers, unable to reach their destinations in time for Thanksgiving dinners at home, enjoyed Thanksgiving dinner on board, a sufficient supply of turkeys having been placed on the ship before sailing to insure against a possible delay in reaching New York.

CREW REMOVED FROM WATER-LOGGED STEAMER

BREST, France, Nov. 29—(AP)—The steamer Aramil Potuy, from which the crew was removed after she became water-logged in the storm, was towed safely into the roads here at 8 p. m. today by the tug Iroquese. The steamer had 30 feet of water in her hold. Half her cargo had been thrown overboard.

THE COOLIDGES HAD JOYFUL THANKSGIVING

SWANNANOA CLUB, Near Waynesboro, Va., Nov. 29—(AP)—A bountiful Thanksgiving dinner was prepared for President and Mrs. Coolidge this evening at the Swannanoa Country club, the secluded mountain mansion where they are spending the holiday week-end.

True to tradition, the principal course was turkey. A huge gobbler, weighing more than thirty pounds, was provided for the presidential table by Virginia friends. Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge dined alone as the only guests whom they had invited to accompany them into Virginia—Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston—were unable to go along because of the illness of Mrs. Stearns.

The dinner came at the end of a day of many varied activities which included attendance at church, an informal luncheon reception, and a college football game.

First of all, the president tested his marksmanship and a new gun in some clay pigeon shooting on the vast estate which surrounds the Swannanoa club. Knowing of Mr. Coolidge's fondness for this form of recreation, in which he had his initiation last summer during his vacation in Wisconsin, the club had provided traps for his stay here. At a distance of forty yards the chief executive succeeded in breaking seventeen out of twenty-five flying targets.

The shooting over, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge motored to Charlottesville, for church services. For Thanksgiving and the president's coming, all the Protestant churches of the city united in services at the first Baptist church.

TWO VESTRIS INQUIRIES MAY BE CONCLUDED TODAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—(AP)—The end of two official inquiries into the loss of the liner Vestris is in prospect for tomorrow.

Before taking a holiday recess Federal Attorney Charles Tuttle, conducting the government's investigating, and a department of commerce board reviewing an examination of the Vestris by steamboat inspectors, had taken the testimony of scores of survivors, officers and shipping experts, leaving only the examination of a few more witnesses before the hearings are concluded.

Both Tuttle and Dickerson N. Hoover, supervising inspector general of the U. S. steamboat inspection service of the department of commerce, indicated they expected to conclude their investigations tomorrow. It is not known when opinions will be given.

RUMANIAN GOVERNMENT TO BE DECENTRALIZED

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 29—(AP)—Westernization of the constitutional basis of Rumania was decreed today in a manifesto issued by the new Juliu Maniu government.

Public servants, courts and the army are to be made independent of political powers. The government is to be decentralized by establishing local elective autonomy.

Since agriculture forms the chief industry of Rumania, other branches of production are to be made dependent upon it, and export taxes are to be abolished in time to make agriculture more profitable.

The Bratianu laws of 1924 will be revised to enable foreign capital to enter Rumania.

DEATH CAUSED BY BLOWING OUT OF MOTORCYCLE TIRE

MANCHESTER, Conn., Nov. 29—(AP)—The blowing out of a motorcycle rear tire will probably cost the life of George Lace, of Norfolk, who is in the Manchester Memorial hospital with a fractured skull. His brother, Charles, of this town, is also suffering from a fractured skull but doctors believe he will live. The men were riding the motorcycle along Hartford turnpike when the tire burst, throwing them to the ground.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

SHANGHAI, Nov. 29—(AP)—The United States Transport Chaumont sailed from here for San Diego, Cal., with 400 marines from Tientsin and this city on board.

GENEVA, Nov. 28—(AP)—The league of nations telegraphed all members of its council an inquiry whether they would approve a plan to meet elsewhere than Geneva.

LONDON, Nov. 29—(AP)—The Field, a weekly sporting paper announced today that a vaccine has been discovered which is claimed to make dogs completely and permanently immune to distemper.

BERLIN, Nov. 29—(AP)—Dr. Herbert Von Dirksen, chief of the eastern section of the foreign office, has been appointed German ambassador to the soviet union at Moscow succeeding the late Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau.

FRANK P. O'HARE AND DIVORCED WIFE REMARRY

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 29—(AP)—Frank P. O'Hare and his divorced wife, Mrs. Kate Richards O'Hare, socialist leader, were both remarried yesterday, it became known today.

O'Hare was married here to Miss Irene M. Reynolds, while Mrs. O'Hare was married to Charles G. Cunningham, former San Francisco engineer, at San Jose, Calif. Mrs. O'Hare obtained a divorce from O'Hare in Arkansas last June.

The marriage here, which was by civil authorities, revealed that O'Hare, a Catholic, had instituted proceedings with archdiocesan authorities of the Roman Catholic church to have his marriage to Mrs. O'Hare, a non-Catholic, annulled. His second wife is a Catholic.

When informed that his divorced wife also had married today, O'Hare said: "I'm mighty glad to hear that. The former Mrs. O'Hare was a wonderful woman and I was afraid she would be lonely. I hope she has found a mate who will make her happy."

O'Hare said his former wife had been "emotionally unhappy" since her release from the Missouri state penitentiary in 1920, after serving 14 months of a five-year sentence under a war-time espionage act, growing out of a radical speech after the United States entered the war.

IRA REMSEN, PORTRAIT PAINTER, SHOT HIMSELF

CARMEL, Cal., Nov. 29—(AP)—Ira Remsen, noted portrait painter, playwright and club man, and son of the late Dr. Ira Remsen, noted chemist and former president of Johns-Hopkins university, shot and killed himself in his studio here today.

Remsen was known to have been ill for a year but friends said he had been despondent since rejection of his latest play, "Incling," by New York producers. His will, written Nov. 19, shortly after the play had come back to him, left his 2,000 estate to his brother, Dr. Charles M. Remsen of New York, with whom their mother has been living.

The body was found by George Ball, manager of the Carmel Players, a theatrical organization, just before several friends were to arrive for a visit and Thanksgiving dinner.

The younger Remsen was divorced in 1926 by Mrs. Helen Yoder Remsen. Mrs. Remsen obtained the decree on the ground of cruelty. Among the alleged cruelties was the artist's custom of appearing at social affairs in overalls.

Remsen was a member of the Bohemian club, San Francisco.

TRIPLE AUTO ACCIDENT ON NORTH COLONY ROAD

MERIDEN, Nov. 29—(AP)—A three-year-old boy is in the Meriden hospital seriously injured as a result of a triple auto accident on the North Colony road near Silver Lake inn, tonight. Charles Welch, the injured boy, was asleep in the lap of his father, Leroy J. Welch of this city, when the accident occurred.

Welch crashed into a car driven by Fred H. Sugden of 111 Standish street, Hartford, and then struck a second car in charge of R. W. Frost of 35 Ansonia street, Hartford.

Charles Welch was hurled through the side window of the car driven by his father. Mrs. C. E. Hastings of 57 Court street, New Britain, a passenger in Frost's car, suffered slight injuries to the head, while Mrs. R. W. Frost received minor bruises to her arm. Neither of the women needed medical attention.

FUNERAL IN BRUSSELS OF GENERAL JACQUES

BRUSSELS, Nov. 29—(AP)—King Alfred and Prince Charles were leaders of those who today paid the last homage to General Jacques, defender of Dixmude. The funeral mass was followed by a procession in which full military honors were accorded the World war hero.

Six black army horses drew the gun carriage on which the coffin was carried to the cemetery. Each horse wore sable trappings which bore the name of one of the Flanders battles in which General Jacques participated.

Hundreds of wreaths and magnificent floral offerings were in evidence and a vast concourse watched the procession pass through the streets.

SLAYERS ATTEMPTED TO CREMATE BODY OF VICTIM

YORK, Pa., Nov. 29—(AP)—With rope around the neck, hands and feet, the body of Nelson F. Rehmeyer, 65, was found on the floor of his home at Mount Ary, today. A fire had been started about the body, with the intention, officials believe, to cover up the crime by burning down the house and cremating the corpse.

CONDITION OF THE MEXICAN TREASURY

Storm Devastation Along Belgian Coast

At Ostend Three-Quarters of the Houses Were Either Unroofed or Standing in Wa[ter]

BRUSSELS, Nov. 29.—(AP)—[Dev]astation along the Belgian coast as a result of the recent storm was serious in many places tonight and further damage seemed inevitable as the gales should start afresh.

In Ostend, west end, Middelkerk and Blankenberg, three-quarters of the houses were either unroofed or standing in water. The Middelkerk casino was in danger of collapse and the promenades along the seafront were either badly damaged or in ruins and covered with sand. All electric car as well as channel boat service were suspended.

From all of these localities came urgent pleas that soldiers be sent to repair breaches in the dikes and other guardien devices on the waterfronts.

Despite improved weather, floods were still spreading throughout the Province of Antwerp. Working day and night, 5,000 soldiers had mended most of the 56 breaks in dikes and these were expected to resist tonight's high tide.

In the city of Antwerp the people today were able to obtain drinking water in reduced quantities. Storms had undermined and broken the city mains.

Public relief funds have been opened in behalf of the inundated districts which the queen visited yesterday. The Red Cross is caring for 20,000 people, many of whom are homeless or have lost all their possessions. An unofficial estimate placed the total damage in the neighborhood of $5 000,000.

THANKSGIVING DINNER FOR "DOWN-AND-OUTERS"

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 29—(AP)—The "down-and-outers" had their Thanksgiving day too— turkey, cranberry and "all the fixin's" served by deft waitresses at tables on which were snowy white cloths, plated ware and sturdy white dishes, and all because the owner of a central restaurant hit on that way of expressing his own personal gratitude for the gifts of the year.

The advertisement in the papers of yesterday and today which brought the "down-and-outers" to his place in droves read: "No paying guests will be received on Thanksgiving day, but if you've out of luck — if you're broke — if you've hungry and can't afford a real Thanksgiving dinner with turkey and all the fixings; you are invited to be my guest.

"Come on in — there will be a chair at my table for you — a real welcome and a real dinner — no charge of any kind and no red tape."

And did they come!

INVESTIGATING VOTE IN SOUTHERN TEXAS

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 29—(AP)—The congressional committee that has just finished an investigation of the general election balloting in southern Texas arrived here today to look into the contest brought by Harry M. Wurzbach, Texas' only republican congressman, who on the face of returns from the 14th district (San Antonio) was defeated by Augustus McCloskey, democrat. The count gave McCloskey only a slight plurality.

Although the committee had been requested to make a complete investigation of the 14th district congressional race, the body decided soon after arrival here that in view of a grand jury probe of the race now under way, the congressional body collect only enough evidence to supply a possible contest of the race later before congress.

BARN, 16 HEAD OF CATTLE AND TWO HORSES BURNED

MADISON, Conn., Nov. 29—(AP)—Thanksgiving brought loss to Clarkson H. Meigs, former first selectman and one of the best known farmers in the shore town as fire took his big hay barn, 16 head of cattle and two horses. A member of the household first saw the blaze as it came out of an upper window in the barn at 12:30 a. m. Clinton and Madison firemen were soon at the farm and while the latter fought the barn fire with lines of hose the former, by use of eighty gallons of chemicals worked on the house, a silo and shed which they saved in a fight which lasted until 5 o'clock.

Of the cattle lost a bull was recently bought by Mr. Meigs for $1600. The barn was full of hay and in it also were farming tools. The loss probably exceeded $10,000. The origin of the fire was undetermined.

DIED AFTER ILLNESS OF FOURTEEN YEARS

WOODBURY, Conn., Nov. 29—(AP)—F. J. Manville, 77, died at his home here after an illness of fourteen years. He was formerly associated with the E. J. Manville Machine company, of Waterbury, which was established by his father. For the past fourteen years, Mr. Manville has been an invalid.

He is survived by his widow, Anna K. Manville and a daughter, Mrs. Lee Wilson, of Winnetko, Ill. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon with interment at Riverside cemetery.

DISTINCT IMPROVEMENT REPORTED IN THE CONDITION OF KING GEORGE

LONDON, Nov. 29.—(AP)—An anxious nation began to breathe more freely today as the condition of King George showed distinct signs of improving.

Two favorable bulletins this morning and one this evening announcing that the infective process was being held in check and recording a quiet day with sleep followed. Home Secretary Joynson-Hick's hopeful statement last night that his majesty was on the mend.

It was understood that the king's physicians, Lord Dawson and Sir Stanley Hewett were greatly satisfied with the king's progress today and would omit the usual late night visits to the royal patient, saving them for the visit will be tomorrow morning. Unofficial reports from the palace however point out that his majesty's recovery must necessarily be slow.

Tonight's bulletin issued at 8 p. m. said:

"The king had a quiet day. With some sleep. Otherwise his condition remained unchanged."

The leading English medical journal, "The Lancet," will review tomorrow the progress of the king's illness and incidentally dispel the idea that the king's illness occurred through a sudden onset of his attack by stating that for several days prior to the issue of the first medical bulletin his majesty had not been in his usual health, although he continued to carry on his official engagements.

Britain Discussing Naval Disarmament

[Pu]blicists Urge That [Bri]tain's Proposal For Conference Be Accepted.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Naval disarmament came back to open discussion in Great Britain today. Three factors contributed to this: The proposal of Fred A. Britten, of the naval affairs committee of the United States house of representatives that his committee and a delegation from the house of commons meet in Canada next March; the declaration of Viscount Cecil that Great Britain ought to meet the United States half way, and an attempt by Sir Frederick Hall to get an official statement on naval policies by means of an interpellation today in the house of lords.

A considerable section of the press and federal publicisits urged that Mr. Britten's proposal be accepted. They pointed out that in addressing the prime minister, Stanley Baldwin, direct the Illinoisan had shattered diplomatic precedents and had gone into official quarters with an unofficial project, but they argued that the plan was too good to lose because of that technicality. Several pointed out that Mr. Britten had closely paralleled an idea expressed last week by Lord Lee of Fareham who suggested that a civilian representative of each country could get farther and so faster than conferences of naval experts.

Viscount Cecil, who was closely associated with Woodrow Wilson in working out the idea of the league of nations, aroused much comment by advocating mathematical equality in the British and American navies "in tons and guns."

Stanley Baldwin would not be "smoked out" when he replied to Sir Frederick Hall's question in the house. The inquiry was whether, as a preliminary to further discussion of naval disarmament by the league of nations, the government would consider asking France and the United States to participate in a conference with Great Britain, insofar as the problem concerned the three countries.

Mr. Baldwin replied that the government was carefully considering what steps could usefully be taken to promote an agreement with regard to further naval limitations. He added:

"I doubt whether the specific expedient proposed by my honorable and gallant friend would be likely to attain the object which he evidently has in view."

THREATENING PLACARDS IN STREETS OF SOFIA

BELGRADE, Nov. 29—(AP)—Advices from Sofia today that the streets of the capital were placarded with sheets threatening that the Ochrid brotherhood would revenge themselves for the recent slaying of their member, Naum Bjeley.

All the followers of Ivan Michailoff, leader of a powerful faction of the Macedonian revolutionary party, received copies, one was sent to Michailoff himself, and another to the minister of war.

The Sofia newspapers Sloboda Retch and Zora said that reports published in the foreign press concerning disorders in Bulgaria were false. At the same time the newspaper Narod published an article regretting that members of the Macedonian Comitadji organization were killing one another off and predicting that the death of Naum Bjeley would not be the last.

MAN BURIED ALIVE IN EFFORT TO REVIVE HIM

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 29—(AP)—Town Councilor Kutclera, of the little Moravian town of Rakova, was deliberately buried alive after being rendered unconscious by coming in contact accidentally with a highly charged electric wire.

Upon the advice of a woman doctor of the village, he was placed in a hole in the ground in the belief that the earth would absorb the electricity from his body.

"The earth has peculiar affinity for electricity, and if the councilor is buried for half an hour, the current will flow out of him," advised the woman.

But when dug up after 30 minutes interment, Kutclera was dead.

WESTERN AIR EXPRESS FOKKER PLANE MISSING

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 29—(AP)—The location of a tri-motored Fokker airplane of the Western Air Express became a cause of alarm tonight, when word was received at the Middletown airport, near here, that the plane had not arrived at its destination at Wheeling, W. Va.

The plane landed at Middletown for refueling after being forced to change its course because of rough weather along the northern route. It took off early this afternoon for Wheeling.

NEW GIANT ZEPPELIN TO BE COMPLETED BY 1930

GOEPPINGEN, Germany, Nov. 29—(AP)—Plans for construction of a new giant Zeppelin, to be completed by 1930, were announced here today by Director Colsmann of the Zeppelin works at Friedrichshafen. He told the 21st meeting of the League of Wurtemburg Industrialists that subscriptions of private funds had made the construction possible.

HOOVER'S LAST REPORT AS SECRETARY OF COMMERCE

Calls Attention to Prevalence of Prosperity and the Continuous Trend Upward—Cites as Contributing Factors the Steadiness of Prices and the Improvements in Transportation—Considers That Growth of Construction Reflects Expansion of Equipment of Industry and Commerce.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover's last official pronouncement as a servant of the government before his election as president was made public today in the form of the annual report of the commerce department for the fiscal year 1928, which closed last June 30.

The document's key-note stressed "the remarkable continuity of the prosperity of the United States during recent years and its prevailing upward trend." In the foreward, usually the secretary's own production, the steadiness, the improvements in transportation, and the phenomena of finance were treated, while agriculture was given a special study.

"Viewing the agricultural situation as a whole, no very marked difference appears between conditions in the fiscal year 1927-28 and the preceding fiscal year," Mr. Hoover's section said. "The crops harvested in the autumn of 1927 were in the aggregate of approximately the same magnitude as those of 1926 and larger than in any previous year except 1915 and 1920.

"It is true that the increase in agricultural production both over a long period of time and during recent years has been decidedly less rapid than that in the production of manufactured and mineral products. The demand for farm products, which are for the most part necessities of life, tends to increase little if any more rapidly than population. On the other hand, there is practically no limit to the demand for manufactured commodities, many of which are in the nature of semi-luxuries or luxuries. Even if the need for one type is fully met, new and more highly elaborate articles are constantly coming into use with the advancing standard of living and of the equipment for production."

Turning to another field, the report remarked that "during the past seven or eight years, the amount of construction (of buildings) in the United States has been unparalleled in the history of this or any other important country."

"This high activity reflects expansion of the equipment of industry and commerce," Mr. Hoover's report said, after giving the figures of the construction, "and marked improvement in the quality of that equipment, and, above all, in the quality of the homes of the people."

Railroads were said to "have continued to furnish adequate and efficient service and to enjoy large traffic and revenues."

"The betterment of railway service has been the result of effort on the part of railway companies themselves," it was added, "and of co-operation on the part of shippers and receivers of merchandise. The railways companies have improved their roadbeads and equipment. The co-operation of business men has been particularly conspicuous in the form of regional advisory boards of the American Railway association.

Analyzing the movement of gold to Europe, with the fluctuating reserve bank rate that has accompanied it, and the resulting swings in bank deposits, it was said that after making allowances for "the extraordinary volume of trading on the stock exchanges," the situation indicated "a healthy state of business activity."

The country's foreign trade was illustrated by special report sections prepared by Dr. Julius Klein, the department's director in that activity. Canada's emergence as the best customer of the United States displacing Great Britain from a long held post, was noted, and the conclusion was expressed that international exchanges for the year had brought about "very heavy new investments of American capital in foreign countries."

Expansion in the export of manufactured goods, Dr. Klein said, in presenting a study prepared with the assistance of E. Dane Durand of the foreign trade statistics section, was the most remarkable fact disclosed.

"The efficiency of American production, the vigorous efforts of American business men in finding markets, and the active aid in promoting trade," the report declared, "have borne fruit which must furnish satisfaction to all classes of our people. Notwithstanding the exceptionally self-sufficient position of the United States, our high standards of living demand the import of a number of important and many minor commodities which the country itself cannot produce.

"The task of finding foreign markets for American products has met with noteworthy measure of success."

W. P. MacCracken, assistant secretary for aeronautics, declared in an accompanying report that there had been "phenomenal progress in every phase of the industry" during the year. He remarked "unprecedented increase in air transport service alone," which had resulted in increasing the regularly flown air route mileage in the country from 8,396 miles to 11,181. Railroad interest in the field had brought about co-operation, and the development of betterments had made more usable machines available.

"Commercial aeronautics is no longer on the threshold," he concluded, "it has entered the business world, and without subsidy, has become an integral part of American industry and transportation. There is every indication of still greater growth during the ensuing biennial period."

CEREMONY AS HOOVER PASSED THE EQUATOR

U. S. MARYLAND, EN ROUTE TO ECUADOR, Nov. 29.—(AP)—This was a day of alternate thanksgiving and trembling aboard the battleship Maryland as the mighty craft, carrying Herbert Hoover, president-elect, and his party nearer the equator on its voyage to Guayaquil, its next port of call.

In consequence of the Thanksgiving holiday the ship observed Sunday routine. There was a divine service upon the quarterdeck which was attended by both Mr. and Mrs. Hoover. This was followed later with an elaborate dinner, not only for the president-elect and his party, but for all the crew.

Dinner concluded, the Maryland was brought to a dead halt momentarily while Davy Jones, personal agent of his majesty, King Neptune, came aboard to issue subpoenas to all those who have not until now crossed the equator. These were summons to appear for initiations tomorrow on the forecastle deck where a ducking tank has been rigged up. Jones was presented to Captain Kimberly and the president-elect formally as soon as he came over the side of the vessel; then he repaired to the quarterdeck where the subpoena ceremony was enacted.

MEXICAN PRESIDENTIAL INAUGURATION THIS NOON

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 29—(AP)—Twenty-five thousand persons are expected to witness the inauguration of Emilio Portes Gil as provisional president of Mexico tomorrow noon. The ceremony will take place in the National Stadium.

A great platform, accommodating 5,000 special guests such as members of congress, the supreme court, members of the diplomatic corps, judges, governors, military chiefs, newspapermen and prominent natives, has been erected in the centerfield. In addition 20,000 tickets have been distributed for seats in the stadium proper.

The stadium has been gaily decorated for the event. Special military honors will be rendered, with artillery salutes for President Calles and the incoming executives.

The new president will read a message to the nation outlining the policies which his administration intends to pursue, both domestic and international.

STEAMER IN TROUBLE IN THE MID-PACIFIC

SEATTLE, WASH., Nov. 29—(AP)—Somewhere in mid-Pacific, presumably a little south of the Aleutian Islands, the steamer Chief Maquilla was in trouble today, with at least four other ships supposed to be rushing to its assistance.

Distress calls were heard from the Chief Maquilla shortly after 4 a. m., saying its situation was urgent and asking ships to stand by. Later a wireless message from the Japanese steamer Hakushika Maru, intercepted here, gave the position of the Chief Maquilla as 50 degrees, 25 minutes north and 175 degrees, 15 minutes west. The message from the Chief Maquilla direct was too faint to give much information.

SENTENCED TO DEATH FOR MURDER OF HER HUSBAND

VERSAILLES, France, Nov. 29—(AP)—Anne Bruey was today sentenced to death for the murder of her husband. This made her the fourth woman in France awaiting the guillotine, unless clemency is granted by President Doumergue.

Mme. Bruey was convicted of assassinating her husband for the purpose of collecting an insurance policy of 10,000 francs, equal to about $400 in American money. While he slept, she opened all the gas jets in his bedroom, closed all windows and doors and then retired to the cellar to await his asphyxiation. She waited two hours and then herself reported his "accidental death" to the police.

RECALLS THE FAMOUS MAYBRICK MURDER CASE

LONDON, Nov. 29—(AP)—The famous Maybrick murder case of 40 years ago, in which an American woman was sentenced to death, was recalled by a Paris dispatch to the Evening Star today. This reported that an American lawyer there who is looking after the European interests of Mrs. Florence Maybrick, who now is living in Florida, disclosed that a fortune of approximately £150,000 ($750,000) had been left her under the will of Walter Thomas Burrell, a British subject living in France.

Mrs. Maybrick intends to utilize some of this money, the dispatch said, to start investigations of supposedly new facts connected with the murder case and with the aid of which she hopes to satisfy public opinion that she was innocent of the charge of poisoning her husband.

Mrs. Maybrick was sentenced to death at the Liverpool Assizes in 1889 after conviction of poisoning her husband, James Maybrick, a few weeks after the sentence, public opinion became aroused because of the circumstantial nature of some of the evidence, and her sentence was commuted to penal servitude for life. She served 16 years in prison and was released in 1905.

FIVE PERSONS IN JAIL FOR ROTHSTEIN MURDER

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—(AP)—Four men and a woman spent their Thanksgiving day in jail as the Rothstein mystery cauldron simmered quietly through the holiday with indications that it might suddenly boil over tomorrow.

Of the four who had their turkey in prison the most important was George McManus, a gambler whose coat was found in a hotel room where Arnold Rothstein was fatally shot and who is held without bail on a charge of murder. The others were "Nigger Nate" Raymond and "Titanic Thompson" Thomas, other gamblers, and Sidney Stajar, Rothstein's secretary, all held as material witnesses, and Mrs. Bridget Fahey, a chambermaid in the hotel where the shooting occurred.

HEAVY SNOWFALL IN SECTIONS OF FRANCE

PARIS, Nov. 29—(AP)—A heavy snowfall today finally broke the backbone of the tempest which has been raging over France for ten days, especially in Britain and Alsace. Ten inches of snow were reported from Strasbourg and also in the Vosges mountains. Vehicle traffic was stopped on the Paris-Geneva main road.

MANY FAMILY REUNIONS HERE THANKSGIVING DAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, Nov. 29—Although Thanksgiving was late this year, the weather did not interrupt with heavy traffic both in private cars, on passenger coaches and trains, as relatives and friends came and went for holiday reunions. The day was generally spent quietly and indoors, with all industrial activities in the city closed down. Most of the manufacturing plants will open Friday morning but a few, including the Rossig Velvet plant, are closed until Monday morning. College students and those engaged in teaching in other cities came home in numbers for the holiday recess. The amusements offered for the day consisted of programs at the Capitol and Gem theatres and a dance in the evening at the Al-Pierre Tabarin. In the morning two weddings were performed at each of the two Roman Catholic churches.

WEDDINGS

Miskell-Riordan

Mary Theresa Riordan of this city and Thomas A. Miskell of Boston, Mass., were united in marriage with a ceremony and nuptial mass solemnized at St. Joseph's church at 7 o'clock this morning by Rev. Henry E. Quinn, the pastor. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Charles Johnson, and the best man was her brother, Dr. Michael D. Riordan, of this city. The bride was becomingly gowned in independence blue velvet with hat and shoes to harmonize and she carried yellow chrysanthemums. The matron of honor was attired in a brown velvet ensemble with hat to match and she carried pink chrysanthemums. The wedding party left immediately after the ceremony for a breakfast at a Hartford hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Miskell then left on a honeymoon journey and after Jan. 1 will occupy an apartment in Boston. The bride was employed at the H. C. Murray Boston store here for some years and is widely known.

Gelinas-Hervieux

Miss Aurore Hervieux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Hervieux, became the bride of Alexander L. Gelinas at a pretty wedding solemnized in St. Mary's church at 7 o'clock this morning by Rev. E. A. Mathieu, who was also celebrant of the nuptial mass. The bride wore a pretty gown of golden brown velvet with hat to match and carried yellow chrysanthemums. She was attended by an intimate friend, Miss Leda Caisse, who was attired in wine colored velvet with silver hat and carried orchid chrysanthemums. The groom was attended by his brother, Frank X. Gelinas, also of this city. A wedding breakfast for the nuptial party was served in Hartford from where the bride and groom left on a wedding trip. Upon returning they will occupy a newly furnished apartment on South Park street. The groom is a popular young business man and is affiliated with the Leonard Bros. Garage, Inc., in charge of the tire and battery departments.

Shugrue-Morrison

The marriage of Miss Mary Georgianna Morrison of Park street and James A. Shugrue of Colchester took place in St. Joseph's church at 8 o'clock this morning with Rev. Felix O'Neill of Stafford Springs, a cousin of the bride, officiating at the ceremony and the nuptial high mass. The attendants were Miss Mary Shugrue of Colchester, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, and Frank Morrison, brother of the bride, as best man. The bride was attired in a gown of brown chiffon velvet with harmonizing hat and she carried an arm bouquet of yellow tea roses. Her maid of honor wore wine colored chiffon velvet with hat to match and carried pink roses. The reception and breakfast was held at the Nathan Hale hotel to immediate family members and intimate friends. Upon returning from a wedding tour, Mr. and Mrs. Shugrue will reside in Colchester where the groom conducts an extensive farm. The bride is a graduate of Windham high school and St. Joseph's Training School for Nurses and is a registered nurse.

Lacourse-Pageau

Miss Eva M. Pageau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pageau of 149 Bridge street, and Donald Lacourse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Moise Lacourse of Wallingford, were united in marriage at a pretty Thanksgiving day wedding performed in St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock this morning. Rev. J. J. Papillon, pastor, who officiated for the ceremony, was also celebrant of the nuptial high mass. Special singing was rendered by the church choir with Mrs. Joseph F. Gaudreau at the organ. Miss Exilda Pageau, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and August Myers of Wallingford, close friend of the groom, was best man. The bride was charmingly gowned in white satin and she wore a veil fastened with pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. The maid of honor was attired in a pink satin dress trimmed with Spanish lace. She wore a hat to match and carried pink roses.

A reception and wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents with about 50 guests present. Mr. and Mrs. Lacourse are spending their honeymoon in New York city and will later reside in Wallingford, where the groom is employed.

A two-horse lumber wagon owned and driven by Samuel Weingrad of Columbia was put out of commission about 10:30 o'clock this forenoon when run into by an Essex coach operated by Arthur I. Vars of 12 Yantic street, Norwich, on the Hartford highway, just west of the Flanders Road bridge in the town of Columbia. Vars was proceeding toward this city and was following the wagon, which was loaded with cord wood. Vars started to pass the team but in doing so was forced to pull into it when another machine suddenly appeared coming in the opposite direction. The truss-shaft of the wagon was broken and Weingrad had to unload his wood side of the road while he drove to a blacksmith shop for repairs. Vars agreed to settle for the damage, which amounted to less than $20. Traffic Officer Arthur Hurley of the local police went to the scene but turned the case over to Deputy Sheriff Harvey S. Collins, as the accident was outside of local jurisdiction. The machine had to be towed to a garage for repairs to the radiator.

In connection with the membership campaign now being conducted by the chamber of commerce to prepare for the second year of administration under an executive secretary, Secretary Earl J. Arnold and President Frank P. Fenton with members of the board of directors have prepared an interesting pamphlet listing some of the outstanding activities of the chamber during the past few months. The pamphlet provides a list of 68 comprehensive achievements accomplished and indicates that the work done has been of tremendous value to civic growth and improvement. The first of these activities shows the securing of two corporations to start business in the city. The Willimantic Silk, Inc., already producing broad silk and occupying one of the former Quidnick-Windham mills on Bridge street, and the Willimantic Metal Screen, Inc., which will be in production in the former S. C. S. Box shop on Moulton court about Jan. 1, are the new firms acquired. Among the 68 activities are the following of note: The establishment of a library of city directories and general information bureau for local people and visitors at the chamber office; the registration of an employment list; co-operation with the authorities against questionable solicitors and unlicensed vendors; preparation of news stories to place the city in a favorable light; co-operation with the merchants in several endeavors, including the first annual Spring Opening and window display; assistance in baseball and other sports; providing meeting places for many committees and organizations; mailing hundreds of pieces of Willimantic literature throughout the country; sponsoring an air port project; investigated silk situation; general improvements to chamber of commerce rooms; assisted in eliminating night noises and general nuisances; advertised Willimantic's central highway and railroad location. The present officers of the chamber are: Frank P. Fenton, president; Oliver L. Willard, vice-president; H. Clinton Lathrop, treasurer, and Earl J. Arnold, executive secretary.

Many local people are interested in the appointment of Rev. Eugene P. Cryne, a native of this city, as director of the Catholic Social Service bureau of New Haven, succeeding Rev. David Hutchinson of Waterbury. Rev. Father Cryne has been director of social service work for the Waterbury district and pastor of St. John's church in Middlebury. The appointment, which was made by Rt. Rev. John J. Nilan, bishop of the Hartford diocese, is based on ten years of experience which make Father Cryne one of the best qualified priests in the diocese in welfare work. Father Cryne has assumed his new duties and retains the pastorate in Middlebury. He is a graduate of St. Joseph's parochial school here.

Deputy Sheriff Harvey S. Collins of Columbia stated today that no arrests were expected as a result of the collision of cars operated by Arthur Bouffard of 248 Valley street and Robert J. Anderson of New Britain near the junction of Columbia road and the Hartford-Willimantic highway, early Wednesday evening. The drivers have agreed on a settlement of damages, it was stated. Mrs. Hugh Anderson, mother of the driver, was still a patient at St. Joseph's hospital today with a possible fracture of one or more ribs. Her condition is now considered serious.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Livezly entertained a party of 11 for Thanksgiving day dinner. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jerris and son of Bristol, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Price, Mr. and Mrs. Dale C. Hoe and daughter, Mary Elizabeth, of Warren, Mass., and Kenneth Bell of North Wilbraham, Mass.

The sale of two tracts of land with buildings at Parkside, bounded by South Park and Sumner streets, the Elks' park and Dawson properties, is recorded in a warranty deed by Euclide I. Brindamour to Andre and Beatrice Brindamour. The tracts are 189 by 63 feet and 169 by 63 feet, respectively.

COLONIAL QUILT BLOCKS PROVE OF MUCH INTEREST

A chicken pie supper was served by the members of the Mission circle in the chapel of the Baptist church Wednesday evening. Chicken pie, mashed potato, turnip, cranberry sauce, rolls, cake and coffee were served. After the supper a colonial quilt made by Mrs. Maria Barker was auctioned off. Each block was worked to represent some event in the colonial days and was described by Miss Beatrice Littlefield in reading and song. Miss Elinor Chappell sang The Pilgrim Fathers. Over $35 was added to the treasury.

On Sunday morning at the Baptist church Rev. A. G. Littlefield preached a splendid Thanksgiving sermon from Ephesians 5: 20, "Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ." There was a solo, Hymn of Thanks, by Miss Beatrice Littlefield.

In the evening there was a union Thanksgiving service at the Baptist church. The scripture reading was by Rev. Howard Bushnell, pastor of Goshen church; prayer was offered by Rev. John Knott, pastor of the Liberty Hill church, and the sermon was by Rev. Walter Cry of the Center church; text, Thes. 5: 18, "In every thing give thanks." There was a solo by Miss Beatrice Littlefield.

At the chapel of the Baptist church Monday evening there was a debate: "Should the missionary quota be regarded as a church debt?" Those on the affirmative side were Miss Beatrice Littlefield, Miss Elinor Chappell and Henry Aspinall, with George L. Randall coach. Upholding the negative were Miss Helen Abel, Miss Mildred Ladd and Abraham Aspinall, with Mrs. Gurdon Chappell coach. Rev. A. G. Littlefield was moderator. The judges, Mrs. Marjorie Ayer of Franklin, Miss Hilda Tilton and K. F. Bishop, decided in favor of the negative. Each one of the speakers did well, showing much thought on the subject.

In 1930 the museum will be the center of a great exhibition which will be devoted to the advance of hygiene since 1911, when the German Hygienic Museum originated.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, 'Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause.' But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall or Liggett Drug Store.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Caples entertained Sunday their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Caples, of Lyme, and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Minot, of Norwich. They attended the morning service of Exeter-Liberty Hill church.

A moving van from New York took Mr. Rosenoff's household goods to New York Thursday.

Saturday morning Mrs. J. George Clark made a misstep and fell, causing quite a bad wrench of the right thigh.

Mrs. J. A. Choquette, who has been visiting for several days with her children in Middletown and Southington, returned home Sunday.

Rev. J. H. Knott preached an excellent sermon from the text I John, iii, 2. There was no C. E. meeting Sunday evening on account of a union Thanksgiving service at the Lebanon Baptist church.

A Thanksgiving entertainment was given by the pupils of the local school at Exeter-Liberty Hill church Tuesday evening.

Mrs. John Clarke, E. E. Caples and Mrs. J. George Clark are the nominating committee of the Liberty Hill C. E. society.

The total eclipse of the moon Tuesday morning was observed by several here.

The mercury Monday morning was down to 10 above zero and did not get above freezing all day.

The house which burned Saturday night on Pine street, Columbia, about 10 to 11 o'clock, was quite plainly visible here. It is known as the Earl Holbrook place, now occupied by Jewish parties.

"I don't see how you can do all your own housework, sew for three children and find time for so much church and lodge work. I should be a nervous wreck."

"So should I without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken it for years whenever I feel nervous, fretty, or all tired out."

"Don't Get So Tired"

Mr. CARMEL, PA.—"After my second baby was born I had to work too hard and be on my feet too soon because my husband was ill. After his death I was in such a weakened and run-down condition that nothing seemed to help me. I am starting the fourth bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and feel a great deal better. I am much stronger and don't get so tired out when I wash or work hard. I do housekeeping and dressmaking and I highly recommend the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Gertrude Butts, 414 S. Market St., Mt. ## "OVER THE COUNTER"

Dear Dot

As your good friend I just want to caution you to be sure and remember the word "Electrical" during the Gift Giving Season. Indeed, there is no need for me to review for you the many, many marvelous conveniences the word Electrical implies and how very much such conveniences are appreciated when received as Gifts.

Just call at The Acme Electric Co., 23 Church street and meet Mr. Young, the proprietor, and one of the pioneer electricans of the city and you will readily be shown numerous appliances that will quickly and very adequately solve your gift-giving problems.

For instance, there is the Radio. The Acme carry the famous Fada sets and the great All-American Mohawk Corp. radio masterpieces. These sets are available in the table models with the attractive "mantel clock" type of loud speakers, or in the beautiful American walnut finish consoles fit for the home of kings and yet priced well within the reach of the average person. For the table models the speakers harmonize in finish. There is also the complete Fada table model with table and speaker to match, finished in a brown crackle metal. All of the sets are of 6 or 8 tubes and the very finest for tone quality, selectivity and general reliability. While all modern sets shown are all-electrical you can also find at the Acme a few used battery sets that are in excellent condition and most reasonably priced.

So, there is all you want in the radio line. And then you come to the many useful appliances such as curling-irons, flats, heats, table and reading lamps, electric pads for these cold nights, toasters, waffle-irons and what have you.

A radio, you would probably want to purchase for your own home . . . a gift to the family that will provide unending pleasure to the home circle . . . but the appliances are very fine gifts for friends and the memory of the giver is always recalled with each frequent use of these appliances.

This year an increasing number are making their Christma. list an Electrical list. These wise people find shopping an easy matter and are secure in the thought that every gift they give will surely be appreciated. Join the ranks of these happy people, Dot dear, and see just how much your friends will congratulate you on your choice of Gift.

Devotedly, JANE.

POETRY

Autumn

There's a glorious satisfaction, just to have the autumn here
Just to know that me may gather what we've raised throughout the year;
Just to see the fruit trees laden, with their luscious, juicy pride,
Oh, I tell you, friends, it's glorious, Just to have her by our side.

Down the hill, and in the forest, in the orchard, on the plain,
All the world is filled with beauty Oh, just see the golden grain.
There are yellow pumpkins, gleaming, and the melons, and the corn.
Oh, I tell you, friends, it's glorious. Then I'm glad to have been born.

I'm so glad to hear the laughter of the youngsters, in their glee,
As they climb and pluck the apples, as all join a husking bee.
I'm so glad to be amongst them, helping gather winter's store.
Oh, I tell you, friends, it's glorious, And I crave it more and more.

And, when chilly frosts o'ertake us, and they touch the gorgeous trees,
Then, it is, the leaves are loosened, and they scatter in the breeze.
Oh, what fun it is to rake them, and make bonfires and a roast.
Oh, I tell you, friends, it's rapture. Autumn time, I love the most.

And the nuts, they, too, we gather, Oh, we climb, and make them fall.
Then, we fill our bags and baskets, scramble for them, one and all.
Save them for the winter evenings, when the harvest time is o'er.
Oh, I tell you, friends, it's glorious, And I want it more and more.

—Gladys M. Whitney, in Detroit Free Press.

"Tears, Idle Tears"

Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean,
Tears from the depth of some divine despair
Rise in the heart and gather to the eyes, In looking on the happy Autumn-fields, And thinking of the days that are no more.

Fresh as the first beam glittering on a spire
That brings our friends up from the underworld,
Sad as the last which reddens over one That sinks with all we love below the verge;
So sad, so fresh, the days that are no more.

Ah, sad and strange as in dark summer dawns
The earliest pipe of half-awakened birds To dying ears, when unto dying eyes The casement slowly grows a glimmering square;
So sad, so strange, the days that are no more.

Dear as remembered kisses after death, And sweet as those by hopeless fancy feigned
On lips that are for others; deep as love, Deep as first love, and wild with all regret;
O Death in Life, the days that are no more!

—Alfred Tennyson.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"Fruit or Serial" is the choice given on a Michigan bill of fare.

"A serial," puns F. H. C., "that is to be continued in our necks."—Boston Transcript.

Serious Student—I want to say goodby. I am starting tomorrow for my term at the Theological Seminary.

Fresh Friend—Well, so long. Be good.—Life

Suitor—Tommy, does a young man call here in the evening to see your sister?

Tommy—Not exactly to see her, because there's no light in the room when he's there.—Tit-Bits

Manager—I advise you to let the villain shoot himself instead of taking poison.

Author of New Play—Really? Why do you suggest that?

Manager—It'll wake the audience up.—Pathfinder

"Terribly rough," said the stranger on board the ocean liner.

"Well," said the farmer, "it wouldn't be near so rough if the captain would only keep in the furrows."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Manageress—Yes, in teaching shorthand and typewriting we are strong on accuracy.

Inquirer—How are you on speed?

"Well, the last girl we sent out married her employer in three weeks."

—Montreal Star

Customer (in department store)—I like the dress, but it's too small for me. Could it be altered?

Saleslady—I'm afraid not, madam, but if you will take a course in our physical culture department you can be altered to fit the dress.—Boston Transcript

The new boarder rang the bell. "I want to speak to you about this egg."

"Well," said the landlady, "and what have you got to say?"

"Listen to the egg first," was the reply, "and tell me if you think there's anything I can usefully add."—Boston Post.

KALEIDOSCOPE

Tourist traffic in Ireland is markedly on the increase.

Berlin has a hotel at the Templehof airdrome to accommodate airplane passengers.

Many Havana storekeepers use snakes of the boa species instead of cats as "mousers."

With Paris radio stores broadcasting in the streets at night, only about half a dozen groups of street singers still follow their trade.

Captain Harry Nelson, of a Pacific steamship has found a pair of barber's clippers an excellent cure for the stowaway evil. When illicit passengers are caught he clips strips on their heads from ear to ear and from front to back. The injury to the victim's vanity is reducing the number of stowaways on his passenger line.

Abraham Isaacs, Cincinnati philanthropist and business man, left seven college professors among his eleven surviving children when he died. They are: Nathan, Harvard Business school; Schachne, University of Rochester; Dr. Raphael, University of Michigan; Dr. Eleanor, Harvard Law school; Dr. M. Legis, Columbia University; Asher, University of Pittsburgh, and Miss Nescha, University of Cincinnati.

Cow punching by airplane is the twentieth century method at Midland, Tex. Clarence Scharbauer has so much ranch land that he can not ride range in one day astride a cow pony. So he takes a plane and in three hours rides over his four ranches. "These planes scare the stuffin' out of the cattle," declares Scharbauer, "but they have got plenty of time to get over their fright, and I haven't got time to waste poking around on horseback."

A young woman visiting Philadelphia dropped into a moving picture theater on Market street. When she left she found that she had mislaid her gloves, which were of a distinctive style, having been brought from London. She reported her loss and was advised to return the next day after the house had been cleaned. The next afternoon she entered what she thought was the theater and made her inquiry. She was taken inside and suddenly realized that she was not in the showhouse in which she had lost her gloves. Not liking to admit her mistake, she said nothing and looked over the gloves shown her. To her astonishment she found the gloves she had lost in another theater some two blocks away.

THE BRITTEN PROPOSAL

Perhaps Chairman Britten of the house naval committee is serious and sincere in his desire to bring about a private conference in which there can be a discussion of the cruiser controversy between this country and Great Britain but he is running afoul of the established practice of handling such matters and must realize it has no chance.

Mr. Britten in his communication to Premier Baldwin makes the suggestion that members of his committee and British legisaltors meet on Canadian soil some time after the fourth of next March to consider in a friendly way and hear testimony relative to the sea power of the two countries. This would include all but capital ships, and the outcome of the conference would be reported to the respective governments for such action as they might take.

There has been criticism of the fact that the influence of admirals was too conspicuous at the Geneva conference. Apparently Mr. Britten would get away from that, but he might reserve the right to have properly qualified advisers to aid the legislators at the conference. But where his first trouble is likely to arise is from the fact that he oversteps governmental authority and pushes aside diplomacy and would usurp that which belongs to others to initiate. Dipping into foreign affairs in such a manner is referred to by Mr Britten as "unusual". It can be readily understood what a chaotic situation there would be if every legislator were to disregard diplomatic practice and undertake to bring about an adjustment of international questions through such a method as he proposes. He would not have such a step taken during the present administration but he would tread on the prerogatives of the next.

Perhaps such a conference as Mr. Britten proposes, or one along similar lines, would be an excellent thing for the purpose of bringing about a layman's discussion of the situation, but he should appreciate the fact that it ought to have the approval of the respective governments and that is what he is apparently trying to avoid. Yet affer such a conference is over he would have the respective governments endorse it. He is getting the cart before the horse.

NO TIME FOR BARGAINING

When we stop to realize what it means there is no reason why the Kellogg pact should not be ratified at the coming session of congress. It rests with the senate of course but there remains to be advanced as yet any plausible excuse for opposing it. There are those senators who are outspoken in its behalf, who are urging its adoption and who are declaring that they will support it. Among those is Senator Swanson of Virginia, ranking democratic member of the committee on foreign affairs. His leadership is recognized and his influence among his party senators is strong.

The fact is that neither democrats nor republicans have disclosed any grounds for refusing to ratify this treaty for the renunciation of war and the adjustment of international disputes in accordance with the facts and in a peaceful manner.

But what may develop in spite of this sentiment no one knows. Strange as it may seem there are those who harbor the idea that the pact is inconsistent with the idea of increasing our cruiser strength. Instead of going ahead with both there is a feeling in some circles that if we ratify the pact we ought not to build any more war ships. It is an inconsistent view and bids fair to get no where, but there is always the possibility that instead of dealing with the treaty on its merits it will be used for the purpose of getting favorable consideration of other measures before the senate. It has been the case that support would be demanded for other and unworthy legislation if votes were to be cast for that. As yet no such threats have been made but log rolling has been practiced and there is no telling when it will be resorted to.

Fairness demands that the measures should be considered on their merits. It is a weak piece of legislation that cannot stand on its own feet. The idea of resorting to log rolling, to riders or to filibusters in order to make the fall wag the dog has been repeatedly and deservedly condemned. Let the treaty get prompt and favorable attention and without regard for what is done concerning the cruisers, which also should be voted as a proper peace time protection for our many interests.

WHAT OUR NEGLIGENCE MEANS

For many years attention has been called to the importance of conserving the forests of this country. Further there has been much emphasis placed upon reforestation, and yet in spite of it all there has been a too great disposition to disregard it. Instead of meeting the situation there has been an inclination to wait and see whether the advice was justified and ought to be followed.

There is an interesting revelation in connection with newsprint. Where it was once produced in this country for consumption here it is now furnished chiefly from Canada, and Canada is aware of the monopoly it controls.

Within the month Premier Ferguson of the province of Ontario has declared that there must be a curtailment in the production of newsprint. Government pressure has been brought to bear and the industry has agreed to reduce its output 20 per cent. This has been figured to mean that the price of the commodity will be raised from $56 to $57 a ton. It isn't a case of saving the forests of Canada but of stifling competition through agreement. This understanding has as the result of a conference been made to include the industry in the province of Quebec also.

What bearing has this upon American forests and reforestation? It lies in the fact that had there been proper consideration given to this situation years ago the newsprint industry in this country would not be in the helpless position it is today. Provision would have been made for planting new trees as rapidly as they were cut and there would be today a large supply available instead of being dependent upon Canada and the industrial economics which are now being practiced.

Canada is of course looking out for itself. In so doing there is nothing different than ought to be expected if the situation were reversed we might do the same thing, but the deplorable part of it all is that through our negligence and unwillingness to follow good advice we have not only made it possible for this new order but actually encouraged it. We have thrown away our advantage by tossing it over the Canadian border.

FIREPROOF THE HEATER ROOMS

Among other things the New England Insurance exchange has been looking over the school buildings of East Providence with the result that it has issued a report concerning them in which attention is directed to the fire menace which exists in them.

There are 26 schools there and the report says, "These, with few exceptions, are serious fire hazards. Most of them are wood with oiled floors and open stairways . . . They are perhaps the worst life hazard you have and even a small fire may start a panic."

In school houses the danger from fires comes from such rubbish as may be allowed to accumulate and the heating plant. This may not always be possible to control in buildings which are not fireproof but wherever such exists there appears to be good and sufficient reason for making the heater room and the flues fireproof.

There have been many changes required in school buildings in order to insure greater protection for the children in case of fire. It is a precaution that means the saving of life in case of fire. There must be fire escapes, doors must open outward and there must be fire drills. These are important after a fire develops but there appears to be quite as much need of preventing the fires, or at least of preventing any overheated furnace, or any waste that may catch afire, from communicating with the woodwork. If that can be done by fireproofing the heater rooms it means that the source of trouble that too often develops in schoolhouses is going to be blocked. It is a provision that might well be required in institutions for children and aged, where wooden buildings are occupied as well as in schoolhouses.

EXPLORERS NOT DISMAYED

Polar explorations have not been discouraged because those who have gone into the far north have never returned. They were continued by vessel and sleds until it was believed that the airplane and the dirigible could be employed for such work. These ships of the air have made it possible to learn additional facts about the north pole and surrounding areas. Quick trips instead of long ones can be made by such a method and in addition as the result of modern invention it is possible to keep in touch with all explorers by means of the radio.

Just as the most elaborate of expeditions is nearing its base on its way to the south pole, a gathering of men interested in dirigibles and explorations has been held in Germany with the result that a tentative decision has been made to send a dirigible over the north pole area in the spring of 1930. Dr. Nansen and Dr. Eckener were present at that meeting. Dr. Nansen was offered the command of the expedition. Dr. Eckener was asked to send the Count Zeppelin on that trip. To this he consented and it may be that he will be the navigator.

Thus the preliminaries of another big polar expedition have been formulated. The hopes are that in flying across from Russia to Alaska and back again it will be possible to cover much territory about which little or nothing is known. It is hoped that parties can be lowered from the dirigible to the ice for soundings and other facts and though some time in advance already an ambitious undertaking is taking shape. There is no lack of confidence or courage because of the fate of others.

EDITORIAL NOTES

With Thanksgiving gone, Christmas is only 26 days away. Step lively.

The man on the corner says: The day after may be one of pleasant memories or sad remorse.

Those who live on the main highways know there is nothing that makes more noise than a truck except two trucks.

Even if we haven't had to shovel snow this month we've got in some good practice shoveling coal into the heater.

AN ENTIRELY NEW IDEA

"Where're we going now?" demanded the very young modern girl settling herself in the seat next the young man at the wheel. She seemed expectant.

"Wh-why," stammered the young man, frankly amazed. "I thought—I didn't think—it's 1 o'clock and we've danced ever since the show got out and—I supposed it was time to go home!"

"Well, you've certainly reached town just in time!" the very young girl told him frankly. "If you had stayed out there in Montana any longer you'd be growing the world's largest crop of whiskers and winding the clock at about 8.30! Why, it's hours till breakfast time."

"I have to be on the job at 8 o'clock in the morning," the young man from the west informed her. "Does it occur to you that I work for a living?"

"Oh, pooh," said the pretty girl with charming rudeness, smiling up at him in a way which previously she had found most successful. "Mussolini has to run Italy, too, and sometimes he sits up as late as 10 o'clock anyhow. Come on and be happy while you are young. We could go to the Tavern Gate——"

"Not a thing to stop us," agreed the young man. "And after that we could go on to Milwaukee and Winnipeg and Hudson bay and the north pole——"

"Gee, that would be fun!" cried the pretty girl, heartily. "Only you wouldn't. I know you like a book, Howard. For sixteen years, with prohibition industry, our hero sat glued to his desk and at the end of that time the president of the company, with tears in his eyes, handed over his toga and crawled abjectly out of the room on his stomach. Our hero, descending to his pearl-inlaid limousine, said, 'Home, James,' as he——"

"Something like that," said the young man with interest. "How well you understand me, Petrolea! Say, honest, you don't want to dance any more tonight, do you? It wouldn't be human. I'm sleepy and you ought to be."

"I'm never sleepy," the pretty girl reproached him. "Nor tired. All that cramps my style is getting bored. And how bored I can be when surrounded by feeble persons who know all about hours of rest and vitamins and health! I bet you do setting-up exercises every morning. No doubt you eat prunes with your oatmeal, too, and drink coffee with the fanks extracted! Oh, Howard, and I was so attracted to you when first we met."

"A tragedy like this is a shame!" said the young man most sympathetically. "But think what it will do for your character. It——"

"Turn here for the Tavern Gate," the pretty girl said hopefully. "Oh, girls and boys he isn't going to do it!"

"Right! ejaculated the young man, cheerfully. "I know what's sense if you don't! It'll be 1.30 now when I get you home. Don't you have to get up in the morning and help with the dishes or something?"

"Montana nearly did ruin you," the pretty girl breathed, as if stricken. "Last night Ted and I did four cabarets and a club and it was 5 o'clock——"

"Well he'll live on crackers for lunch for the rest of the week at that rate," prophesied the young man. "I have to have food after a morning's work, and plenty of it! I only get $60 a week, you know."

"H'm!" said the pretty girl. "I suppose this jaunting around does cost. I never thought of that. Still——"

"Maybe nobody will hear of the disgraceful fact that you went to only one cabaret after the theatre," suggested the young man. "If you feel actually embarrassed about it, you could sit in the vestibule two or three hours before going in. I'll speak to the policeman on the beat to keep his eye on the building entrance, so you'll be safe.

"There wouldn't be a bit of use in my taking you anywhere else because I'd crack my jaw yawning, and tomorrow's a busy day at the office. I sort of thought we'd hit it off well together and I know I've had awfully good times with you, Petrolea, and, in fact, I—well, if this is the way you feel about it, I spupose I might as well get off the track, as Ted shoots by at eighty miles an hour or so! Here we are home. Sorry!" The pretty girl looked up at him as they stood at the front entrance. She looked quite a few minutes.

"I should think," she said in a slightly quavering voice, "that if you had any interest in me at all you'd do something to prevent Ted keeping me up running around all night to tiresome old dances! Losing my sleep and ruining my health——"

"There's lots in that idea," the young man told her solemnly. "Tomorrow night I'm coming to take you to the corner movie and I'll get you home at 10.30 and outline a sane program for you for the next six months or so!"

"Well, I was in hopes you wouldn't abandon the subject of my reform," said the pretty girl, much relieved. "You certainly had me scared for a minute!"—Exchange.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 — When President Hoover takes office, he is going to face a big job in living up to the specifications of greatness mapped out for him in advance by newspapers outside the United States.

His election has brought out editorial comment in such places as the Philippines that has caught the attention of Governor General Stimson and of Washington officials because, in one case at least, champions of Philippine independence appear to have switched their position as a result of Hoover's victory.

New Note In Philippines.

Probably that does not come altogether as a surprise in Washington. The Bystander has known that many officials here are inclined to take the independence outcry in the islands with a liberal grain of salt. They looked upon it as a manifestation of home politics. The late Secretary Weeks had that view; it is shared by Dwight Davis as secretary of war, and by such an expert as General McIntyre, long head of the insular bureau.

It remained for Hoover's election, however, to see something definite written into editorial comment of La Vanguardia, Manila, a leading Spanish independent newspaper of the islands and for years a stout champion of insular independence.

The editorial in question paid glowing tribute to Hoover as a genius of organization.

It notes that "we Filipinos" looked with sympathy "in a platonic way" on Governor Smith's candidacy because the democratic platform "contained a sentimental reference to our dreams of the past," but adds that the election result "in the circumstances" seems the "best guarantee" of stability of Philippine institutions and development of insular economic interests.

Stimson's Position.

That is rather surprising from an independence champion; but the thing becomes even more marked as the editorial proceeds. It points out that under "the spirit created in the American people since the great war" the old American frontiers "have become too narrow."

"It's (America's) altruistic and beneficient influence extend today all over the world; its capital and its technical advisers are much in demand even in China; and if we Filipinos were not too nearsighted to see the importance of these events for the future we should realize that our destiny could never be better guaranteed than under the protection of the United States by the strong bond of prestige, power and influence of the great republic," the paper goes on. "Our national political parties would revise their platforms, eliminating from them everything archaic in order to adapt them to reality, and would endeavor to find a solution responding to that reality and to circumstances and not to things imaginary, and satisfying our desire for autonomy which is reasonable."

Just what change in insular views this indicates is not clear. It is a rather strikingly frank declaration, however, and in the opinion of the writer calculated to increase the prestige of Governor General Stimson. It raises the question as to what further recognition of services Stimson may look for, say when President Hoover selects his cabinet.

YOUR HEALTH

FOR MOTHERS AND FATHERS-TO-BE

By Harry S. Fist, M. D., Los Angeles

The expectant mother must expect several things in addition to the arrival of a new son or daughter. She should expect to seek the best possible source for guidance through this important time. The experiences of friends and the advice of well-meaning neighbors are not sufficient.

The best minds of medical science have labored for years to insure safety and health to the expectant mother. These studies have taught much of value, and improvement in methods are being developed daily. Those who use the valuable knowledge now available can render childbirth comparatively safe, free from pain and from disagreeable after-effects. Fortunately, obstetrical complications can be foretold, and therefore avoided.

Every expectant mother should be under the care of a competent doctor, who will study her carefully and teach her to watch for danger signs. A thorough physical examination should be made as early as possible, this to include a survey of all the body and a search for all possible foci of infection, as well as measurement of pelvic bones, estimation of blood pressure and examination of urine.

Frequent examinations throughout pregnancy afford great safety to the expectant mother. She should be instructed to report to her physician at once the occurrence of constipation, headaches, nausea, vomiting, bleeding, or swelling of feet, face or hands. Kidney trouble, toxemia of pregnancy, or heart trouble, may develop into dangerous conditions if neglected, but are easily avoided if treated in the beginning.

Care of teeth is important. The value of light exercise is well recognised. Sunlight is a valuable health builder. The expectant mother is no longer advised to starve herself. This pernicious practice, instead of rendering labor easier, weakens both mother and child and causes a poor milk supply. A carefully chosen diet assists greatly by supplying the materials needed to furnish strength and growth.

The expectant mother should expect careful supervision not only throughout pregnancy and during labor but for several months afterward. Conduction of labor and delivery call for great skill; yet this is but a small portion of the task. After all the physician strives for a healthy, strong mother and baby. Long before it is time for the arrival of the little one, the stage must be set for the coming drama. The mother must go into labor in the best condition possible.

After delivery, she must have strength and health for the task of rearing her child, that it may become a useful citizen. She must not suffer from falling or displaced womb, lacerations, varicose veins or any other regrettable condition that can be prevented by intelligent, conscientious care. This care should be continued for a year after the baby is born. It is simply a means of safeguarding two very important persons, mother and baby, so that in the years to come they may expect the greatest boon of all—health.

HOW AMERICAN RUG BUYING CHANGED AN ASIATIC MARRIAGE CUSTOM

Heartaches and oriental rugs—for ten years the Soviet Government has been trying to divorce one from the other.

But the commission for the suppression of bride purchase in Turkestan confesses in its recent report that the evil still exists.

"The dowry system itself is as old as marriage," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Georgraphic Society, "and it worked all right in Turkestan until the price of rugs went up in New York and London.

"When the American boom in rugs came it disrupted human geography half way around the earth. Women of Turkestan may not work in the fields like Russian peasant women, but must remain secluded. Chained by their faith to their huts, they turn their energies toward keeping that hut habitable. Rugs that become our floor coverings supply the wind-repelling wall hangings of the desert nomad's demountable house. They are essential to life on the steppe. Therefore a Tekke girl may be a terrible cook, a poor seamstress, and a worse housekeeper, yet still be marriageable if only she can weave well.

"Making an oriental rug, especially a fine rug, is a long process. The best of them run 330 knots per square inch and every knot is tied by hand. The huge Ardebil, most famous of rugs, which now hangs in the South Kenisington Museum, London, contains more than 32,000,000 hand-tied knots.

"Tekke women won distinction for their superior, close woven products. Collectors became more and more eager to get their rugs. Buyers bid so high that it became more profitable for a father to keep his girls home than to give them in marriage.

"If an avaricious parent did permit his daughter to marry he demanded a dowry from the bridegroom to compensate him for the loss of the girl's earning capacity. The higher oriental rug prices soared in America the more brides cost in Turkestan.

"Young Turkomen, splendid desert giants, picturesque in their band-leader, lambskin shakos, found themselves unable to compete with New York prices, so they sought brides among other tribes. For one-tenth the cost of a Tekke woman a bride could be bought from the Persians, Kirghizes or Sarts. Of course she was not the equal of a Tekke. She could make rugs, but not a Tekke rug. There is no pattern to go by; the Tekke women remember the design and they trust to the ancient handicraft of their people and to natural dyes to get reds that are somber as tragedy and blacks as soft as night.

"Tekkes are the aristocrats of Turkestan. The other women which the men were driven to marry by paternal avarice and the unrelenting pressure of trade were not nearly so comely as the Tekke girls. The result was inevitable.

"Biology cannot be feated even in Turkestan. Travelers report that unequal intermarriage has already shown its effects. Where there were many stalwart boys and bright-faced girls, there now are many homely children. As the older spinster weavers of true Tekke blood die the supply of fine rugs falls off.

"The cycle of circumstances set in motion by the purchases of well-to-do Europeans and Americans spins on to its unfortunate conclusion."

Stories That Recall Others

A New Kind

Curtis, age eight, had never happened to see any comb honey and consequently he hardly knew just how he was supposed to eat it. He hesitated and then asked: "Well, do you eat the skin?"

His Initials

The primary teacher inquired of Bobby what was his father's name.

"Same as mine," said the bright six year old.

"Sure, that's right. Can you tell me his initials or what mother calls him?" asked the faithful teacher.

The lad's countenance brightened and he said: "Mother calls dad 'slow poke'."

FIVE CASES OF SMALL POX REPORTED IN UNIONVILLE

HARTFORD, Nov. 29—(AP)—One more case of smallpox was added today in Unionville to the four already reported from that town, while health officials continued to wage an active fight against the spread of the disease. Further cause for alarm was provided with the discovery of a case of scarlet fever in Unionville tonight.

The smallpox case reported today was that of Margaret Brouillard, sister of Joseph, Helen and Irene Brouillard, of Plainville avenue. With the diagnosis of her malady as smallpox all the children of Alexander Brouillard, who is believed to have brought the disease from Canada, have smallpox except Anna, the one daughter who has been vaccinated. All the cases, while not called critical, are reported to be serious.

There was a rush of persons in Hartford today to be vaccinated, some doctors reporting as many as 25 calls for inoculation.

LIEUT. OF DETECTIVES IN PHILADELPHIA SUSPENDED

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29— (AP) — Michael F. Slavin was suspended as lieutenant of detectives tonight for his alleged defiance of the special grand jury investigating bootlegging and police corruption.

The suspension was announced by William B. Mills, superintendent of police, who, acting as spokesman for the bureau of police, offered formal apologies to members of the grand jury and District Attorney Monaghan, who is directing the investigation.

The superintendent stated that Slavin would be ordered to trial when the official transcript of the proceedings before the grand jury in which he participated is received.

Slavin was before the grand jury yesterday. Upon leaving the room he announced that he had refused to answer certain questions about his personal wealth and declared that he had told one of the investigators to "mind his own business." He added that he intended resigning from the force on Dec. 4 "for a better job."

PRETTY 20 YEAR OLD WOMAN HELD FOR BURGLARIES

LOWELL, Mass., Nov. 29— (AP) —A pretty 20 year old married woman who gave her name as Mrs. Beatrice Harmon, was under arrest tonight following a series of breaks into homes in the residential Highlands section just before dawn today.

Police allege that Mrs. Harmon forced a rear window in each of three houses and single-handed, removed floor lamps, draperies and china while the occupants slept. Some of the goods have been recovered. The police were called upon the case when one resident heard glass breaking and upon investigation saw a form hurrying across the street near his home. Police found Mrs. Harmon hiding behind a tree, a floor lamp standing nearby. The young woman was arrested only after a lively chase in which she sought to elude her pursuers by hurling pieces of chinaware in their faces.

Mrs. Harmon was booked on charges of breaking and entering and larceny in the night time. Police are investigating the case further in the belief that the woman is operating under an alias and has accomplices.

54 YEAR OLD MAN WALKED FROM BOSTON TO LOWELL

LOWELL, Mass., Nov. 29—(AP)—Phil Dion of Worcester, 54 year old pedestrian and a younger companion, Walter Miller, of Woburn, walked from Boston to Lowell today. Dion, who took the Arlington and Bedford route, covered 30 miles in five hours flat, while Miller who chose the shorter route through Woburn, covered 26 miles in four hours and 44 minutes. The walking record between the two cities was made years ago by Dan O'Leary, celebrated pedestrian who covered a 27 mile route in five hours.

MRS. WILSON TALKED WITH FOUR SECRET SERVICE MEN

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 29 —(AP)—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson forsook a luncheon for President Coolidge long enough today for a friendly talk with a number of the men who looked after the safety of herself and President Wilson while they were in the White House.

Excusing herself from the living room of the home of President Edwin A. Alderman of the University of Virginia, where Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were entertained at luncheon, Mrs. Wilson gathered four of the White House secret service men about her and talked intimately of old times.

The men now on the White House secret service staff who were at their posts during the Wilson administration were Richard Jervis, chief of the staff; Edward A. Starling, Walter Ferguson and John G. Fitzgerald.

A Few Things It Takes

It takes a lot o' livin' together to make a man an' wife,
It takes a lot o' breakin' in to lead the double life,
It takes some burden bearin' an' a bit o' laugh an' song
An' a equal sort o' sharin' to ease the way along.

It takes some wise forgettin' o' the little things that rile,
For the way to banish frettin's with a good old-fashioned smile.
It takes a heap o' givin' and takin' by the way,
An' a kinda growin' closer an' closer every day.

It takes a mite o' dearyin' an' a sort o' keepin' near,
An' a powerful sight o' cheeryin' when rainy days appear,
An' lovin', too, an' trustin' an' confidence to boot,
An' all the patience it requires no one could e'er compute.

It takes a lot o' carryin' on through days o' storm an' sun,
To find that livin' don't begin 'till the honeymoon is done.
An' watchin' too, an' wearyin' to know the right and wrong,
And learn that married life's a hymn and not a jazzy song.

ONE RESULT OF TOO MUCH PRAISE

Willis and Lenora Bailey

"I can sing fine, Virginia! Why don't you play and let me sing?" said little Jean, aged four.

The two girls were in Aunt Mary's living room, where Virginia, a senior in high school, was entertaining the little daughter of a neighbor. Aunt Mary, working in the dining room, had heard the remark and wondered how Virginia would reply.

"How do you know you can sing so well, Jeannie?" she heard the older girl laughingly ask.

"Oh—oh-h-h, just because everybody says I can. Mother does, too. She loves to hear me sing and she just has me sing all the time when we have company." Little Jeannie smoothed down her dress in supreme self-complacency.

"Of course, our mothers love to have us do all the things we like to do, if they are not wrong," answered Virginia. "But before we can sing really well we have to do a lot of hard studying and practicing, you know."

The little girl was silent for a moment or two as though somewhat crestfallen but was soon telling other wonderful things that either she or Betty Jane, a younger sister, could do.

Commenting on the remarks to her aunt, Virginia explained what she thought of the matter. "I was just like that at her age, Aunt Mary, and that is the reason I have such a hard time with my music now. I grew up with the idea that I could sing beautifully, so when it came to the real work—practice and drill to learn to sing, to handle my voice as I have to in school—it was doubly hard for me because I resented being corrected or made to sing a faulty passage over and over. I try now to control myself enough to act decently when Miss Luallin tells me I am wrong, but just the same that rebellious feeling will bubble up within me.

"I think it just a shame for persons to compliment a child like Jean so extravagantly as they must be doing. She is such a sweet little thing, and really has a nice voice, but she will be hurt a good many times in the future because of getting too much praise now. It is just as bad as if they made her self-conscious any other way. Just think, Aunt Mary, what a time you have had trying to get all that nonsense out of my head. It has been hard on both of us. I sure am glad you have been kind and strong enough to do it for me, but it does seem too bad for people to make that sort of thing necessary."

"You are right," replied her aunt. "It seems to be a temptation on the part of friends and relatives to rave too much over children. Of course, it is a grave mistake."

As Aunt Mary put her work away, she thought: "Jean's mother should know better; she is a college graduate. Surely, she was taught to let children grow naturally—teaching them to sing if they have any talent, just as incidentally as to eat properly, and with as little self-consciousness, and encouraging them insofar as they really need it, and no further."

WEDDINGS

Breasley-Riley

Before the largest assemblage ever to attend a wedding in St. Mary's Memorial church, with every seat filled and many standing, Edward Breasley, son of Mr and Mrs. Edward Breasley of Toronto, Canada, and Miss Mae J. Riley, of this city, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Riley of Waterbury, were united in marriage Thanksgiving morning at the 8:30 mass by Rev. William A. Keefe, pastor of the church.

As the bridal party entered the church Mrs. Michael J. Farrell, organist, played Mendelssohn's Wedding March, the groom and the best man entering from the sanctuary. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Carl Riley and was beautifully gowned in white satin trimmed in transparent velvet covered with Spanish lace with long veil of Spanish lace which was caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

She was attended by Miss Juliette Hines of Coughroes, N. Y., as maid of honor and by four bridesmaids, all carrying shepherd's crooks in gold and white with yellow and white chrysanthemums. Miss Hines was attired in an orchid satin transparent pan velvet gown and were a picture hat to correspord. The four bridesmaids were Miss Blanche Mulleor of Hartford, who wore pink satin transparent pan velvet with hat to match, Miss Loretta Sheehy, who was gowned in a light blut transparent velvet with hat to correspond, Miss Lillian Karkutt who was attired in yellow satin transparent velvet with hat to match, and Miss Lillian O'Brien who was attired in green satin transparent velvet with hat to match.

John Shea was best man and the ushers at the church were Philip O'Brien, Edward G. Moran, Dennis Denner, and Richard Ellis of New York city. The church was decorated very artistically with yellow and white chrysanthemums and palms.

After the wedding ceremony at the church one hundred invited guests attended the wedding breakfast at the Cinderella Inn, following which dancing was enjoyed, the Cinderella Inn orchestra furnishing music. Among the large number present were guests from New York city, Hartford, New Haven, Fall River, Erie, Pa., North Pownal, Vt., Waterbury, Buffalo.

The bride presented the maid of honor and the bridesmaids white gold bar pins with diamond settings, while her gifts to the groom was a gold wrist watch. The groom presented his best man and ushers with leather bill folds trimmed with gold and he gave his bride a diamond brooch.

Mr. Breasley is in the Mohican Chain Stores and fills the position of chief construction engineer, while his bride has been for the past few years a buyer for the children's department, Max's Shop.

During the afternoon the newly married couple left for a two weeks honeymoon trip to Canada. On their return they will make their future home at Buffalo, N. Y.

The bride's traveling dress was of brown georgette with American broadtail coat, trimmed with fitch fur and hat to match.

Bouchard-Levander

A very pretty wedding took place at noon Thursday at the home of the bride's parents, No. 7 Hill street, when Miss Laura Levander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Levender, and Charles Bouchard of the Norwich state hospital, son of Mrs. Celia Bouchard of Blissville, Lisbon, were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. David A. Pitt, D. D., pastor of the Central Baptist church, in the presence of guests from Providence, Hartford, New London and other places. The wedding march was played by James Drew of the Palace theatre orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Bouchard were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Labrie, brother-in-law and sister of the bride. The bride was charmingly dressed in white satin with veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lillies of the valley. The matron of honor was attractive in pink satin and her bouquet was of pink carnations and roses. The bride's gift to the bridegroom was a gold watch and to the bridesmaid a string of pearls. To the bride the bridegroom gave a diamond ring and his gift to the best man was a pair of cuff links. The bride was also the recipient of many other useful and pretty gifts including linen, cut glass, silverware, and several pieces of gold.

Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held and a wedding dinner served, covers being laid for about 75. Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Bouchard left by motor for a wedding trip, which will take them to Providence. Upon their return in about ten days they will live with the bride's parents. For traveling Mrs. Bouchard wore a brown ensemble suit.

Mrs. Bouchard has been employed at the Falls mills, while the bridegroom is in the employ of the Norwich state hospital as an attendant. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bouchard have a wide circle of friends in their respective places of residence, who extend them the best wishes for a prosperous and happymarried life.

Cross-Sherry

Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock Miss Ida S. Sherry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moses A. Sherry of No. 7 Aqueduct street, and Abe L. Goss, of No. 2074 Harrison avenue, The Bronx, New York, were united in marriage by Rabbi Moses Frankel at the home of the bride's parents. The couple were unattended. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends, some coming from out of town.

The bride, who has been employed as a nurse in a New York hospital, was gowned in her nurse's uniform. After the ceremony there was a wedding dinner following which Mr. and Mrs. Cross left for a wedding trip. They will reside in The Bronx.

Mr. Cross was born in Rochester, N. Y., and is a salesman. His bride is a native of Russia. She made her home in this city the greater part of her life. The bride received a number of beautiful gifts, with good wishes from her many friends for a happy married future.

AMERICA HAS NATIONAL CAUSE FOR THANKSGIVING DECLARES PASTOR

Speaking upon the theme, National Thanksgiving, Rev. Joseph Cooper of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, preached the sermon Thursday evening at 7:30 at the union Thanksgiving services which was held at the United Congregational church with a good sized congregation.

Organ selections in the spirit of the day were rendered at the opening of the service by Prof. J. Lawrence Erb whose two numbers were Chant Triomphal (Gaul) and Prayer in E at (Stark), and there was a well rendered anthem, Sing to the God of Harvest (Barnsby) by the church quartette.

Rev. A. N. Foster of the Universalist church read the Thanksgiving proclamation, preceding the singing of America, Rev. Dr. D. A. Pitt of the Central Baptist church read the scripture lesson, Rev. Mr. Foster offered prayer and Rev. A. H. Abbott, pastor of the church, pronounced the offertory prayer.

REV. JOSEPH COOPER

Rev. Mr. Cooper's sermon was from the text Psalms 147,20: He hath not lealt so with any nation.

In part he spoke as follows:

It would be easy to apply this text vainglioriously and in a spirit of self-congratulation. But such a use of it would be outside of its meaning and would rob us of its intentional inspirations. It is well for us to take in the range of our national good and find in that occasion for patriotic gratitude.

We are the state. Certainly a view of God's dealings with us as a people should arouse deepest feelings of loyalty to Himself and to the nation of which we are a part. Gratitude is really one of the most expansive things in the world. Real gratitude for what we are and have cleanses us from narrowness, selfishness and unneighborliness. The push of personal thankfulness is always towards wider horizons; it distributes our interests over larger areas; it also stands ready to share its good with all who can receive it. It is in this spirit that I would address you today. What we have as a nation for which to be grateful.

Thank God for that democracy which still expresses itself is our republic. Ideal democracy is having a hard time the world over. Out from the great war did come some vital democracies which are functioning vigorously, but it left others fast running to communism which is the very antithesis of the democratic ideals. To combat this tide of communism personal and group action took place and, overnight almost, great states that had prided themselves upon their democracy suddenly found themselves in the grip of personal tyrannies that made real democracy impossible. In our country we have a republic not only in name, but also in fact. It is the very perfection of the democratic ideal. We are one people, however varied in name, color, creed or political ideals. We have to live together, work together, play together, pray together. We are all Americans. Ancestry is not so important as destiny.

Where we came from is not so important as what we are going to do with ourselves, now that we are here. The ship of state needs every member of the crew to do his best to keep it on an even keel and guide it along the path of safety for all concerned. All for one and one for all should be our slogan. We are citizens of no mean country and its glorious past must be raised to a still higher degree of glory, but untiring patriotism, purged of sectional and selfish stain.

Thank God that there is a growing consideration for less favored groups and those who stand in need. The downmost man is getting more sympathy than ever. Selfishness is by no means the prevailing spirit abroad in the land. Need has only to appear and hearts are touched and pocketbooks are opened. The great remedial societies financed by the whole community go instantly to work and kindly and scientifically bring back normal conditions. President-elect Hoover's great scheme for conditions of unemployment presented to the council of governors is one of the most staggering ever suggested to a representative body of men. On the face of it, it looks like the wild dream of fantasy, yet it comes from one of the most practical minds of the day.

Three billions of reserve funds to meet possible exigencies of our industrial system flung into the breach when trade slows down and unemployment is threatened. Isn't it far better to find work for a man than to keep him at governmental expense while he rots in idleness until he doesn't want to work at all?

Why should not the state look after its own citizens in danger of hunger by intelligent preparations? It looks chimerical but chimeras have a way of sublimating into the most practical good. At any rate it shows that a sense of responsibility is more and more controlling our greatest minds as they view the relations of one man to the other.

Thank God for the idealism that still sustains our people for the higher good of life. This country was founded in the spirit of idealism. It became the harbor of refuge for storm tossed souls in many lands. Tens of thousands fled from political and ecclestical tyrannies that threatened the destruction of every element of human freedom in the old land. Puritans, Pilgrims, Catholics, Hugenots, Morabians, Quakers, crushed and harried, tormented in conscience and robbed in estate, sailed across the seas and landed on these shores. This summer I stood upon the wharves in Plymouth harbor, England, and saw the last place those Pilgrim feet touched before they sailed for the unknown country, just a little over 300 years ago.

The new Plymouth received them harshly for half their number died the first winter, but they did not complain and they would not go back. These Pilgrims brought this idealism with them and down through the years it has been expressing itself in startling ways.

The 18th amendment was one shining goal of this idealism and it came along before the most sanguine dared to hope. Ideals are always hard to concrete and through greed and appetite very difficult of realization. But in the late election it was proven that the ideal holds true and the vast majority of people still believe that the great social experiment has not failed.

The latest and most idealistic attempt on the part of the thoughtful folk of this country is to outlaw war as a means of settling our international problems. This ideal has floated in the minds of men a thousand years before Christ. It has taken a World war to drive home the utter futility of force in settling world problems. All over the world the ideal has grown in the minds and hearts of men. The League of Nations, the World Court, the armament treaties, Locarno, the Kellogg pact, inadequate as all human pacts are, yet they are the expression of the pacific hopes on the part of the nations of the world.

Thank God for the unity underlying our present church life. The apostle prays, that the church may keep the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace. Believing as we Protestants do in the liberty of the churches, yet interpreting for themselves the word of truth, in the great fundamentals that really matter, we are one. Never can we get uniformity of belief by fair means or foul and if we got it we would not like it. It is impossible to believe that the human mind can be standardized in its concepts of religious truth or the modes of its expression.

Any attempt to compel such unity has resulted in one of two things, either the utter negation of the assenting mind or the destruction of the non-conformist. Freedom to think has always meant freedom to differ, and, in our differences we have found our growth. Variety in unity is the law of nature and is certainly the law of God. The bloody path of religious coercion proves the ineptitude and falsity of the uniformist concept. Freedom within the bounds of law is the inherent right of the human mind. The state must guarantee this freedom and protect it. We are coming to see that it is perfectly easy for men to live together and work together in perfect fellowship, in spite of vast differences in their understanding of truth.

The church is a brotherhood by whatever name it is called, and the spirit of that brotherhood is the only thing that really matters. The external modes of worship, man-made traditions, historical creedal statements cannot make much difference in the eyes of Him who seeth not as man seeth for man looketh on the outward appearance, but God looketh at the heart. In the course of my ministry people have told me that they have found the true church. I suppose the claim has been put forth by some people in every religious group from historical beginnings of Christianity. I have heard it from Roman Catholics, from Anglicans, from Plymouth brethren. To all such claims I have one sufficient answer. It is the answer Jesus gave to the Samaritan woman: "God is a Spirit and they that worship Him must worship Him in Spirit and in Truth, for the Father seeketh such to worship Him." Time, place, method are nothing, it is the heart that worships.

Peter had a superiority complex in regard to the Jewish Christmas that even his knowledge of Jesus had not cured. He was terribly rebuked by his contact with Cornelius, the Roman centurion. He opened his eyes and he was compelled to say, "I see beyond all doubt that God is no respector of persons but that in every nation he that feareth God and worketh righteousness is acceptable to Him." But Jesus gives us even a more acute test than that." "By their fruits ye shall know them." In this glorious company we may all be found. This is the real church and the only test of the true church. No amount of casuistry can prove that we are Christians, but where the fruits of spirituality, of goodness of unselfishness, of service are found. The churches can prove their right to the tree of Life by their Christ-like living and their Christ-like service. This is the power that unites and holds us together. Split into fragments by our traditional doctrines, we come into unity by the presence of Christian love. Allowing perfect freedom in modes of worship, yet one in simple trust in the one great Father, and one in our discipleship in Jesus Christ. "One Lord and Master of us all, whatever our name or sign, we own Thy sway, we hear Thy call, we test our lives by Thine." Thankfulness should humble us, bring us sense of responsibility and eventuate in our consecration to still finer things in character and service.

After the sermon the service closed with the hymn, America The Beautiful, the organ selection, Grand Triumphal Chorus in A (Guilmant), and the benediction by Rev. Dr. Pitt.

GROUNDS ARE FOURFOLD FOR HABITUAL GRATITUDE

In a Thanksgiving message from Rev. Dr. S. H. Howe, pastor emeritus of Park Congregational church, from the text Ephesians, 5, 20, giving thanks always for all things, he points out a fourfold ground for habitual gratitude.

He spoke as follows:

Thanksgiving is usually reserved for the common blessings of existence, health, friends, unbroken households, business prosperity, windfalls, untroubled lives, freedom from secular disasters and deprivations, sorrowful experiences, losses, contracted and other limiting conditions, and seldom practised even when life is crowded with its enriching successes. Only a few people plumb it to its depths and make it habitual and find for it its place and full functioning power in all the experiences of life. Few carry it into disaster and sorrow, few of us make inventory of the great universal and equally available chances to live.

Now the grounds of an habitual gratitude is fourfold and if we will only sink our drills into this fourfold environment we will find that our lives have fallen to us in pleasant places and that we have a goodly heritage. The first is material. Nature is a part of that environment in which we are the central figure. The second is divine government and the third is redemption.

The first which is nature is inexhaustible, undiscoverable. No telescope has found its ending horizon lines and man is its beneficiary. It is a big house for man its protege to live in. The second is moral government and is equally vast, fixed and immovable, always in full function. The third the redemptive grace of God assured by the sacrificial nature of God whose red thread is woven into it beyond all our attempts at unravelling, for the mercy of God endureth forever.

Three things have been postulated by scientific minds for the universe as a whole, the first is sublimity, the second is order and the third is purpose.

Certainly of the material universe we can postulate sublimity. God's own nature is so woven into the material universe that it becomes the organ of self-expression to God Himself." It is supreme expression of sublimity. Certainly there are no commonplaces in nature. Every where nature rises to the note of sublimity. Everywhere it is wonder inspiring. Not only its mountains, snow-mantled, sky-piercing, or its seas, storm-tossed, or resting peacefully in sunshine, its flaming dawns or colorful sunsets, or glorious midnight constellations, but in the dust beneath our feet, those atoms and sandgrains, as revealed by microscopes, are miracles of beauty and provocative of wonder.

Nature is orderly and law-girdled and moving with precision and unvarying regularity, uninterrupted by the note of discord. And it is purposeful, moving to definite ends expressive of the nature of its author and never disappointing the faith of those who take venture on its fidelity.

Then there is redemption, which like nature and the divine moral rule is preeminently sublime. It is the spectacle of God Himself breaking out of His reserve into humanity and out on the fields of history by incarnation.

Men in our day are trying to beat down Alpine summits into level plains and put redemption and its author in nut shells and restraining cages. But they break through these human imprisonments into the open of world propaganda. Jesus in His day could not be hid by the veils of secrecy nor can He be in this twentieth century. He came up out of the old eternity and walks with the stride of the whole world's master. His career has been the one overtopping sublimity of all human history.

Redemption also moves to the note of order and regularity. Christ's will is severely conditioned as by rigorous law. We must co-operate. We must bring the spirit of surrender and make our choice and then cast our own horoscope and follow Him with a loyal faith and fealty.

Faith and fealty. And redemption, too, is purposive. It moves to a definite goal and finality even to the redemption and full recovery of a sinful world.

Then there is the fourth and final strata in this environment, into which we need to sink our drill or gratitude—a redeemed church, a mighty host gathered out of the welter of a sinful world. You may find fault with the church but it has been the seedbed for the development of the finest guild of holy souls. The sublimest object in all this world has been a great personality on which God has lavished His redeeming power and love. There may have been the note of discord in excess, but there has been underneath the surface a mass of common beliefs and soul passion and dedication to the well being of the world that can excite our wonder. Through holy hands the truth has been handed down to us, and it is on the stepping stones of older generations that the Lord Jesus has come into our hearts and hopes and sacred anticipations.

Redemption has been purposive leading up to a great company gathered out of all nations and all ages. Their far off tread is that of a mighty army and the new ages will pour their redeemed millions who will come from the east and from the west and sit down in the Kingdom of God and their voices will acclaim the miracle of redemption and the wonder of it. The note of gratitude which will be the voice of many waters and to that note of gratitude there shall be no end.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE ON NORTH MAIN STREET

While standing across the street from his home at 526 North Main street, near the corner of Ninth street, Adam Kordek, 28, was hit by an automobile early Thursday evening and Harry Lahn of 204 West 86th street, New York, and 14 Lindeay avenue, Meriden, is credited in the police records with driving the car, although he denies that he was driving and claims that the car had been stolen. The machine is registered in the name of Joseph M. Lahn of 1 Woodmansee avenue.

Kordek was taken to the Backus hospital in the ambulance after the accident and is in a semi-conscious condition with concussion of the brain, bruises on his forehead and right leg. It has not been determined whether there are any broken bones.

Kordek, it is understood, was standing on the dirt shoulder of the road, off the concrete, when he was hit by the machine which was headed towards Taftville and wheel marks on the concrete show that the machine slid on for 100 feet or more before it was stopped.

When the police arrived closely following the accident, there was no one in the automobile but Mr. Lahn arrived in a minute or two in a taxi that came from the direction of the city. He was accompanied to police headquarters by Officer Crary, where he was charged with violation of the motor vehicle laws for operating a Connecticut machine under a New York drivers license. Sergeant Matthew Delaney was engaged during the night in an investigation to verify the claim of theft of the car and that Mr. Lahn was not driving it at the time of the accident.

George Frederic Noyes

George Frederic Noyes, for 26 years connected with the Thames National bank, died suddenly at his home, No. 104 Laurel Hill avenue, Thursday afternoon at 1:40 o'clock. Mr. Noyes had been in his usual good health until a short time before his death.

Mr. Noyes was the son of the late George W. and Emily Denison Noyes and was born in Mystic, July 20, 1858. He attended the public schools in Mystic and in early life became associated in business with E. B. Noyes in Mystic. Mr. Noyes came to Norwich in 1882 and became associated with the Cranston Printing Press Co., remaining with that concern for some years.

In this city, October 28, 1891, he was united in marriage with Lotta O. Champlin and since their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Noyes made their home in Norwich. Twenty-six years ago he became associated with the Thames National bank.

Mr. Noyes was a prominent member of the Central Baptist church and took an active part in all of the church affairs. He is survived by his wife, two sons, John C. Noyes of Norwich, Robert Gale Noyes of Cambridge, Mass., and one daughter, Mrs. B. Dudley Lathrop of Norwich. There are also two grandchildren, Dudley Noyes Lathrop and Elizabeth Orline Lathrop and several nieces, nephews and cousins.

Mr. Noyes' sudden death came as a distinct shock to his numerous friends and acquaintances. He was highly respected by all who knew him and the sympathy of the community is extended the family in their sudden bereavement.

Railroad "Minds Baby"

WEIDEN, Bavaria.—(AP)—A baby carriage with a crying infant occupant was found on the station platform here. Officials unable to find the baby's mother, were nonplussed, but eventually she sent a message from Neustadt that she had "forgotten" the child. The babe was sent on the next train.

Four Out of Five

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass. —(AP)—After an accident a motorist was convicted of having no registration with him; of having no liability insurance; of chaning registration plates, and of driving illegally a car with a sliding gear. He was acquitted on one other automobile charge.

Goats Must Eat

WILLIMANTIC, Conn. —(AP) —A neighbor's two goats munching on the spare tire of her family car was the sight that greeted Mrs. L. P. Oehrig when she looked out of her kitchen window one day. Before the owner could call them off the goats had damaged a tent, shrubbery and a tire cover besides the spare tire.

Headaches and nervousness and other troubles far remote from the eyes are oft-times the direct result of an eye strain, which if corrected with the proper glass, would give immediate relief. It is not necessary for the eyes to be sore to indicate their need of glasses. In many cases the eye may be perfectly healthy but glasses may be needed for the reasons which are only apparent to the physician or skilled oculist.

OREGON UNCORKS STRONG ATTACK THAT CRASHES THROUGH N. Y. U. TEAM

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 — (AP) — A nightmare, stark and terrible and fashioned of great, crashing figures in the pure white of Oregon State, shattered sweet dreams today, the dream of New York university for a football team that could challenge the recognition of the nation.

It was a dream that began when the first leaves of the fall turned brown, grew through overwhelming conquest of Colgate and Missouri, and reached its height in smashing victory over Carnegie Tech, master of Notre Dame. It came to as harsh and bitter and unexpected an end as any football dream could, shattered on the final day of the season by an eleven conceded scarcely a chance to win.

There was no possibility of the Violets wakening tomorrow to rub their eyes and find it all only a bad dream. The unheralded and almost completely unsung Beavers from the Pacific coast drubbed them so completely in every department of play, that the actual score of the upheaval, 25 to 13, gave little indication of Oregon State's complete domination.

Through a forward wall that had smashed every previous thrust, three great western backs, Captain Howard Maple, "Honolulu" Henry Hughes and Cy Sherwood ripped and tore repeatedly, carving out long gains, tremendous marches, and three times, piling over the Violet goal for touchdowns over the heads of the bewildered forwards. Beyond and through the N. Y. U. backs, Maple threw forward passes that dazed the defense and accounted for the fourth score.

N. Y. U. Counts Twice

Looking as futile and worn against Oregon as they did keen and powerful in whipping Carnegie Tech, the Violets played their game only in the opening and closing minutes of the brilliant battle. Led by Ken Strong, highest scoring back in the east, the Violets stormed out to score a touchdown in the first few minutes of play, then languished under a battering that lasted until the final moments of the contest, before reviving and fashioning the second score.

At the opening gun, Strong raced back 20 yards with the kickoff, tossed a 22 yard pass and then charged through tackle, back to the center and straight down the field for 40 yards. Oregon held bitterly but Follet swept around an end for 13 yards and the touchdown.

The 40,000 in the stands sat back, contentedly watching another typical Violet slaughter. Before they knew what had happened, the surge of the white-clad westerners was under way, the ball was in New York territory, and it stayed there for all but the last few minutes of the game, punctured by touchdowns, until the field was almost hidden in the dusk.

Oregon Begins Attack

Coming back after that first score, the Oregon line opened gaping holes for Sherwood, Maple and Hughes to march, ten yards at a lick, to the N. Y. U. seven yard line. There was a ripple of uncertainty in the New York stands, but the Violets held for downs. The Beavers had to kick, and things looked natural. Maple shot a looping pass 50 yards to Whitlock on the Violet 18 yard stripe, but that offensive was broken up as the period ended.

But that was just a start in the astounding things ahead of the confident Violets facing an eleven that had been beaten this season by Southern California and Oregon university. Before the second period was over Oregon State scored 19 points, smothered Strong's efforts by keeping the ball constantly in their own hands, and hammered to pieces the Violet line, woefully weak in the absence of the injured giant tackle and Captain Al Lassman.

Maple Uncorks Many Tricks

With Maple directing an attack that consisted of double and triple passes, hidden ball plays, off-tackle and end sweeps behind massed interference, and long, looping forwards, Oregon marched 47 yards for the first touchdown, 70 yards for the second and 50 more before Maple tossed a deep pass of 13 yards to McKallip over the Violet goal. Hughes raced 15 yards around end for another score but the ball was called back for offside play. Sherwood made the first score on a three yard drive through center and Gilmore the second off-tackle from the four yard line.

Violets Helpless

There was no question of the uprising after that. The Violets were helpless in the third quarter when Strong kicked off-side on the Oregon one yard line only to see the westerners smash to midfield on 32 and 24 yard runs by Maple and Sherwood. Hughes kicked and recovered the ball when Follet fumbled on his 23 yard line. In half dozen plays, Hughes dove over the Violet goal from the three yard stripe and the game was turned into a rout. The shadows lengthened N. Y. U. made its final bid and tallied when Mike Riordan ran 62 yards on a tackle sweep to Oregon's 28 yard mark. Strong, ending his football career in comparative glory, shot a 22 yard pass to Nemecek and raced the last six yards himself for the touchdown.

Oregon outclassed the Violets on the offense, scoring 21 first downs to eight for New York university. McPlae completed three quarters of the 20 passes he threw while Strong made only five count. The 15 times Ken had the ball he gained 120 yards, almost half of the Violet's total gains.

PUTNAM COMES THROUGH SEASON UNBEATEN TO CLAIM CHAMPIONSHIP

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Nov. 29—The golden sun set on Eastern Connecticut high school football at Killingly today, when the ancient rivals, Killingly vs. Putnam, began their tenth annual clash on the Goodyear field before a crowd of 900 rooters. At the last whistle, Coach Lauriston Noyes' gridders were ahead by a score of 13-0 and had also clinched Eastern Connecticut grid honors, despite the claim of Norwich Free Academy.

The Putnam team, according to a Bulletin sports writer, "Putnam is not figured in the title claim, as they have played only weak teams." This is both unreasonable and unfair to the Putnam high school eleven, which went the entire season without loss of a game or a tie. Added to this, N. F. A. was defeated by Windham in an early season tilt, which was one of Windham's few wins. Putnam came through at Willimantic by inflicting a severe beating upon the team. Putnam twice defeated the heavy artillery of Northbridge, one of southern Massachusetts' strongest high school elevens, and repeated the same act in the Bartlett encounters, when they eclipsed Coach Finnegan's "green backs" of Webster by two 18 to 6 scores. Plainfield and Chapman Tech, rated as first class high school squads, went down under the barrage of the Putnam boys, as did Tourtellotte high in two battles. East Douglas failed to crash the Putnamites, and Killingly failed to score today, in the curtain failing game of the season.

Two teams on the Norwich schedule, Windham and Chapman, were hard-fought tilts for the Rose City boys and one of them was turned into defeat, that of Windham. Both these games were complete victories for the Putnam team as they were shut-outs, Putnam scoring two touchdowns on each, and succeeding in chalking up an extra point against Chapman. Putnam, barring none, rests today with the Eastern Connecticut grid title in her "hall of achievements," the second they have had, since the undefeated teams of Otho Smith's, produced in 1924 and '27.

Killingly Shows Early Fight

Coach Schofield produced the best Killonian eleven since the days of the giant "Pop" Williams. The Red and White warriors appeared to be supreme in the first half of the game, they fighting valiantly and foiling every play Coach Noyes' gridders dared use against them. Shahn, Cody, Reynolds and Bove, took the pigskin in off-tackle, end runs, and through center plays, but failed to crush the defense of the Killingly gladiators, and both teams went through the first two stages of the game scoreless.

Second Half

The third quarter contained plenty of excitement for the Putnam and Killingly rooters. Shahn succeeded in reaching the the ten-yard line, by means of an off-tackle play, but was unable to score. He kicked. The punt dropped on the scoring stripe and was taken by Wittier of Killingly for three yards, when Tourtellotte of Putnam broke through interference and downed him. Killingly punted. The ball was taken by Reynolds, quarterback, who skirted 20 yards down the left side of the gridiron and was tackled on the 12-yard line. Shann and Bove were called upon to dash the ball over for a touchdown, but were in the act when the whistle sounded the end of the third quarter.

The fighting spirit returned to Putnam at the opening of the last period. The ball, reversed to the opposite end of the field, proved to be a boon for the Putnam fighters. Shann took the pigskin, and with excellent interference, followed a hole through right tackle and crossed the line with the entire group of Killonians hot on his trail. The goal try was unsuccessful. Putnam rooters went wild as Shann satisfied their desires. Hats flew into the air, and the field rang with the blare of automobile horns.

Killingly, weakened by the upsetting act of the Putnam captain, failed to stop the crushing "Four Horsemen," as they made their series of first downs. Reynolds received the ball on the 25-yard line and by reason of a center rush reached the five-yard line only to have Shann skirt the end to obtain the second touchdown. With wind velocity in his favor, Shann again came to the fore and lifted the ball into the air, it gracefully finding its mark, the goal post, for the 13th point of the game.

Putnam was somewhat weakened when Cody received a severe jar in the first quarter, causing his leg to fail him. Coach Noyes replaced the injured player with Sherman and filled Sherman's place with Marion, who stopped many of the Killingly threats. Coach Schofield's Killonians made a last-minute try to score by an aerial attack. The successful passes brought the ball to Putnam's ten-yard line, only to have a fourth intercepted by Franklin, who was downed in his tracks. Charge after charge on the part of the backfield men, pushed the Killonians back to their 12-yard line. Their frontier was strengthened somewhat and Putnam was unable to crush it, until Cody returned to his position in the backfield and tore around the end for the last play, when he was stopped by the shrill of the final whistle.

Goal Posts to Putnam

As the final minute passed, a frenzied mob of Putnam alumni rushed on the field, leading an attack on the goal posts. The scoring H's failed to resist the efforts of the boys, and it went down amid cheers. It was carried to the south end of the field, where the opposite post met with the same fate, despite the efforts of the officials to stop them. The posts were carried out to the village and dropped.

"Norwich Out"

The thrice-defeated Norwich Free Academy hardly can lay a claim to the mythical title of champions of Eastern Connecticut, when the record established by the Noyes-coached Putnam eleven is displayed and in the minds of hundreds of football followers in Eastern Connecticut, Southern Massachusetts and Western Rhode Island, who have watched the Putnam players in action throughout the season, Putnam is undoubtedly the undisputed champion of Eastern Connecticut.

PANTHERS CLOSE SEASON IN BLAZE OF GLORY

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 29—(AP)—To paraphrase a pugilistic idiom that a good big man always can defeat a good little man, the University of Pittsburgh today proved that a football team with a good offense can best a good defensive grid machine, the Golden Panther sending a sturdy defensive Nittany Lion aggregation down to a 26-0 defeat in the final game of the season for both teams.

Toby Uansa, fast stepping back of the Pitt team, pulled one of those plays rare in football lore, receiving the initial kickoff on his own goal and running the length of the field for a touchdown. This play seemed to upset the State machine and until the final quarter the proteges of Hugo Bezdek failed to get into Pitt territory, receiving of punts alone excepted.

But Pitt wanted more. Each period thereafter the Panther stalked the Lion goal, the final touchdown coming on the last play of the game after Miller, State back who had replaced French and had proved a bulwark of defense and a stalwart on the offense, had fumbled Edwards punt on his own 21 yard line. Hood, replacing Tom Parkinson, coupled with Uansa, plunged the final yardage for the score.

It has been said that Pitt plays State on Thanksgiving that the Panther might have something to be thankful for. Not since 1919 has State defeated Pitt and then only on a play similar to Uansa's initial effort today. In that game of nine years ago, George Hess, fullback of State's best team of the generation, stood behind his own goal line and tossed a forward pass to Bob Higgins, who sprinted 85 yards for the first score of the game. Higgins today saw his run emulated by Uansa, for he is now assistant coach at State.

Pitt's second marker came on a steady march down the field, Parkinson, Williams and Uansa contributing. Together they ripped the State line for 41 yards.

State made only three first downs during the game, all coming in the final quarter and each as the result of aerial heaves by Miller.

Pitt, on the other hand, earned 10 first downs. That is the story of the game—a good offense breaking into a good defense. But the defense was not good enough to stop the hard plunging Uansa and Parkinson.

Captain Alex Fox ended his football career at Pitt with the game as also did Mike Getto, who had to be replaced in the first period because of old injuries, and Al Guarino, for State Hamas, Delp and Wolff played their last game.

Score by periods:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Pitt | 7 | 7 | 6 | 6 | —26 |
| Penn State | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — 0 |

Touchdowns—Uansa 2, Parkinson, Hood. Points after touchdowns: Edwards, Rooney.

Substitutions: Pitt, Rooney for Uansa. Hood for Parkinson.

SYRACUSE WINS BRILLIANT VICTORY OVER COLUMBIA

By F. G. VOSBURGH
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—(AP)—"Skinny" Baysinger's last stand was rewarded by victory today. The lean young captain of the Syracuse eleven wound up his college career by leading the Orange to victory over Columbia by a 14 to 6 score before a throng of 20,000 at Baker field.

It was the veteran quarterback who scored the first Syracuse touchdown in the third period after Columbia had drawn first blood a moment before but he was ably seconded in that 35 yard scoring march down the field by Warren Stevens, young halfback product of Syracuse high schools. In the fourth period Stevens put the game on ice by skirting right end for a second Orange touchdown.

The victory was the first of the year for Syracuse in a major game while for Columbia this latest reverse wound up a season without a single worthwhile triumph, the first time a campaign has ended in such complete disaster since Charley Crowley became head coach in 1925. Wild Orange rooters tore away the goal posts as Baysinger led his weary eleven from the field.

BUTLER OUTPLAYS TUFTS AND WINS 26 to 3

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 29—(AP)—Butler outplayed Tufts college to win an intersectional football game here today 26 to 3. The Hoosier team pushed across two touchdowns in the first period and two more in the third quarter but was held to even terms in the other two periods.

Tuft's only score came in the second quarter after a recovered fumble had given the eastern team the ball on Butler's six yard line. Three line plunges failed and then Ellis, Tufts' quarterback, dropkicked a field goal from a difficult angle.

Hinchman, Butler fullback, plunged across for the first two Butler touchdowns after drives down the field. Cavosie scored in the third quarter after he had broken away for a long run, and Royse skirted the Tufts right end for the final marker.

Butler's line consistently outrushed the Tufts forward wall while the Hoosier backs seemed too slippery for the tacklers of the visiting team.

BUCKNELL AND TEMPLE BATTLE TO TIE SCORE

LEWISBURG, Pa., Nov. 29—(AP)—Bucknell and Temple universities battled on the gridiron today to a 7-7 tie.

The Bisons managed to score a touchdown in the waning minutes of play to even the first period score of Cherry and White. Both teams displayed great defensive powers and neither was able to make consistent advances.

Temple scored when Margus recovered a blocked punt. Wearshing a few minutes later, raced 12 yards for a touchdown and Bonner kicked a goal for the extra point.

Brumbaugh's pass to Slate for a 30 yard gain gave Bucknell its touchdown. Halicki accounted for the extra point.

Hillhouse Smothers Commercial

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 29—(AP)—Hillhouse defeated Commercial for the high school championship of the city by a score of 34-7 at the New Haven baseball club park today. The Commercial outfit which had a fairly impressive record until today, was outclassed by the Hillhouse eleven.

Georgia Tech Swamps Auburn

GRANT FIELD, Atlanta, Nov. 29—(AP)—Georgia Tech overwhelmed its ancient enemy from Auburn here this afternoon, 51 to 0, to maintain intact its claim to southern conference leadership.

Utah Clinches Title

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 29—(AP)—Flashing their most brilliant football of the season, the Utah Redskins clinched the Rocky Mountain Conference title by turning back the Utah Aggies here today, 20 to 0. Fifteen thousand persons watched the game.

PENN OVERWHELMS CORNELL 49 TO 0 IN BRILLIANT FOOTBALL DISPLAY

(By Alan J. Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29—(AP)—Cornell, utterly defenseless against an overhead attack, was shot to pieces today by four of Pennsylvania aerial artists led by Captain Paul Scull in the annual Thanksgiving gridiron classic on Franklin field. The final score was 49 to 0.

A holiday crowd of 60,000 saw Scull wind up his Quaker football career in a blaze of glory and play the star role in the most spectacularly effective passing game ever witnessed on Franklin field. Scull carried the pigskin across Cornell's goal line four times and exhibited his remarkable dropkicking skill by adding seven extra points after touchdown for a total of 31 points.

It was the worst defeat Cornell's big Red team has suffered at the hands of Pennsylvania since this holiday series was begun in 1893, when the Quakers won 50 to 0.

Thirteen out of 33 aerial attacks by Penn were completed for total gains of 313 yards, an average of slightly less than 25 yards for every completed toss.

Five of the seven Quaker touchdowns, sprinkled through every quarter of the game, were the direct result of passes, ranging from 32 to 52 yards. The air game left only two yards to be gained for an eighth touchdown but the ninth and most spectacular of the lot came on a 95 yard run by Walter Opekun, fullback, after recovery of a Cornell fumble on the threshold of the Quaker goal line.

This sensational dash by Opekun, midway in the third period, definitely turned the game into a dismal rout for the Ithacans as they saw their one golden scoring opportunity vanish in heart breaking fashion. Cornell was trailing at the time, 28 to 0, but there still was a terrific line punch left in the big Red machine as it swept 62 yards down the field in a series of powerful plays. It was fourth down and only two yards to go for a touchdown when Robert Dietrich, Cornell quarterback, fumbled as he hit the line. The loose ball bounded around for a few seconds in the mad scramble until Opekun scooped it up and was off like a scared rabbit, outdistancing all tacklers.

Cornell, with a stalwart line in which Kneen and Wakeman were star figures, outrushed Pennsylvania, 148 yards to 124, but the Ithacans failed to gain a single yard by passing in addition to showing no adequate defense for the tricky overhead stuff performed by Scull and his mates, Shober and Murphy, with the aid of Opekun.

Penn registered 17 first downs to 10 for Cornell.

Scull scored the first touchdown on a 52 yard passing play with Shober as the climax on a 73 yard advance. The Penn captain also tallied the last, on a 34-yard pass from Murphy, before he was carried off the field in triumph. In between he took the ball over twice more on passing plays of 35 and 44 yards, besides doing some superlative kicking and fine tackling as he backed up his line.

Opekun went over for two touchdowns, scoring on a 32-yard pass from Murphy, in addition to his 95-yard run, while Shober accounted for the remaining score on a short line buck after figuring in two passes for successive gains of 32 and 25 yards in the third period.

SILVERMAN WINS BERWICK CROSS-COUNTRY RUN

BERWICK, Pa., Nov. 29—(AP)—Phillip Silverman of the Brooklyn Harriers club, Brooklyn, N. Y., the national cross-country champion, today won the 19th annual cross country run here of nine miles and 265 yards. His time was 49 minutes, 30 seconds.

In a field of 42 runners, James Henihan, Dorchester club, Boston, finished second, Ove Anderson, Finland, third; William Reynolds, Galt, Ont., fourth; Frank E. Wendling, Buffalo fifth; Charles Snell, Glandstone A. A., Toronto, sixth; Gonzalo Moreno, Canal Zone, seventh; Albert Michelson, Stamford, Conn., eighth; William M. Meyer, Philadelphia, ninth; and Harry Werbin, Millrose A. A., New York, tenth.

Galahad Wins Turkey Day Feature

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 29—(AP)—The three year old Galahad, owned by Phil Reuter, won the Thanksgiving handicap, $5,000 added today at the opening of the racing season at Jefferson park. He finished four lengths ahead of Solace in 1:45 over the mile and seventy yard track.

DANIELSON TOWNERS WIN OPENER

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Nov. 29—The Danielson Town team opened its 1928 basketball season in the town hall tonight before 600 people and defeated the South Manchester Fros 38 to 25 in one of the prettiest and snappiest games seen in town hall in some time. Danielson has added three or four new flashes to their lineup which has greatly strengthened the weak spots and this was really responsible for the fine brand of ball they played.

The first half started with South Manchester making the first basket closely followed by one by Gallup, the former Worcester Tech flash, and from then until the end of the half the score was practically tied with South Manchest - leading at the end of the half 12 to 10. The second half found Danielson out for a victory as they started off with a beautiful pass game that baffled their opponents and they had things their own way during the remainder of the half. The scoring honors went to Gallup, Poirier and Armington of Danielson while the playing honors were equally divided among five other men, namely, Godreau, Keach, Longo, Webb and Burke. Boggini and Mantelli starred for South Manchester, while their teammates played a hard game around them. There is no question but what Danielson will have one of the fastest and cleverest teams to represent the town that they have had in years, and there will be surprises throughout the season for the fans. Bill Reddy refereed the game in his usual fine manner.

Next week the Danielson team will either play the Woonsocket Pros or the Worcester A. A. team on Friday night. The summary:

Danielson

In the preliminary the C. L. A. A. beat the Putnam Trade school 21 to 13.

BRUINS TAKE COLGATE IN ANNUAL HOLIDAY GAME

By WILLIAM R. KING
Associated Press Sport Writer

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 29—(AP)—Brown ended its row of Thanksgiving day ties with Colgate here today by defeating the Maroon eleven, 16 to 13, in a game brightened by the brilliant line play of Ed Kevorkian, the Bruins' veteran tackle, who was ending his college football career.

On the past three Thanksgiving days, Colgate was able to hold Brown even but soon after the whistle started today's conflict, Kevorkian drop-kicked his team into the lead after recovering a fumble which placed Brown near enough to the Colgate posts.

Late in the following period, Kevorkian smashed through the Colgate line and blocked one of Captain Bruce Dumont's punts. Babcock, who was substituting for Louie Farber, one of Kevorkian's mates on the famous "Iron Men" team of 1926, scooped the ball up and dashed for a touchdown. Kevorkian added another point to Brown's score in the third period, when he place-kicked the extra point after his backs. Marsan, Captain Cornsweet and Edwards had marched 75 yards through the Colgate line to the five yard mark. Marsan carried the ball over the Maroon goal line.

Brown outplayed Colgate for three periods, rushing the ball for a total of 338 yards against Colgate's 121, most of which was made in the final period against Brown's reserves.

Colgate was able to score in the second period when Gilson, its left guard, broke through and blocked one of Fogarty's punts. Abruzzino, Colgate end, scooped up the ball and ran for a touchdown.

Late in the final quarter, Rice replaced Cox as the Colgate center in time to intercept one of Fogarty's passes on Colgate's 15 yard stripe. He ran it back to his 33 yard line, where Yaolok and Hart started a drive which stopped when Colgate lost the ball on downs on Brown's two-yard mark. Fogarty punted to midfield for Brown and Yablok returned the kick 40 yards in the finest running play of the game.

With a first down on Brown's 10-yard line, Yablok tossed a pass to Doyle, Abruzzino's relief at right end, who carried the ball over for Colgate's second touchdown.

During the remaining few minutes, Colgate was able to tear the weakened Brown line wide open. Yablok and Hart ploughed through for long gains but some incomplete last-minute passes halted the Maroon's advance for the winning touchdown.

The game which ended the college careers of Kevorkian, Cornsweet and Farber, was the last contest under Coach "Tuss" McLaughry's three year contract. For some time the Brown athletic officials have had McLaughry's new contract under consideration and today's victory, which ended a season marred by only one defeat, by Yale, was expected to hasten their decision.

Brown showed a brilliant and deceptive running attack based on reverse plays and an occasional lateral pass. Colgate's offense failed to get going until the last period, when the straight line-bucks of Hart and Yablok resulted in many long gains. During the first three periods the Maroon machine was able to make but a single first down and only about 20 yards by rushing.

GERMAN RUNNERS NOT TO COMPETE IN AMERICA

MUNICH, Germany, Nov. 29—(AP)—The German Athletic federation has declined to issue permits to the Teuton runners, Koernig, Englehardt and Boecher, to participate in American indoor events. The federation's refusal was based on the double ground that no German athletes may go to the United States before the annual German championships, usually scheduled in the spring, and that German athletes are not trained for indoor running and therefore convey the wrong impression as to the nation's athletic ability. It was intimated that permission for competition in American outdoor events may be given later.

FORTY BOXERS REPORT TO KING AT YALE

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 29—(AP)—Over forty boxers reported to the Yale boxing commission, of which Mose King is coach, when the call went out yesterday, for material for the inter-class meet in January.

The schedule for the boxing squad: February 8, New Hampshire university; 16, Georgetown; 23, Dartmouth; March 2, West Point; 9, University of Pennsylvania.

Since boxing was introduced at Yale, eight years ago, it has expanded with increasing interest. Coach King has added road work this year, combined with indoor boxing.

STONINGTON WINS ANNUAL HOLIDAY TUSSLE WITH W. H. S.

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, Nov. 29—Before a record-breaking assemblage of football fans which crowded the muddy sidelines and stood on bleacher seats, auto hoods and tops, the Westerly high school football eleven was decisively beaten here this morning at the Westerly athletic field by the heavier Stonington high school team by the score of 25 to 0.

In the first quarter both teams remained scoreless and it was not until a Westerly played dropped a forward pass on the north side of the field near Westerly's goal line that Left Halfback Brown of the S. H. S. gathered it in and was over the line for the first touchdown. From this time on the blue and white players seemed to have lost spirit and in the third quarter forward passes gained much ground for the Stonington team and twelve more points were secured on touchdowns. In the final quarter Stonington Fullback M. Foote carried the ball over Westerly's line for the final score of the game.

CAGLE GAVE PROMISE OF GREATNESS EARLY IN LIFE

LAFAYETTE, La — (AP) — When Christian Keener Cagle was picked as one of the outstanding halfbacks of eastern bowls, the honor caused no surprise for his first college coach, T. R. Mobley of Southwestern university, students of the school or residents of Lafayette.

But when Christian Cagle left his little Louisiana village home in Merryville to attend Southwestern university, Coach Mobley was not optimistic concerning the awkward colt-like movements of the gangling country lad. Mobley, however, was impressed by the spirit of his sorrel-topped football candidate and to his surprise he soon found that Cagle's queer shambling pace brought him home in front of the fastest men of the squad in sprints down the field.

His interest aroused, the football instructor began a careful process of grooming and when he had finished "Red" Cagle flashed his elusive ghost-like style to carry Southwestern through a series of remarkable victories.

"Cagle is very modest and is one of the easiest boys to handle I ever came in contact with," Coach Mobley says. "He takes coaching easily and is a natural athlete. He can key up to a high pitch or relax just as the occasion demands. Cagle has the most deceptive stride of any runner I have ever seen.

"'Red's' younger brother is here with us this year and is captain of the freshman team. He looks exactly like 'Red' and moves about the field in much the same style. He is now a better forward passer than his brother was when he entered school and I believe another Cagle will soon flit across the football horizon."

ROCKNEMEN WILL FACE NEW U. S. C. OFFENSIVE

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—The battering ram that has characterized Southern California's play against Notre Dame the past two years has been replaced by a spear.

It was the brawn and power of line-smashing Morton Kaer and Morley Drury that figured prominently in the Trojan's last two stands against Knute Rockne's Hoosiers. This year—when the two teams meet at the Coliseum here December 1 in the third annual intersectional combat—an offensive centered upon a flashing lance, Don Williams, will attempt to pierce the winning streak of the Rocknemen.

The two times these two teams have met, the Hoosiers squeezed out a win over the Trojans by a one-point margin. Each time Southern California had an all-American line-smasher—in 1926 it had Kaer; the following year, Drury. Coach Howard Jones this year will fight Notre Dame's deception with gridiron trickery of his own, using the all-around ability of Williams as his weapon.

In the 1926 clash here Williams took the Trojans on a sensational parade that scored Southern California's second touchdown. Notre Dame won, however, 13 to 12. The Chicago battle of the following year went to the Hoosiers, 7 to 6.

ROOT WINS ROAD RACE AT NEW HAVEN AGAIN

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 29—(AP)—Edward Root, of the Nash A. A. of Norwalk, won his second Thanksgiving day road race here when he finished first in a field of 25 starters in the five-mile run open to A. A. U. registrants. He ran a heady race throughout defeating the runner-up, George Backman, of Southington, by about 25 yards.

The Waterbury Boys' club took the team prize and four other prizes. Theodore Grandy, of Southington, won the prize for the first novice to finish, coming in seventh. W. Van Buren of the Durrell A. A. finished 23rd.

The races were run under the auspices of the city board of recreation. The first five runners finished in the following order:

1. Edward Root, Norwalk, 28:14.
2. George Backman, Southington, 28:16.
3. Charles Dittrich, Conn. Aggies, 28:18.
4. Ralph Raimo, Waterbury Boys' club, 30:09.
5. Joe DeMaria, Waterbury Boys' club, 30:42.

NORTH CAROLINA WINS FROM UNIV. OF VIRGINIA

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Pa., Nov. 29—(AP)—A crowd of about 20,000 today saw North Carolina's Tarheels take the measure of the University of Virginia 24 to 20 in a thrilling renewal of their annual football rivalry. The victors twice overcame a Virginia lead in the close contest which was replete with forward passes.

President Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge saw the first period of the hectic struggle, and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and the governors of North Carolina and Virginia witnessed the entire game.

So far as the president was concerned, his Virginia hosts won the game for when he left at the end of the first period, the university of the "mother of presidents" was leading its neighbor to the south, 7 to 6.

STEAMROLLERS CLINCH TITLE IN NATIONAL PRO LEAGUE

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 29—(AP)—The Providence Steam Rollers clinched the National Professional Football league title here this afternoon by defeating the Pottsville Maroons, 7 to 0, in a hard fought game. The victory gives the Providence eleven a lead of a game and a half over the Frankford Yellow Jackets.

The Steam Rollers scored early in the second period, J. Cronin, halfback, rounded the Pottsville left end for a 12-yard run for touchdown in back of splendid interference. Sonnenberg kicked the extra point.

Pottsville threatened to score twice but on both occasions was held for downs within the Providence ten yard line.

Springfield Wins by Field Goal

SPRINGFIELD, Mass, Nov. 29—(AP)—Captain Eddie Williamson's field goal from the 23 yard line in the third period won a 3 to 0 game for Springfield college over Vermont in the annual Thanksgiving day game between these two teams here this morning. Springfield outrushed Vermont but the sturdy line play of the Catamounts prevented the local team from scoring three times. Vermont held for downs on the six inch line in the second half.

RIOT FOLLOWS FOOTBALL GAME AT NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 29—(AP)—A squad of police from the city department was sent into the 32nd ward this afternoon, when the Hilltop-Annex football game ended in a free-for-all following an assault on Referee Leach.

The score stood at nothing to nothing with five minutes to go in the last period when the Hilltops carried the ball to within a few yards of the Annex goal line. On the next play, Leach imposed a five yard offside penalty on the Hilltops and almost immediately was struck down by a Hilltop rooter. Annex supporters jumped into the fray and bedlam reigned in the crowd of more than 3,000 football fans.

Policeman Charles Powell and Andrew Clarman of the 32nd ward special force went down under the blows of both sides and the city department was hurriedly appealed to. A squad arrived a few moments later and dispersed the crowd.

Naugatuck Swamps Ansonia

NAUGATUCK, Nov. 29—(AP)—Naugatuck high school's football eleven, one of two unbeaten teams in the state high school ranks, closed its season here this afternoon by defeating Ansonia high, 73 to 0. It was the tenth straight victory for the Garnet and Gray.

Mountaineers Blank W. and J.

MOUNTAINEER FIELD, Morgantown, W. Va., Nov. 29—(AP)—West Virginia university defeated Washington and Jefferson college today 14 to 0 in the twenty-seventh gridiron meeting of the two schools. Both Mountaineer scores were made in the first half.

"Red" Gains 420 Yards.

CHARLESTON, S. C.—(AP)—"Red" Whittington, of the Citadel freshman football team here, established what is believed to be a world's record in scoring when he carried the ball 10 times against the Presbyterian College freshmen to gain 420 yards and score eight touchdowns.

WELL THOUGHT OUT PHILOSOPHY OF FARM LIFE

(Written Specially for The Bulletin.)

The world is indebted to The Kansas City Sunday Star for finding and publishing the tale of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Vratil of Larned, Kan.

They are farmers who saved money enough while farming to buy their own farm; farmers who ask no "farm relief" from government or other outside source; farmers who have brought up a family of 17 children without losing one by death; farmers who have prospered from straight farming till they now own four farms beside their home place, all paid for; farmers who produce practically everything needed for their big flock's well-balanced diet right on their own land.

In presenting the story, The Star styles it one of "contentment, thrift, industry, courage and wholesome family life," at least approximating the ideals of the right-thinking American.

Let's pick up some of the outstanding features of Mr. and Mrs. Vratil's accomplishment and see how they will strike New England readers.

In the first place he never so much as saw a farm till he was 21, nor did his wife. He was brought up to be a gunsmith and she a dress-maker. The 160-acre farm they bought and still live on was reckoned one of the poorest in the neighborhood, so he was able to buy it with the $1,200 he had saved from three years' work on a rented farm. He had studied it during those three years and made up his mind that "with work and good management," he could make it pay. He now owns a half section worth $100 an acre on the open market, and has allotted to his two oldest children, already married, each a farm of their own. Two more are soon to marry and to each he will turn over another farm, as a start-off. These farms are not given outright, but sold on easy terms to be paid for in annual instalments. For, as Mr. Vratil explains: "I never give one of the children a cent. They must earn every dollar of their spending money." This they do by trapping in the winter, working for other farmers in the summer, and producing on small gardens assigned them, such vegetables as they can sell. "The worst thing you can do for a boy is to give him money or provide him a living without work," said Mr. Vratil. "That ruins more boys than anything else."

As usual in Kansas, the main crop on the Vratil farm is wheat. They raise a lot of other things, too. But they sell very little outright. Take their wheat, for instance; they sell enough, from time to time, to buy a ton of wheat flour. They also keep a heard of cows to supply the family with milk, butter, etc., but sell the surplus to buy cattle feed when their own supply runs short. They have a drove of 60 hogs and eat a good deal of pork, but sell enough to buy beef and mutton, as dietary needs suggest. They also appreciate the food value of fish, but didn't feel it good economy to buy them at the fishmarkets. So they scooped out a shallow acre pond, stocked it with free fingerlings from the state hatchery, and now have all the fish they can eat, while the boys make quite neat incomes from catching others to sell to neighbors who hadn't the foresight or energy to make their own ponds.

Mr. and Mrs. Vratil have a well-thought-out philosophy of life which can best be stated in his own words. "The greatest business of this farm and of my wife and I is to raise these children to be healthy, strong men and women. That's the chief aim, and the next is to make farmers of every one of them." To these ends everything else is subordinated. The fish-pond, for example, was the result of his dietary studies which showed him the value of fish in the regular food ration. Similar study told him that the natural craving of children for nuts was one to be denied only by their cost. He couldn't afford to buy English walnuts and pecans, etc., at the stores, so he put in an acre of peanuts which the children cultivate, harvest, roast and eat at libitum. He also learned that pop-corn was wholesome for children, besides giving the fun of popping it. So he regularly puts in an acre or two of pop-corn and the whole family joins in a pop-corn saturnalia, when the wind is roaring and the snow drifting outside. They have astonished themselves over the number of things one can do with pop-corn and the different ways it can be used.

Fruit, too, he found a necessity. By careful study and experiment he trained his rather sandy farm to grow fruit trees, so that he now has flourishing orchards of apple, pear, plum, peach and apricot. His special apple cellar holds 200 barrels of selected fruit. He saves a generous supply for home use and sells the overplus for money to buy boots and shoes and sugar. So, as he figures it, all these things really cost him nothing in the way of money. He simply trades his extra pork to the butcher for beef; his extra wheat to the miller for flour; his extra peanuts and pop-corn to the grocer for sugar; his extra fruit for other supplies such as even a Kansas farm can't be made to produce.

So much for Mr. Vratil's part. Now consider Mrs. Vratil's, if you please.

Not once since they began farming has a loaf of baker's bread been seen in the house. Buying their flour by the ton and at lowest wholesale rates, as they do, she saves fully half the cost of their bread by baking it herself. Every day of her life she bakes six loaves of bread, five pies and two big cakes. She cooks all the meals, does all the washing and ironing and all the sewing, takes care of 300 chickens, and helps with the milk. She admits that she gets some help from her five girls before and after school. They sweep and dust and make the beds. But the rest she does, and does alone. She adds, "And I don't mind it; I like it. I like the smell of the bread baking in the oven, and six brown loaves, steaming hot on the table, look so fine and home-like. I am up every morning at five o'clock, get the fire going in the cook-stove, mix my bread and get it into the oven, while it is baking mix my five pies and two cakes and have them ready for the oven when the bread it done." All the material for these pies, the flour and lard for the crusts, the fruit or custard or pumpkin fillings, come from the farm, are produced on it. "Children must have sugar, so we give it to them in pies and cakes instead of candy. It's both cheaper and more wholesome."

The reporter noted that, as Mrs. Vratil was thus talking, she had a child on each knee and a third was at the back of her chair peeping over her shoulder, and she was smiling happily as she fondled them as if hard work was the most delightful pleasure in the world. "Mrs. Wiggs of the cabbage patch," wrote he, 'had nothing on Mrs. Vratil of the sandy farm in the way of cheerfulness under what a majority of women would call drudgery."

From which it will be deduced by thoughtful readers that it takes two to make a home and a success of life, and that the woman's share isn't one whit less important than the man's.

To come back to Mr. Vratil and his philosophy of farm-life: He is sure that many farmers make a big mistake in grumbling about farming and its hardships before their children. Of course this makes the latter discontented and they scatter off to town and become "slaves to factory or store bosses instead of staying on the farm and becoming lords of the earth." And he added:

"The greatest curse that burdens this country today is the professional politician ranting around with his patent cure-all for uplifting the farmer. The flood of that hokum in the presidential campaign just closed sickened me They ought to stand about one-half of these so-called spokesmen and champions of the farmer up against a stone wall and shoot them. All the good they do is to themselves. They get into fat offices or into jobs that let them live off the farmer. They do an immense lot of harm by making dull-witted farmers discontented."

From which it may be seen that Mr. Vratil, who is manifestly a bigger success in the real sense than any multimillionaire of Wall street, has no use for so-called 'farm reliefs" of any sort. Nor for the professional "farm relievers." His proposed treatment of them might seem to some a trifle drastic, but, if ever a farmer had the right to suggest such a thing, it must be admitted that he has.

It is, indeed, a question whether many other so-called reforms wouldn't arrive sooner if a majority of the professional "reformers" could in some way be relegated to what polysyllabic President Cleveland called "innocuous desuetude."

And, after all, a stone wall and firing squad aren't the only devices to silence the Pharisees of politics and society. Absolute popular indifference to their ranting would effect the same result. Even a shoe-box orator on a city street corner won't howl very long if there's nobody to hear him but the shoe-box he stands on.

But, however we may disagree with Vratil's plan for solving the universal "farm problem," no one can deny for a minute that he seems to have solved the Vratil farm problem quite completely and very satisfactorily.

If every other individual farm problem in the country were approached with the same industry, the same thrift, the same frugality, and the same sound sense, there wouldn't be any big problem left.

Do you think for a moment, if every farm in the country was occupied by such a family as the Vratils, that there'd be any howl heard about farm decadency? Or about the flocking of farm youth to the cities? Or about the need of government help?

As Mr. Vratil said to the reporter: "Money isn't the whole thing—not by a jugful."

But how are you going to convince the flippers and flappers that it isn't?

THE FARMER.

HENDERSON PREDICTS TWO-CENT AIR MAIL RATE

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Col. Paul Henderson, former assistant postmaster general, now general manager of National Air Transport, Inc., predicts air mail will be carried at the regular postal rate of two cents an ounce by 1938.

He also predicts:

That in five years air mail service and loads will have increased ten-fold, and that air mail and air express speeds will be 150 miles an hour or greater.

That in ten years all the important cities will be linked by passenger lines, and that planes carrying from five to 30 passengers will travel the routes at 150 or 160 miles an hour.

"FIVE-AND-TEN" SCHEME APPLIED TO GROCERIES

CHICAGO (AP)—The five-and-ten idea, which made fortunes for a few men, has put on the grocer's apron.

In the Chicago metropolitan area there now are "five and ten" groceries—nothing more than a dime. The commodities generally are canned goods. Shelves contain an alphabet of foodstuffs, from anchovies to swelback.

Eggs, priced by the dozen, are available at five cents each. A few slices of bacon may be had in 10-cent packages. Even butter sells for a dime.

The special appeal of the unique grocery is to families of two persons.

Lallo, brother-in-law of the bride was best man and Mrs. Angelo Manfredia, the bride's sister was the matron of honor. Following a reception at the bride's home, Mr. and Mrs. Brucker left for New York on a wedding trip and on their return will reside at 120 High street.

Ferreiro-Acolina

A largely attended marriage was solemnized Thanksgiving morning at 9 o'clock at the church of the Immaculate Conception, when Antonio Ferreiro of Stonington and Miss Philomena Veronica Acolina of Westerly were united in marriage. The wedding ceremony was performed and the nuptial mass was sung by Rev. Henry Bruno, S. M. Miss Antoinette LaPietra, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and the best man was Augustine Romanello. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Charles Acolina. There were eight bridesmaids dressed alike in red velvet and all carried bouquets of pink flowers. The wedding marches were played by Church Organist Mrs. James P. McMahon. Martin H. Spellman sang two solos. On Thursday afternoon and evening a wedding reception was held in Champlin's hall with music by the Sousa orchestra of Stonington. Following a week's wedding tour to New York and Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Ferreiro will make their home at 1 Friendship street.

A Ford coach, stolen from Charles W. Jones, 40 Woodward road, Providence, was found in Westerly Wednesday by Patrolman Leroy H. Norman, who reported it to the office of the Providence police inspector. Neighbors had their attention called to an automobile parked near the corner of School and Main streets which remained there all day Tuesday and Tuesday night. The Westerly police were directed to hold the machine, which apparently was in good working order until it was called for.

Capt. A. H. Thompson

The death of Capt. Allan H. Thompson, 74, former Brooklyn, N. Y., resident, occurred Wednesday night at 9:30 in the Westerly hospital where he had been in a critical condition for the past eight weeks. Capt. Thompson had been a seafaring man practically his whole life. Beginning as a boy he ran on towboats and then entered the employ of the Providence and Stonington Steamship company and rose from quartermaster to pilot and captain of sound steamers. At the time of his retirement some years ago he was in the employ of the Starin Transportation company, operating a steamboat line from New Haven to New York. The death of his wife occurred several years ago. He is survived by a brother, Alexander C. Thompson of Westerly.

Clayton Smith, drawing instructor in the Providence Classical High school, was Thanksgiving day guest of Westerly relatives and friends.

Miss Alice G. Mahoney arrived Wednesday evening from New York to be the guest of Pawcatuck relatives and friends.

Miss H. Sutcliffe has arrived from Cleveland, O., to visit in Pawcatuck.

Francis O'Brien of the Travelers Insurance company, Hartford, was a holiday guest of Westerly relatives.

Ernest Ring of New Haven was the guest over Thanksgiving of friends in Westerly.

Miss Winifred N. Francis, newly elected class secretary at Rhode Island State college, was with her parents in Pawcatuck on Thanksgiving day.

John R. Fraser of Meriden passed Thanksgiving day with his mother, Mrs. J. Fraser in Westerly.

George Litman of New York was a Thanksgiving day guest of Westerly relatives and friends.

Miss Marjorie D. Barber, teacher in North Attleboro, Mass., is spending the Thanksgiving recess with her parents.

Miss Ruth Patton, a student nurse in Boston hospital, arrived in Westerly Wednesday evening to spend Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Patton.

Monday evening Rev. Henry C. Suter, pastor of Grace Methodist Episcopal church, will preside at the December meeting of the church board.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Smith of New York were Thanksgiving day guests of Westerly relatives and friends.

At Christ Episcopal church Thanksgiving morning the rector, Rev. G. Edgar Tobin, celebrated the holy communion at 10 o'clock. He held the annual Thanksgiving service Thursday evening at 7:30.

NOANK

NEW SIREN ORDERED BY VILLAGE FIRE CHIEF

The new fire siren has been sent for to New York state by the siren committee, Chief H. H. Parks, chairman, and his two right hand men. A special meeting was called a few days ago to see how money was to be raised to erect it on top of the fire house. Plans were talked over and the order was made out for the fishing village's first fire siren. It will be a great thing for the smoke eaters. When a fire breaks out in the middle of the night, the siren will be operated by central, at the telephone exchange so the whole village can hear it.

The Baptist church bell has been the only fire alarm to let the smoke eaters know that a fire is somewhere in the village. When the siren is erected in a few weeks it will be a great convenience. The committee deserves thanks for raising the money. The next move that will help the village and make all the children happy is a playground, so the children need not play in the street and risk getting run over by an automobile.

Trials of a Driver

The cold wave that hit the village a few days ago caught auto owners napping. One owner of a Ford went to Saybrook to attend a tennis meeting, and while coming home at an early hour in the morning he run out of water when the radiator burst with the cold. He lost all the water and could not get the car started again. He gave it a kick with his No. 10 and said "stay there!" He started to walk into New London and made the Whaling city at 5:30 a. m. He found a friend from Noank with a truck and got him to tow Miss Lizzie to the village, and reaching home at 8 o'clock ready for his bacon and eggs.

Good Clamming Tide

As good a clam tide as has been known in 30 years paid a visit to the village Wednesday. Everybody had a hoe, from a school boy up to a grandfather, all bound for Palmer's cove or Six Penny Island. The clams did not have a chance to escape the hoe. A record was set that will go down in the clam diggers' book with other records, over 1,000 clams were brought home by the village clammers; over 60 diggers were getting them. Rollin Rathbun and Capt. Lawrence Ashcraft were high men getting five bushels of Palmer cove clams in 2 hours' work. One old salt, Peter Munn said the lowest tide he ever saw was back in 1870, on a Friday, in Noank. "I was on a three-masted schooner carrying oil to China and the harbor was all bare; so a man could walk to Fishers Island after his morning milk for his breakfast," and about then a clam peeped out of his hole and said "Get the bird cage on that fish story!" and the clammers had some fun with old Peter about the low tide. But he sticks to his story.

The high wind and rough water caused damage along the water front. Several fishing boats had to put out extra lines to hold them at the dock and several row boats were smashed against the rocks while one rowboat has not been seen in two days. It belongs to Capt. Dexton Holliday. Branches of trees were blown off and the leaves were doing the Charleston with the wind and saying "Try and catch me, street cleaner!" One boat went out to fish but the owner found it too rough for him and tied up for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Rathbun, of Norwich spent the holiday in the village.

Miss Grace Rathbun, of Essex, is home for a few days' visit.

STONINGTON

TRIED TO DO A GOOD TURN GARAGE OWNER TRICKED

Raoul M. Delagrange, proprietor of the Delagrange garage was in Stonington town court Wednesday morning before Judge William A. Wilcox charged with conducting a jitney business without first having obtained public service registration. He was fined $5 and costs of $21.40. According to the defendant's story two poorly dressed men stopped at his garage and requested that they be taken to Groton. They were informed by Mr. Delagrange that the regular fee was $6.00, but as they did not look very prosperous he would have one of the boys take them over for $3.00. The men proved to be two decoys from the Groton barracks and on the arrival of the car at Groton the driver was put under arrest.

Burial of Woman 108

Miss Anna Madiera Sylvia, aged 108, who died Tuesday noon at the home of Mrs. Manuel Lema of Diving street, was born in the Azores and leaves no relatives. Funeral services were held at St. Mary's church Thursday morning at 9:30. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Garity are entertaining their daughters, Mary and Julia Garity, of New York over the week end.

R. J. Syrett and family and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice H. Crandall of Springfield, Mass., are guests of Warden and Mrs. C. B. Crandall.

These officers were elected at the regular meeting of James W. Harvey post, No. 58, American Legion: Commander, Harold M. Hubbard; vice commander, Edward Browning; adjutant, Samuel E. Stewart; treasurer, Mathew T. Leahy; service officer, William Bindloss; historian, John P. Lopez; chaplain, George Hallett.

James W. Harvey post, American Legion held its first dance Wednesday evening in the town hall.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Biddle of Cambridge, Mass., are spending the week here.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund P. Hyde spent Thanksgiving in Brooklyn, N. Y., guests of Frank Pendleton, brother of Mrs. Hyde.

Drs. Herman and Clara Atwood, Mrs. Mary P. Hyde and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Pendleton spent the holiday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Pendleton, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

William Ostman was a visitor in Norwich Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Zeller and daughter, Cynthia are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Perkins.

Henry A. Muller is in New Rochelle, N. Y., the guest of his daughter Mrs. Albert G. Randall.

Miss Fanny Stanton of New Haven and Miss Wilimina Stanton of New York spent Thanksgiving here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Stanton.

Miss Alice Powers of Boston spent Thanksgiving in the borough.

WILLIAMS-MIDDLETON WEDDING ON THURSDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

MYSTIC, Nov. 29—The marriage of Miss Josephine W. Middleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Middleton of Old Mystic and New York, and John O. S. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Prentice A. Williams, of Old Mystic took place at the Middleton summer home, Quaquapaug Hill, Old Mystic, this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. Mowry P. McLennen, pastor of Old Mystic Methodist church, officiated. The couple was unattended. The bride wore a dress of transparent velvet and carried a bouquet of roses. Only relatives were present. A lunch was served after which Mr. and Mrs. Williams left for a ten days' wedding trip.

GEORGE N. LEWIS DROPS DEAD FROM APOPLEXY

(Special to The Bulletin)

MYSTIC, Nov. 29—George N. Lewis, 72, died suddenly at his home on Noank road this morning. He had risen as usual and had been outside to attend his morning duties and had just entered the house, when he dropped dead from apoplexy. While he had not been in robust health for some time his death was unexpected. Mr. Lewis was born Jan. 31, 1856, in Kankakee, Ill., the son of Nathan and Mary Palmer Lewis. Forty-four years ago he was united in marriage with Lucy Packer of Mystic and they have resided here about 40 years, and was a carpenter and contractor. He is survived by his wife and six children, Mrs. Robert Burnett of Tampa, Fla., Annie Lewis of Mansfield, Mrs. John Lucy, George B., Charles A., and William E. Lewis, all of Mystic, by six grandchildren, and by a sister, Mrs. E. E. Rice of Bath, Me. He was highly respected and will be greatly missed in the village.

CONSTIPATION IS PLAGUE OF RACE

Eat Fruits and Vegetables—Properly Flavored

The papers are full of statements and theories about constipation—one of the plagues of civilized people. What are the facts? A famous food biologist was asked to state the case and he summed it up in these few words: "At least 90% of constipation is due to a lack of roughage in the diet. Eat bran, cereals, and fruits and vegetables both raw and cooked."

He went on to emphasize how much more pleasant it is to eat these healthful foods provided their delightful tastes and flavors are developed by the use of sugar. He spoke of how hard it is to get children to eat cereals, so beneficial in their diet, unless they are properly sweetened. He asked us to remember how many healthful fruits would be unpleasant to the taste without softening the fruit acids and developing their remarkable flavors with sugar.

We should put it down as a safe rule of health that all human beings living in the civilized world today need plenty of fruit and vegetable fiber in their daily diet. Sugar, by making nearly all such diets pleasant to taste and easy to eat, is the one dependable aid to the eating of roughage.

There is no substitute for sugar in the normal diet. Sugar is Nature's ideal flavor for healthful foods. Eat the things you need and enjoy them. The Sugar Institute.

TWO THANKSGIVING DAY WEDDINGS AT ST. JAMES CHURCH

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Nov. 29.—Two weddings attracted many of the relatives and friends of the contracting couple to St. James' church this morning. Having selected Thanksgiving for their wedding day, Miss Mary Florida Tellier and Dastiphan Traham, both of Danielson, were united in marriage by Rev. Anthelme Mollard, M. S., at 7:30, the pastor also being celebrant of the high nuptial mass. Members of the Children of Mary, of which the bride has been a member, attended the marriage and the mass, and the usual ceremonials for a member were impressively carried out. Following the marriage there was a reception. The newly married couple are to make their home in Danielson. Miss Rose Tellier and Peter Laroche attended the bridal couple.

At 8:30 o'clock Miss Exilda Frechette of Danielson and Laurence Emil Theroux of Moosup were united in marriage by Rev Joseph A. Demers M. S., Father Demers also being the celebrant of the nuptial mass. The witnesses were Alfred Theroux, father of the groom, and Joseph Frachetta father of the bride. Following their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Theroux are to make their home in Moosup.

Thanksgiving at the Institutions

New England tradition was nowhere neglected in territory hereabouts today. As a matter of fact, it was not so bad on this great holiday to be so unfortunate as to be locked up in the county jail at Brooklyn, or by some misfortune of life, to find one's self an inmate of the town farm at Dayville. One could have fared far worse in many other places.

It so happens that there are 53 people in Brooklyn jail this holiday—for one reason or another. Jailer Tripp saw to it that all of these people had a full and unlimited feast of excellent roast pork, prepared in the jail kitchen at noon today, three vegetables and other things that go to round out a good holiday dinner. And the prisoners are said to have appeared very appreciative.

Up at the town farm the menu included chicken, a variety of vegetables, pie, cheese and other little things that go to make up a feast. The town farm has 18 inmates just now, 11 men and seven women, and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Bassett, in charge of the farm for years as superintendent and matron, let no holiday pass without every effort of bringing something of the cheer of the outside world on such occasions into the lives of the old and indigent persons in their care.

On Christmas, too, there are prospects of a big day for the inmates of the jail and the town farm. On that holiday they will have another big dinner, and gifts, in many instances, all of which is added evidence of the great heart of America.

Isaac Seder

A death at his home in Worcester at 1:15 this morning was that of Isaac Seder, at one time about a quarter of a century ago engaged in the clothing and ladies' garment business in Danielson. Mr. Seder had been ill for about a year. Mrs. Maurice Herman of Reynolds street is a sister of Mr. Seder's, and this morning with her husband left to attend the funeral.

A resident of Danielson for a considerable term of years, Mr Seder was the owner of what was known as the Blue Front store, just below the Main street railroad crossing. During his residence in Danielson he made a great many friends, and his friendships here have endured through the years. He leaves his wife, five children, five brothers and three sisters.

Successful Whist

A very fine success was achieved at the first of a series of St. James' parish whists that are to continue at intervals through the winter season, the first of these whists was under the auspices of the Ste. Anne society of the church, and drew such a large attendance that 41 tables of players participated. The financial return, for the benefit of the parish was very material. Awards were given to Anthony Heroux, Joseph Bernier, Mrs. Adolph Bernier and Miss Arlene Caron of Carter street.

A Quiet Holiday

A Sunday-like quiet prevailed about the streets of Danielson today, a fact that took nothing at all away from the reality of happy family reunions, dinner parties and the enjoyment of Thanksgiving in traditional manner in scores of comfortable homes about town. Weatherwise, the day was ideal, not too cold, not too hot, suggested by a professional quartet and manner that venerable persons described as in a large measure truly typical of traditional Thanksgiving weather.

Grange Meeting

When members of Quinebaugh Pomona grange, embracing all of the subordinate granges in Windham county, and some beyond its borders, meets with Canterbury grange in Canterbury on Saturday of this week there will be reports by officers and an election of officers. The meeting is to begin with a morning session, opening in the fifth degree. Following the dinner hour there is to be a program of entertainment and other features. Rev. Frederick C. Carpenter of New Haven is to deliver the address of the day, his talk dealing with Americanization matters, he being the director of that work in Connecticut. Mrs. Dorothy Bennett is to give a reading, there is to be a musical monologue by Fred Hicks, piano selections by Miss Elsie Hawes, numbers by a professional quartet and a group singing. Killingly grange will be well represented at this meeting.

No Audit Reports Yet

Many are the inquiries that one hears relative to what the audit of the town's accounts by certified public accountants, in accordance with a vote of a special town meeting recently, is revealing, if anything of general interest. There are no official reports as to this. However, the audit, now underway for nearly a fortnight, is proceeding from day to day, with the possibility of its being completed in December, and a full report made to the public.

Fiddlers Gather

Uncle Joe Shippee, known far and wide as the champion fiddler of New England, was a central figure the past week end at a convention of old-time manipulators of the bow at a gathering in East Killingly. The event brought a score of famous fiddlers of other days—and none of them unable to hold their own in these modern days—together for a sort of talkie-talkie and demonstration of their abilities. The affair was arranged by Proctor Aldrich of East Killingly.

Earl Young of Providence was here to spend the holiday with relatives.

Thank you, everyone, for the fine patronage we have received since removing to our new taxi stand, between Danielson Trust Co. building and Exchange block. And also reminding you that we have a new 7-passenger Graham-Paige sedan and a new DeSoto "6" in service. Lewis Taxi service. Tel. 130.—adv.

Chief A. P. Woodward of the fire department and Mrs. Woodward were dinner guests tonight of relatives in Providence.

At East Killingly George W. Jacques is entertaining Myron Northam, for years an electric road official at Stamford.

Again late this afternoon and this evening a homeward-bound rush of travel brought additional motor coaches into service on the New England line between Hartford and Providence through Danielson.

Rev. William Williams of Wauregan conducted a sunrise service at 6 o'clock this morning at the Baptist church, with many in attendance.

This was no holiday for men engaged in building state highway fences in Attawaugan, where a little more than a mile on concrete roadway recently was completed. Fence workers were engaged today with their routine duties.

There is anticipation that the coming week will bring the first of the Christmas club check releases, and the flood of money is expected to immediately give an added impetus to the holiday shopping activities.

Special vaudeville programs, with feature pictures, were provided today at the Orpheum theater, presenting three shows.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Carl Witter were dinner guests on Thanksgiving of Mr. and Mrs. George Witter at Brooklyn.

Mill operatives here showed special interest today in the press dispatches telling of the prospect of a strike of thousands of cotton plant operatives in Rhode Island in protest against a wage cut amounting to approximately five per cent. A similar cut went into effect in many mills up and down the Quinebaug Valley in otober, but met with no organized protest.

Chief John McFarland devoted a part of this morning to seeking out and recovering two stolen bicycles. The thefts were from boys by other boys and the chief will have more to say to parents of the erring boys, as to how these boys are acting, in the immediate future.

Howard C. Folsom of Lowell returned to his home this evening after spending the holiday with friends in Danielson.

Girls wanted for our curtain department; experience not necessary. Apply at once to Powdrell and Alexander, Main St. office, Danielson.—Adv.

The only Thanksgiving night dance hereabouts was at Kum-Along-Inn and attracted attendance from many miles about.

Killingly High school's football team lost its annual game with Putnam High school at Goodyear this morning, 13 to 0, as told on the sport page in a dispatch from Putnam.

ROCKVILLE, R. I.

The raccoon supper served by the Loyal Workers in the parish house Saturday evening was largely attended, Stamford, Conn., Westerly, Ashaway, Providence and other places being represented.

Mrs. Annie Kenyon and son, Leslie B. Kenyon, and Charles Barber were recent visitors in Putnam, Conn.

Congratulations are being extended to John C. Loughead of Westerly and best wishes to his bride on their recent marriage.

Mrs. E. A. Brooks of Waterford, Conn., has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Paul S. Burdick, the past week.

Mrs. Alice Whitten of Utica, N. Y., is the guest of Miss Lena Saunders.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Burdick were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Irish Sunday.

A Stamford (Conn.) man obtained two lottery tickets as a favor to a friend and got 10 cents commission. He was fined $100 and costs for the sale.

PUTNAM

LIEUT. DAVIS ARRIVES BY PLANE FOR HOLIDAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, Nov. 29.—Lieutenant Everett S. Davis, United States Air Service, dropped out of the skies late Wednesday afternoon in a large army airplane and landed in his "back yard" to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett S. Davis, of Gary district. Lieutenant Davis left his post at Langley field, Virginia, Wednesday morning, making the trip to Putnam without a stop.

The large plane was first sighted about 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon on the southern horizon. The roar of the engine was heard with a deafening effect as it circled only a few hundred feet above the city. "That is Lieut. Davis," ground spectators cried as they read the insignia on the wings. Putnam's first son of aviation found his favorite landing field near his home in the Gary district and like a large eagle dipped his ...ose downward making a perfect landing at the "Putnam airport," upon which he has alighted and taken off several times. Lieut. Davis with a group of old school friends attended the Killingly-Putnam football game at Goodyear this morning where he renewed several acquaintances. Lieut. Davis will remain at his home until Saturday morning when he will take off to return to his home port in Virginia.

Holiday cheer found its way into the wards and rooms of the Day Kimball hospital today as the Thanksgiving turkeys were contained on the menu for the patients. Miss Nellis Bloxham, superintendent of the institution said that the spirit of the holiday cheer made possible by the generous donation of food, and money from Putnam and Windham county supporters of the hospital.

As was stated the youngsters at the Windham County Temporary home in the Sawyer district tickled their stomachs with a roast port dinner prepared by "Mother" Parks, which included the many side dishes that delight the youngsters of the institution. Mrs. Parks said this afternoon that a number of donations of candy, pies and other tasty foods helped the gay time of the 118 children. During the day many visitors paid visits to the children. The family at the Putnam town farm feasted upon a chicken dinner prepared by Superintendent and Mrs. Hill of the institution.

In Putnam there was a general suspension of business. The holiday attractions were little other than a football game in the morning and another in the afternoon. The evening bill contained only the special theater performances.

A slight accident occurred last evening on cemetery curve on southern Grove street, when a large Hudson sedan, operated by Patrick J. Hogan of North Grosvenordale, crashed into the cemetery wall shortly after nine o'clock. Mr. Hogan was proceeding north of Putnam. When he reached the "dead" curve a blown tire caused the car to get out of control of the driver, sending it headway in' the wall on the opposite side of the road. Mr. Hogan was the only passenger and he escaped without injury, although considerable damage was caused to his machine. An investigation of the mishap was made by Sergeant George Liand of the local police.

December 3 will mark the release of about $50,000 to hundreds of thrifty Putnam people who have saved their pennies during the past year. Officials of Putnam's banks have announced they will accept the last payments on the Christmas clubs during the first week of the holiday month and will begin to release the checks the following week. The exceedingly large amount of funds is but an indication of the large volume of Christmas shopping which will be done in the city. Local merchants have been busy during the past week preparing their show windows for the display of holiday goods, and each day finds the city slowly working into the spirit of the Yuletide, fast approaching.

Autographed letters from President-elect Herbert Hoover are now in possession of two Putnam school children, Miss Matha Shaw daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Stanley Shaw of School street, and William Stockdale, son of Mrs. Bertha Stockdale of Farrows street. Both are pupils in the Israel Putnam school. Both wrote Hoover letters expressing their gladness in his election. Mr. Hoover answered both their notes and personally affixed his signature to the letters from Palo Alto, California.

The weekly K. of C. and Odd Fellows' tournament was played last evening at the K. of C. rooms on Union street with a full attendance. The final score of the evening left the Kaceys in the lead by a score of 5-7. This is the fourth straight victory for the Knights. The Odd Fellows have been putting up good defenses but have been unable to overcome the strong lead established early in the season by the Knights.

Final arrangements have been completed for the annual Elk Memorial day exercises, which will be held on Sunday afternoon, December 2, at three o'clock in Elks' hall. The program will be open with a cordial invitation to the public to attend.

Overture and march, John F. Clarke; invocation, Rev. James F. English; selection, "Cover Them Over," (Hill), Overseas Male Quartet; opening ceremonies, by the officers of the lodge; solo, "Just For Today" (Shelly), "Teach Me To Pray," (Jewett), Ray A. Gardiner; eulogy, William R. Barry of Ware, Mass.; tenor solo, "The Silent Voice," (Roma), "In God We Trust," (Zuca), Stanley R. Rogers; "Thanatopsis," (William Cullen Bryant), Tom Mulgrew; baritone solo, "I Do Not Ask, O Lord," (Sprose), Chester M. Miller; "The Long Day Closes," (Sullivan), Overseas Male Quartet; "Auld Lang Syne," Overseas Male Quartet; benediction, Rev. James F. English; selection, John F. Clarke.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Washburn of Norwich, Mrs. Elizabeth Hill of Niantic, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Hill of Hartford, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Hill of Niantic and Miss Elizabeth Hill of Niantic were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leon M. Farrin of Grove street over the Thanksgiving holidays.

It is anticipated that a large attendance will be present at the Chamber of Commerce-Rotary club get-together to be held at the Putnam inn next Tuesday evening, for the purpose of making better acquaintances. The Rotarians will be the hosts to the chamber members and their wives and ladies. A supper will be served at 7:30 followed by an address by Rev. John Mark of Arlington, Mass., well known dinner speaker.

Gilbert F. Perry, of Worcester was a holiday guest at the home of his parents, City Engineer and Mrs. Geo. W. Perry.

Augustus Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wilson of Laurel street, spent Thanksgiving at his home in this city. The younger Wilson is a student at Suffield academy.

Kenneth Rawley, a student at Suffield academy, Suffield, Conn., was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Rawley of Pleasant street, Thanksgiving.

P. Gordon Caffery, a student at the Bryant Stratton school of business administration in Providence, spent Thanksgiving with his mother Mrs. J. E. Caffery, of Pomfret street.

Gerald Marcy, of Clark univeristy, Worcester, spent Thursday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allie W. Marcy of Grand View.

The Putnam Savings bank has stood the test and remains one of the strongest institutions of its kind in the state despite the fact that it was subjected to a "run" last week by the circulation of wild and malicious propaganda, that for two days caused several thousand dollars to be withdrawn by its depositors. Each day since the run subsided, depositors are returning with their funds and storing them in the vaults of the bank. Within a few days the Putnam Savings bank will send to its depositors several thousand dollars of Christmas club money. The savings banks club is one of the largest of the city's banking institutions and is only one more proof of its strength and confidence placed in it by the Putnam people.

The urgent need of road signs within the city was clearly outlin... today when the volume of out of state automobile traffic passing through here today found considerable difficulty in locating the right routes to their destination. As announced at the last meeting of the common council the city is soon to be provided with the required pointers, a gift of the state highway department. Police have had state officials in the city and have investigated the necessity. They are soon to be installed and according to advance information will be of an attractive design and easily read. At present the city is in possession of a few road markers stationed at inconvenient points within the center of the city and cause traffic jams each time a motorist attempts to decipher the difficult printing affixed.

Extra trains, motor coaches, and heavy lines of automobile traffic passed through the city today carrying the hosts of visitors who were returning home to participate in the annual Thanksgiving feasts.

There is something aside from the craze for buying motor cars in the business world. As illustrating this, it may be mentioned that cattle buyers from most of the New England states assembled Wednesday at Jacob Gurwitz's farm in North Woodstock to place their bids on individuals in the herd of 48 cattle, some of them pure-breds, that were offered for sale. J. Carl Witter, in charge of the sale, said after its close that the average price paid for any one cow was $100, but that prices ran generally high and that there was free and active bidding from those who came out for the sale.

Players on many Hawaiian football teams wear no shoes, but stars in the barefoot league can punt 80 or 90 yards and are taught to place kick and drop kick accurately with their bare toes.

Burgess Bedtime Story

Buster Returns.

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Who runs away from what he's done
Will find his troubles just begun.
—Old Mother Nature.

The trouble with people who take chances is that when they have successfully taken a chance they are all the more ready to take another chance. They lose caution. They may have done very foolish, perhaps dangerous, but, having successfully done it, they are ready to do it over again, or something else equally foolish.

So it was with Buster Bear. He had caught and carried away a pig from a little farm on the back side of the Great Mountain. That pig had furnished him his Thanksgiving dinner. It was the first time his stomach had been completely filled since the berry season. The taste of that pig had been delicious. The delicious taste and the good feeling of the full stomach made Buster feel that never in all his life had he enjoyed a meal quite so much.

When Buster awoke after his long nap he was feeling in fine spirits. He wasn't hungry then, but for all that, he kept thinking about the pig. "It's the nicest meat I ever ate," said Buster, talking to himself. "I suppose I ought to keep away from those pigs, but I certainly would like another dinner like the one I had. I wish pigs lived in the woods, instead of over in pens close to the homes of those two-legged creatures called men. I do so. Two or three more pig dinners would put me in splendid condition to sleep through the winter. I don't suppose it would be safe to go back there again right away. Probably it would be a very foolish thing to do, but there are more pigs over there, and—and"—Buster didn't finish that sentence, but he licked his lips. Could you have seen him you would have fully understood his meaning.

But presently Buster began to have a little common sense. He realized that very likely the farmer who owned those pigs would be lying in wait for him or would have set a trap for him. "No," said Buster to himself, "as good as pig is, it really isn't worth the risk. No, sir, it really isn't worth the risk. I guess the best thing for me to do is to start along on my way. If I hang around here long I shall get into trouble. Trouble is the last thing in the world that I want. So I guess I'll go along."

So Buster started along. Having his stomach full, he was in no particular hurry to get anywhere, so he just loafed along. Once he stopped, and climbed way up to the top of a tall tree, just to have a look around over the country. That was where he made a mistake. Yes, sir, that is where he made a mistake. That tall tree was on a hill and he could look over the forest. Away off in the distance, in the direction from which he had come, he saw a little farm. He could see the house, and he could see the barn. At that distance they looked like toys. But he knew that little farm for just what it was. He knew it for the home of those delectable pigs. The sight of it set his thoughts once more on the subject of pigs and their goodness came down from the tree for a few moments in an uncertainty. He thrust forward and tested the wind. Then slowly he began to shuffle off. Where was he going? He was headed straight back to the place he had come from. He was headed straight back toward that lone little farm.

"I'm just going back to sleep in the same place I slept after my big dinner. It is one of the best sleeping places I have had in a great while," said Buster by way of excuse to himself.

BALTIC

LOCAL PEOPLE ATTENDED SOCIAL WHIST AT HANOVER

A very successful social whist was held in the basement hall of St. Joseph's new church in Hanover Monday evening, with a large attendance from here. Rev. Adelard A. Jalbert had charge of the affair, with thirty tables playing. The prizes went to Mrs. Cromby of Hanover, Mrs. Spellman, of New London and Joseph Pion, Wilfred Chamberlain, Mr. Bellevance of Willimantic road and William Paquette of Hanover. A very pleasant evening was spent by the assemblage.

Two slight accidents occurred early Monday evening. One happened at the corner of Main and High street when a machine coming up Main street bumped into Father Jalbert's car, as he was turning the corner from High street. No one was injured and the damage to the cars was slight. The other near-accident happened while Bill Carne's machine was parked in front of Charm Brothers' store on High street. Pete Lucier accidentally ran into the parked car from the rear.

Mr. and Mrs. Squire Ashton of Fall River called on friends here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Morton of Providence were guests of Mrs. Morton's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rushton, over the week end.

Mrs. Roy Beard of Leffingwell was a recent guest of her mother, Mrs. Oscar Johnson of Baltic road.

The Baltic fire department was called out Tuesday when the whistle of the Baltic Mills company sounded an alarm, shortly before midnight. The fire which was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hallas of Depot Hill, was caused by an overheated oil stove. Upon the arrival of the fire department the blaze was soon extinguished. But little damage resulted.

Union Thanksgiving Service

The second annual township Thanksgiving service was held in Baltic M. E. church Sunday evening. The Baltic choir under the efficient leadership of Matthew Bailey, rendered a special anthem, "Bread of Heaven." The usual processional and recessional were included in the service. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dwight C. Stone, pastor of Hanover Congregational church. He based his message upon the words of St. Paul, "I have kept the Faith." Mr. Stone pointed out how in the past the Christian church has kept the faith, comparing the changes in church theology and elimination of certain creeds which have brought the churches closer together. Unusual interest was manifested in this service and it is hoped that it will continue to grow from year to year. This union service includes the people from the Hanover Congregational, the Versailles Methodist and Baltic Methodist churches. Rev. Harvey H. Conklin, pastor of the local church presided at the service.

WESTMINISTER

Since the North Society school children so pleasantly entertained the pupils of the Hyde school at a Halloween party the latter reciprocated by inviting them to a Thanksgiving party Friday afternoon. The program was as follows: Playlet—Are We Thankful? North Society school; playlet—What Shall We Do? Hyde school; song—Queen Autumn, Hyde school; playlet—The Market Basket, Hyde school; song—The Harvest Yield, Hyde school; Pantomimes, Hyde school; slides (original and illustrated); song—America the Beautiful.

Riddles and games completed the afternoon's program. Refreshments were served and a happy afternoon was provided for all.

PENDLETON HILL

Messrs. George D. Coates, Allan Coates, Birdsey Cameron and Richard Palmer attended the Briggs Co. auction at Voluntown.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brooks returned Friday from a visit to Mrs. Brooks' sister, Mrs. Robert Milne of Dorchester, Mass., and a trip over the Mohawk trail. While in North Adams they visited old time friends, Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Adams.

In spite of the fact of a coon supper at Rockville and a turkey supper in Westerly, there was a large attendance at the chicken pie supper here Saturday. Seventy-five partook of an excellent supper of chicken pie, mashed turnip, mashed potato, cranberry sauce, rolls, relishes, pie and coffee. The sum of thirty dollars was netted. North Stonington, Mystic, Jewett City, Ashaway, Shunoc, Westerly, Bradford and Oak Lawn, R. I., were represented.

Rev. Mr. Mathewson preached Sunday morning from the text: Col. 3, and a part of the 15th verse, "Be ye thankful." A fair sized audience listened attentively to a good sermon. The collection was for the benefit of missionary quota and amounted to twenty-seven dollars. So far this year this church has exceeded its quota.

Many are anticipating the Golden Rule program planned by Rev. Mr. Partington for the benefit of the Near East Relief to be given in his own church the coming Sunday evening.

To date the following have joined the Red Cross roll call Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Thomson, Miss Katherine Thomson and Mrs. Jennie J. Thomson; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cottrell, sisters Misses Kittie and Cecile Palmer and son, George and Charles Cottrell, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson, daughter Mildred, Miss Lucy Lester and Harry Pierce; Miss Sarah T. Palmer, and Miss Palmer, in memory of Robert A. Palmer; Harriet Thompson Palmer, Miss Julia W. Palmer and Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson. The four families mentioned above are one hundred per cent families.

Mrs. Willis Almy, Miss Hattie White, Miss Carrie Ryder, Miss Carrie E. Maine, Mrs. Clifford Thomson, Miss Katherine Thomson and Mrs. Jennie Thomson were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Thompson of Desterly Thanksgiving day.

Miss Hattie White is entertaining at Thanksgiving dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Pierce and children Arlene, George and Harold of Bradford, R. I., and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Frink and Mrs. Hannah Hiscox of Jewett City.

Mrs. Annie Cook and daughter, Mrs. Byron Dawley, served a turkey dinner for a family party of eleven.

Miss Sarah T. Palmer was a Thanksgiving guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cottrell and family. Miss Kittie spent the past week-end at Oak Lawn with her sister Miss Cecile and was the guest of her cousins, Miss Hattie and Herbert Billings. While there Miss Billings was taken suddenly ill but is somewhat improved.

Thomas E. Wheeler entertained his son Noyes and the latter's wife with their children, Katherine, James, Mary and Thomas at a turkey dinner Thanksgiving day.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin and son Marvin dined with Mrs. George Gagnon of Westerly on Thanksgiving.

Robert Bruce Milne, Jr., of Dorchester is the guest of his aunt, Mrs. James Brooks, at Ferndale.

NORTH STONINGTON

Funeral services for Nancy Maine Esterley, 72, wife of Charles A. Esterley of St. Petersburg, Fla., were conducted by Rev. Clayton A. Burdick, D. D., at the home of Mrs. Esterley's sister, Miss Dora T. Maine, in this village on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 22. Burial was in Wheeler cemetery, near the residence of Ellsworth C. Gray. The bearers were Dr. T. P. Maine, G. H. Stone, C. E. Gray and C. W. Caswell.

Union Thanksgiving services were held in the Baptist church Sunday morning. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Clayton A. Burdick, D. D., of Westerly. Rev. Ivor Partington assisted in the exercises. An offertory duet by Mrs. C. A. Burdick and John H. Tanner of Westerly was enjoyed.

Mrs. B. L. Longenecker of Brooklyn, N. Y., is at her home here for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Miss Thelma Nutting, teacher of the primary school in the village, went to her home in Ayer, Mass., Wednesday afternoon.

Arthur L. Peale's illustrated lecture on the Indians, followed by Indian dances and ceremonials, at Wheeler library Tuesday evening, was enjoyed by a large audience.

THE DAIRY FARMER OF THE FUTURE

The dairy farmer of the future will own a modern farm house. He will be supported by a high-producing herd of well-bred dairy cattle, which will be fed largely from luxuriant, home-grown crops, raised on well-tilled fertile soil. In short, the dairy farmer of the future will know how to live better and will live up to the best that he knows. That is the prophecy of J. C. McDowell, of the Bureau of Dairy industry, United States department of agriculture.

"The dairy farmer of today is progressive," he says, "but in many cases he is massively progressive. He knows what to do but he does not always do it. The farmer of the future will never allow one cow to eat up the profits another cow is making. He will allow only high-producing and profitable dairy cows on his fertile farm.

"At the present time the average dairy herd produces about 150 pounds of butterfat a year per cow. The time will come when our dairy herds will double that production. This, however, will not result in overproduction of dairy products, because per cow, it is possible to triple the average income over cost of feed. Thus the dairy farmer will make more money.

"But why do dairy farmers want more money? They want it in order that they and their families may have a better living, which includes better homes and better schools. The time is coming when our dairy farmers and their families are going to have not only a good living and the advantages of the open country but also many of the opportunities and conveniences that are now enjoyed by the people of the cities."

BUDGETARY CONTROL AIDS COOPERATIVE EFFICIENCY

Cooperatives should have efficient management, says A. V. Swarthout, of the United States department of agriculture. This is essential to all business, but is probably even more than usually desirable in farmers' marketing organizations because of the peculiar psychology involved and the large number of individuals directly interested.

Mr. Swarthout points out that low costs of operation, high sales prices, and similar tests of satisfactory operations which are often applied in business are valuable only when they can be compared with some standard or with the same items in other similar organizations. Cooperatives meet difficulties in trying to apply such tests. Little information is available regarding costs in comparable organizations. Privately owned organizations rarely give out their figures for the use of cooperatives, and even if they did the figures would not often be comparable, since cooperatives commonly provide services not offered by nonco-operative business.

Scientific analysis of the business operations is a great aid in checking up operating efficiency. This has frequently been described as 'budgetary control.' Mr. Swarthout says that one banker who has had a great deal of experience with it, probably more than any other in this country, recently made the statement that he had yet to see any business—and he believed there was none—which could not be brought out of its difficulties and into a better position through the use of budgetary control.

In brief, the following five points summarize what can be accomplished through this method, he said:

"1. Budgeting substitutes definite facts and figures for guesswork and intelligent planning for blindfold fumbling.

"2. It employs cooperation; and it does more—it enforces cooperation; indeed, creates it.

"3. It serves to materialize contemplated actions in such a way that the results of those actions become known before the actions themselves are set in motion.

"4. It helps to restrain unwise expansion.

"5. It provides a unified plan of operation—a financial working plan that, as every executive knows, is of the utmost value and importance to any enterprise."

HINTS FOR THE FARM

Farmers are urged not to hold any more livestock than they can handle advantageously. Overstocking encourages parasites by concentrating pasture infection.

Bred ewes need some exercise over winter. If winter pastures are not used, scatter the roughage over the field so that they will get exercise in feeding. Dry snow has no bad effect on ewes, but wet snow and rain may result in colds and pneumonia of serious consequences.

Utilize red clover straw and chaff by applying it to thin spots in fields which are to be in clover next year. This method materially improves the germination and tends to increase the productivity of the clover and other crops.

The pine mouse takes an unfair advantage of the orchardist by inflicting damage on fruit trees underneath the ground where it is undetected. The best way to combat this rodent is to use poisoned tiles or wide-mouthed bottles may be used as containers.

Now that the pasture season is about over and the cows must be given more expensive feeds, it is a good time to check up on the herd and cull the unprofitable ones. At the same time take stock of the roughage on hand for winter. In event of a shortage it may be more profitable to cull a little more close.

WEIGHT OF SOYBEAN HAY TRIPLED BY INOCULATION

MIDDLEBURGH, Va.—(AP)—F. R. Fred, a farmer near Middleburg, points to a personal experience that shows the benefit of inoculating soybean seed with nodule bacteria.

After planting the major portion of a 30 acre field on the top of a high hill with inoculated seed, Fred found his supply of soybeans exhausted. While waiting for more, he drilled uninoculated seed.

Long before harvest the result became visible to the whole countryside. From the lowlands and from the opposite hills a great yellow square became more and more distinct as the acres planted with inoculated seed grew yellower and brighter. When harvested, a plot of hay from inoculated seed weighed three times as much as hay from the same sized plot of uninoculated seed.

SAYS PRIDE IN FARM CALLING INCREASED BY EXTENSION WORK

"On 772,000 farms in 53,000 rural communities, the farmer or his wife, at the instigation of federal and state extension forces, put on a demonstration of a better farming or homemaking method in 1927," said Dr. C. B. Smith, chief office of cooperative extension work, United States department of agriculture, in addressing the forty-second annual convention of the Association of Land-Grant colleges and universities, held in Washington, D. C., November 20-22. At the same time 776,000 more demonstrations were put on by the boys and girls on the farms. Here, in a single year, is a total of more than 1,000,000 demonstrations of better methods of doing things, and cooperative extension has been going on 15 years and is cumulative in its effect.

"Now, when you remember that a demonstration, from an extension standpoint, is not a demonstration unless each person who puts it on shows and explains the work to at least one other person, you can see that by the adult demonstrations alone the lives of practically 1,500,000 people have been touched and influenced by at least one good example in a single year," continued Dr. Smith. "In the club work of our extension system there are more than 620,000 farm boys and girls, each putting on some demonstration in agriculture or home economics, all meeting in groups, talking over their work together, taking part in the same program, getting a vision of the high lights of agriculture and homemaking, singing together, playing together, making exhibits at fairs together, learning together the ideals of rural life. Almost a tenth of the rural homes are thus being touched yearly through young people alone. It is the belief that we are raising rural ideals, teaching pride in occupation, laying the foundation for mutual respect and occupation through these groups of 4-H boys and girls."

Another line of extension cited by Dr. Smith as one presumed to be having an effect on rural life is the development of county associations, the agricultural extension agents reporting that last year 1,927 such associations were fostered by them for promoting extension work. These associations had more than 307,000 members. At the same time, he said, 703 county home demonstration agents reported the organization of 661 county associations with a membership of 92,000 who take part in planning organizing and carrying out extension work. In all this county extension organization work, he stated, farm men and women are brought in contact with the larger problems of the community and county.

Dr. Smith summarized the influence of cooperative extension work on rural life:

"A farming people who know more clearly than ever before the way of the job and the way of doing it more efficiently.

"A broadened people who are taking part in larger degree than ever before in the rural affairs of the community, county, state and nation.

"A thinking and more altruistically-inclined people, who are living a larger social and neighborly life.

"A more satisfied people because their minds are interested and they feel themselves more largely a part of the world of affairs.

"Farming people with greater pride in their calling."

"Extension work is encouraging all these things," said Dr. Smith in conclusion, "and each year showing how they may be obtained in still larger measure. Extension work is profoundly influencing rural life because it is profoundly influencing rural men and women and teaching them to study, to analyze, to resolve, and to do."

ADVISES HOME STORAGE

The Connecticut department of agriculture is urging Connecticut housewives to take advantage of the comparatively low prices of potatoes to put in a winter supply of the native product. A recent statement for the department says:

"While fall prices in recent years may not have warranted the home storage of this universal and staple product, present prices would seem to encourage a return of this former practice which is merely another example of New England thrift.

"It is far better business under present conditions for the Connecticut housewife to purchase for home storage potatoes of known origin, grown under favorable conditions and freedom from disease, than to experiment with potatoes the keeping qualities of which are more or less uncertain."

FARM NOTES.

The oftener a cow is milked, within certain limits, the greater her production. Cows milked three times a day not only produce more, but are also more persistent in their yield of milk than if milked twice a day. For short periods of 30 or 40 days, milking three times a day instead of twice results in 12 per cent. more milk. For whole lactation periods the increase is 22 per cent.

Bark should be peeled from freshly cut timber that is to be used for posts and poles. If they are to be treated with preservatives they have to be peeled anyway, and if they are not, the peeled posts and poles will season better and last longer in the ground.

Horns and choice beef carcasses do not, as a rule, go together. Dehorned cattle usually bring from 25 to 75 cents a hundredweight more than horned cattle of similar quality.

GEORGIA WHITE LEGHORN HAS EGG-LAYING RECORD

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 24—(AP)—The "long distance" egg-laying championship of the United States is claimed for Princess Gertrude, a white Leghorn hen that in 365 days laid 339 eggs.

Previously, the best record in this country was held by a white Leghorn at the Washington state agricultural experiment station, 335 eggs in 365 days. The record in New Zealand is 345, and in British Columbia, 357. The latter two are the highest of record in the world, and were made by white Leghorns.

Princess Gertrude, owned by C. A. Shepard of Winterville, Ga., won her laurels in an egg-laying contest of 51 weeks at the state college of agriculture at Athens. She laid 333 eggs. Authorities kept her on the job another week to round out the year and lay the additional four eggs that made her the undisputed queen of all American barnyards.

Of the 1,000 hens entered in the contest with Princess Gertrude, 26 produced more than 300 eggs, which is described as a splendid state record.

SOUTH CAROLINA SOWS WINTER-GROWING BEAN

KINGSTREE, S. C., Nov. 24—(AP)—Truck growersof Williamsport county and a part of Georgetown county are planting a number of acres this winter to Fava, a winter-growing vegetable that somewhat resembles the Lima bean.

The bean, understood to be an importation from Italy, was introduced in this section two years ago and rapidly has grown in favor with gardeners and truck raisers.

The vegetable begins to mature early in March when most other garden plants have not started to grow. It is said to find a good market and good price. It is planted in September, October and November.

COLUMBIA

TRI-COUNTY UNION MEETS WITH THE LOCAL SOCIETY

The Tri-County Union of C. E., comprising the societies of Columbia, Hebron, Gilead, Colchester, Marlboro and Westchester, met Sunday evening with the Columbia society. The church was well filled. The meeting was in charge of the entire Wesleyan Deputation team; the other members had been to other churches in the group. The team consisted of Fred Dyckman, Harold Craw, David Carter, Douglas MacLean, Alfred Coons, R. E. Decker, who were present Sunday evening, also Wilbur Fallon and John Williams, who had returned to the college Sunday afternoon. The service opened with a song service, under the leadership of Mr. Dyckman. Harold Craw spoke on What Do We Know About Jesus; Fred Dyckman spoke on What Do We Think About Jesus, and Alfred's Coon's subject was What Are We Going To Do About Jesus. Douglas MacLean read the Scripture and David Carter was in charge of the service. Mr. Craw sang In The Secret of His Presence, and four of the young men sang The Old Home Church. The service was very inspiring. All of the group of young men intend to become preachers. Following the meeting cookies and hot coffee were served in the town hall by the local society.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of Hartford and Columbia, leave this week to spend the winter in the south.

Mrs. Eugene Lafleur left Tuesday to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James, in Meriden. Mr. Lafleur joined her there Wednesday night.

Miss Rachael Buell and Miss Gertrude Gates of Hartford were week-end guests of Miss Marion Holmes.

Miss Elizabeth Bertsch, who teaches in the Jones street school, Hebron, spent the week-end at her home here.

The mercury was down to 16 or below Monday morning. Those who haven't yet put alcohol in their radiators and who left the water in Sunday night were out of luck Monday morning. A high wind added to the general shivery feeling and made the home fireside a good place to stay.

Raymond Lyman, rural carrier, is taking a few days' vacation. Eugene Winter, substitute carrier, is delivering the town's mail.

The C. E. society held a social at the town hall Saturday evening, in charge of two members of the Wesleyan deputation team, Harold Craw and Fred Dyckman, seniors at Wesleyan. Games were played and songs sung. Sandwiches, cake and cocoa were served by the society.

At the morning service of the Congregational church, the pastor, Rev. John Howell, preached a Thanksgiving sermon. Mr. Dyckman sang a solo. At the Sunday school session Mr. Dyckman and Mr. Craw taught a class of young people.

INSTRUCTIONS TO PUBLIC ON CHRISTMAS MAILING

Postmaster Casper K. Bailey has received instructions issued by the postal authorities regarding Christmas mail, and the public is requested to save them for reference purposes and to comply with their provisions. The post office will make every effort to handle the Christmas mail without congestion but owing to the enormous volume this can ne done only with the cooperation of the public

Wrapping and Packing.

All parcels must be securely wrapped or packed. Use strong paper and heavy twine.

Special Packing.

Umbrellas canes golf sticks, should be reinforced their full length by strong strips of wood tightly wrapped to withstand transportation.

Hats: Pack in strong corrugated or fiber boxes. Ordinarily pasteboard hat boxes must be crated. Ladies' hats and stiff hats easily damaged should be marked Fragile Shoes: Pack in strong boxes, preferably corrugated cardboard. Wrap with strong paper securely tied with heavy twine.

Candies: Inclosed in strong outside boxes or containers

Drawings, paintings, unmounted maps etc.: Pack or wrap in strong material to avoid damage. When not flat roll around a wooden core and then wrap and tie carefully or place in strong pasteboard tube.

Sharp-pointed or sharp-edged instruments or tools must have points and edges fully guarded to prevent injury to clerks in handling or damage to other mail. Crate suitably or thoroughly wrap so that they can not cut through the wrapping.

Fragile Objects

Articles easily broken or crushed must be crated or securely wrapped. Use liberal quantities of excelsior or like material in around and between the articles and the outside container.

Glassware fragile toys crockery must be packed so as to prevent the escape of particles or pieces if broken in transit.

Cigars: Ordinary boxes of cigars wrapped in paper only will not be accepted. Pack in a manner to prevent corrugated by shock or jar. Wrap in corrugated pasteboard or similar material.

All articles easily broken or damaged must be plainly marked Fragile.

Articles likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation and delivery will not be accepted for mailing. Wrap or pack carefully according to contents and plainly mark all such parcels Perishable. Use special delivery stamps to expedite delivery.

Addresses.

Addresses should be complete with house number and name of street, post office box or rural route number, and typed or plainly written in ink. A return card should be placed in the upper left corner of every piece of mail. If a tag is used, the address and return card should also be written on the wrapper for use if tag is lost and a copy of the address should be inclosed inside the parcel.

Postage.

Postage must be fully prepaid on all mail. Affix the required amount of postage in the upper right corner. Full information concerning postage rates can be obtained at the parcel post or stamp window.

Limit of Weight and Size.

No parcel may be more than 84 inches in length and girth combined. For delivery locally and in the first, second and third zones 70 pounds is the maximum weight; in all other zones, 50 pounds.

Early Mailing.

During the holiday time the volume of mail increases approximately 200 per cent. It is a physical impossibility to handle this great mass of mail matter efficiently and promptly within a few days. Therefore to assure delivery of their Christmas presents cards and letters by Christmas day, the public should shop and mail early. Do your Christmas shopping so that you can mail your gifts greetings and letters to relatives friends, and loved ones at least a week or ten days before Christmas according to the distance. This will not only make it certain that they are received on or before Christmas day, but will be a great aid to your postal service and to postal employes and enable them to spend Christmas day with their families.

Christmas Cards.

Patrons sending a quantity of Christmas cards, say ten or more, should prepare and mail them two or three weeks in advance as millions are mailed and they cannot possibly be handled and delivered if mailed only two or three or four days before Christmas. To avoid this patrons may mail their cards two or three weeks before Christmas if delivered to the post office or postal station in person or tied together in a bundle labeled to show that they are Christmas cards, and deposited in a street letter or package box. They will then be segregated, stamped with the date on which to be delivered and delivery effected one or two days before Christmas.

Christmas cards and gifts addressed to points within one day's travel should be mailed in no event later than Dec. 20; within two days' travel, not later than Dec. 18; within three days' travel, not later than Dec. 16; for more distant points, not later than Dec. 14. Parcels and cards for local delivery should be mailed not later than Dec. 21. Parcels and envelopes may be indorsed 'Please do not open until Christmas.'

Special Delivery Service.

The use of a special delivery stamp will assure delivery on Christmas day if mailed at the proper time. Special delivery service means that handling and transportation of parcels with the same expedition as first-class letter mail, as well as the immediate delivery at office of address. It is obtained by affixing a special delivery stamp of the proper denomination or ordinary stamps are used the words "Special Delivery" must be written or printed directly below but not on the stamps. It is urged that all mailers desiring immediate delivery of any matter mailed by them affix special delivery stamps thereto. Special delivery is for speed and not for safety. Valuable mail should be registered or insured.

Where to Mail Parcels.

Uninsured parcels eight ounces or less in weight may be mailed in street letter or package boxes at all classified stations and branches and at such numbered stations as are designated to receive parcels. Parcels weighing over eight ounces cannot be mailed in street boxes but must be taken to the main post office or classified station or branch. Parcels containing meat food products cut flowers or other perishable matter should be mailed only at the main post office or one of the large classified stations.

Written matter in the nature of personal correspondence cannot be inclosed in parcels.

Communications attached to parcels: A letter placed in an envelope, addressed to correspond with the address on the parcel and fully prepaid at the first-class rate may be tied or otherwise securely attached to the outside of the parcel in such manner as to prevent separation therefrom and not obscure the address on the parcel.

Insure Valuable Mail.

All valuable parcel post mail should be insured. Insurance fees: Value not exceeding $5, 5 cents; not exceeding $25, 8 cents; not exceeding $50, 10 cents; not exceeding $100, 25 cents. Coin, currency jewelry and articles of similar value should be sent as sealed first-class registered mail.

Collect-on-Delivery Service.

Parcel post also third-class matter may be sent C. O. D. from one money-order post office to another. Fees (in addition to regular postage): Value not exceeding $10, 12 cents; not exceeding $50, 15 cents; not exceeding $100, 25 cents, to be prepared with stamps affixed. The C. O. D. fee also covers insurance against loss or damage.

Men! Dandruff Makes You Bald

ST. ANDREW'S PARISH ENTERTAINMENT A SUCCESS

The annual two nights' entertainment, social and dance held in Grange hall, Wednesday and Thursday evenings for the benefit of St. Andrew's Catholic church was largely attended by local and out-of-town people. The pastor of St. Andrew's, Rev. Philip J. Mooney was formerly stationed at Norwich as an assistant at St. Patrick's church and many of his friends from that city were among those in the big assemblage. Likewise his mission church in Moodus was well represented. Good weather favored this annual parish social event.

Frank A. Case of Norwich and James R. Case of Danbury were guests of local relatives Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wells of Kingston, R. I., were guests over Thanksgiving of Mrs. Wells' aunt, Mrs. Harley P. Buell.

Special Thanksgiving services were held in the Congregational chapel, Thursday evening.

The Hartford-New London and Norwich motor buses were heavily loaded Wednesday and Thursday with people who were returning to their homes for the holiday.

Miss Margaret Donovan, instructor in Bacon Academy is spending the holiday vacation with relatives in Exeter, N. H.

George M. Rogers, principal of Dublin school is visiting over the week end with his parents in Litchfield, Maine.

Miss Harriet Howland, who is attending preparatory school in Baltic spent Thanksgiving with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Edward J. Howland.

Samuel Robington of Hartford called on William Johnson, Wednesday.

Miss May Shugrue of Hartford visited Thursday with her parents.

Frank Foote, who is with the Eastern Dairy Co. of New Haven, was a recent guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Foote.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Bailey and children of Newington visited Thursday with Mr. Bailey's parents.

Most local business places were closed in observance of Thanksgiving. The postoffice closed at 10 a. m. and no delivery was made by the rural or village carriers. There was only one incoming and one outgoing mail during the day.

Miss A. M. Wickwire spent Thanksgiving with relatives in New Haven.

Oliver C. Gardner of Bozrah and Norwich was a caller on local friends Wednesday.

Louis M. Minsk, student at Wesleyan university and Jack Broder, student at Boston university were with their parents here over the holiday.

H. C. Freedman and Joseph Weinstein were business visitors in Willimantic Monday.

Roy B Sanford of Rockville called on borough friends Monday.

FAVOR EXTENSION OF TROUT FISHING SEASON

An extension of the trout fishing season to July 15 was favored by fish and game officials and sportsmen of Connecticut at a conference at the state capitol Tuesday at which proposed legislation, affecting fishing and hunting, was discussed. The resolution was introduced by a representative of the New Haven Fish and Game association.

More than 200 game officials and sportsmen gathered in the hall of the house of representatives for the morning and afternoon sessions and reviewed practically every phase of fish and game legislation. Senator-elect Frederic C. Walcott, president of the state board of fisheries and game, presided in the morning, and Commissioner Charles E. Wheeler was chairman of the afternoon session.

The recommendations of the conference will be brought before the legislative committee on fish and game by Superintendent John W. Titcomb in an effort to have the present fish and game laws amended.

Recognition was taken of the depletion of ruffed grouse in the state and the conference adopted a proposition for a closed season on the birds for one year. Senator Walcott sponsored the resolution and emphasized the seriousness of the present situation which he declared threatened the life of the grouse in Connecticut.

An amendment which favored authorizing the commissioner to extend the closed season one year at his discretion, was defeated.

The members of the conference also went on record in favor of increasing the hunting and fishing license fees $1 each. The members praised the work of the state department in stocking the streams and hunting areas of the state and favored an increased revenue for the continuation of this work.

Although there was unanimous support for the increased license fee only for the privilege of hunting or fishing in leased lands or on state stocked streams. The resolution was finally adopted with no qualifications, however.

The perennial resolution favoring an open season on deer was introduced by a representative of the New Britain Fish and Game club but was received without enthusiasm. The discussion of the subject was dismissed when one of the delegates declared that "the farmers don't want an open season on deer and there isn't a chance to get this thing by the legislature, so we are only wasting our time." Apparently the experience of the members in previous years when efforts to pass similar legislation bore out the wisdom of the remark and the subject was voted down, practically unanimously.

A resolution from the Mystic Rod and Gun club urging that the commissioner be empowered to close "breeder" brooks used by the state for the propagation of trout was carried.

The conference voted in favor of restricting the number of white perch catches to 30 fish per day. A length restriction of seven inches was also favored.

Several more drastic proposals were heard by the delegates but voted down almost without exception A resolution urging that the gray squirrel season be closed for two years was defeated with no discussion. A proposed shortening of the rabbit hunting season to the limits of the bird hunting open season was also rejected.

A resolution favoring the payment of a bounty of $5 on bob-cats and Canadian bay linx was supported by the conference which also rejected a similar measure proposed for the elimination of grey fox.

Although the delegates apparently favored the purpose of a proposed bill to close the season for fishing for bass in "bass ponds" or state-stocked bass ponds until July 1, the proposal was defeated. Several delegates opposed the measure on the basis that it would work a hardship on proprietors of summer places and persons who cater to summer visitors for a livelihood.

CITY'S QUIETEST PLACE ADMIST TRAFFIC ROAR

NEW YORK—(AP)—The quietest place in New York is in the midst of the noisy trucking streets of the west side, immediately south of Fourteenth street.

It is a new sound-proof room built in Bell Telephone Laboratories, under direction of Dr. E. C. Wente, member of the technical staff. To step into it is like being transported suddenly from the city into the midst of a forest—with the insects silent.

The inner walls are made of a sugar cane product, celotex. The walls resemble rough gray burlap. The room is really double, with an outer and an inner shell, the two separated by an air space. The inner shell is three-ply, steel, with celotex on each side of it. Ordinary brown office linoleum covers the floor. The metal shields the room from outside electrical effects, and the celotex protects it acoustically.

Air is admitted through ventilator conduits containing sound traps. These traps are arranged somewhat on the principle of the maze common in amusement parks. The air, which can pass through any maze, is admitted freely, but sound, attempting to proceed in ordinary sound wave directions, comes against one sound-absorbing panel after another, until it is all but dead.

The room is used for research in acoustics.

Anything to Oblige

PARIS —(AP)— A workman who bought a sheet of government stamped paper as required for certain communications learned he did not need it, and asked the stamped paper office for a fund. He was told to make out an application for the money on a stamped sheet costing exactly the price of the original paper. Paris newspapers are citing this incident as a new "red tape" joke

REVALUATION OF THE PROPERTY IN NEW LONDON MIGHT COST $7,500

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 29—At an executive session of the city council this week, an informal discussion of a revaluation of property in New London as required by law every ten years took place. Councilor Lucious E. Whiton was chairman of the meeting. Figures from three different concerns bidding on the work were read, the prices ranging from $6,500 to $7,500. A committee was appointed to investigate the figures and it is probable that a report will be made at the next meeting.

The annual meetings of Brainard Masonic lodge and Nameaug Engine company will be held next month. In the former the officers now serving will be moved up one station and the Nermant will practically reelect their officials.

Fred Berne, stage star, who maintains a summer home at East Lyme, and who suffered the fracture of both legs when his airplane crashed at Poquonoc several months ago, is recovering at his permanent home, 154 Greenway North, Forest Hills, L. I. Mr. Stone is contemplating a trip to California before attempting to resume his stage career.

MRS. J. T. LANMAN'S DEATH RECALLS FORMER MERCHANT

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 29—The death of the widow of John T. Lanman, formerly of Norwich, at Columbus, Ohio, was announced to friends here today. Mr. Lanman was for several years engaged in the drug business here, in the Bacon building on State street, first with Daniel Beckwith and later under his own name. He disposed of his business to the late Stephen J. Downey and went west. Mr. Lanman came to New London from Norwich.

Local young people are wondering whether the city is to provide a public skating pond for them this winter. In years recently passed Caulkins park, used for a baseball field in the summer, has been flooded late in December and as ice formed a fairly good skating pond was the result. The pond is absolutely safe for the small children for there is little depth to the water. In years past the Mill pond was a favorite skating place for the people of this city, but that pond has not been used in recent years, Bolton's pond was another popular skating place, but residences have been built there, so that is no longer available for skaters.

Repairs are being made to the roof of the customs house building.

There was a noticeable decrease in the number of automobiles on the streets today, whether because many machines have been taken out of commission for the winter or because there were fewer strangers in town, predominating among the foreign vehicles, but other states were represented by visitors also.

The second in a series of lectures on Apologetics was given by Rev. R. J. O'Callaghan at the diocesan bureau of social service in Jay street last night. In his lecture Father O'Callaghan endeavored to show which church bears the four marks of the true Christian church, unity, sanctity, apostolicity and universality. Word has been received from Dr. Frederick Joseph Kinsman, who was to have given a lecture here Dec. 10 that he has broken both ankle bones and is forced to postpone his appearance here until February.

The annual Thanksgiving dance under the auspices of New London lodge, No. 360, B. P. O. E. was given last night at the Hotel Mohican and was attended by a large assemblage. Dancing was enjoyed until 1 o'clock and during intermission the committee in charge of the event had refreshments served.

At the annual banquet of Niagara Engine company, held at the company's quarters, Bank street, last night, after the turkey dinner a vaudeville program was put on. The speakers of the evening, introduced by Postmaster Cornelius D. Twomey, were City Manager William A. Holt, Mayor Malcolm M Scott and Senator-elect William C. Fox.

THIEVES REMOVE LOCK FROM ABEN HARDWARE STORE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 29—An attempt was made last night by thieves to gain entrance to the store of the Aben Hardware company, 76 Bank street, a business house that has received much attention from thieves the past few years, the crooks always being of the juvenile type. The attempted break was discovered by Sergeant Patrick Murphy, who found the rear entrance unsecured, as the lock had been removed, but entrance to this part of the building did not permit the thieves ascending to the store proper on the floor above. Benjamin Kaplan, one of the owners of the store was notified and went there while another lock was placed on the door.

The police rounded up a bunch of vagrants and drunks last night. In most instances all the men were penalized in the police court this morning for some of them had frequently been before the court of late. Edward Hickey, Thomas Mahan, Carl Brown, Joseph Ryan and Benjamin Deneshey, were arrested on Hallam street yesterday afternoon by Automobile Patrol Officer Augustus Ray and Patrolmen William Corcoran and Arthur Feeley. They were charged with being vagrants and intoxication. Hickey was sentenced to jail for 30 days; Mahan was given 20 days in the workhouse and Brown was fined $5. Ryan was sentenced to 20 days in jail and Deneshey, who has been arrested many times this year was sentenced to six months in the work house. Thoma Cashman [illegible] yesterday on Main street, was [illegible]ced to 10 days in jail. He was [illegible]ed by Patrolman Frank Linehan. [illegible] DeLong, found yesterday on North Main street by Patrolman Arthur Feeley, was fined $5. Edward Little was arrested last night on Main street by Acting Sergeant William Graham and Patrolman Dennis Murphy and was discharged. Paul Shea, the ninth man to be arrested, was sentenced to 10 days in jail, but execution of the sentence was suspended.

R. G. Matteson, P. O. Box 61, Uncasville and Louis Feldman, 455 Montauk avenue, were charged with passing an automatic traffic signal that was set at danger, being arrested on Bank street last night by Patrolman Albert Iverson. Both Matteson and Feldman were discharged today.

At a meeting of Trumbull lodge, No. 48, Knights of Pythias, held last night in Union lodge rooms, plans were made for holding the annual anniversary banquet of the organization February 6. A committee was appointed to arrange the affair with Winder E. Reed chairman. A meeting will be held next week to make further plans for the affair. Grand officers of the state will be present at the banquet.

Prisoners at the Franklin street jail had a Thanksgiving dinner of roast pork and numerous vegetables. Special dinners were also served at Hillside home.

Numerous baskets were given out today to the poor by the B. P. Learned mission. Each basket contained a complete dinner of roast pork or chicken, cakes, pies and a generous assortment of vegetables.

FUNERAL
Mrs. Edwin Johnson

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, wife of Edwin Johnson, was held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, the high mass of requiem being sung by Rev. Raymond J. O'Callahan. The bearers were Edward Cavanaugh, John Hanford, Edward Paradise, John Donlan, James Riley and Emil Olson. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, where the committal service was conducted by Rev. Fr. O'Callahan.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pettipas are spending a few days in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller and children, of Hartford, formerly of New London, spent today with Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. Mary Kelley, of Pearl street.

Station House Keeper Frank Corcoran, who has been confined to his home for several days ill with grip, is greatly improved and will resume his duties within a few days.

Charles H. Thompson, former New London newspaper man, now employed in New York, spent the holiday with his family on Meridian street.

Some one had a beverage for his Thanksgiving dinner today that he did not anticipate enjoying. When an auto truck of the Humphrey-Cornell company was passing through Atlantic street yesterday a 10-gallon keg of cider fell to the pavements and unknown to the driver. The loss of the cider was reported to the police but the finder had removed it to his home before a search for it was instituted.

JERSEY CITY DRIVER TOO SPEEDY FOR CONN.

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 29—Philip Krichiski, 25, a bricklayer, residing at 346 Second street, Jersey City, N. J., was arrested this afternoon by Patrolman James McKenna, charged with reckless driving. He was released upon furnishing a surety on his bond of $100 and will be in court tomorrow. Krichiski was driving his machine on Montauk avenue and it is claimed was racing another auto, the two cars being driven at an estimated speed of 50 miles an hour. At the corner of Hobron street, the auto was wrecked when it collided with the curbing.

But one arrest was made by the police today. Patrolman John Courtney found a sailor from the submarine base, intoxicated on State street and locked him up. The sailor will be turned over to a shore patrol and taken back to the base for military discipline.

BUFFALO MARINES WIN FROM ALL-COAST GUARD 11

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Nov. 29—The only sporting event that characterized the celebration of the holiday today was the gridiron contest between the Canisius Marines, Buffalo, N. Y., and the All-Coast Guard eleven of this city. The game, which was played at Mercer field and was witnessed by a large crowd, was won by the Marines, 6 to 0. The only score came in the second period when the Marines' halfback crossed the goal line for a touchdown. Brennen, who tried for the point, failed, for the pigskin was kicked far from the goal posts. Fisher and McCarthy played sensationally for the Marines, for these players made repeated gains by crashing through the coast guard line. The only player on the coast guard eleven that was able to make gains against the visitors was Davis.

Antone Enos, formerly of Waterford, was taken into custody tonight for safe keeping and tomorrow will probably be committed to Norwich state hospital for there is no doubt but that Enos is not of sound mentality. Enos, who is of advanced years and who has been residing temporarily with a relative on Amity street, tonight succeeded in leaving his home unobserved. When the relative discovered the aged man missing, a request was made of the police to search for him. In the meantime, Enos had wandered to the union station, where his actions attracted the attention of Special Agent John Anderson, New Haven railroad police. When the officer questioned the man his utterances were so irrational that it left no doubt in the mind of the officer that Enos was demented, for Enos stated that he was looking for the cemetery where his wife was buried and that he intended to lie down on the grave and die. Officer Anderson and Patrolman John Clifford had Enos taken to police headquarters, where he is being detained for the night.

This has been a day of family gatherings, for from all sections of the country came relatives of families to gather at the Thanksgiving board.

In no section of the city has there been as much residential construction the past year than in the region about Montauk and Ocean avenues and lateral streets. The building lines of the city in general have changed, but in the section referred to the change is most pronounced.

Former Councilor Edward L. Streeter, Jr., is in town, somewhat improved in health. He has been under medical attention many months and the treatment has proved beneficial.

A catch basin has been placed at Montauk avenue and Bellevue place to take care of surface water that in the past has submerged the crossing whenever there was a heavy rainfall.

Grant Edgar, 20 Channing street, this afternoon reported to the police the theft of his overcoat. Mr. Edgar drove to State street last night and parked his automobile while he visited at the Hotel Mohican. He left his overcoat in the auto and when he returned to the car, discovered that the garment had been stolen. However, he did not report the theft until today.

A Ford, 1921 coupe, owned by J. C. Sabbin, submarine base, was stolen from Groton last night and the theft was reported to the state police. The car carries Connecticut markers, L-5324. The state police at Centerbrook as well as the police of Norwich, Westerly, Middletown and Hartford, have been requested to be on the lookout for the stolen machine.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theatre

At last the screen has given us something new—not the screen, exactly, but universal, which has produced one of the most entertaining pictures ever made. It is "The Melody of Love," the all-talking photoplay that opened last night at the Broadway theatre.

Here is the talking picture as it should be made. Produced with a rare intelligence and a full appreciation of the potentialities of this new trend in motion picture entertainment, "The Melody of Love" fills a long-felt want.

It is the story of Tin Pan Alley and its characters, the song writer, the actress and the cabaret owner. The song writer and his pal go to war; they meet a pretty French girl; they have experiences at the front; they return to America after the Armistice What happens after that we leave for you to see. The dialogue, the singing and the sound effects are remarkable, especially the battle scenes.

Walter Pidgeon is magnificent as the song-writer soldier. His vibrant baritone voice sounds even better on the screen than it did on Broadway when he starred in musical comedy.

Mildred Harris is a complete surprise. She has emerged after her months of hiding into a full-fledged singing star. Her voice registers perfectly and her beauty was never shown to better advantage. By the way, she uses a real French accent in this picture, the first time we have ever heard an accent used in a talking film.

Tom Dugan creates roars of laughter as the wise-cracking cabaret owner. He puts his comedy over with a bang and what he doesn't know about the galloping dominoes is nobody's business.

Jan Winton is beautiful as the New York show girl and Jack Richardson is most acceptable in a small part as is also Victor Potel who, on the screen, is credited with playing the role of The Gawk. All credit is due Universal and director A. B. Heath for this outstanding contribution to the art of the screen. We are looking forward to Universal's next talkie and if it is anything like "The Melody of Love," this company certainly will have achieved the impossible.

The accompanying Vitaphone presentations were unusually well selected and the large audience were thoroughly pleased.

Palace Theatre

Richard Dix is back in uniform in "Moran of the Marines," his latest Paramount offering which opened at the Palace theater last night to an appreciative audience. In his new picture, Dix essays the role of a marine buck private and gives an admirable characterization typical of the kind which has brought him to the pinnacle of screen fame.

In this picture also does Ruth Elder, the pretty trans-Atlantic aviatrix make her bid for motion picture prominence. Although it is her first professional appearance on the screen, her acting is none the less convincing and she goes through her paces like a veteran.

"Moran of the Marines" is the story of a youth who gets into trouble and takes a few Chinese bandits and a thrilling fight to get him back in good graces. Meanwhile he attempts to win the general's daughter and succeeds, but only after many hair-raising, humorous and dramatic incidents have come to pass.

An admirable cast contributes to the success of the film. Roscoe Karns gives his characteristic humorous portrayal; Capt. E. H. Calvert impresses with his marine general's role and Duke Martin convinces one that there are really hard-boiled sergeants in the Marine Corps. Brooks Benedict, the villain, gets over with leering and menacing, not to mention his attempts to cause Dix trouble and embarrassment.

The story is from Linton Wells, a war correspondent who, according to advices, has "been everywhere and seen everything." His attempt at film writing is a complete success.

Frank Strayer directed.

WEDDINGS
D'Atri-Milunus

At 8 o'clock Thursday morning, Alfred J. D'Atri of No. 33 North Main street and Miss Josephine Milunus of Yantic were united in marriage at St. Joseph's church by Rev. S. A. Icick. The maid of honor was Miss Ida Milunus, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids were Miss Mary Milunus, another sister, and Miss Frances Gladd. The best man was Michael D'Atri, brother of the groom.

The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of white crepe with lace trimmings and lace veil and carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a green taffeta period gown. Miss Mary Milunus wore a rose taffeta period gown and Miss Gladd an orchid taffeta period gown.

Following the wedding ceremony there was a breakfast at the bride's home in Yantic and during the evening a reception was held at Odd Fellows' hall. D'Atri's Wauregan hotel orchestra furnished the music for the 200 guests present. Features of the evening were piano solos by Miss Linda Cola of Providence, and humorous and popular songs by her small brothers, Arthur and Edward Cola. Light refreshments were served.

After a wedding trip to New York city, Mr. and Mrs. D'Atri will reside on North Main street. The bride received numerous and beautiful gifts from her many friends. Guests were present from Providence, New York, Newburgh, W. Va., Moosup and other surrounding towns.

Mr. D'Atri is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James D'Atri and is well known and popular with his many friends, as is the bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Milunus of Yantic.

Rathbun-Doerr

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Whitmarsh, No. 41 Boswell avenue, a wedding of social interest took place at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, when Mabel C. Doerr of this city, daughter of Mrs. Minnie Doerr of New York city was married to Raymond K. Rathbun of New London, Rev. A. H. Abbott, pastor of the United Congregational church, performed the ceremony and the wedding march was played by Mrs. Helen Leveign with Mrs. W. T. Whitmarsh at the violin.

The bride had for her bridesmaid Miss Hermine Aslard of this city and the bridegroom was attended by his brother, Edward Rathbun, as best man. The bride was beautiful in a orchid soft taffeta dress. She wore a silver crown combined with pearls and carried a bridal bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid was presented a beautiful ruby ring, while the best man was given a Masonic pin and the bride received many beautiful gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Rathbun are to spend their wedding trip in New York city and upon their return will reside at No. 41 Boswell avenue, where they will receive their friends.

DeChristopher-Fanning

Norwich relatives and friends learned Thursday evening of the marriage in the afternoon of Albert DeChristopher and Miss Eva Irene Fanning, both of Providence. Owing to the death Nov. 5 of Mr. DeChristopher's mother the wedding was very quiet, taking place at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at St. Mary's church on Broadway, Providence. The ceremony was performed within the sanctuary by the pastor, Rev. Father John S. Dunn. The attendants were Miss Emma Frances Fanning, sister of the bride and Edward Vincent Gibbs, the bride's nephew. The bride wore brown transparent velvet with hat of a corresponding tint of brown and carried an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses and golden pompon chrysanthemums. Miss Fanning's dress was orchid tulle and lace, with which she wore a hat of orchid. Her flowers were lavender sweet peas and pompon crysanthemums in orchid tints.

Mr. and Mrs. DeChristopher left following the ceremony to motor to New York. On their return they will be at home to friends in their new residence, 62 Welfare avenue, Providence.

SEVENTY ARE PLEDGED TO STORRS FRATERNITY

BACKUS HOSPITAL AUXILIARY

The past month has been a very busy one for the new committees of the Women's auxiliary of the Backus hospital. Their year has just begun and the work has started out with fresh enthusiasm. The membership committee, of which Mrs. A. E. Payson is chairman, has been hard at work the past two weeks as the 20 captains and their workers have gone about the city on the canvass. She asks that anyone who has not yet been solicited and who cares to join the auxiliary shall send her dues of $1 to her, 57 Broad street, and she will mail the receipt. Friends of the hospital in 12 of the nearby towns are being asked as usual to become members. They have always responded well to the appeal as the Backus hospital is the health center for the surrounding towns. Taftville, as a splendid instance, has always been in close touch with the local institution. For years, the Ponemah Mills have supported two free beds for the use of their employes and the Red Cross chapter of Taftville, one bed for the residents of the village. These beds have been greatly appreciated by those who have used them and each year a larger number of people from Taftville have come to the hospital for care during illness and for maternity cases. Those three beds, so Miss Abbott says, give 1,095 hospital days to the community and 1,059 of these days have been used this year. This year, 103 patients used the beds, an increase of 28 over last year. This is a good example to all business concerns. Mrs. C. E. Carpenter is chairman of the suburban committee.

People from the surrounding districts as well as Norwich residents gave liberally to the drive for a new x-ray room and its equipment, last spring. That room is completed and is in use to the comfort and convenience of everyone who has need of using it. At the time the x-ray rooms were built, the ambulance entrance was improved and the roof of the x-ray room was made into a sun porch for the patients of the children's ward and A Top and A 2, this being done by the hospital management.

Sun and fresh air are the greatest benefit to a patient's convalescence but diversion for the mind is of importance, also. The literature committee whose chairman is Mrs. John B. Rogers, has worked out the problem of supplying the wards with new and interesting magazines in a systematic way. She has divided her committee of eight in such way that two members collect the magazines each Friday, and take them to the five wards; the men's, women's, children's, maternity and A Top, and to the waiting room. In this way, besides the newspapers placed daily in the wards, those able to read find pleasure in the new, worth-while magazines which help to while away long and tiresome hours. Among these magazines—and only the latest copies are accepted—are Time, National Geographic, Nature, Literary Digest, Outlook, Life, Judge, Cosmopolitan, Collier's, Pictorial Review, Delineator, House Beautiful, Ladies' Home Journal. As well, the committee is hoping to start a circulating library for the patients at a later date.

Flowers have been placed in the wards regularly by the flower committee, of which Mrs. David Sussler is the head. H days have been made bright by the holiday department, Halloween and Armistice day were remembered by appropriate favors Thanksgiving day, Mrs. R. D. Judd and her committee ornamented the patients' trays with pretty paper napkin rings and small baskets of candy. Preparations are now being made for Christmas.

Mrs. Charles A. Saxton, whose duty it is to see that the supply of old linen is always abundant, is grateful for the fine response to the appeal lately put in the newspapers. However, she begs friends to remember that the need for this soft old cloth never ceases. She will be glad to call for any bundles for the hospital, if notified. Her telephone number is 2043-5.

The nurses' recreation committee, of which Mrs. J. J. Donohue is chairman, is making plans for a happy Christmas for the nurses. The production committee, Miss Mary Paddock chairman, is holding its meeting once a month. This month, they met at the nurses' residence and made 58 surgical handkerchiefs. There is much interest in this department and the number of workers is growing. A group of young women start work next month. Sewing has been given out to ladies of Park church and the United church, and the committee will be glad to give sewing to any group who may care to help in this way.

Gifts of old linen, old bottles, magazines, books and a cane have been donated by the following people: Henry F. Parker, Mrs. George Hall, Mrs. A. J. Wholey, Mrs. Kampf, the Misses Butts, Mrs. Morrell, Mrs. Edward Briggs, Miss Eliza Avery, Mrs. William Fitzgerald, Mrs. Pierson, Mrs. Frank Tyler, Mrs. James Spicer, Mrs. C. R. Cross, Miss Lucy Jones, Mrs. E. A. Cudworth, Mrs. Mather, Mrs Carpenter, Mrs. J. E. Vaughan, Mrs. Herbert Gallup, Mrs. Park, Mrs Chamberlain, Miss Ella Norton, Mrs. Charles B. Lee, Miss Le Garry, Mrs. Catherine Gaffner, Miss Aiken, Mrs. W. T. Olcott, Mrs. H. T. Robinson. The Needlework guild gave 20 pillow slips, 38 bath towels, nine face towels, three crib blankets, three face cloths, one crib pillow slip and two infants' night gowns.

This year's officers of the auxiliary are: President, Mrs. Archibald Mitchell, Jr.; vice-presidents, Mrs. Edmund W. Perkins, Mrs. Frank B. Ricketson, Mrs. J. M. Rosenburg; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Henry D. Johnson; recording secretary, Mrs. George A. Ashbey; treasurer, Miss Isabel Mitchell; directors, Mrs. Allyn L. Brown, Mrs. Walter F. Lester, Mrs. Walter T. Camp.

TURKEY IN PARIS, BUT NO CRANBERRY SAUCE

PARIS, Nov. 29—(AP)—Complete absence of cranberry sauce rather marred the Thanksgiving observance of American residents of Paris. Eating turkey without cranberries on the side, they thought, they had a little less to be thankful for and they rather envied their countrymen who snugly enjoyed the luscious red sauce across the Atlantic.

Aside from this, Americans observed the day in the traditional manner.

AIR, RAIL, ROAD LINES IN COORDINATED WORK

NEW YORK—(AP)—A coordinated system of transporation, with the rain, trolley, motor bus and airplane each supplying the service for which it best is adapted, is seen as a possibility in this country.

Inherent qualities of each seem to make cooperation rather than competition a necessity.

Railroads, enlightened by the error made in depreciating the motor bus when it was a novelty, already have accepted the airplane as an auxiliary, finding it best suited for fast light travel over long distances.

Both railroads and trolleys have adopted the motor bus as a means of providing service on "feeder" lines or for replacement where patronage is too light for paying operation of train or electric car, especially in "short haul" work.

Hundreds of airplanes now are in daily operation on 34 established routes for passenger, package and mail transportation, covering a daily average distance of 32,000 miles.

The number of motor buses is estimated to have grown to 86,000 from the 20,000 in operation in 1922, with some 22,000 companies carrying more than 2,000,000,000 passengers annually. The 270,000 miles of bus routes operated are nearly 20,000 miles greater than railroad mileage.

Good Investment

NASHVILLE, Ind.— (AP) —Brown county in 1837 spent $175 on a jail. Recently the county refused $7,000 for it. Its historical interest permits authorities to charge visitors a fee, and an enterprising promoter wanted to buy it.

NEW ENGLAND IS FIRST IN SAVINGS DEPOSITS

BOSTON—(AP)—In per capita savings, New England is more than 15 years ahead of the United States as a whole, statistics offered by the Boston chamber of commerce indicates.

Charts prepared by the Bureau of Commercial and Industrial Affairs show the outstanding position of this region in savings.

In 1912 the average deposits per person in New England was $246 while in the United States as a whole it was but $88. In 1927 the figures had increased to $524 in New England and $220 in the United States. The average for the nation in 1927, therefore, was behind that of New England in 1912.

WORLD'S BIGGEST HANGAR IS UNDER CONSTRUCTION

AKRON, O.—(AP)—Construction of the world's largest hangar, which will house the construction of the U. S. navy's two giant dirigibles, is now well under way.

The new hangar, which will be 1,200 feet long, 325 fet wide and 200 feet high, is being built at the newly established Akron airport, less than a mile from the main factories of the Goodyear Rubber company. Akron was chosen as the site of the Goodyear-Zeppelin project after more than two years of discussion which involved consideration of Cleveland, Los Angeles and St. Louis.

Although the Goodyear company has constructed more than 100 non-rigid airships here in the last 12 years, the two new navy air leviathans will be the first of the Zeppelin rigid type ever undertaken by an American concern.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relished after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

THE WEATHER

Conditions

A disturbance is central over Newfoundland, and pressure is relatively low and falling from the British northwest territory southeastward to Minnesota and the Dakotas. High pressure prevails from Quebec southward over the Atlantic states.

A Missouri disturbance will move northeastward and it will be attended by rains in nearly all sections east of the Mississippi river within the next 24 hours. Generally fair weather will prevail Saturday except from the extreme upper Ohio valley and the lower lake region eastward to the North Atlantic coast. Following the passage of this disturbance colder weather will overspread the Atlantic states by or during Saturday.

Winds

North of Sandy Hook: Gentle to moderate north shifting to east or southeast winds and overcast weather Friday; rain Friday night.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Moderate winds mostly southeast and south; overcast weather, probably showers Friday.

Forecast

For southern New England: Rain Friday and Friday night; Saturday clearing colder.

WEDDING

Bartnicki-Romanoski

A pretty wedding was solemnized Thanksgiving morning at the Polish National church by Rev. Pullet at 8 o'clock, when Miss Stella Bartnicki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Bartnicki of 520 North Main street, was united in marriage with Stanley Romanoski, son of the late Adam and Mrs. Romanoski of Preston City. Miss Elizabeth Pendzych was bridesmaid and she was beautifully attired in a yellow crepe de chine gown, wore a picture hat to correspond and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. William Peotrowski acted as best man. The bride was charmingly attired in a white satin gown, covered with Spanish lace, and wore a tulle veil caught up with orange blossoms. After the church ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents at 520 North Main street. Among the large attendance present were guests from Meriden, Detroit, New Britain, New London and Jewett City. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts, namely, silverware, pieces of furniture, kitchen utensils, and checks for substantial amounts. During the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Romanoski left for a honeymoon trip that will take them to New York city and Philadelphia. The newly married couple have a large circle of friends in this vicinity who extend to them their wishes for happiness and prosperity in their married life.

The old-fashioned custom of burning of barrels on Thanksgiving night, which prevails only in Norwich, was observed in Greeneville, more so this year than in the past years. The Durfey street gang had the largest collection of barrels to burn, having five poles of barrels with each pole having an average of 20 barrels. They burned their barrels in Gilmore's lot on the top of Seventh street and Boswell avenue. A ground fire was kept alive with boxes all during the day. The first string of barrels was set off at 7:30 o'clock. People on Central avenue could see the burning of the barrels. The North Main street crowd burned their barrels, which consisted of three poles, in the lot which is known as the old garden, formerly owned by the Hubbard Paper Mill. All the youngsters in the village were kept busy Thanksgiving day morning, setting up the poles and afterwards stringing the poles with barrels. The old habit of baking potatoes in the ground fire made of boxes was still in vogue.

TAFTVILLE

The sum of $73 which will be added to the treasury of the society was realized at a Harvest rummage and food sale given by the Ladies' Aid society of the Versailles Methodist Episcopal church at Totokett hall in Occum this week. The appetizing home cooked food and home made candy found ready sale, and articles of clothing and books were also disposed of. The society is now planning for its annual Christmas sale and the committee in charge of canvassing includes Mrs. Frederick Babbitt, Mrs. William Walmsley and Mrs. George Cole.

Friends in town are receiving word from George Havens, Jr., who is in the employ of the government as an electrician that he has been transferred from Balboa to Gatun, Canal Zone, Panama. Mr. Havens who is a former Taftville resident, has been in the Canal Zone since last August, and since that time he has been stationed at Balboa and Cristobal. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Havens of Baltic.

Mrs. Arthur Letendre of Norwich has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lambert of North B street, as Mr. Letendre has been called to New York because of the serious illness of his nephew, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Letendre, formerly of Norwich.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Pollard who have been guests of Mr. Pollard's father, William Pollard of South Second avenue, following their return from a motor trip to Canada with Edwin Pollard of Boston, Mass., have returned to their home on Block Island.

The monthly Well Childs' conference under the auspices of the United Workers of Norwich, is to be held today (Friday) at the Red Cross rooms in the Ponemah building.

Although there was a notice of post-ponement, the members of the Thimble club met with Mrs. Walter S. Grant at her home on the Old Canterbury turnpike Tuesday evening. After the sewing hour Mrs. Grant served supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kalinowski of Long Island are the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carr Bateson of Occum Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Barton of the Canterbury turnpike, Mrs. Frank Bushnell and Howard Bushnell of Occum Heights have been recent visitors in Lebanon.

The delegates from the Versailles Methodist Episcopal church to the Sunday school convention held at the Central Baptist church in Norwich were Mrs. Charles W. Perkins, Mrs. Henry Banker, Mrs. George Cole and Mrs. John Hargreaves.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Grover of Boston, Mass., were Thanksgiving day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Ricketson of North C street.

Edwin Pollard who has been visiting his father, William Pollard of South Second avenue, has returned to his home in Boston, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Patrylo and Stephen Patrylo of Voluntown and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Critch with their daughters, the Misses Mary and Jennie Critch of New Britain were Thanksgiving day guests of relatives in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Bazil Horosco, Miss Stephanie Horosco and John Horosco of South Third avenue were Thursday visitors in Willimantic.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson and family of Merchants avenue spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Peterson of Norwich.

Miss Delia Shea of Jewett City is a holiday guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah J. Donovan of Merchants avenue.

Mrs. John Atterbury, Jr., of Jewett City road and Mrs. Archibald Torrance of North Third avenue, have been recent visitors in Pawtucket, R. I.

NORWICH BOYS MAINTAIN TOWN'S TRADITION OF BARREL BURNING

With the arrival of darkness Thursday night a score or more of Thanksgiving barrel fires blazed up to the heavens. Reflections from the many fires could be seen in all sections of the city and town throughout the early evening. For weeks, boys, large and small, were busily engaged in collecting barrels for the traditional bonfires. Thursday morning the carefully guarded barrels were brought forth from sheds and cellars by the "gangs" and carted to the bonfire sites where they were strung on poles during the day. Lively bonfires of boxes, barrel heads and staves burned merrily while the industrious youths were stringing the barrels.

As soon as night had settled, the strings of barrels were touched off while the crowds of boys and girls and in many cases their parents, watched the flames shoot rapidly upward until the last barrel was reduced to ashes.

One of the largest fires was that touched off by the Duwell club on Edward's hill. Two hundred barrels were consumed by this fire, which could be seen from nearly all sections of the city.

The Jail Hill "gang" also had their annual barrel fire. Other barrel fires were touched off on High street, in Thamesville, Laurel Hill, Preston, Norwich Town, the Falls section, off Forest street, North Main street, upper Greeneville, on Seventh street and in Taftville.

INSPIRATIONAL SPEAKER TO OPEN INN BUILDERS CAMPAIGN

An inspirational speaker in the person of Clarence T. Hubbard, assistant secretary of the Automobile Insurance company of Hartford, is announced as the speaker for the dinner meeting of the Norwich Inn Builders, Limited, this (Friday) night, when the $350,000 campaign for funds with which to build the Norwich inn will be formally opened.

Mr. Hubbard is not an entire stranger to Norwich. His last visit is still a pungent memory in the minds of the chamber of commerce group before whom he appeared at one of the monthly meetings a few years ago. He has grown in reputation and oratorical gesture since then until he has become one of the most sought after speakers of the business men's platform.

Mr. Hubbard is an authority on sales methods and has a sales talk up his sleeve that has all the dynamic qualities of a French 75. He has written very extensively on sales topics in such an authoritative fascinating way that his articles are eagerly sought for particularly by insurance journals, which is the field in which Mr. Hubbard is most justly regarded at his true value.

A young man of quiet demeanor, Mr. Hubbard gives no particular evidence of his superior qualifications until he gets under pressure and the spirit of the gathering makes its influence felt. With the background of nearly 200 business men and women of Norwich as his hosts, all bent on carrying the latest and one of the best civic movements in the city's history through to a winning success, Mr. Hubbard will no doubt give way to enthusiastic utterances that will benefit his hearers and help them in the effort.

SURPRISE SHOWER OFR MISS FRIEDA DEMPSEY

A very pretty surprise shower was given recently at the home of Mrs. William Dempsey for Miss Frieda Dempsey in honor of her approaching marriage to Eugene Prime of Brook street, New London.

The room was prettily decorated with cut flowers, the color scheme being blue and white. The bride-to-be received many beautiful useful gifts, including glassware, china, linens and money.

Those present were: Leona Pepin, Shirley Dempsey, Gladys Simcox, Mary Walsh, Gertie Shaw, Josephine Dempsey, Estelle Dempsey, Elfrieda Kellish, Mrs. William Dempsey, Rose Buesh, Edith Lewis, Marge Daley, Winifred Prime, Sadie Shea, Josephine Ryan, Rose Karkutt, Mrs. Antone Dempsey, Georgie Fraguea, Aldia Ducharme, Dorothy Radke, Elsye Carroll, Loretta Gregory, Alice Alexander, Doris Blais Doris Dempsey, Olga Zachae, Cora Fraguea, Catherine Driscoll, Delia Paquette, Anna Kearney, Corinne Frageau, Rose Dempsey, Dorothy Schneider, Mrs. Richard Schneider, Miss Mildred Lewis and Mrs. Fred Radke. A very nice lunch was served consisting of different sandwiches, cakes, fruit and fruit punch. Those who assisted in serving are Miss Winifred Prime, Mrs. William Dempsey, Josephine Dempsey and Rose Buesche.

The wedding is to take place Wednesday, Dec. 5.

WESTERLY MAN CHARGES BROKER WITH LARCENY

According to an Associated Press dispatch from Boston, arrest has just been made there of John L. Gwyer, a registered broker, who is charged with larceny of $10,500.

The arrest was made on complaint of Harrison M. Litchfield, 75, of Westerly, R. I., who claimed at Gwyer induced him to invest in a mine property in Canada and failed to reimburse him when he became auspicious.

Ambulance Has Siren

The Backus hospital ambulance now has a siren instead of a bell to warn of its approach. To those not familiar with the change, it is a question to know whether the ambulance or the fire department is coming.

AVIATORS SPEAKERS AT N. Y. NORWICH SOCIETY

The fall meeting of the Norwich Society of New York was held last Monday evening at the New York Athletic club with an attendance of about 50 members and their guests.

A reception and general "get-together" were held between the hours of 7 and 8, and at 8 o'clock those present participated in one of those meals for which the New York Athletic club is so famous. After coffee, mince pie, and cigars, President J. Olin Howe, the toastmaster of the dinner, arose and said that two of the speakers of the evening, Captain Caesare Sabelle, the Italian flyer, who is soon to attempt the Atlantic flight, and Captain Frank Courtney could not be present because of sickness. A motion was made and seconded that telegrams of condolence be sent to these men.

President Howe then said that the gathering did have in attendance a number of famous aviators and he introduced in turn Colonel Charles W. Kerwood, Captain Charles H. Payne, Colonel Harold E. Hartney and Captain Alan J. Cameron.

Colonel Kerwood, who has been a member of the French Foreign Legion, the Lafayette Escadrille, in charge of the Greek Air Force and also with the French air forces in Africa against the Riffs, told of some of his most interesting experiences and his greatest thrills while flying. In the French air forces in Africa there were 20 volunteer American flyers from a list of 2,000 applicants. He compared the flying of the marine aviators in Nicaragua with the French flyers in the Riff and said that the obstacles of each flying force were very similar.

Captain Payne, who has held commissions in the American naval aviation forces, the Chinese Aviation corps, the Russian air forces and who has been in charge of Mexican aviators for five years then told of some of his experiences in Mexican revolutions. The Mexican rebels give the women the guns and send them up to the front line so that they manage to defeat the federal forces in a good many instances. Captain Payne said that Mexico City is the finest and best city in the world to live in, but that the Mexicans themselves are a lazy, uneducated lot and it will be many years before the destiny of this country is finally decided.

Colonel Hartney who has spoken before at a Norwich Society dinner then spoke briefly of some of his experiences.

The experiences of these aviators who are all young men, seemed almost to be luring stories from the pen of Richard Harding Davis, because of the interest and variety of their lives.

A rising vote of thanks was given to the aviators for their very entertaining addresses.

Previously to the speeches by the aviators there was a short business session and President Howe spoke of the kind invitation of Howard C. Russ, who has done so very much for the Norwich Society of New York, for the members of the society to make a pilgrimage next summer to his home in Groton and to Norwich. President Howe appointed a committee to investigate the possibilities of this trip composed of Edward J. Crawford, chairman, James H. Albertson, Francis P. Bent, Charles A. Beach, John R. Powelson and Howard C. Russ, ex-officio.

Captain Payne, who is now with a commercial aeroplane company, in his remarks said that the Norwich Society might make this pilgrimage by aeroplane and this suggestion met with the heartiest approval. President Howe then said that the membership committee's chairman, Dr. Louis M. Alofsin, had received the following names of applicants for admission to membership in the society: Ralph Behrisch, Arthur M. Brewster, and Gerald Fitzgerald. These men after rising for recognition were unanimously elected to membership.

After the talk given by the aviators there were remarks and anecdotes of old days in Norwich made by various members of the society.

The tables were arranged in groups to represent the various sections of Norwich and at each place there was a notice from the D. A. R. of the plan for a new museum in Norwich and also a pamphlet from the Norwich Inn Co., showing the proposed plan of the inn and setting forth the hopes for the new project in The Rose of New England. Many members of the society mentioned that they thought the inn would be a wonderful step forward for Norwich.

The meeting was adjourned at 11 after a very enoyable evening.

Those present at the dinner were members: Howard C. Russ, J. H. Albertson, Charles F. Noyes, Francis P. Bent, William F. Converse, Wallace Falvey, E. J. Crawford, Frank A. Lester, Warren K. Dowe, William A. Norton, Arthur B. Norton, Arthur M. Brewster, Royal B. Klein, Joseph Klein, William Klein, P. D. Kerr, O. C. Johnson, C. Leroy Storms, Walter L. Post, E. B. Conant, R. F. Royce, William P. Crawford, William Reeves, Gerald A. Fitzgerald, Charles A. Beach, Edwin A. Reeves, Joseph F. Shea, Louis M. Alofsin, Charles N. Hulbert, P. O'Brien, William T. McNamara, Charles H. Tirrell, J. Olin Howe, John R. Powelson, Alexander Kilroy, Ralph Behrisch, Charles R. Nichols, Edwin S. Willard, Edward Harland Miller, John J. McHugh, John Breckenridge. And guests: Morris R. Stang, W. J. Cashel, A. G. Himmelman, Captain Allen J. Cameron, Colonel Charles H. Payne, and Colonel Harold E. Hartney.

MR. AND MRS. WM. W. IVES MARRIED FIFTY-SEVEN YEARS

Thanksgiving day this year was of special significance to Mr. and Mrs. William W. Ives of Champlin street, Norwich, since it was the 57th anniversary of their wedding. They were married in New Haven, Nov. 29, 1871, but that year Thanksgiving day fell on Nov. 30, so they were married the day before.

They celebrated Thursday with a family dinner party of ten. Mrs. Ives has been ill for several days, but was able to be up and at the table Thanksgiving, also to take a little ride later in the day. Members of the family party were their two sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. A. Reggio of Bay Shore, L. I., and Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert S. Armstrong, of Norwich; also Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Ives and two daughters from Middletown. It chanced that the day before, Wednesday, was the birthday of Mrs. Reggio, so the dinner party proved a double celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Ives received cards, telegrams, flowers and many other remembrances, with the congratulations and best wishes of friends in various cities.

STATE'S OFFICIALS TEST WATER SUPPLY PURITY

That the purity of the Connecticut water supply is protected from all angles is shown as the result of investigation of watersheds and reservoirs throughout the state by municipal and state health officials. According to the report of health officials, the water companies even go so far as to build cement bases and sanitary cesspools and other similar structures on farms located near lakes from which the public supply is taken, in order to eliminate any possible source of pollution.

The water supply of any community is the most important public service which it can buy. The well being of the entire population within any civilized area depends at all times on the condition of the water supply. Water is the only commodity supplied by utilities which is taken internally. For that reason, the departments of health throughout the state are immediately concerned with the condition of the supply, and keep close check upon it. Any possibility of pollution is immediately reported to the utilities and eliminated at the source.

In order to meet all the sanitation and other requirements of a community, the water utility constructs huge storage reservoirs, purchase vast acreages of watershed land, from which there can be no income excepting that from lumber growing on the land. In many cases, water companies install huge filtering and chemical plants to make the water absolutely pure and potable, and pumping systems to insure adequate water pressure in fire emergencies. Furthermore, water mains must be so constructed as to allow at all times the largest possible drainage on the supply which the community can make at one time. It is the duty of the water companies and the health departments of Connecticut to see to it that every part of these tremendous public service plants are at all times in perfectly sanitary and efficient condition.

DR. CADMAN TO LECTURE AT CONNECTICUT COLLEGE

Connecticut college is pleased to announce that the speaker on the Joseph Henry Selden Memorial Lecture Foundation for the year 1923-1929 will be Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of the Central Congregational church, of Brooklyn, New York. The lecture this year will occur in the spring instead of in the autumn, as previously, and the date set is Monday, April 29th, 1929.

The Selden Memorial Lectureship was presented to Connecticut college in May 1925 in memory of Reverend Doctor Joseph Henry Selden. Dr. Selden was a distinguished Congregational clergyman whose last pastorate was in Greenwich, Connecticut, but who, during his later year, returned to his old home in Norwich. He was a loyal and very highly valued friend of Connecticut college from the time of its establishment, until his death in 1923. His extensive library on religion and philosophy is now a part of the College library, the gift of his family. His son, Professor Henry Bill Selden has been chairman of the department of fine arts at Connecticut college since 1915.

For Thanksgiving Recess

Miss Hermine Allard, a student at Mount Saint Joseph academy in Hartford, is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Whitmarsh, of No. 41 Boswell avenue. While here she acted as bridesmaid at the Rathbun-Doerr wedding Thursday afternoon. She will return to Hartford Monday to resume her studies.

WHIST AND SOCIAL FOR PRIMROSE LODGE BENEFIT

A successful whist and social was held recently at the home of Mrs. Annie Massey on Main street, Baltic, for the benefit of Primrose lodge, I. O. O. Ladies, M. U., of which she is court deputy. The whist prizes were awarded as follows: Ladies, first, a cheese and cracker dish, Mrs. Hilda Hart of Plainfield; second, one half dozen tumblers, Miss Eva Orme, Baltic; consolation, a dressed doll, Mrs. Sophia Cooper of Plainfield. Gentlemen, first, pair of silk stockings, J. Lang; consolation, Harold Wilson and A. Wilkinson, of Plainfield, tied, the latter winning on the cut. The prize was a pack of camels.

After whist the hostess served a supper of pork pigs, assorted cakes and cookies, tea and coffee. She was assisted in serving by Miss Mildred Massey and Miss Eva Orme. A delightful programme of entertainment was then presented by those present, the slogan being, "Entertain or Pay a Dime." The number included: Vocal selections, Sonny Boy, Mrs. Baldwin, W. Marsden; Boy of Mine, Mr. Baldwin; The Fisherman and His Child, Mrs. Sophia Cooper; Mrs. Massey; Roaming in the Gloaming, Charles Hart; piano selection, Harold Wilson; duet, Miss Edith Johnson and Miss Edith Collins; vocal selection, Mrs. Watson; novelty dance, Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Lang; vocal selections, The Prisoners Song, Mrs. Pye; Mr. Baldwin.

A rising vote of thanks was extended Mrs. Massey for the very enjoyable evening by those present including Mrs. Sophia Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lang, Mr. and Mrs. E. Currier, Mr and Mrs. W. Collins, Mr. and Mrs John Pye, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Marsden and daughter, Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wilkenson and daughter Louise, Miss C. L. Gibson, Miss E Hayhurst, Mrs. H. Johnson, Mrs. A Keyes, Mrs. Annie Alexander, Mrs. Annie Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin, Miss Edith Johnson, Miss Edith Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hart, all of Plainfield; Mrs. A. S. Wooley of this city, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hetbel, Master George Helbel, Harry Massey, Miss Eva Orme, Harold Wilson, Mrs. Annie Massey, Miss Mildred Massey and Charles Massey of Baltic.

HELD FOR PLOT AGAINST GOVERNMENT OF PORTUGAL

LISBON, Nov. 29—(AP)—Antonio Maria Da Silva, former premier of Portugal, was arrested today on a charge of complicity in a plot against the government.

Sr. Da Silva acted as premier in the Portuguese government at various times between 1920 and 1926. It is his second arrest recently in connection with a plot against the government, having spent two days in prison June 15-17 this year on a similar charge.

LOCATED EIGHT LIGHTS IN THE THAMES RIVER

A total of 18 lights as aids to navigation were established during the past fiscal year in Connecticut waters by the United States lighthouse service, the commissioner of lighthouses states in his annual report to the secretary of commerce.

Eight of these lights were located in the Thames river and eight were established in the Connecticut river. The construction of these light projects are cited among the more important construction work accomplished during the year, in the report of the lighthouse commissioner.

Contractor Secures Attachment.

An attachment of $1,500 in favor of Patrick F. Sweeney, Norwich contractor, has been filed against the New London County Agricultural society, owner of the fair grounds at East Great Plain. The suit is brought in the common pleas court on the common counts.

NORWICH TOWN

THANKSGIVING EXERCISES AT HUNTINGTON SCHOOL

For the Thanksgiving exercises at the Samuel Huntington school, the entire school assembled in the auditorium. The stage was decorated with flowers given by and arranged by Mrs. James L. Hubbard. Give Her 312 Hours of Freedom from Labor
Each year for years to come
WHAT can the average busy wife or mother do with 312 hours a year of freedom? More, perhaps, than she has ever had before—and split up into 6 hours a week.
Think of the hours she needs—of the time she deserves—when you give her a gift this year.
And give her this amazing new speed-ironing invention—electrically heated and electrically operated—that saves 6 hours of ironing drudgery every week in the average home.
Give her precious hours—to call her own. That's the kind of a gift she wants this year.
